Air Conditioning A Breeze For Wollaston's John Crawford

After being shot at over the Atlantic, Pacific, Biafra, Laos and Vietnam and escaping a California earthquake, air conditioning is really a breeze for John Crawford.

Crawford, 46, of 75 Elmwood Ave., owner of Airline Air Conditioning and Refrigeration, is a retired pilot whose life makes a lot of adventure movies look bland.

Things were relatively quiet for him growing up in Berkeley, California, until World War II broke out and he found himself as a Navy pilot.

He won distinctions flying with a special squadron out of San Diego in the Pacific and European Theaters until he got shot down over Europe and spent the rest of the war at Bainbridge, Md., Naval Hospital.

When the war ended, Crawford began training for his 20-year career as a commercial pilot which ended with his retirement last year as a captain for Continental Airlines.

But spaced in between were flights for the International Red Cross and the CIA in trouble spots around the world.

Crawford was stationed at Vientiane, Laos, for a time dropping supplies to allied forces along the Ho Chi Minh trail for the Red Cross and doubling as a CIA reconnaissance pilot.

"I was like [Francis Gary Powers] but the government would admit what I was doing," he said.

In between supply drops, he would fly over and photograph Vietcong encampments and prisoner of war installations. Several missions ended with flak holes in the plane and Crawford was wounded in another.

"In Laos, if I went on a drop and got shot down, they'd send a helicopter to see if there was any sign of life," he said. "If there wasn't, they'd come in with a napalm bomb and burn it out."

His International Red Cross flights during the Nigeria-Biafra strife were "pretty hairy too," he said. Crawford was frequently shot at while flying in food and first aid to Biafrans.

So he settled back down to commercial flying, living in Encino, California, in the shadow of the Newhall Dam which burst during the earthquake in 1971.

Crawford, his wife Susan and the children Ross and Gail migrated to Quincy after the quake and he set himself up in the air conditioning business at 27A Beale St., Wollaston.

"I worked around refrigeration with aircraft a lot and there wasn't any difference between that and a refrigerator, really," he said.

He now employs two men and sells, installs and services air conditioning and refrigeration for domestic and commercial use.

Crawford is a member of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association, the QB Club and Masons.

native of Milton. He is a director of the National Tire Dealers Association, Washington, D.C. He is married to the former Joan L. Moriarty, and the couple have four children, Suzanne, Timothy, Gerard and Laura Ann.

Ecology Fair At Atlantic Junior May 6

An ecology fair at Atlantic Junior High School is being planned for Saturday, May 6 from noon to 5 p.m., announces Vincent P. Sullivan Jr., coordinator of science for the

The student-teacher teams were developed at each school under the auspices of the Quincy Citizens Environment Board.

The ecology fair will be open to all groups or individuals that wish to display their efforts or concerns in environmental affairs, Mr. Sullivan said.

MONEY TALKS

Myth of Making a Killing Baffles Thrift

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holbrook
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursdays

Here is another Myth to add to our collection of excuses that people employ for not saving money. This one is proffered by the get-rich-quick type, impatient to make a killing. It goes like this:

There must be a faster way of making a buck.

For the most part, these people kid themselves that they are waiting for a big deal that, of course, never comes. They make no preparation by building a nest egg for investment purposes so that when the money-making event arrives they will be in a position to take advantage of it.

In reality, they are usually vague about what the big deal will look like when and if it does appear.

They simply spend whatever they can get their hands on, including what anyone is inclined to lend them, persuading themselves that the break will soon arrive that will lift them and their families to Gold Coast living.

This is a childish perspective, but lots of men apparently keep fooling themselves and wearing the patience of their wives by refusing to take the surer and slower steps toward financial independence.

No use to remind them of the old axiom that success is what happens when preparation meets opportunity.

More than one millionaire will testify that the first thousand dollars he acquired was the hardest he ever earned. Two thousand years ago, the historian Plutarch quoted Lampis, the sea commander, when asked how he got his wealth, "My greatest estate I gained easily enough, but the smaller slowly and with much labor."

One successful business man we know stated that he was a married man in his 30s, going nowhere, until his wife persuaded him to buy a home. The experience he gained in capital development through the equity in his home gave him a whole new outlook about his ability to become a person of means.

In time he was able to use his home investment to borrow money for participation in a business enterprise. Because of his hard work and attention to details, the business was a success. But without the savings instinct, he says, developed by the purchase of his home, his eventual affluence would have been impossible.

It does not follow that every person who saves will become wealthy. But it is certain that if he saves, he will have the means to pursue opportunities that his intelligence and readiness recognize when they come.

Thanks to the Quincy Youth Hockey Association, founded seven years ago by Bob Hayes, a former North Quincy player, about 500 Quincy boys between the ages of 7 and 21 are playing hockey.

When the second of two new Hingham rinks opens, the program will be expanded and when the association finally gets its own rink, it will be expanded even more and nearly 1,000 boys will be involved in the program.

When Hayes founded the association in 1965 he had about 45 boys involved. He received two hours of ice time at Ridge Arena in Braintree and it was the first group to be given ice time there.

"Actually we didn't have enough boys at that time to even play for the ice," Hayes said. "In 1968 the association was incorporated as a non-profit corporation."

Daniel F. X. Davis was the association's first president in 1968 with Hayes as vice president. Hector T. McBourne Jr., treasurer and Atty. John C. Prescott, clerk. The directors were Joseph E. Burke, John J. Cattaneo Jr., Davis, Russell G. Erickson, Dr. Austin T. Norton, Prescott and Robert O. Sylvia.

The current officers are Hayes, president; Harry Messina, vice president; Robert Fitzpatrick, treasurer and Fred Murray, recording secretary. Directors are Edward Mitchell, Henry Privite, Gerry McGrath, Thomas Heffernan, John Murphy, John Lynch and Frank LaPierre.

Many business firms and organizations have actively supported and helped the association to achieve its sole purpose of providing instructions to youths who want to learn and skate in a manner compatible to their ability," Hayes said.

The association has provided the opportunity for youths to learn the sport of skating and be able to participate in supervised competition."

At present the association has several all-star teams playing at Weymouth, Braintree and Hingham against teams from other towns.

A Pee Wee All-Star A team for boys up to 12 plays at Weymouth one night and at Hingham one night against teams from such towns as Weymouth, Milton, Scituate, Randolph, Hingham, Braintree and Canton.

The Bantam A team for boys 13 and 14 plays at Weymouth and also in the Bay Colony League at Hingham. In the Hingham league teams from towns further south such as Hull, Marshfield and others, play.

The Midget A team for those 15 and 16 plays at Weymouth and a B team plays at Ridge Arena.

The association just recently started a Junior A team for players 17 to 21. This team plays at Hingham and right now a few non-Quincy players are playing to fill out the roster. It is expected that next year it will be an all-Quincy team as the other teams are.

The association also has a Squirt team for boys 8 to 10 and two Mite teams for youngsters 7 and 8. "It is fun to watch these young boys play," Hayes said.

Actually, some of the boys in our program began skating at four years of age."

There are also 12 House teams [intramural league] sponsored by local businessmen and organizations. These boys will work their way on to the all-star teams. The House league provides plenty of excitement for the fans.

The association also has between 150 and 200 boys working out with beginners' groups on Saturday mornings.

These boys are not on teams because of lack of ice time but will work their way on to teams when more time is available and more teams are added. These boys skate in the early morning hours at Shea Rink. Many are good skaters but lack hockey experience and are gaining this experience through these beginners' lessons.

"When we get our own rink, hopefully by next November, we will have many more teams," Hayes continued. "In fact, we will add teams when Hingham's second rink is completed. This is expected to be soon."

"In addition to the many businessmen and organizations that sponsor our teams, many more want to be sponsors but because of lack of ice time, they must wait until more teams are added."

The association has a waiting list of more than 300 boys and it doesn't matter who a boy's father may know, they are accepted on a first come first serve basis.

"There are boys in my own family waiting to join and some city officials have boys waiting to join," Hayes explained. "No one can use any 'pull' to get into the association."

The only qualification for eligibility in the program is that the boy must be a verified Quincy resident.

The association has a $10 registration fee and each additional member of a family is charged a $5 fee.

For ice time the association charges $1.50 for the beginner group and a standardized $2 for ice rented at private rinks and for games. The cost of ice ranges from $50 to $75 at private rinks plus the cost of certified officials. All-Star teams, which represent the city, pay as high as $38 per team per game.

To make hockey available to as many boys as possible, the association operates with a ruling that a boy can be involved in only one program within the city and maintain his membership. The intent is to make hockey available to boys who would otherwise get no exposure to the sport and its benefits, and avoids the possibility of a boy profiting by participating in numerous programs and depriving others of a chance to play.

The association equips all of the goalies in the organization because of the large expense involved. The association has approximately $1,900 worth of goalie equipment being used by the boys in the program.

The cost of equipping all-star teams has been well over $2,400. The cost of equipping these teams is not paid for by ice fees. The cost is financed by sponsors' donations and through other activities run by the association, such as regular dances.

In past years the association has been involved in annual awards banquets. At these banquets each and every participant at all levels received a trophy. Both the banquet and trophies were given at no expense to the boys.

Mike McNalley Scores Winner For Red Team

Mike McNalley scored in overtime last week to give the Red team a 4-3 victory over the Gold and the championship of the St. Joseph's Hockey League.

McNalley broke in on beleaguered Gold goalie John Marani with four minutes gone in sudden death overtime to take the championship away from the Gold for the first time in the league's three-year history.

Marani turned in an outstanding performance in the losing cause with 34 saves.

James Crowley, Paul DeCristofaro and Rick Brunstrum rounded out the Red scoring as Lloyd Allen posted two assists and netminder Mike Hanratty made 19 saves.

John Alfano scored his second goal of the game with less than a minute to play to send the match into overtime. Chuck Crews picked up the other goal.

Laing's Goals Give Morrisette First Win

Larry Laing scored on a breakaway with 30 seconds left to play to give Morrisette its first win of the Quincy Youth Hockey season.

Laing's two goals and scores by John Dunn and Scott Richardson gave Morrisette the decision in a 4-3 squeaker over Maguire's. Ed Kane, Dave Preville and Dave McHugh scored for Maguire's.

In other Pee Wee action, United Commercial Travelers edged Davis 4-3 and Crestview dropped to third place with a 2-1 loss to Wollaston as Keohane's downed Hannon 6-3.

Brian Norton picked up two goals and Tom Roche a goal and two assists to lead the first-place UCT team. Rick Smith finished the scoring as assists went to Rick Carneli, Bill Oakes, John Norton and Dick Reinhart.

Tom O'Regan [2] and Paul Linderfetzter scored for Davis with assists from John Masters and Sam Hassan.

North Basketball Team Approaching $8,000 Goal

A $100 check from the Quincy Police Betterment Association moved the North Quincy Basketball Team to within $2,500 of a trip to Bermuda this week.

Team members and friends have raised $5,500 in the past three weeks to help finance a vacation for the city's first undefeated basketball squad.

Arthur Morrissey and Coach Bob Nolan are co-chairmen of the fund-raising campaign which includes a raffle of New England Patriots tickets.

The Red Raiders finished their season with the Greater Boston League championship and a 20-0 record this week and lost to Catholic Memorial in the finals of the Division I South Tourney.

Basketball players and boosters have been selling raffle tickets door-to-door and at shopping centers to raise the funds for a trip to Bermuda at the end of May.

Largest contributors to date have been the Police, Dist. Atty. George G. Burke and the Quincy Custodians Association, each of whom donated $100.

Mrs. Marian Morrissey said the trip is being delayed until late May because many of the basketball players are also starters on the North baseball squad which has tournament hopes this year.

A trip for the 30 team members and managers and four coaches is expected to cost $8,000.

YMCA Girls Swimming Team Sweeps District Competition

The Quincy YMCA Girls Swim Team made a clean sweep of all four classes in the recent Massachusetts Bay YMCA District Championships.

The team is coached by Frank Rull, a volunteer for 14 years, assisted by May Jackson and Mary Wentworth.

Carol Levanchy, Debbie Poore and Betty Guerin placed first in their events to lead the Class D group to victory. Other team members 10 years and under are Jean Donahue, Ann Lamb, Rita Gauthier, Joy Ryan and Jamie Carter.

In Class C for 11 and 12 year-olds, Sheila Burke, Dawn Carter and Amy Fairclough led teammates Lorraine Wituski, Ann Guerin and Lisa McLellan to the championship.

The Class B events were swept by a team of Denise Costello, Betty Crowley, Pat Kussman, Charlene Manikas, Gail Marini, Kathy Levanchy, Lyn Lutz, Debbie Morrow, Claire Guerin and Nancy Poore.

The Class B swimmers also won their division in the recent New England Regional Championships.

Nelson Trying Out For Capital Classic Team

Dave Nelson, captain of this year's North Quincy basketball powerhouse and one of the outstanding players in the Greater Boston League, is one of 24 top schoolboy stars trying out for the Massachusetts team which will play in the Capital Classic at Albany, N.Y., April 7 and 8.

Dave joins such luminaries as Bob Carrington of Abn. Williams, King Gaskins of Catholic Memorial and Ron Lee of Lexington in a series of three games which conclude tonight at Catholic Memorial.

Following tonight's

[Thursday] game Ron Perry of Memorial, who will coach the Bay State team, will select his club.

Massachusetts will face Connecticut in the opening round of the tourney.

Quincy's Bob Pike played in '71 year's event.

Incidentally, Jamie Doherty and Ken Masters have been elected next year's North Quincy co-captains, succeeding Nelson.

Doherty, a 6-2 forward, made the GBL all-star team while Masters, 5- guard, was a key man in North's great pressing defense.

Dealer Reputation

In purchasing a mattress, so much depends on what you cannot see it is difficult to give hard and fast rules.

To a great extent you must rely on the reputation and reliability of the dealer and manufacturer and the information each provides.

Generally, mattresses are stocked only to a limited extent by most retailers. Often they must be ordered out of the manufacturer's stock from the dealer's floor samples.

Also, few dealers carry all well-known brands. They may specialize with a limited number of brands or have their own brand.

Thus it is to the buyer's benefit to choose a retailer with a wide selection and a good reputation.

On The Screen By Vincent Puleo

LOWELL THOMAS and JIMMY DURANTE just turned the 79 year young corner... Character actor ROBERT WEIL'S marquee cup runneth over. The multifaceted WEIL is currently featured in three of the hottest items at the box-office: "THE FRENCH CONNECTION", "HOT ROCKS" and "THE GANG THAT COULDN'T SHOOT STRAIGHT"... All winners as is the personable ROBERT WEIL. Remember his name. You'll be hearing more of it as the years roll on... Already critics are humming a fourth best actress Oscar for KATHERINE HEPBURN. And "THE TROJAN WOMEN" is the reason why. A dynamite flick...

"Keeping it all in the family", since they've made pictures lampooning the traits of Italians, Negroes, Jews, Irish, Indians, French [and Ukrainians], why not a tummy tickler satirizing the WASPS. They must have some idiosyncrasies we can all jolly up to... After all, what's fair is fair. Eh Bunker?... "X Y & Z" is being press billed as an "adult love story". Gee, and here I am under the impression that all love stories are adult... THE BURTONS move over. CHARLES BRONSON and wife JILL IRELAND have the same charisma impact in Europe as their more famous counterpart...

And yes, "DIRTY HARRY" does sting of right wing, political backlash. Any motion picture which advocates the police officer as judge, jury and executioner, is slapping the Supreme Court's misinterpreted reputation as being "soft on criminals"... KARL MALDEN is giving TV a fling. The former Academy Award winning actor ["A STREETCAR NAMED DESIRE", 1951] has signed on the dotted line as a hard nosed cop in "THE STREETS OF SAN FRANCISCO"... THE ABC release will prime time in September... And what, NBC has dithroned CBS as king of the daytime soap opera set. So say the latest ratings...

For those who keep score, 334 motion pictures have met the stringent eligibility requirements for 1971 Academy Award consideration. Of the total, five will be selected as the final nominees in the best picture of the year race... LUSCHINO VISCONTI has a far reaching reputation for excellence. He was named best foreign film director ["DEATH IN VENICE"] by Japan's Society of Film Critics...

"BOYS IN THE SAND" is kicking up a $$$ dust storm. The hardcore homosexual fantasy has left skeptics wide eyed that two "amateurs" could have made such a lucrative release... MARVIN SHULMAN and WAKEFIELD POOLE shot "SAND" last summer on Fire Island more as a lark than with any intention of release. With coxing by the 55th St. Playhouse management, they opened their picture there 5 weeks ago. And its been a SRO $$$ bonanza ever since... JACK BENNY and GEORGE BURNS are scheduled for a Friars Club burning in May... Contrary to rumor, BARBRA STREISAND does not have a million dollar TV deal with RAY STARK, or anyone else...

A few years back LEE GOSSETT was having a difficult time finding employment for walk on parts. And today he's so in demand, he has to decide, and quick, between a starring role opposite ANTHONY QUINN or KATHERINE HEPBURN... GOSSETT would prefer doing both films, but can't since they are being shot during the same interval of time... A tip of the ole' beret to PEARL BAILEY, chosen this years recipient of the American Heart Associations Heart-of-the-Year Award...

History Updated Dept: Two of your biggest names on television received valuable acting experience in horror spoofs. JAMES ARNESS in the early 50's "THEM" and "THE THING", and RAYMOND BURR in "GODZILLA"... Taking due advantage of nostalgia, "HIGH SOCIETY" is in re-release. For those too young to remember this pic sported the celebrated cast of GRACE KELLY, FRANK SINATRA and BING CROSBY... So now that JAMES GARNER is "out" of the TV bag, he just may decide to stick full time as a film actor. Which is a shade to the left of being ironical. GARNER made the move to television because he was unhappy with the climate and moors of pictures...

SHIRLEY MacLAINE has no need of jumping into the first project which may come her way. With a well invested career bankroll to carry her through dateless engagements, she can well afford the luxury of "picking" the right film property... GERT FROBE, though Germany's number one attraction, can't find work in his homeland. Like, his asking price is too escalated for German producers... It's official. JOHNNY CARSON will home base out of beautiful downtown Burbank effective May 1... What with all the hullabaloo of DYAN CANNON'S emergence as Tinseltowns number 1 sex symbol, I wonder what will become of big bodomed RAQUEL WELCH...

SOUND OFF: HOWARD COSSELL. Is he for real, or a reel put on?... Since he appeared on TV as a sportscaster some years ago, he has gone out of his way to irritate the viewer. His Monday nite shared-triumvirate football show is an example of this. COSSELL pops off. Blurps off. Sounds off on anything and everything, with utter disregard for what is considered a proper opinion... But I wonder, does he do this for affect? Is HOWARD COSSELL more showman than sportscaster? Maybe a frustrated actor who has garbed the guise of the heavy?... Interesting, yes. A pain in the neck, yes. But is he motivated by real or reel instincts?...

Citizens Assn. Against Lincoln-Hancock Pool

The executive board of the Quincy Citizens Association has again taken a stand against inclusion of a swimming pool in the new Lincoln-Hancock School.

In a letter to Mayor Hannon, President Joseph A. Slattery said "we believe that the expenditure of a half a million dollars or more for this luxury recreational facility is unnecessary."

Slattery said his group feared the pool "will open the door for similar facilities in all other schools throughout the city."

He said taxpayers "are already overburdened with top-heavy expenditures by all branches of government, and whether the funds are allocated from Washington or locally they all come out of the same pocket -- that of the struggling taxpayer."

Slattery urged the Mayor, as chairman of the School committee, to work for deletion of the pool from school plans "in the best interest of the taxpayers of Quincy."

"The new Lincoln-Hancock School will be a learning institution, and that is what it should be -- not a country club," he said.

Morrisette Scholarship Available

Application forms for college scholarships from Cyril P. Morrisette American Legion Post are available through May 10 at the post home in West Quincy.

The post awards $1,500 in scholarships annually to graduating high school seniors who intend to continue their education.

"To be eligible, an applicant must be the son or daughter of a post member and must have completed two marking periods of his senior year of high school.

Applications are also available from Hugo F. Saluti, dean of administration at Quincy Junior College, 34 Coddington St., 02169.

Mr. Saluti is chairman of the scholarship committee which includes Paul A. Hunt, Russell DiMattio, Louis Volpe, Maurice J. Daly, Carl Leone and James Ricciuti.

The committee will schedule several meetings to review and evaluate each candidate's academic record and background and interview each candidate.

Winners are expected to be chosen before June 1.

LaRaia Asks Report On City Bond Indebtedness

Councillor-at-large Joseph J. LaRaia has asked the city auditor to report on the present and project status of the city's bond indebtedness.

LaRaia made the request at a hearing of the school committee budget in which he expressed concern for the tax burden that would be created through increased bond indebtedness.

He said Quincy is "running out of resources -- available funds and bond options -- or all other future expenditures."

Unedited selections from the writings of Quincy's elementary school children

OUR NEW WING

I think one of the funniest things was bringing up all the books to the new wing. It looked like Saturday in Filene's Basement. It was just row after row, book after book, coming up to the new wing! Not only did it look like Saturday in Filene's Basement, but it looked like Sunday at Fenway Park with all the kids yelling and jumping everywhere.

And when all the kids started to move into the New Wing, it looked something like a weekday 5:00 rush hour on the Freeway. That's how mixed up we were for the first couple of days or maybe even a few weeks. Anyhow, it paid off! We have everything we could possibly need in our school now.

BROTHERHOOD

Brotherhood is something missing in the world. The Blacks, Yellows, Reds, Whites and all others will not be friends. If a white man owned a house most likely he wouldn't sell it to a Black. Blacks, Reds and Yellows are "put down" in this country, but Congress is working on getting discrimination out of our nation.

But brotherhood must be in the entire world, not just a part of it. We must stop the wars, because if brotherhood was world wide, there would be no wars.

However, brotherhood must start in the home. Then it will spread through the town, the city, the state, until it will spread over our country. Eventually, it will be world-wide. But remember, brotherhood must start somewhere. Why not here and now, with each of you?

TRIP TO THE RIVER NILE

Dear Gina & Barbara,

I am having a good time at the Nile. Only if you could come you would like it too. Did you ever know that the Nile River is the longest river in the world. Well it is, and did you ever know that the houses are made of Sun-dried mud bricks. In the windows there is no glass. The trees are called Date Palms.

Your friend,

Dear Pamela D.,

The Nile is wonderful and we will be coming back soon. I visited the Oasis Village too. We saw men threshing wheat with a simple threshing machine pulled by oxen. I even saw a man getting water in a manner so odd. It was an old, old way. The Nile River is like a narrow ribbon. We saw pyramids and sphinx. While I was there I heard of a plant called tapioea.

Yours,
Maryanne Spadorcia

Dear Mark,

I went to Africa. I saw a very long river called the Nile River. I saw many strange things. They use oxen to thresh wheat. I saw men using this thing called Shaduf. Did you know that trains are here too. There is a Statue of a human's head and a lions body. It is called a sphinx. Long, long ago, the Egyptians made Sphinxes to guard the tombs of their rulers.

Dear Nancy,

How are you. It's really nice in the Sahara. It's hot in the day and cold in the night. There's camels here and date palm trees. It's really great. I saw the Nile. It is really big and wide. Well I have to go now.

Dear Bette,

I'm having a wonderful time at the Nile, you should go there someday. The Nile River is 4,000 miles long and that's pretty long! I'll bring you home a lot of things. In the desert they get showers now and then. Out here they pray for showers night and day. I have to go now, but I'll be seeing you maybe next week. Goodbye for now!!!

Chamber Backs Proposed Youth Hockey Assn. Rink

The Board of Directors of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce has passed a resolution favoring the building of an ice skating rink by the Quincy Youth Hockey Association.

The resolve reads:

"That the City make every effort to find a suitable location and lease the location at a nominal amount to the Quincy Youth Hockey Association for a 25-year period, with the property to revert to the City at the end of the lease period. We further feel that the Quincy Youth Hockey Association should pay a fee, in lieu of taxes, to the city based on excess income, should there be an excess."

Chamber directors said there is a great demand for ice skating facilities in the city and urges support of the Quincy Youth Hockey Association. The Chamber also recommended greater private development in the area off Sea St., be undertaken.

It was at the request of the Quincy Youth Hockey Association that the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce appointed a committee to study the association's proposal to construct a 500-seat ice skating facility and make a recommendation.

William E. Kelley, Hancock Bank, chairman; Robert Colman,

Mayor Declares April 2-9 International Festival Week

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has declared April 2-9 Quincy International Festival Week in conjunction with a Quincy School System program for "peace, love and brotherhood."

The foreign language department will supervise the week's activities, during which all schools will concentrate on understanding other cultures.

The week will climax April 7 and 8 with exhibits of food, dress, art, music and games of various countries at the Vocational Technical School gym from 9:30 to 10 p.m.

In his proclamation, the Mayor urged "all of our community to join in the efforts of the Quincy School System toward peace, love and brotherhood through understanding and respect of all human beings for the cultures of each other."

Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, has sent letters to parents urging participation in the festivities.

All groups and individuals are invited to set up exhibits in schools representative of the variety of ethnic groups that make up the Quincy community, Dr. Creedon said.

A form is attached to each letter seeking ideas and participation in preparation of food, dances, and games that can be identified with a particular culture.

Secondary school students will be allowed, with parental permission, to attend foreign language films at the Strand Theater during the week.

Scheduled films include "Mon Oncle" [French] on Monday, "Los Olvidados" [Spanish] on Tuesday, "Tonio Kroeger" [German] on Wednesday and "Spartacus" [Latin] on Thursday.

Further information is available from foreign language coordinator Ellis Schwartz at Quincy High School.

Heart Attack & Diet

America is in the throes of a coronary epidemic that is taking the lives of 650,000 persons a year. Although there are several factors which contribute to heart attacks, such as age, physical condition, heredity and sex (men are more prone in earlier years), there is one element which has caused a great deal of controversy - diet.

In a well-documented study of 5,000 men and women in Framingham, Mass., the middle aged folks with high cholesterol readings (an indication of saturated fat in the blood), had six times the risk of heart attack as did those in the lower range. More recently, a larger study of those over age 40 in seven nations yielded similar results.

American Heart Association scientists are leading a strong campaign to inform the American public about the danger of high saturated fat diets.

Veterans News

Millions of veterans could lose part or all of their GI educational benefits if they don't act promptly, the Veterans Administration warns.

William F. Connors, Director, VA Regional Office, Boston, explained that those whose benefits are in danger were discharged between Jan. 31, 1955 and June 1, 1966. For these veterans, eligibility for VA educational assistance payments for GI Bill schooling expires on May 31, 1974, whether they are enrolled at that time or not.

The expiration date is fixed by a 1966 law which, for the first time, extended eligibility for education benefits to Post Korean veterans with service after Jan. 31, 1955. Each veteran has eight years in which to use his benefits. Normally, the eight years are computed from the date of his release from military service. But because the benefits were not available until June 1, 1966, when the law became effective, the eight years start from the date the benefits became available for those discharged before that date.

Certain types of training, authorized for the first time Aug. 31, 1967, are not affected by the 1974 expiration date. Included are flight training, apprentice and on-the-job training and farm cooperative training. These forms of training are available under the eight year policy, until Aug. 31, 1975 or eight years after discharge, whichever is later.

VA records show that when the 1966 law became effective June 1, it made over four million veterans eligible for benefits and of this number, about 3,000,000 have not used their benefits or have used only part of them.

About 300,000 of this group are in training at the present time. Total enrollment under the GI Bill in January of this year was over one million bringing to three million the number of beneficiaries who have received training under the current GI Bill.

Veterans earn one and one-half months of educational benefits for each month of military service, up to a maximum of 36 months. Those who serve 18 months or more are entitled to the full 36 months

Brooke Congratulates Burke On Drug Education Program

Norfolk County Dist. Atty. George G. Burke has been congratulated by Sen. Edward W. Brooke for the pioneering work he is doing in the field of drug abuse prevention.

Senator Brooke said drug abuse has become a "frightening reality in our country and, alas, in Massachusetts."

Brooke said "that at long last the general public seems to understand 'how serious is the crisis which confronts us.'"

District Attorney Burke thanked Brooke for his efforts in obtaining a recent HEW grant which will enable Burke's drug educators to receive further training to assist them in developing the capability to provide comprehensive preventive Drug Education programs.

The grants will be used specifically and exclusively to support the training of community interdisciplinary teams at training and support centers located in their general geographical region.

Seven of the eight training centers were announced to Congress Jan. 27. These training and support centers will provide the teams with skills which will enable them to return to their communities with the capability to determine the local drug problem, assess and mobilize their community's resources, and develop a coordinated community program for responding to their community's drug problem.

Training at the centers will be in two phases. During Phase I strong emphasis will be placed on providing trainees with a basic knowledge of drugs, the current drug scene, and various types of drug abuse prevention, treatment and rehabilitation programs; developing communication skills and teaching participants to work as a team.

The primary focus on Phase II will be the development of program planning and implementation skills and community organization strategies. Built into the mini-grant program and the training and support center models will be mechanisms for providing continuing developmental assistance to communities for follow-up to the basic training.

Hannon Orders Dept Heads To Clear Releases

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has distributed a memorandum instructing all City Hall department heads to clear statements to the press through the mayor's office.

The Mayor said the order was designed to help coordinate information leaving City Hall and make sure all parties involved in projects and issues are fully informed.

"We are not trying to suppress or control news but to coordinate it," he said.

City Hall sources said the mayor handed down the memo after assessor Elmer K. Fagerlund was quoted as calling the suggested $1 per square foot purchase price of WMEX land for North Quincy High School "wishful thinking."

LaRaia Opposes $750,000 School Facility Commitment

Councillor-at-large Joseph J. LaRaia said today the city "should not commit itself" to construction of the $750,000 proposed school administration facility.

Cost of the facility, planned for the skating rink complex at the Vocational Technical School, would "be entirely borne by Quincy taxpayers," LaRaia said.

"Presently, school officials are seeking a lease arrangement for the use of Quincy District Court," he said. "This space can be utilized for school and office space temporarily."

Phasing out of Quincy Junior College within the next five years would meet future space needs, he said.

"I believe school officials should be more conservative in their spending program and more considerate of the Quincy taxpayers."

"During the next few weeks we will have to consider a more critical problem and that is the site, location and costs of building a new North Quincy High School which is estimated to cost a minimum of $15 million," he said.

Vandals Destroy Stones At Hancock Cemetery

Vandals destroyed five marble tombstones that date to the 1700's and toppled two monuments at historic Hancock Cemetery over the Easter weekend.

Cemetery Superintendent Anthony M. Famigletti also reported the theft of 35 or more plants from graves at Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Famigletti said the marble tombstones were broken beyond repair and that one of the obelisks was broken in half when it tipped over.

Snag In 'No-Fix' System

Marshall Says 10-Cent Meters In Square May Be 'Illegal'

By DICK MATTULINA

The 250 parking meters installed at Hancock Parking Area in preparation for the no-fix system are apparently "illegal", according to Ward 2 Councillor Clifford H. Marshall.

When questioned by the Quincy Sun, Marshall, chairman of the Council ordinance committee, said to the best of his knowledge "there is no ordinance to cover" the installation of 10-cent meters for Quincy Square parking.

The meters, ordered in December, were placed in operation last week to facilitate Tuesday's inauguration of the no-fix system.

Instead, they have thrown an apparent monkey wrench into the works as there appears to be "no ordinance to back up the tag," according to Marshall.

The last Council action regulating parking fees was taken in 1961 providing rates of five cents per hour with a two-hour limit.

Mayor Hannon expressed surprise Tuesday that the meters were installed but said he didn't anticipate a problem because nickels can be used for parking.

The Hancock lot now has 250 new meters from M. H. Rhodes

Inc. with fees of 10 cents per hour, another 200 have been installed in Ross Parking Area and 750 are on order for the Ross Garage.

Marshall said he will be meeting shortly with City Solicitor Harry Pavan, City Clerk John Gillis and Police Captain Roy Cavicchi head of the Traffic Division to determine which areas, if any, need new ordinances.

"If we determine there has to be a change, either we or the Mayor's office will have to put the matter before the city council," he said.

The subject would then have to be referred to Marshall's committee, advertised, and a public meeting may have to be held before action can be taken.

The earliest an ordinance could be acted on would be sometime in May, Marshall said.

Marshall said "realistically" the council has little choice on whether or not to approve the fee hike.

"If a public outcry arises it would be possible to change heads on the meters at an additional cost, but at this point it would be more logical to put in a change in the ordinance," he said.

Persons parking at 10-cent meters apparently need only deposit five cents per hour of parking in the shopper's sections of the lot, Marshall said.

"If they came out 40 minutes later and found a tag, there's no way of enforcing that part of it until the ordinance is changed," he said.

Shoppers parking longer than two hours or persons at expired all-day meters could be fined, however, he said.

Meanwhile, the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce has negotiated for two more temporary employee parking lots, making use of facilities at Quincy Center, Methodist Church and Old Colony laundries.

Quincy Square workers wishing stickers for admission to these or other interim lots may apply on company stationery to the Chamber, 36 Miller Stile Rd.

Bruins Play-off Tickets Make 'Sweet Music'

It was sweet music for a couple of Bruins fans at Morrisette Legion Post Monday night.

Four tickets—two sets of two—for two of the Bruins-Maple Leafs Stanley Cup playoff games, were awarded in a drawing by the Morrisette Legion Post band.

Two tickets for the Wednesday night's game went to John Fantucchio, 58

Common St., West Quincy.

The other two for the Thursday night game went to Marion Harlamert of Beechmont St., Hyde Park. Eat your heart out!

'No-Fix' Jeopardized

The "no-fix" system moved smoothly and efficiently into Quincy Monday after weeks of preparation.

New citations were printed up, officers and meter maids were briefed on the workings of the system and some 450 parking meters were installed to replace tired or broken ones.

Well, the machines are functionally perfect, but unfortunately, they are apparently illegal.

It seems these shiny new meters are among the 535 ordered in December from M.H. Rhodes Inc., of Avon, Conn., which charge 10 cents per hour for parking.

And according to Section 88 of Chapter 14, as an addendum to the City Ordinances, parking fees in the Hancock and Ross lots can not exceed five cents per hour with a two-hour limit.

The Quincy Sun pointed out this discrepancy two months ago in our Feb. 3 editorial but the City Council has held no formal discussion on the matter.

At that time, Mayor Hannon said he was unconcerned over the matter and accused merchants opposed to the hike of "quibbling over dimes".

Again this week the mayor shrugged off the matter.

But no longer does the issue concern small change.

The success of the long-awaited "no-fix" ticket system may be jeopardized by the installation of meters which may be illegal.

When the meters were on order we said the council had little choice but to revise the ordinance.

Now they have virtually no choice.

If "no-fix" is to work for the benefit of Quincy the ordinance must be changed.

It is unfortunate that this situation has been allowed to exist. But since it does exist, we can only urge swift action in rectifying it and express our hope that such problems will not arise again.

● Youth Speaks Out

● The first drawing for The Game is today, and the Telephone Company is afraid that almost The Game will interrupt regular service. Of course, with the poor phone service we've been receiving, no one will know if their service is interrupted or not.

● Nobody should really have been surprised that the great American game of baseball took on another great American feature and went on strike.

● Vegetarianism is on the rise. It's not because people are more health conscious - who can afford meat?

● If Uncle Sam had the trouble collecting money that the senior class does in the form of class dues, the U.S. would be broke.

● Schoolboy sports have gotten out of hand when Norwood called off school because their team won the Hockey tournament.

● Somebody seems to have forgotten that there's such a season as Spring. Having one Spring every three years just isn't enough.

Says Zoo, Restaurant In Faxon Park 'A Step In The The Wrong Direction'

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Several days ago a plan was unveiled by the Ward 3 Councilor to develop Faxon Park consisting of a zoo, restaurant, a 200 car parking area, basketball and tennis courts and a general revitalization of the park. A lesser alternate plan was offered.

No one would dispute the fact that Faxon Park needs development and beautification. The installation of tennis and basketball courts, betterment of the ballfield, installation of adequate utilities and picnic facilities would greatly enhance Faxon Park.

Also, everyone would favor a senior citizens and childrens recreational facilities. But...to advocate a zoo and restaurant in Faxon Park! This would be taking a step in the wrong direction. A zoo and restaurant would present many problems i.e.:

1. Overburdening the traffic problem to even greater proportions in this area.
2. Congestion, noise and odors.
3. Attraction of many visitors from surrounding communities for recreational purposes only.
4. The overhead cost of maintenance of the zoo area.
5. The high cost of caring for and housing the animals.
6. The cost of replacing the animals.
7. The cost of security and policing to prevent vandalism, crime and littering.

These are the foreseeable problems and costs. What of the problems and costs that may arise of which we are unaware of yet? In this time of rising costs and high unemployment in Quincy we must ask ourselves "Is this zoo and restaurant desired enough by the citizens to warrant this expenditure by the city at this time or any other time?"

The betterment of every segment of our community depends on responsible planning and action.

Peter P. Gacia
20 Stanley Circle, Quincy.

Editor's Note: The above letter was received prior to the announcement this week by Ward 3 Councilor Theophilus McLelland that plans for a zoo complex at Faxon Park have been abandoned. McLelland then released a plan to upgrade the park for park and recreational use.

On The Screen By Vincent Puleo

Tradition is its own best pacesetter for continued excellence. It goes the new arrival into greater accomplishment of artistic triumphs past... Harvard University's HASTY PUDDING THEATRICALS [HPT] is steeped in antiquity of a 123 years past, outranked in years of duration by only two other theater groups in the world, THE PASSION PLAYERS and the COMEDIE DE FRANCAISE...

HASTY PUDDING alumni include the great and near great, legend and contemporary. OWEN WISTER, JACK LEMMON, ERICH SEGAL, ALAN JAY LERNER, JOE REPOSO and FRED GWYNNE, to mention but a few, each cut their theatrical teeth in HPT productions... Keeping in step with its past, this years HPT show, the Club's 124th, highlights the wide range of talent of Broadway bound Harvard senior, NICK WYMAN...

"THE WRONGWAY INN" is a two act play with a mixed bag of satire, dry humor, historical irreverence, a no-holds-barred laugh-in which pokes fun at the shenanigans of pre-Revolutionary America, replete with the customary Yale jokes that all HPT productions are famed... What made it such a delight was the performance of the aforementioned WYMAN. As the grumpy, dollar over patriotism Mayor DeBluesway, he glued the show together with a top notch performance. When he wasn't on stage, one could sense something was missing. WYMAN has a gift of getting the audience so caught up with his character, that one waits anxiously for his return to the scene... A future star. On Broadway. And, hopefully, in films...

What's old pro RICHARD CONTE doing these days? Don't recall seeing him on the big screen for the past three or four years... For awhile there, CONTE was content appearing exclusively in FRANK SINATRA flicks. Now with the "Voice" allegedly out of action, one can only wonder what future RICHARD CONTE has in film... Athletes aren't the only specie socking it to his management. Quick-fingered STEVE McQUEEN is saying no to his agents who seek more than 5% commission. They were receiving 10%, as is the going rate, till McQUEEN stomped his foot down...

Thought you'd never ask: OMAR SHARIF has more than chess on his mind these days. The fabled modern day VALENTINO recently added two dozen race horses to his list of hobbies... "I WANT WHAT I WANT" should meet the RX approval of researchers and doctors at John Hopkins University Gender Identity Clinic [Baltimore, Md]. In all truth, this is the first film that deals openly, and without resort to sensationalism, on the subject of transsexualism... The ANNE HEYWOOD starrer, an R rated fare, literally documents the trials and tribulations of one Roy, and gives a pro and con three dimensional looksee towards his eventual transformation to Wendy...

Are motion pictures in JIM NABORS immediate plans?... "LIVING FREE" is a pleasant follow-up to "BORN FREE"... As predicted in this column months back, rodeo flicks are the coming film age. And in this respect "J. W. COOP" starts off the fad in bucking fashion. Well worth the price of admission... Hats off to MARLON BRANDO on his successful climb back to box office Olympus. His "THE GODFATHER" role is sheer perfection. Those who read the book are in for a visual speed reading course with BRANDO'S exact PUZO interpretation... JOHNNY CARSON is getting wacked-to-it from CBS' late movie broadcast. The ole' Carson ratings are skidding decimal points per week...

"THE BURGGLARS" are coming and OMAR SHARIFF, JEAN-PAUL BELMONDO, and DYAN CANNON are three good reasons to catch this high explosive adventure...

Add the name SIDNEY POITIER to the list of thespians who liken London to their greener pasture. The award winning performer recently acquired a grand townhouse in the posh exclusive Belgrave Square district... You go back a long way if "BEST FOOT FORWARD" jingles a memory bell of the LUCILLE BALL 1943 starrer... A newcomer to watch? ANNE ARCHER. She is starred in two pictures scheduled for release; "THE HONKERS" and "THE ALL-AMERICAN BOY"... Commercial photographer TERRY DONOVAN does the directing bit with "LOOPHOLE", his first filmed legit...

Seminars are conducted by Israel Arnold, a retired businessman who has been counseling people with difficulty finding the right job for five years.

Sessions will be limited to 12 persons and are open to seniors of Quincy, Braintree, Milton and Weymouth.

'Quincy Method' Says

School Costs Taking Less Of Tax Dollar Each Year

The amount of the tax dollar going toward school expenses has been decreasing since 1968, according to Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, superintendent of schools.

In "Quincy Method", an official publication of the school system, charts show that the taxpayer spent 48.5 cents per dollar for the school budget in 1968 and 41 cents last year.

While school costs have added $10.41 to the tax rate in the past four years, the overall rate has increased $44.60 during the same period, according to the publication.

The April edition of "Quincy Method", which will be delivered to elementary and secondary school students and professional offices around the city, devotes six pages to explaining budget expenditures.

The breakdown for 1972 attributes 80.9 per cent of school costs to personnel services and salaries.

Some 7.9 per cent goes to operation and maintenance of 30 schools, 6 per cent for learning materials, 1.4 per cent for services such as transportation and 1.2 per cent for pensions.

The $1,267,092 to be spent for learning aids this year represents approximately $62 per student, which, the publication points out "is the cost per year of a daily and Sunday newspaper."

"Quincy Method" mentions 28 instructional renovation projects to be undertaken this year which range from adding electrical outlets to classrooms to converting classrooms into media centers.

Personnel services, which take up the vast majority of the budget, include salaries of the 1,300 teachers, administrators, clerks, janitors and maintenance men employed by the school system.

The gross budget for schools increased from $9.9 million to $16.6 million during the five-year period from 1967 to 1971 and the cost of education per pupil rose from $566 to $915.

But, the publication points out, the percentage of the tax rate has decreased 4.1 per cent during that period as the general rate has increased slightly more than twice as much as the school tax rate.

Special Features

Cotton Futures Look Bright In Menswear

FASHION FORECAST — Brushed cotton denim is the fabric to watch in menswear. Designer Jon Jolcin uses it for a suit sparked by diamond-stitched yoke and bold panel trim. Outside pockets and close-to-the-body shaping give a neat military air.

Cotton futures in menswear never looked brighter. This was pointed up recently in a special showing in Houston at the convention of Mens-Wear Retailers of America and the Men's Fashion Association.

A collection of 35 complete outfits, all in cotton, was especially created for the occasion by New York Designer Jon Jolcin. It was presented by Cotton Incorporated to show how well cotton adapts to every category of menswear from elegant evening jackets to rugged boots.

Cotton's versatility was underscored time and again as retailers saw outfits in denim, velvet, poplin, canvas, corduroy, terry, and Bedford cord.

One of the surprise uses of cotton was in ski wear. Cotton sateen with a water-repellent finish shaped a quilted ski jacket with high-rise collar and matching trousers with vertically zipped pockets.

Cotton denim was featured prominently in suits and jackets. Subtle colors and touches of quilting on yokes and pockets gave a fresh new look to traditional denims as well as brushed versions. One casual suit of brushed denim included a waist-length battle-jacket, flared slacks with cuffs, and matching denim boots.

An air of casual elegance was conveyed in a shaped two-button jacket of plush cotton velvet. Diamond-stitching on the jacket body gave a rich quilted effect, while smooth faced lapels and pockets added contrast.

The collection was clear proof that cotton fashions are on the move in menswear, with a bright new outlook for the '70s.

CASUAL ELEGANCE — Cotton velvet, diamond-stitched for a quilted effect, creates a handsome two-button jacket with shaped body. A special design by Jon Jolcin, the coat features clean-faced collar, lapels, and pocket flaps for an interplay of texture.

SHIRT TALE — The surprises are all in the back of this man-loving pure cotton khaki shirt with its high-low effect and king-size buttoned loop detail at back. Open side vents reveal the slightly longer back shirt-tail of the futuristic style by Jon Jolcin.

North Pacific Halibut Is Versatile

Genuine North Pacific halibut, either fresh or frozen, lends itself to countless ways of preparation including this company-style entree that takes just moments to prepare. The firm white fish is cut into chunks and stir-fried in hot oil. A tangy sweet and sour sauce, colorful with pineapple, green pepper and onion complements the mild flavor of the halibut.

Serve Halibut Hawaiian over fluffy steamed rice along with a crunchy bean sprout salad and steaming cups of tea.

OUR HEALTH

By C. H. Tracy, M.D.

PR

My husband and I lead a very active outdoor life. The weathered look becomes him, but it's aging me. Must I give it all up to keep a youthful appearance? (I'm 35.)

and your youthful appearance too!

It's only normal that with the years we lose some of the natural oils so important to that youthful skin. Dryness is caused by a decrease in the activity of the sebaceous glands. Your constant exposure to weather further the drying process, robbing your skin of this precious moisture faster than it can be replaced. In addition, prolonged exposure to the sun tends to thicken the outer layer of the skin. The result is weathered-looking skin and a dryness which may emphasize any wrinkles.

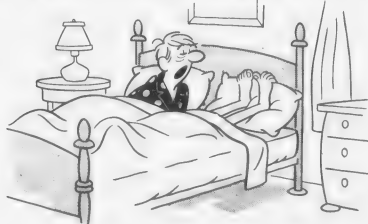

When you're on the ski slopes, chances are your main worry is your face. Carry on with washing it once a day with soap and water, but in addition to this cleansing process, do turn to a skin lotion which will relieve the dryness and itchiness caused by overexposure to harsh weather. It's a good idea to go through this process daily or as often as you feel necessary.

For all-over protection, whether from harsh winter weather or exposure to the tropic sun, the same sort of good thinking applies here, too. I recommend adding a therapeutic bath oil such as Alpha Keri to the bath water, to alleviate the dryness and itch.

A good point to remember — don't overdo — even too much exercise would be ill-advised, just as too much soaping can dry the skin. Keep your individual needs in mind. My friend and I have been disputing over the difference between a strain and sprain. Can you set us straight?

A sprain is the result of the breaking of fibers in one or more ligaments or tendons around a joint. A strain occurs when you overstretch or overuse a muscle. Football fans may recall hearing of their favorite star's suffering from a charley horse. This common muscular occurrence often is the result of too vigorous warming up by athletes getting into condition.

Living, Today

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

I said to a beautiful cocktail waitress recently... "What's your greatest need?" Like many divorced women she's working to support her four children. She's doing a good job...but it isn't easy. She answered me... "I have two needs...money and companionship." Neither need is being fully met for her.

A man with a small business was laying off employees. Lots of this is going on now. He worried about the men's families...and it depressed him. I said to him... "What would you say is your greatest need right now?" Said he... "Dr. Knox...my greatest need is to have my wife believe in me...if she were just with me...I could handle anything."

The waitress had no partner to meet her needs. The business man had a partner...but she wouldn't meet his needs. Which had the worse predicament? If I'm correct...neither of these people were loved, because love is meeting needs.

Everyone's needs are different. One becomes aware of a need when it isn't being met. It's like missing the water only when the well runs dry. If a woman has companionship...she may not be aware of what it is to be lonely. Her need is being met. If a man feels inferior his need is to be built up in his attitude toward himself. If it isn't...he probably feels unloved.

Husbands love their wives when they meet their wives needs. Wives love their husbands when they meet their husbands needs. Too often we do things which we say are done in love...but which are not the other's needs. Here's the wife who says... "I keep that house so clean that he can eat off the floor." O.K. that's fine...but that isn't her husband's need...to eat off the floor. His need is for affection...conversation...companionship within the clean house. She can't really claim to be loving him...unless she's meeting his needs.

How do we find out what those needs are? By conversation. Many a boy longs for the companionship of this father...but his father's too busy...and thoughtless...maybe doesn't know how to relate to his boy. Some good open conversation between a father and son clears the air and can make the whole family happier. Talk. Until we become aware that a need is not being met we may ignore it indefinitely. So talk.

It may be difficult to meet some needs...may mean that you'll have to change your habits of life. Marriage does call for a change of life. A wife...as a girl at home was always served breakfast in bed. Now she found it difficult to get up at 7:00 a.m. to get breakfast for her husband before he hit the expressway for the city. But she learned to do it...after a half year struggle with herself. Recently she exclaimed to me... "when I realized that my husband needed me at the start of his day...the 'little girl' in me just vanished. Now I feel like a full grown woman." Showing love by meeting needs often requires change in your own behavior.

Are you meeting the needs of someone? That's how you know if you're in love. Are your needs being met? Then your being loved.

When he left pharmacy school, Johnson became a stock boy at Woolworth's Natick store and rapidly advanced to department head, assistant manager and, finally, manager.

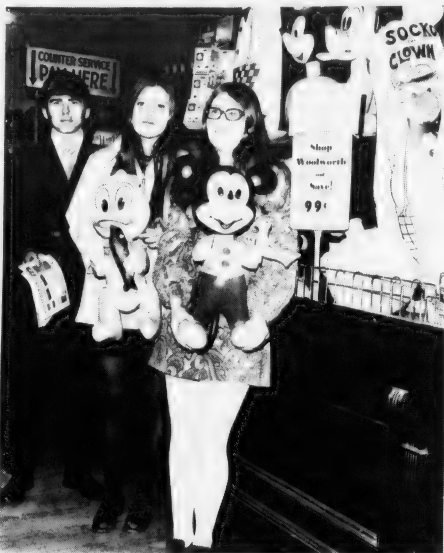

He worked at Woolworth's stores in Needham, Bedford, Natick Shopping Center and Worcester before receiving his most recent promotion.

Johnson says it is not unusual for young men his age to have advanced through the ranks of the department store chain to become managers.

The Wollaston store employs five full-time and five part-time workers.

Johnson is a member of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association.

He and his wife, the former Suzanne Doyle of Holliston, have two sons, Benjamin and Keith.

Children Can Learn Thrift From Toys

By Philip J. Lawrence
President

COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holbrook
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursday's

Teaching thrift to youngsters involves more than prodding them to put pennies in piggy banks. It relates to the careful and economical management of all their possessions.

It is a sad fact that children in this age of prosperity and indulgence are getting a bad education in thrift from being glutted with too many toys.

Persuasive TV commercials and overwhelming department-store arrays, particularly at Christmas, encourage childish demands that some parents can't manage. The glutting effect is to discourage rather than add to wholesome play. It denies the imagination the opportunity to express itself.

Moreover, by virtue of an apparent built-in obsolescence, the toys get brief use, after which they are consigned to the trash heap. Many a parent has gazed ruefully at a dismantled and discarded toy that represented a considerable outlay of money. Needless to say, the lesson learned by the child did not contribute to any sense of thrift values.

The author of Where Did You Go? Out, What Did You Do? Nothing speaks of toys he and his friends made on the sidewalks of New York out of empty spools, clotheslines, tin cans, and elastic bands—toys that now come ready-made.

Robert Paul Smith notes the deprivation of the youngsters' creativity as they come home from school "with a mimeographed schedule for the Saturday morning soccer league . . . There are always eleven men on the team, the ball is always regulation size, the games are played on a regulation-size field . . . and there is a regulation-size adult to referee."

A far cry from the days when resourceful kids found a vacant lot, leveled it, made base paths, built backstops, scraped up gloves, taped old balls, and chose up sides!

Why is it that in an earlier generation a youngster had one bicycle to last him throughout childhood and adolescence, after which he passed it on, whereas today's kids wear out two, three, or more bikes before they get car-oriented?

Is it in the bike or in the child?

The child cannot be blamed too much if the parents encourage him in the belief that something gets thrown away when a bolt gets lost or a screw is missing. We need respect for a well-made toy or a household gadget.

With the first breakdown, the instinct should be to make as good as new rather than consign to the trash barrel. We need more tinkering with bicycles—tightening up spokes, adjusting brakes, oiling, washing, painting—less putting into the station wagon and taking to the repair shop.

The Quincy Youth Hockey Association, Inc., presently has 12 house teams, sponsored by local business firms and organizations and these clubs, in President Bob Hayes' words are "the meat and potatoes of our extensive program."

From this house [or intramural] teams, eight Pee Wees and four Bantams, come the players who represent Quincy on the all-star teams facing teams from other towns in leagues at Weymouth, Braintree and Hingham.

When the association completes its new rink, hopefully in November, several more of these house teams will be organized as well as more all-star clubs.

The association has a waiting list of more than 400 boys and hopefully many of them will be able to join teams upon completion of the rink.

There are now approximately 360 adult members of the association.

The team sponsors are C. A. Cox Rambler, Crestview Nursing Home, Daniel F. X. Davis Insurance, Farina Kitchens, Hannon Tire, Keohane Funeral Home, Maguire's Lounge, Morrisette Legion Post, Noonan Press, Sweeney Funeral Home, UCT Council 594, Wollaston Theater, Quincy Police Boys' Club, Frank Evans Aluminum,

100 Adults Volunteer Services To League

According to President Bob Hayes, about 100 adults actively work in various capacities with the Quincy Youth Hockey Association.

All volunteer their services, with no one being paid.

"It is particularly heartening to me to see so many men and women with no sons in the program giving of their time," Hayes said. "No one works harder than my wife and sister-in-law and other women also put in a lot of time."

"I was very disappointed to hear people say we have men unqualified to work with the boys. We have only the most qualified men and they include men prominent in many businesses and professions."

Basiliere Eyes 100th Win

Presidents Have Many Baseball Shoes To Fill

Quincy baseball Coach Bob Basiliere is starting his ninth year as Presidents' skipper and this year, hopefully, will gain his 100th victory.

If and when the Presidents win their ninth game it will be 100 for Basiliere.

A year ago Quincy had a disappointing season as it lost its last three games to wind up with a 5-9 record, one of Basiliere's few losing seasons. Bob has led the Presidents into the Eastern Mass Tourney four times, winning one Greater Boston League title and finishing second three times.

If he hopes to gain another tourney berth this spring, he is going to have to do it mainly with graduates of Bud Mosher's strong 1971 junior varsity club.

"We lost just about everyone and Jimmy Walker, one of the best pitchers in the league, is the only one who can be called a returning starter," Basiliere said. "Some of the other boys played with the varsity but did not start and some of them saw only limited service."

Two other pitchers with varsity experience are Bobby Malvesti, who came into his own with Morrisette Legion and played a key role in that team's zone championship last summer, and Bobby Brill who, like Walker, is a southpaw.

Other pitching hopefuls are Jerry Bugdon, Bob Lane, Cliff Broome and Dave Sullivan, all jayvee players a year ago. Walker will play in the outfield, Sullivan at shortstop and Brill at first base when not pitching.

Ron Smith, up from the jayvees, and John Carone, who saw some varsity service late in the year, will share the catching chores.

Mike Long, another jayvee graduate, and Ed Panasi, who did some catching a year ago, are the first base candidates.

Connie Driscoll, a varsity player, is battling Paul Creedon, up from the JVs, for second base, Artie Boyle, who played a great deal last spring, is set at shortstop, while Dennis Marvelle, who was ineligible last year, and George French, another jayvee grad, are fighting for third base.

Outfield hopefuls include Mike Marvelle, who played varsity ball last year, and two other jayvee graduates, John Warren and Dan Spencer.

"We have some good athletes and they just have to jell," Basiliere said. "Last year's junior varsity players are going to have to come through for us to make us threats for the championship and the tournament."

Mosher continues as the Quincy junior varsity mentor.

Quincy, following several practice games, opens its season at Adams Field against B.C. High April 10 and starts its league season April 17. The first five games will be home games at Adams Field.

MASON'S POINT SAILING PROGRAM

Mason's Point, a seashore day camp, located on the Quincy Bay side of Squantum, teaches youngsters the basic skills in safe boating and also the skills of sailing.

The coed program operates for eight weeks or four two-week periods and enrolls boys and girls ages 10-15 years.

Some of the areas in which campers are instructed include: techniques of sailing, swimming, drownproofing, ability to remain afloat and safe in the event of capsizing, rowing techniques, canoeing, waterskiing, the rigging of sailboats, knots and competitive sailing. Water Safety is constantly adhered to, providing a check on campers at all times.

The Quincy YMCA has recently hired a new director for this summer. John Gauthier, 3 Poplar St., Baintree, has been an active member of the "Y" for the past 10 years.

John spent nine of these years teaching in the Pollywog program and the past seven years as coach of the boys swim team. He is presently involved in teaching a Senior Lifesaving Class at the Y for the Quincy School Department.

John is a certified Red Cross Water Safety Instructor, having successfully completed courses at the National Red Cross Aquatic School. Courses included all phases of Water Safety-Lifesaving, Swimming, boating, canoeing, first aid, and sailing. Present plans include attending National Red Cross Aquatic School this June concentrating primarily on sailing techniques.

As a member of the National and New England A.A.U. Coaches and Officials Association, John has attended Clinics at Skwim, a competitive swim camp in New York and the National Coaches' Clinic held last fall in Montreal, Canada.

John received a certificate of citation from the Baintree Board of Health Department, for his series of lectures on backyard pools conducted for the townspeople last Spring. A former member of the Town River Yacht Club, he, for several years, sailed his 18' Sloop in and around the Quincy Bay area.

FLOOR HOCKEY

The Mass Bay Floor Hockey League playoffs finished this past weekend. The League is made up of a North Shore Division and South Shore Division. Each YMCA had three teams represented according to age.

Malden, from the North Division, were victors in all three classes. Quincy completed the season also undefeated in all three classes.

The B and D classes played at Quincy for the championship. The Quincy team defeated Malden in the D class 5-2. Malden in turn defeated Quincy in the B class 2-1.

Last week Malden defeated a Class C Quincy team at Malden, 9-0; Individual trophies were awarded to the class champions and also runner up trophies were presented to each team member.

Members of the Quincy YMCA teams are:

Class B, 13-14 yr olds: Gerald Schultz, Rich Davies, Frank Eglio, Ronnie Cobbett, Mike Hatch, Steve Curran, Dave Anastasi, Robert Carmody.

Other wrestlers competing in the meet were Karl Knudsen, Paul Villa, Steven Whittemore and Peter Sweeney. Coaching the team was Vaughn Lovejoy.

Young Tots Swimming Program At YMCA

The Quincy YMCA announces five new courses of swimming lessons for boys and girls 3 to 6 years of age, starting in May.

Each course of six one-half hour lessons is designed to provide for individual instruction and progression in aquatic skills, as well as participation in a group learning experience. This is an instructor-tot program. Parents do not go into the pool with their youngster.

Safe and happy adjustment to a swimming environment is desirable for any child who will spend any time in or near the water this summer. Now is the time to help prepare your Young Tot for an enjoyable and safe summer.

The Course Schedule:
Wednesday afternoons, May 10 - June 21st [No classes May 24th]

Class 1 - 2: 2:30 P.M.

UCT, Cox Pacing Youth Hockey

In Quincy Youth Hockey Pee Wee action, United Commercial Travelers downed Maguire's, Keohane beat Wollaston, Davis defeated Morrisette and Crestview upended Hannon, all by 4-1 scores.

First-place Cox edged Sweeney 2-1 and Farina squeaked by Davis 3-2 the two Bantam games.

Rick Smith, Mark Rooney, Mike Smith and Rick Carnali tallied for UCT as John Keaney managed the lone goal for Morrisette.

Mike Furey picked up two goals, an assist and Mark Ricciardi got a goal and two assists and Dan Sullivan finished off Keohane scoring to override a Wollaston goal by Kevin McGrath.

Davis goals were scored by Paul McConville, Paul

Linderfetzter, Dave Peters and John Masters with Bob Dunn picking up the Morrisette score.

Two goals by Jack McHugh were not enough for Davis as Farina posted scores by Jeff Murphy, Joe Kelley and Mike Doherty.

Ed Donovan and Rick Brett picked up the Cox goals to offset a Sweeney goal by Dave Perdios.

Kelley Scores 5 Goals As Young Mites Romp

Bob Kelly scored five goals and Paul Reinhardt was immense in goal to lead the Quincy Youth Hockey Mites II to an 18-0 victory over Columbia.

The Mites, ages 6-8, also picked up four goals each by Dan Boyle and Rich Stevens, two each by Kevin Ryan and Mike Hussey and one by Ted Duggan.

Chuck Marshall and Kevin Craig scored for the Mites I in their 4-2 loss to Holbrook.

Baintree Rifle Club Bows To Women's Lib

The Baintree Rifle and Pistol Club is finally graciously bowing to women's lib.

On Saturday, April 15, the Club's first Ladies Night Banquet is being held at the D.A.V. hall, 788 Liberty St., Baintree, at 6:30 p.m.

Thomas Gloioso, of Baintree, is the committee chairman. Assisting with the arrangements is Ronald J. Hughes, of Quincy. Plans include an elaborate menu, with a choice of roast beef or roast chicken. Following the banquet there will be entertainment and dancing. Door prizes are also part of the evening's program.

Kenneth Yoerger, club president, said, "The membership response to this first Ladies Night is very enthusiastic."

The senior members of the club, have in the past, consistently resisted mixed socials. Their reasoning, "We have lots of chances to socialize away from the club. Here we want to shoot."

As more than one member's wife or girl friend is remarking, "At last we are to get a chance to meet with the members we hear so much about."

The Baintree club's membership is predominantly South Shore residents. Although many also come from other Greater Boston communities.

Pinewood Derby Set For Saturday

Some 90 Cub Scouts from Quincy will compete Saturday in the city Pinewood Derby championships at the Naval Reserve Training Center at 1 p.m.

The boys, aged 8-10, will be vying for three positions in the district competition to be held later.

Each scout, with the help of his parents, carved the seven-inch racing car used in the meet. Contestants in the city meet are winners of races held at the 30 Quincy Cub Scout Packs.

McKay, Burke, Nelson Back

North Baseball Squad Accenting Quality

Last year was the most disappointing of Charlie Bunker's three as North Quincy baseball coach as the Raiders appeared to have Bunker's first Eastern Mass. Tourney berth wrapped up only to lose out on the last two days of the season.

"That was a big disappointment to me and I felt especially sorry for the boys, who worked awfully hard to make the tourney," Bunker said. "Our chances were hurt tremendously when we lost Bob McKay, one of our top pitchers, with a bad shoulder, late in the season."

This year North lacks quantity but the Raider coach hopes that quality will make up for it. A number of promising sophomores are being depended upon to give the Raiders needed depth as Bunker starts his fourth season.

Last spring North appeared to be on its way not only to a tourney berth, but also to the Greater Boston League title. It won its first four league games and also handed Boston Latin its first loss, but then dropped two in a row.

They later lost two more but, following a win over Somerville, had only to defeat Malden in a makeup of a rained-out game to clinch second place and a tourney berth. Malden jumped away to a 5-0 lead in the first period but North battled back to take a 6-5 lead going into the bottom of the ninth. Here Malden scored twice to win it.

That forced North into a playoff with Medford for second place and the Raiders quickly took a 3-0 lead only to lose 5-3, ending their hopes.

Bunker lost many of last year's team, which finished with an overall 14-6 record, including outstanding pitcher Scott Manson, second baseman Tim Flynn, Shortstop Joe Marini, Third Baseman Jack Flaherty and Outfielders Jimmy Sarruda and Dan Zink.

McKay is back and will lead the pitching corps while Rich Carroll, who did some good pitching for the varsity last year, Bobby Pierce and Bob Morton, up from the jayvees, and Sophomore Steve McLaughlin are other mound hopefuls.

There is no problem behind the plate with Dave Nelson, one of the top catchers in the league a year ago, back. Morton will spell him.

Jim Driscoll, another 1971 starter and a good long ball hitter, is all set again at first base while McKay, when not pitching, looks like the top second baseman. One of the many sophomores among the 70 candidates will probably play second when McKay is pitching.

Bobby Torino, up from the jayvees may play shortstop but if Lee Watkins, a transfer student from Whitman-Hanson, can make the grade, Torino will move to the outfield.

North has one of the best hitting outfielders in the league back in center field, Tom Burke, who had a great 1971 season at bat. Two jayvee graduates, Mike Lorman and Billy Shea, are other outfield hopes.

McLaughlin, a freshman star last year, is a pitcher-first baseman-outfielder who will see action somewhere and could prove a big help to the Raiders.

"That looks like it, but I expect a few other sophomores to come along and help out, giving us a little depth," Bunker concluded.

The Raiders scheduled practice games Tuesday with Boston Latin and today [Thursday] with Abp. Williams.

Jack Bowes is again the North Quincy junior varsity coach.

Bob Lingo Sets Sights On Golden Gloves, Boxing Career

A hard-hitting ninth grader from Central Junior High School has started what he hopes will be a long and profitable career in boxing.

Bob Lingo, 16, has fought four matches in the past month with the Amateur Athletics Union, chalking up two knock outs and a decision to his credit against one decision loss.

Bob, who works through the Neighborhood Youth Corps as a janitor at Furnace Brook School, started his fight training less than three months ago.

"I like boxing and I like the money they make so I went in to Boston one day and found the New Garden Gym," he said.

"I met this guy Al Clemente there and he taught me how to fight. After about a month of practicing, I fought at Murray Hall in South Boston."

His first fight was a three round decision over Ronald Rivers of Boston on Jan. 28.

On succeeding Fridays he scored a second-round TKO over Victor Lassos of Boston and a first-round knock-out of Wilfred Zayes of Boston.

Then he suffered his first loss Jan. 11 in a three-round decision at the hands of Mike Acosta of Cambridge.

"He was real tall and skinny," Bob said. "I couldn't get in on him."

A featherweight at 5-foot 6-inches, 118 pounds, Bob said he planned to stay out of the ring the following Friday to prepare himself for a rematch with Acosta.

Bob credits the Neighborhood Youth Corps for giving him the opportunity to pursue his boxing interests.

"If I didn't have the job, I wouldn't be where I am now," he said. "I wouldn't be able to buy my equipment and get the bus fare to get in there."

His weekday schedule includes morning classes at Central, afternoon work at Furnace Brook, two-hour work-outs on Mondays, Tuesdays, Saturdays and Sundays and fights on Fridays.

"Next year I want to try and win the Golden Gloves," he said, "and after that I'd like to be a professional."

Mayor Declares April 9-15 Barbershop Harmony Week

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has declared the week of April 9-15 Barbershop Harmony Week in Quincy.

The proclamation is in honor of the 33rd anniversary of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc. The mayor cited the organization and its Brockton chapter for "encouragement of harmony among all people of the world."

Brownell Urges Campaign Against City Burglaries

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has recommended that Quincy Police adopt an "Operation Identification Program" to help curb burglary in the city.

The voluntary program would allow residents to engrave their driver's license number on valuable items and register the items with police.

Residents would borrow electric engraving pens from police and "keep written records of what they have marked and where."

Brownell said such a program would be a deterrent to burglary and help return stolen goods to their owners.

Elementary, Junior Basketball Divisions In Action Saturday

In the Quincy Recreation Department's 19th annual basketball tournament the senior division has been completed while first round games are underway in the elementary and junior high divisions.

Central, coached by Brian Buckley won its second senior title in three years defeating Atlantic 68-42. Steve Miller led the Central attack with 17 points while 6-8 center Tom Cairnes netted 15 points and was the key to the defense blocking eight shots. Captain Ken Pike and his teammates were presented awards and trophies by Mayor Walter J. Hannon after the game.

In the elementary division defending champion Beechwood Knoll continued its winning ways rolling over Wollaston 32-14. "Wink" Phelan sparked Beechie with 15 points while Bill Johnson netted eight points for the losers.

Most exciting game of the day was the junior high division first round game with Broadmeadows and Central. The game ended all tied up before Central won it in overtime, 57-55. Scott Roberts, 19 points, Art DeLoreto 16 points, and Brian Osborne 13 points triggered Central's victory while Ted Weidman scored a game high 26 points for Broadmeadows.

Quarterfinal rounds will continue Saturday in both divisions with elementary games at 9:30 a.m. and junior high games tapping off at 10:30 a.m. Games will be played at both Broadmeadows and Atlantic Junior High Schools. Spectators are invited.

City Street Hockey Tourney Underway

The Quincy Recreation Department's second annual elementary school street hockey tournament got underway with City Councilor Clifford Marshall facing off the first game at Pond St. playground while City Councilor William Delahunt started the games at Montclair playground.

In the Northern division games at Montclair, Mark Domino's two goals sparked Squantum's 3-1 victory over Parker. Mark Coletti's five goals paced Wollaston to a 6-2 come from behind victory over Central. Montclair got two goals from John Cooney in defeating Beechwood Knoll 4-0 while Tom Gerry and Kevin Whalen each scored the hat trick in leading their Quincy B team to a 7-0 victory over Atlantic.

In the Southern Division action at Pond St. Dick Jones scored four goals in leading Fore River over Atherton Hough 5 to 1. Snag Harbor shut out Gridley Bryant 3 to 0 while Adams beat Sterling 5 to 1. Tom Dormandy and John Kelly scored three goals each in leading their Quincy A team to a 11-0 bombing of Hancock.

Second round games will continue Saturday at both Pond St. and Montclair beginning at 1:30 p.m. Spectators are invited.

Medical Care Abroad

There is an apocryphal story about the American who chartered a hospital plane and flew to Sweden every time he got sick. He saved enough money on daily hospital costs alone to pay for the plane.

Actually, there is enough truth in the cost difference to make such an approach tempting. A visitor to Sweden pays an average of $15 a day for a bed in a hospital ward. If he stays long enough to pay Swedish income taxes, he gets all of his medical care free.

Medical care is almost always less expensive abroad than it is at home. If you must become ill while travelling overseas, perhaps one of the handiest places to do it is in Israel, which contains some of the best medical facilities in the world. But most interesting of all, Israel medical ethics do not prohibit advertising. Thus, it is far easier to locate a specialist for what ails you there than it is almost anywhere else in the world.

There was a kite

And the grey ties of the kite

LONELINESS

You never know until it happens to you
What loneliness can really do.
It takes your mind and crumbles it up.
Because there's no one around to heal the cut.
Nothing to do—no work or play—
Just to sit there day after day.

No one knows you, no one could care,
You just sit there in a chair.
There you stay, like a bump on a log.
You don't know whether it's

Who knows—Who cares about you—
You just sit there—that's what you do!

THE IMPOSSIBLE DREAM

Before I dimmed the light last night,
I wrestled with my thoughts
in bed,
My head was thinking—thoughts
a-jumping,
And this is what my dream now said.

I think of Mother Nature's forest,
Animals playing among the trees,
A lake in the background,
swans a-swimming,
The eagle's swaying in the breeze.

A land where humans aren't invented,
Fights aren't often, just a few.
Mother Nature's home and playground,

SEA SERPENT SEEN

A sea serpent was seen in the Euphrates River. The sea serpent was estimated to be 150 cubits long. One person drown while trying to escape from the serpent. Outside Babylon people were screaming in terror. One person died of fright on a big merchant ship. Eighteen people panicked without knowing what had happened and thought it was an earthquake. They were injured trying to board a warship.

PERSIA DECLARES WAR

While a merchant ship was trading with Persia a drunk Babylonian threw rocks at the king's son. Five men were captured as result. Eighteen others fought their way through the king's guards. When the men came back there were only 5 men left. The dead Persian soldiers are estimated to be twelve.

NEW PALACE BUILT BY NEBUCHADNEZZAR

A palace was built by Nebuchadnezzar for his wife because he didn't want her to go back to the mountains. It has twenty terraces one on top of each other. There are many plants all over it. They will call it
"The Hanging Gardens of Babylon".

FIRE IN THE ROYAL BATH HOUSE

There was a fire in the Royal Bath House. It was burnt to the ground. Three people were killed and four people were injured.
The king was very sad. He had gone there everyday. He has made plans to make a new bath house. It will be twice the size of the old one. It will be done in about two months. The king said that every woman in Babylonia must make a rug at least 9 by 9 feet. If she doesn't her family will not be able the bath house.

MOULIE GOULIE WINS CAMEL RACING CHAMPIONSHIP

Moulie Goulie won the camel racing championship in Babylon.
He was very happy. He is also very rich now. He is planning to build a very big mansion. He said "It was a very rugged race. It took three hours and was twenty-nine miles long." He will be awarded a solid gold crown with rubys, emeralds, pearls, and diamonds. His camel's name is "Brown Beauty". She is four years old and is seven feet tall.
She collapsed three times during the race.

A generation lost in space—
Or fighting over a certain race,
Is this Peace? Is this Love?

OUR TRIP TO THE PLANETARIUM

I like the part when I went to the planetarium best. They would show a planet and enlarge it. It almost looked like it was about to fall on you. The stars looked very real. They would show figures of people or animals, but you would have to imagine them. It was very interesting.

you should not play with guns because they are dangerous. He showed us some handcuffs. He

JOURNEY TO THE GIANTS

On our field trip to the Science Museum planetarium we saw the show on the solar system. They showed the planets and how they got their names.
And we saw close ups of the planets and when they showed Jupiter it looked like two hamburgers with lettuce between the two of them. The stars make up pictures and they showed us pictures of Orion the hunter and his dog, the big dipper, little dipper and some others.

Brett Proposes Building In Front Of North

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has proposed construction of a new North Quincy High School on the open space directly in front of the present school.

Brett said there is "adequate land there for a substantial building and it could be so located and constructed that it would still leave room for green space to keep the area attractive."

"A garage could be located underneath the building to accommodate the cars which now park in the driveway and on the adjoining streets," he said.

He added that the site would save millions in land costs and no homes, businesses or other taxable property would be removed from the tax rolls.

"Locationwise, the site is ideal as it is served by bus and rapid transit as well as by roadways from all directions," he said.

"Costs of construction would also be much lower in this area as the land would not need the expensive preparations that would be required in wetland areas."

Brownell, Tobin File Harbor Debris Bill

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell and Sen. Arthur H. Tobin have co-sponsored a late filed bill to require the Department of Natural Resources to clean floating debris from Boston Harbor.

Brownell said no department has a statutory duty "to keep our waters free of hazardous floating debris which will be a menace to the recreational boating public during the summer months."

"Each year there is an ever increasing number of smaller, faster and expensive boats using our harbor," he said.

"We should take steps now to protect our recreational boating public from possible injury to both themselves and their boats."

"The bill would require the DNR to conduct a continual program of removing 'debris which constitutes a hazard to recreational boating or which interferes with the safe navigation of ships.'"

White House Reservations

Congressman James A. Burke, [D-Milton], announced that owing to the unprecedented demand for tours, he has been informed by the White House and the Federal Bureau of Investigation that no more tour reservations are being accepted during the month of April.

Burke said, "I have personally received over 500 requests for tours, and while I tried to fill as many as possible, it has already been necessary to inform the majority of these people that there are no tours available."

Burke said he regrets he finds it necessary to make this announcement, but April is the most popular month for visits to Washington, D.C. and this year, April is more popular than ever.

"In making this announcement I hope I will be saving my constituents from being disappointed if they are planning a trip to Washington in the coming weeks," Burke declared.

Finally, Some Action

It took a while, but the wheels of city government have finally begun moving to legalize the new 10-cent parking meters which have been brightening Quincy square for the past two weeks.

Councillor Clifford H. Marshall introduced a resolve this week to increase meter fees and we are happy that, at least, action has begun before District Court is flooded with persons refusing to pay illegal fines.

But it certainly did take a while.

A consensus of the old City Council was taken toward the end of the last administration indicating that that body favored a fee hike, but no action was taken.

Some 535 meters were ordered in December from M. H. Rhodes Inc. of Connecticut without Council action.

The meters arrived in Quincy in February with no ordinance to authorize the purchase of that type meter and no one in city government seemed concerned enough to take any positive action.

A Feb. 3 editorial in The Quincy Sun pointing out the problems went in one ear of City Hall and out the other.

Then the police began installing the new meters toward the end of March and the

"no-fix" system went into effect on April 3 and still no ordinance change.

So we tried another editorial April 6. This time - action!

True, a five cent increase in parking rates is not an earth-shaking event. But the issue becomes important as elected officials of two administrations exhibit lack of concern for due process.

And the significance increases in light of the garage construction and "no-fix" system which have been focusing attention on the parking situation in Quincy Center.

The Quincy Sun has editorialized in favor of the "no-fix" system.

We feel that such a system could be a boon to downtown Quincy by keeping the spaces closest to stores available for the shoppers - spaces once grabbed by all day parking hogs.

But the success of "no-fix" depends on the cooperation of merchants and employees and an efficient and impartial patrol of the parking areas.

The efficiency of the system has hit a snag with the installation of illegal meters. Hopefully the problem will be cleared up soon.

And hopefully a lesson has been learned.

Suggests Maintenance Plant For Fire Station

Editor, Quincy Sun:

It has been called to my attention recently, that the Quincy Housing Authority, through a Federal Modernization Grant, is going to convert a heating plant in Riverview to a fire station, to render much-needed fire protection to the residents of the Germantown area.

I question the validity of this plan and urge the Housing Authority to examine the possibility of converting the existing maintenance plant on Bicknell Street, which is more centrally located, for use as a fire station, and to convert the heating plant in Riverview to maintenance headquarters. I believe this would be beneficial to the community as:

1. The Riverview site on

Doane Street is on the outskirts of the Germantown community and answering every fire call will jeopardize the children in this thickly populated area.

2. Bicknell Street would be more centralized.

3. A full-time coverage in a fire station will cut down on vandalism at the Germantown Service Center.

By HENRY BOSWORTH

Quincy's one time "boy mayor" as the newspapers used to refer to him back in the 1930's will be 70 Sunday.

And nowadays, Thomas S. Burgin laughingly refers to himself as "the old gray mayor".

But if you're fortunate to ever see 70, you should look as good. We won't even use the word "spry" to describe him. Let's just say he doesn't look too much older than that "boy mayor" of yesteryear.

"I feel like Jack Benny," he muses. "Just 39!"

Burgin's political career, spanning four decades, began in 1924 when he was elected Ward 1 City Councillor at age 22.

He was elected mayor in 1935 at the ripe old age of 33. Actually, he was not Quincy's youngest mayor. Russell A. Sears was only 27 and Charles Francis Adams 29 when they were elected.

Burgin served 10 years as mayor-eight under Plan A and two under Plan E. He was Quincy's first Plan E mayor [1950-1951]. And in that first Plan E election under PR [proportional representation] vote, he was the only candidate elected on a first-choice ballot. It took a week to count the ballots of the other winners.

He also served in the House of Representatives [1929-1930] and in the Senate [1961-62].

Today he is still active in the insurance business.

And today still holds the reputation of being one of the most highly respected political figures in Quincy's history. [Happy birthday, Tom. And may you have at least a hundred of them.]

STIRRING the political pot: Freshman School Committeeman Harold Davis, is giving serious consideration to running for Norfolk County Register of Probate. Insiders say he is a definite candidate... And, Councillor-Rep. Clifford Marshall reportedly is also looking westward [Dedham] for a possible bid for the sheriff's badge... Early bird note: Gregory Fallon, 21-year old son of WJDA's Ken Fallon, already has his bumper stickers out as a Democratic candidate for state representative in Wards 4, 5, 6. [Confirming an item here March 23 that he would be a candidate].

INSTALLATION of Rev. John J. Tierney as pastor of St. John's Church, brings back to that church one of the most popular names in that parish's history. The late Rev. Thomas J. Tierney who served there as curate during the 1950's and early 1960's, was beloved in Quincy by those of all faiths. He died Jan. 11, 1964.

Welcome to our new Fr. Tierney.

ABOUT $2,000 was raised by the Quincy Democratic City Committee at its Pre-Primary Election buffet-dance at St. Mary's the other night. But the only commitment made to anyone for any of the money said Chairman Arthur Tobin to Councillor Edward Graham is for a wheelchair for the Massachusetts Hospital For Crippled Children in Canton. Graham is now an executive at that hospital.

WINNERS CIRCLE: Joan Beagan of Darrow St., Houghs Neck, who won $250 in the first drawing of The Game, received her ticket as a birthday present... Another $250 winner reportedly bought four tickets and when a fifth fell on the floor said, "I might as well take that one, too." [Yep, that was the lucky one.]... Patrolman Bill Carullo, guardian of City Hall had the number "424" but didn't win... That's his ticket for the second drawing... And if you think that's close, how about Quincy Court Probation Officer Nicolas Trifone? He lost out on the Irish Sweepstakes by just one digit.

THE FACT THAT Mayor Walter Hannon wasn't invited to the retirement dinner for Water Division Supt. Robert Barry shouldn't be considered an affront, according to the committee that arranged the affair.

Hannon paid for his two tickets. But so did everyone else, says a committee member, with the exception of several members of the guest of honor's family. But everyone else including public officials and keynote speaker Edward [Red] Lewis paid their way in.

HAIR! HAIR! Latest members of the Quincy Mustache Club: Joseph Shea, the mayor's executive secretary, and Forestry Supt. John Koegler... The latter's is much bushier, but then again, he knows where all the fertilizer is.

GOOD NEWS for housewives. Massachusetts Department of Agriculture reports: "Meat prices are coming down hopefully by May. Supply and demand is the cause of it. Supply of beef will be about 7 per cent more. The wholesale price has dropped by about $2 from the highest prices. Hog wholesale prices have dropped also by about $1.50. This means the retail prices of meat should drop roughly 15 per cent."

Building Assistance Bureau Approves Quincy Rink Subsidy

The state School Building Assistance Bureau is willing to assume 65 percent of construction costs and interest for the proposed physical education facility at the Vocational-Technical School.

Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, superintendent of schools, said the announcement he received this week is "a major and very significant step" towards realization of the school department skating rink.

The Building Assistance Bureau notified Dr. Creedon in a letter dated April 10 that the state is willing to share in the costs.

Creedon said he was especially pleased with the announcement because "to the best of our knowledge they have never approved such a facility before."

Approval comes as the result of months of effort on the part of the school department because the state would not grant reimbursement for just a hockey rink, as the city originally planned.

"The state would not allow us to build a hockey rink on a school site if it was not to be a part of a school physical education program," Creedon said. "So it became an issue as to who would control the facility."

Then the school department had to show how the facility would fit into the school system, prove that Quincy's physical education program was below state standards and submit an overall plan for secondary school physical education."

Evidence that Memorial Stadium and the planned pool at Lincoln-Hancock School benefits all Quincy students supported the fact that the rink would be used by pupils at all schools.

And the proposals for the facility include a track on the mezzanine level, corrective room with apparatus, squash and handball courts and a ballet studio.

Dr. Creedon said the proposal now needs City Council approval before the school board can notify the state that the city intends to float a bond issue.

The matter could then be brought before the state Emergency Finance Board and the Department of Education for approval of the subsidy.

The facility, including administrative offices is expected to cost $2,050,000, according to Dr. Creedon. No state reimbursement would be granted on the $480,000 anticipated cost of the administrative offices.

Of the remaining $1.57 million, the state will assume 65 percent of both construction costs and interest, he said.

Marina Industries Plans Squantum Sports Facility

Marina Industries Inc. has proposed construction of a four-season sports complex with skating, tennis and swimming at the former naval air base in Squantum.

Marina industries operates the Boston Harbor Marina, the largest marina on the eastern seaboard.

Immediate plans call for converting the main hangar building into two large areas which would house two ice surfaces and six tennis courts.

Features of the facility would include:

- Ice surfaces for hockey, figure skating and skating lessons.

- Locker room, snack bar and skating pro shop.

- Six tennis courts, men and women saunas, showers, baby sitting service, tennis pro shop.

- Cabana club, olympic-size heated salt water pool with separate diving areas and wading pool.

- A restaurant overlooking the marina and the Boston skyline.

The complex would be open year-round with summer youth instruction programs and would offer unlimited parking, according to a Marina Industries spokesman.

Present plans call for the rink and tennis courts to be ready for activities by the fall of 1972.

QCA Seeks Publication Of 'Urban Renewal Bill'

The Quincy Citizens Association Executive Board has asked the city to publish in the Quincy newspapers the complete text of Mayor Hannon's House bill to establish "an urban renewal authority in Quincy."

The request came on the heels of requests by the Committee to Stop Urban Renewal in Quincy and the South Shore Constables Association that a public hearing be held on the matter.

QCA executives have asked the Legislature's Local Affairs Committee to delay voting on the bill until the issue has been thoroughly aired in Quincy.

The board has also asked for public hearings "so that the matter and all its present and future ramifications can be explored before either the Legislature or the City Council votes on the measure."

A letter from QCA President Joseph Slattery to Council President Arthur H. Tobin expresses concern over "the latitude the bill gives for permitting the spread of urban renewal throughout the city of Quincy against the wishes of the residents."

The Committee to Stop Urban Renewal met April 8 with Rep. Thomas F. Brownell to express concern over "many questions in regard to this bill which remain unanswered."

The bill provides for the establishment of a Department of Planning and Community Development in Quincy.

Mayor Hannon has stated that the plan is for downtown development, as opposed to urban renewal, but citizen groups are alarmed about the prospects of expanding scope.

President Proteem David J. Maloney of the Constables Association urged that hearings be held to allow residents to "air their views and fears on this issue."

Marshall Asks Parking Ordinance

Ward 2 Councillor Clifford H. Marshall has submitted a resolve to revise parking ordinances for fees of 10 cents per hour in the Quincy Square area.

Marshall initiated the action in attempts to legalize the 250 dime meters which have been installed in the Hancock Parking Lot without an ordinance change.

The resolve comes in the form of ordinance amendments setting fees in Quincy Square at five cents per half hour and 10 cents per hour while leaving meter rates outside the square at five cents an hour.

Also submitted was a motion to legalize the sale and use of all-night parking stickers on Quincy streets.

The meters were installed and stickers sold in preparation for the city's new "no-fix" parking system which went into effect early last week.

But the "no-fix" aspect of the system was jeopardized because there was no ordinance to cover either the parking rate increase or the sticker system.

The resolves have gone to the ordinance committee, of which Marshall is chairman, and are being advertised. A public meeting may have to be held before the council can take action.

Record $50.1 Million Budget

The City Council has unanimously approved a record municipal budget of $50,107,398 for 1972.

The council gave its approval Monday after trimming more than $2.5 million from the budget request of $52.6 million submitted in February by Mayor Hannon.

An additional $3.35 million was trimmed from department requests by the Mayor before submitting it for approval.

Special Features

COTTON BLOSSOMS—White cotton ottoman brilliantly printed in a swirling pattern of orange flowers and bright greenery creates a dramatic date dress for Maid of Cotton Debbie Wright. Designed by Teal Traina, the V-neck dress is ornately trimmed with chalk beads and white braid at the neck and fitted waistline.

Poet's Corner

He

He covers the ground with a blanket of white
He shortens the days and lengthens the night
He puts a chill in the air and makes the sun to shine
He performs numerous miracles that are hard to define
He will bring the warm air to melt the snow
He will make the sun hot and the cold will go
He will allow the sleeping bulbs to break through the ground
He releases the fragrance of the budding flowers in the air all around
He will turn the leaves green and make the birds sing
He has put the winter behind him and now he has brought spring

MEXICAN FLAVOR—Here's the modern way to wear sack cloth: in cotton brilliantly tiered in blazing gold, orange, and purple for a swirling full-skirted dress.

KNIT PICKING—In the spring, a young girl's thoughts turn to get-out-in-the-sun clothes. Tops in the spring picture are cotton knits like this feminine style from Miss Ingenue. With tie neck and short sleeves, the Darby-ribbed top is color-fused in rainbow tones. It goes over jamaica shorts of solid-colored double knit cotton.

A Cake For All Occasions

Almond-Crusted Cake is sufficiently flavorful and unusual to be served by itself, yet plain enough to accompany fruit or ice cream.

Easy to make, it uses 2 boxes of yellow cake mix with a little almond extract and butter providing extra flavor. Its distinctive characteristic is its crusty exterior with sliced almonds in a mosaic-like pattern.

Slice it thin and you will get 20 or more servings.

Almond Crusted Cake

|                                                       |                            |
|-------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Butter or margarine                                   | 2 boxes (1 lb. 3 oz. each) |
| $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sliced natural (unblanched) almonds | yellow cake mix            |
|                                                       | 1 teaspoon almond extract  |

Prepare cake mix as package directs, adding almond extract. Coat a 10 x 4-inch tube pan generously with butter. Press almonds into bottom and sides of pan. Fill pan to 2 inches from top with batter. (You will have about  $1\frac{1}{2}$  cups remaining batter, enough to make 4 cupcakes.) Bake at 350 degrees about  $1\frac{1}{4}$  hours. Cool 10 minutes in pan; remove from pan and cool thoroughly before slicing.

"It all started with him wanting to be in the wedding photographs."

Living, Today

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

Ken and Ann had been married 25 years. They sat in my office in expensive clothes...calm business-like...they came directly to the point. Said he, "...we just do not love each other...we've gone through all the motions...done what we're supposed to do in the community...belong to the Church...Elks...and are seen together at social affairs. Our daughter is in college now. We're wondering if we should go on with this 'loveless marriage'...or if we should go our separate ways."

These are the times when the counselor wishes for a whole barrel of magic powder. What came out was that they had felt forced to marry at age 20...had dated for two years...their families and friends had expected them to marry...so they did. But from the beginning it was more of a brother-sister relationship. Now the one child was gone...they were alone...and lonely. My heart was deeply touched with their dilemma. She got his breakfast as a good sister would. He drove her to her evening club meetings as a good brother would. He supplied the income...she did the laundry and kept an immaculate house. There just was no eros [Greek for sensual love.] Their story with variations is all too common.

The signs of the loveless marriage are recognizable...nothing to talk about...insensitivity to each other...inconsiderations...refusal to meet the emotional needs of the other...such repulsion that they sit in silence...sullenness or enter the most senseless arguments...often physical violence breaks forth. Living in an incessant state of hostility.

What's the cause of such a situation? It may be that they never loved each other from the beginning...as with Ken and Ann. Being true to marriage vows...not wanting to hurt parents, they continue...becoming more and more entrenched in the loveless relationship.

It may be that while once they loved...that love has been lost because they didn't feed their love with warm...loving words...good times together...good love-making...fun events...friends. Often ugly...traumatic events happen which are not worked through and which leave unhealed wounds which kill love.

Some people just never learned to love...never learned how to give love or receive it. Some people are just givers and can't receive love. Some people are just takers and can't give love. Either way it results in a loveless marriage.

What shall we do with the loveless marriage? It's glib to say coldly..."end it." First consider the possibility of restoring what may have been lost...In counseling and in group therapy we see daily some remarkable restorations.

If...however...after honest effort has been made...then fair and proper arrangements for each to begin a new life by separation or divorce may be desirable. If a marriage is without love...compensating factors must be strong to justify its continuance.

FOR YOUR COMMENTS: for private counseling...For group therapy...you may call 545-5947 or 326-5990.

WRITER'S WORKSHOP For Yet-To-Be-Published, Authors, Poets and Writers

Professional criticism of your work—The basic technique of what it takes to whip your work into publishable form—Marketing your first sale—Contracts—Copy rights—Royalties—What publishers to submit your work to, and the names of their editors.

The workshop is not a classroom. No one is going to write your MSS for you. But, if you have a sense of the dramatic, if your written words can make a reader smile, swear, or cry, if you write because you can't stop wanting to, if being published means something that you just cannot express in words. Then, perhaps, this writer's workshop is what you've needed all along.

Although the group leader is a published author of books, poetry and hundreds of articles and short-stories, he cannot forget the thrill of his first sale, and has a warm empathy for the struggling novice.

Informal, relaxed, weekly meetings. What you wear, or what you drive, means zero. Leave your hangups at home, and bring sincerity with you. No contracts to sign. No registration fee. Pay only $5.00 per meeting that you attend. So, if you like the first, you'll come to the next, et al.

Tribute To William Edwards At Adams Birthplaces Opening April 19

Quincy Historical Society announces that the Adams Birthplaces will open for their 76th season April 19, traditional opening date for many years.

They will be open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. until Sept. 30, except for Mondays that are not holidays.

On the opening day the flag at the birthplaces will be flown at half-mast in honor of William Churchill Edwards, late City Historian, who had been in charge of the properties for the city for many years.

The historic red farmhouses on Franklin St., South Quincy, the oldest Presidential birthplaces in the country, are presented to the public as the simple farm homes in which John Adams, second president; and John Quincy Adams, sixth President, were born and lived.

Last season there were more than 7,000 registered visitors from 48 states and 25 foreign countries.

The properties have been owned by the City of Quincy since 1940 when they were deeded to the City by the Adams family that had owned them for some 200 years. Quincy Historical Society owns the contents and operates the Houses open to the public; the John Quincy Adams Birthplace since 1897 and the John Adams Birthplace since 1950.

An interesting feature at the John Quincy Adams Birthplace has just been restored. This is a built-in chest for storing perishable foods with the bottom open to the cool air of the cellar; an early ancestor of today's household refrigerator. The bottom grating has been replaced according to a sketch made before the original grating was removed some years ago.

Hostess at the John Quincy Adams Birthplace will be Mrs. John B. Ames; Mrs. Florence Gammins at the John Adams Birthplace; with Miss Edith A. Cameron and Mrs. Howard E. Miller as assisting hostesses. Mrs. Esther R. Sanger will be a new assisting hostess.

Smyth Disappointed By North Turnout

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth expressed disappointment this week at the sparse turnout at the public hearing on long-term plans for North Quincy High School Monday night.

Smyth said about 30 residents showed up for the City Council session held at Atlantic Junior High School.

Solutions discussed at the meeting included proposals for a new school at the State Street South area, addition to North Quincy High and addition to Atlantic.

Councillor-at-Large Joseph J. LaRaia said he feels the council would have to "give heavy consideration" to a proposal for an addition to the present structure "without taking any homes."

"The only drawback is that the state did not give any approval for this site and, according to school officials, it is doubtful they will," LaRaia said.

He added that the council must first act on the State Street South site.

Gaciaia Initiates Protection Plan

The Peter P. Gaciaia Insurance Agency has available electric engraving pens for use by Quincy residents in a "Property Engraving Identification Project."

Gaciaia said he purchased two pens for public use after he heard of proposals by Councillor-at-Large Joseph J. LaRaia and Rep. Thomas F. Brownell that the Police adopt a marking system.

The proposals provide for the police to purchase engraving pens for loan to residents who would mark all valuables with their driver's license numbers.

Persons participating in the program are to be furnished with an inventory sheet with spaces for license number, serial number of articles and places in which articles are marked.

LaRaia said Public Safety Secretary Richard E. McLaughlin has recently stated that the Massachusetts rate of burglaries is higher than the average and has urged support of the program.

Gaciaia is urging persons borrowing his pens to keep records of what has been marked in a safe place in their homes so that a list will be readily available for police.

He will also supply stickers for the front and back doors of homes which state that "all valuables on the premises have been marked for identification."

Items to be marked include musical instruments, silverware, jewelry, clocks, tools, television and stereos.

Pens may be borrowed from Gaciaia at 20 Stanley Circle, Quincy.

Graham 'Vehemently Opposed' To Snug Harbor High-Rise

Ward 1 Councillor Edward S. Graham said he is "vehemently opposed and will do everything in my power to stop any big vested real estate developer from invading the Ward 1 community."

In a letter to city planning officials, Graham said he feared the proposed 1,200-unit Snug Harbor apartment complex would cost the taxpayers millions to provide schooling for an anticipated 1,900 children in the area.

The complex would also add

1,000 cars to an "already overcrowded and most dangerous" Palmer St., Graham said.

"I assure you that the Germantown community stands behind me in this pledge and have indicated that they will back me in this stand."

"I would greatly appreciate your cooperation in defeating this ridiculous proposal in the best interest of the Germantown community and the city of Quincy," he said.

PRESIDENT PHIL LAWRENCE and Treasurer Mary Reilly discuss the success of recent expansion of Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Association. The association recently celebrated the "half-birthday" of its new Holbrook Office.

Colonial Federal's Phil Lawrence A Man Of Varied Interests

The President of Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Association is a man of many interests.

Philip Lawrence of Groveland lists photography, skin diving, flying, gliding, fishing, boating and radio operating among his hobbies.

And his professional background includes work in military intelligence, military instruction, law and his most recent vocation of banking.

Lawrence became vice president of the former Wollaston Federal Savings and Loan Association in 1966, to succeed Milton Wiggin who was managing officer for 35 years.

He was elected executive vice president the next year and took over the presidency in January of 1969.

Under his presidency the association changed its name and expanded to include a Holbrook office which opened six months ago and celebrated its "half birthday" last week.

Lawrence, who reports his age as "mature", is a graduate of The Citadel military college in South Carolina and received a doctor of laws degree from Harvard University.

He served five years in Army intelligence during World War II which included service with "a couple of guerrilla units in southern Luzon, in the Philippines.

Before retiring from the reserves as a full colonel, he taught several years at the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, the Army's senior tactical school.

He is a member of the South Carolina, Massachusetts, Federal and FCC Bars and his law practice with the Boston Firm of Spencer and Stone led him to the banking industry.

Lawrence says he enjoys underwater photography, "preferring, incidentally, the warmer water of the Caribbean to the frigid waters up here.

"I like to be on New England waters, not in them," he said, which explains his fishing and boating hobbies.

A pilot and radio operator for several years, Lawrence's latest achievement is obtaining a license as a glider pilot.

He was recently elected treasurer of the Quincy Rotary Club and is a member of Wollaston American Legion Post, Taleb Grotto, the Soaring Society of America and the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

He is married to the former Audrey MacBain and has a son, Jim; a daughter Marilyn; three step-sons Chuck and twins Mark and Mike and a step-daughter Lauren.

Holding down the number two spot at Colonial Federal is Miss Mary Reilly, the treasurer has been 25 years with the organization.

Miss Reilly, of Randolph, is a graduate of Bridgewater Teachers College, Bentley College, the University of Connecticut School of Executive Development and the American Savings and Loan School at the University of Indiana.

She is a Randolph town meeting member and a member of the American Society of Comptrollers and Financial Officers and lists golf among her hobbies but won't reveal her handicap.

Mrs. Sabina Stenberg CP Fund Co-Chairman

Mrs. Sabina Stenberg, owner of Sabina's Beauty Salon, 660 Hancock St., Wollaston, has accepted appointment as co-chairman of the Capital Funds Campaign to raise $26,000 for a building renovation drive for Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore Area, Inc.

She will assist James F. McCormick, Sr., of 100 Reservoir Road, Wollaston, who is General Campaign Chairman.

Mrs. Stenberg is a registered real estate broker and a fashion model. Her business affiliations include membership in the Wollaston Business and Professional Association and the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

Active in community and voluntary endeavors, Mrs. Stenberg is a member of the Wollaston, Quincy and Catholic Women's Clubs, the Women's Club of St. Ann's Church, American Jewish Congress, Furnace Brook Golf Club and the Irish Social Club.

She has participated in fund raising activities for the Edgewood Home for Emotionally Disturbed Children, the Bonds of Israel, and has produced and commented numerous fashion shows for churches, clubs and social functions.

Mrs. Stenberg is heading and organizing a group of merchants and businessmen in the Wollaston Area to sponsor a cocktail party for the Cerebral Palsy Building Fund at the Quincy Sons of Italy Hall, May 21, at 7 p.m. There will be entertainment, refreshments and music.

The goal of $26,000 is the balance of a cost of $100,000 which is required to renovate the building, a former garage, at 105 Adams Street in Quincy into a clinic for cerebral palsied children. The sum of $49,000 has been awarded under the Hill-Burton Act and $25,000 from The Committee of the Permanent Charity Fund Incorporated in Boston.

Upon completion, the Clinic will provide Speech, Occupational and Physical Therapies and medical overview for the victims of Cerebral Palsy and related brain damage.

The Headquarters Staff and Clinic Personnel will be under one roof for the first time since 1952. Sufficient space is also being reserved to provide a Developmental Day Care Center to furnish services to children of school age who are so involved and handicapped that they are unable to attend regular or special classes in public school.

Tickets to the cocktail party may be purchased by contacting Mr. McCormick at 1245 Hancock St., Quincy, [471-5910]; Arthur Ciampa, Executive Director Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore Area, Inc., 36 Miller Stile Rd, Quincy, [479-7443] and Mrs. Stenberg, Sabina's Beauty Salon, [472-6987].

Single & Psychosis

Want to live longer? Get married. Want to stay tranquil? Stay single. The long-held belief that people who remain single suffer all sorts of psychological stresses may well turn out to be a myth.

According to a recent Public Health survey, Americans who never have been married have lower psychological distress symptoms at all ages than those who are married. The report concluded that singles have lower rates of nervousness, fear of nervous breakdowns, headaches, dizziness and heart palpitations. While this data may be of comfort to those who have resisted wedlock, singles might reconsider the pros and cons of the situation - if they aspire to longer life. Statistics show that married individuals stand a much better chance of staying alive at various ages than do the singles - tranquil or not.

JOURNEY TO THE NINE PLANETS

The thing I liked best in the Science Museum was the Planetarium. They would show the nine planets. They would make some planets larger so it would look like they were falling on you. They showed a rocket taking of. Jupiter is different colors with a red spot on it.
Jupiter is the largest planet.
Pluto is the coldest and Mercury

THE JOYS OF LIFE

The fun, the joy of going up and up, and up n'up
the adventure of height.

The adventure of light on top on top of the rock, the rock.
what you will see!

The glory of the land
the sea, the ocean with wonderstreams
of green and blue.

The yellow of a lemon
the red of an apple
the wonders we possess
the splendors of colors.

We have all these so look and see the nature of life is yours to take-FOR FREE.

OUR TRIP

On our trip to the Boston Globe we saw many things such as: how they made it, how they ran it off, how they wired newspapers together.

They showed us all the machines that do this.

The thing that I liked best is the machine that waxed the front and back of the pictures so they could stick it on zinc. That was my favorite part.

SUMMER WEATHER

The sky is blue on a summer day
With a few soft clouds-their color gray.

Then the pitter-patter on the window pane,
Comes the small tiny droplets of a summer rain.

And in the summer you can feel the air,
Slowly running through your hair.

In the evening, when the sun sinks low
When the whole day has been go-go-go

Just lean back and rest your weary head
As a summer day slowly goes to bed.

THE ENCHANTED MOUNTAIN

Once there was a mountain,
A mountain made of gold,
But if anyone ever climbed it
They'd disappear I'm told!

I shook off words of warning,
I climbed it anyway
And then I whirled and twirled and spun
"What's happening, I say!"

I started spinning slower
And right before my eyes
I see balloons that fall,
And parachutes that rise!

Polka-dotted elephants;
Horses with wings-
Unicorns....Giants....
And other weird things.

I'm in a land of make-believe
My mouth agape with awe, Witches, fairies, ogres, wizards,
All these things I saw.

Hearing a small, faint cry for help,
I went to investigate
And I saw a beautiful princess.
I hoped I wasn't too late!

I saved her but she did not speak,
She just led me to a sea-
Then motioned for me to leap back
To the land of reality.

As I jumped in, I took her hand,
"Come with me, you must!"
But when I got back to my home,
All I had was dust!

She was not real, I told myself,
A fairytale, a myth;
But I will never, ever forget
That princess I was with.

WHAT MAKES ME HAPPY

When there's nothing to do at all
I like to play with my kitten
He looks so funny
In a big blue mitten.

He's a big ball of fur
With two blue eyes,
And a little "mew"
Like a baby's cry.

I's so glad to have him
I could play with him for hours,
We romp in the grass
Or play in the flowers.

LONELY

Loneliness is such a sad affair
Especially for people elderly,
To be alone in a broken down house

With no one there to love
you, to care,
To sit in a chair and look outside,
To see people laughing, while inside
Sits a crippled old man left to cry.

COLORS

Colors make me feel so good Like the black on a piece of wood.

Blue makes me cool on a hot day,
Yellow takes the dullness away.

Orange, the golden sun in the sky,
Like red, makes me tickle and tingle inside.
Green grows the grass on the freshly mowed lawn,
Brown is the mountains,
hiding the dawn.

Purple is the color of a fresh crisp bow,
White is Mother's cooking
dough.
Colors are happy and colors are sad, Colors are beautiful-they make me glad.

Mrs. George LaRosa Wins Raggedy Ann, Andy Contest

Two sets of twins have moved into the home of Mr. and Mrs. George LaRosa of 24 Harrow Rd, Norwood.

One set are the couple's sons Jason and Jamie, born March 3. The other is a pair of hand-made Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy dolls from the Quincy Women's Club Juniors.

Mrs. LaRosa won the dolls Monday in a drawing to benefit the club's Roberta F. Tapella Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Her name was drawn by Quincy Sun Publisher Henry W. Bosworth Jr. and Mrs. Linda Gordon, vice president and education chairman of the Women's Club Juniors, from among 141 contest entrants.

Raggedy Ann and Andy stand 15 inches high and represent some 42 hours work by Mrs. Gordon.

Mrs. LaRosa said she may have to alter Raggedy Ann's clothing a little to make her appear more appropriate for a boy's toy.

The contest winner was born in England and lived for a year on Water St. in Quincy before getting married and moving to Norwood.

Mrs. Gordon said she would like to "thank everyone who contributed" to the scholarship fund, "especially those who sent in more than the entry amount."

"I'm very grateful for everything," she said.

Q-N Teams In Independence Loop

Quincy High Tennis Coach Bill Mitchell, whose teams dominated the local scene for several years but fell on bad times the last few seasons, feels he has a team which can cause considerable trouble in the strong new Independence League this spring.

Quincy and North Quincy have joined Abp. Williams, Catholic Memorial, B.C. High and Xaverian in the new league and, following a non-league meet with Weymouth North this week, Quincy will open its league season on April 25 at home against Xaverian.

"We are in a strong league this year," Mitchell said. "B.C. High and Xaverian were finalists in the state team championships the past two years and North Quincy, which was a real tough opponent for us the last four years, will be strong again."

The veteran coach, a tennis pro himself who has taught at various clubs, has high hopes of greatly improving upon last year's 3-9 record.

"We have real potential with four returning lettermen," Mitchell added. "They are Wayne Chatterton, Bill Powers, Jim Smith and Joe Caldarella. Promising newcomers are Pat Dempsey, out for the first time but an experienced player who should strengthen our team; Rick Grossman, Ken Slate, John Manfreda, Dennis McCarthy and John Corcoran."

The teams in the league will play three singles matches and two doubles. Quincy's home matches will be played at the Faxon courts behind Vo-Tech High School.

Spotlight On Quincy Youth Hockey

Over 150 Boys In Learner Program

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy Youth Hockey Association, Inc. which has about 500 boys playing hockey and another 400 on a waiting list, has several all-star teams and 12 house teams.

But it also has more than 150 "unsung heroes" or "stars of tomorrow" participating in a learner program every Saturday and Sunday morning at the Shea MDC rink in West Quincy.

"These kids deserve a lot of credit and are just as worthy of notice as those playing on our many teams," President Bob Hayes said. "Although it is called a learner program, some of these boys are not learners. They could easily play on one of our teams but there isn't enough ice time. And give them plenty of credit for getting up early on Saturday or Sunday mornings to take part."

The association has a Bantam group working out Saturday mornings from 6:40 to 7:40, a Pee Wee group on Saturday from 7:50 to 8:50, one Squirt group on Sunday from 6:40 to 7:40 and another Squirt group Sunday from 7:50 to 8:50.

Four New Spring Sports Coaches Appointed

Several coaching changes in the Quincy school spring program have been announced.

Paul Stanton has been named golf coach at North Quincy High, succeeding the retired Jack Donahue, who led the Raiders to many highly successful seasons.

In girls' sports Alberta Murray, a North teacher, will coach Quincy tennis, taking over for Bob Sylvia, who held the job the past two years until a qualified woman coach was available.

Cheryl Manoli has succeeded Gale Palmer as girls' softball coach at North Quincy.

One junior high change finds John Bogan the new track coach at Broad Meadows.

Quincy Blanks B.C.H., North Opens Today

The North Quincy baseball team opens its season today [Thursday] at Boston Latin and hopes to do as well as cross-town rival Quincy.

Bob Basiliere's Presidents opened their season in fine style Monday with a well-played 1-0 win over Boston College High in a non-league game at Adams Field.

Both local teams open their Greater Boston League seasons on Monday, Quincy at Adams Field and North at Chelsea.

North Team $1,000 Away From Trip To Bermuda

The North Quincy basketball team, undefeated Greater Boston League champion during the past season, is $1,000 away from its trip to Bermuda, according to Mrs. Arthur Morrissey, committee treasurer. "We held a dance last Saturday and now have about $7,000," she explained. "We need $8,000 to give the boys the trip and we have a Blitz game this week.

The Boosters Club and basketball parents are getting together to put out an ad book, a drawing is being held and other events are planned."

It is planned to send the team to Bermuda over the long Memorial Day holiday, May 26, 27, 28 and 29.

After Injury Jinx

North Has Strong Track Team Nucleus

Two years ago North Quincy's track team was undefeated Greater Boston League champion.

Last spring the Raiders were ruined by a series of injuries and won only their first and last league meets.

This year veteran coach Bob Gentry has the nucleus of a strong team which, barring injuries, could rebound and enjoy another outstanding season.

North was due to open its season Tuesday against Somerville at Medford in a league meet after its non-league opener with Silver Lake last week was postponed.

"We have some fine boys here and I just hope we don't run into injuries like we did last year," Gentry said. "Many of them were with us last spring and a number of them also ran winter track. I'm hopeful for a good season."

The veterans, good scorers last year, include Dan Coughlin in the 220 and long jump, Steve Leet, who performs in all the weight events and who had a brilliant winter season; Steve Cordeiro, javelin; John Murphy, mile and two-mile, and Gary Cunniff, mile.

Also, Steve Little, high hurdles and triple jump. Jim Ziniti, discus; Paul Bonoli, half-mile; Dick Malloy, two-mile; Mark Mulvaney, discus; Bob McCormick, an outstanding miler who lost only once in winter track to Quincy's sensational Bobby Ciano; Dave Ashmanskas, 100; John Pomerole, 220; Bernie Holleran, middle distances.

Among other excellent prospects are Walter Shea, javelin; Jim Hurley, quarter mile;

Bill Welch, a fine prospect whose best event hasn't been decided; Paul Kelleher, 440; Walter Collins, hurdles and either discus or javelin; John Meyer, discus; Rich Coughlin, a good looking newcomer with lots of ability; Chuck deVarennes, hurdles and Dave Mahoney, high jump.

Also, Joe Morrissey, shot put; Paul O'Neill, an indoor trackman with much ability; Gary Veronneau, a standout gymnast out for track for the first time, low hurdles and 100; Andy Hughes, two-mile; Jim Neal, weights; Ed Ahern, 220; Steve Fransoso, hurdles; George Hennessey, hurdles; Bob Manning, dashes, and Steve Holliday, a transfer student who ran some indoors.

Among others working out are Paul Welch, Frank Maschilli, Burt Bray, Bob Crowell, Mark Jago, Steve DeRosso, Chris Cordeiro, Doug Morrill, Rich Bertoni, Bob Murphy, Doug Gentry and Jeff Randall.

All league meets except those of April 25 are scheduled for Medford. The set of meets on that date will be in Quincy. It is also hoped to have the set including the Quincy-North meet on May 16 moved to Quincy.

Gentry feels the acquisition of the Boston Garden's wooden track by the Quincy school department will boost track in the city, especially if a suitable site is found for it.

The track was given to Quincy free of charge and is presently stored in the Hingham Arsenal until the last obstacle is cleared.

"I understand that the proposed new school department hockey rink will also include a suspended track," Gentry said.

Neil Nicoll To Coach ENC Soccer Team

Neil J. Nicoll, one of the most outstanding soccer players in the history of Eastern Nazarene College, will return to coach the Crusaders next fall.

Nicoll succeeds Bob Jack, veteran coach who piloted the team the past four years. The Crusaders improved under Jack each year and last fall posted the school's best record, 9-3. He took over following a poor season and predicted that his teams would do better each year and he kept his word.

Jack was dropped by the college last winter.

Nicoll played four years of soccer at ENC, starting each year, and captained the club for three seasons. He also played three years of varsity soccer at Braintree High, captaining the Wamps his senior year.

He graduated from ENC in 1963 with a degree in history and is working on a graduate degree in the field of recreation. He is currently employed by the YMCA of Greater Baltimore as a program director.

Several Veterans Return

Quincy Track Team Prospects Bright

Quincy's track team last year was the undefeated Greater Boston League champion and the previous season lost only its final meet to North Quincy, which was the unbeaten champ that season.

Although Coach Tom Hall won't predict another unbeaten season, he admitted, "we might not lose more than two meets" as the Presidents got ready for their season's opener last Tuesday.

"We have the nucleus of an excellent team but we have to face Revere and Somerville, whom I consider the league powers, in our first two meets and we might not be quite ready for them," Hall said. Tom is 28-10 for his four years as Quincy coach.

Quincy has several outstanding veterans in addition to its largest sophomore contingent, 32, among the 63 candidates. "This is the finest sophomore group I've ever had and several turned in amazing performances in a practice meet at Scituate," Hall pointed out.

Leading the veterans is the brilliant Bobby Ciano, unbeaten for three years in spring and winter track and cross country. Although he will run mostly in the mile, Hall will shift him to the two-mile and maybe the half mile, depending upon the opposition.

The Presidents will be strong in the 100 with veterans Ray Lawyer and Steve McCarthy and newcomer Kevin Cox. Lawyer and McCarthy were consistent scorers a year ago.

In the 220 three outstanding sophomore prospects, Paul Riggs, Steve Oriola and Pete Ramponi, all of whom sparkled in junior high last spring, will carry the Presidents' hopes.

Veteran Pete Daley and five more good looking sophomores are the quarter-milers. Dave DiBona, Garry Hawes, Walter Lynn, Bob Gordon and Steve Burke are the sophs. Lynn did an excellent 56 seconds in the practice meet at Scituate.

Two veterans, Mark MacLeod and Marty Swirko, are excellent half milers and joining Ciano in the mile will be sophs George D'Iorio and John Ahola.

Veterans Brian Feeney and Paul Wahlberg, good scorers in 1971, will run the two-mile.

Bobby McDermott, rated by Hall as one of the finest athletes in the school, and Dave Coull, are back in the high hurdles, while veteran John Johnson is joined by John Reggiannini, outstanding little basketball player out for track for the first time, and another sophomore, Dan McDermott, Bobby's brother.

Johnson and Daley are the high jumpers. Riggs, who did 20 feet in his first try at Scituate, and Dick Silva, are the long jumpers, and McDermott and McCarthy, who already have done 40 feet, are the triple jumpers.

Kevin Shea, Phil Iovanna and Dennis Satterthwaite will try the javelin, Roberto Volpini, a three-year veteran, and Mike Varraso, giant sophomore, are the top shot putters, while another big soph, Dave Sten, veteran Frank Guidi, soph Kim Derbes and Ed Marden, out for the first time, will throw the discus. Sten looked especially good at Scituate.

The best bets for the relay are Lawyer, McDermott, Johnson and Daley.

Hall, disillusioned about the track which is supposed to be included in the proposed new school department physical ed facility, feels the acquisition of the Boston Garden board track by Quincy could save winter track in the Greater Boston area.

"If a suitable site can be found for the track, it could pay for itself," Tom said. "The Met League is in danger of folding because of the trouble finding sites and this league and the Bay State League would no doubt welcome a track facility in Quincy. We don't need an elaborate place, just a Quonset hut type building would be enough."

"I wasn't consulted when plans were drawn up for the new physical education complex. I don't think we could ever use the proposed track there for a meet and I feel it would be suitable only for practices."

"We have some really fine boys here and we should do all right," Burke said.

QJC Nine Opens League Season

The Quincy Junior College baseball team will open its Mass. Jr. College Conference season Friday at Newton Junior College after opening with a non-league game against Chamberlayne on Monday.

QJC got off to a good start Monday with a thrilling 1-0 win over Chamberlayne as Bob Paster pitched a no-hitter.

Coach Dave Burke, whose Collejuns were 5-5 last year, ending in a three-way tie for fourth place, has a good nucleus of veterans this season and he anticipates a good season.

Brownell Urges MDC Station On Quincy Shore Drive

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has recommended establishment of an MDC Police substation at the corner of Quincy Shore Drive and Vassal St. on Wollaston Beach.

The station would be operated only in the summer months "because that is the only time there is a serious problem at Wollaston Beach," he said.

$58,511

Wiring In March

City Wire Inspector William H. Pitts reports 102 permits for an estimated $58,511 worth of wiring were issued during March.

Fees collected for the permits amounted to $643, he said.

During the month 193 inspections were made and 25 defects noted.

Major wiring projects for the month:

-New Sewer Department pumping station at 3 Chubbuck St., Quincy Point.

-Seventeen unit apartment building at 46 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point.

-Six unit apartment building at 20 Craig Ave., Quincy Point.

-New car wash and gas station at 831 Hancock St., Wollaston.

-New building for McCloskey's Market, 606 Washington St., Quincy Point.

In a letter to Sen. James J. Carrigan and Rep. Joseph E. Brett, Brownell said the facility could be constructed on the site of an abandoned gasoline station at Quincy Shore Drive and Vassal St.

"This existing structure could easily be adapted to provide a two-bay garage for housing a cruiser, an ambulance or rescue boat for the summer months and an office to conduct police business.

"I believe this location is ideal because it is at the midway point on Wollaston Beach," he said.

The site is opposite two yacht clubs and adjacent to the bowling alley "where hundreds of people congregate," he said.

"A substation at this point would, in my judgement, do much to eliminate a troubled area in our community which has currently produced a drug problem.

"In addition, it will give the MDC police on-the-scene coverage of the many accidents that occur on the Quincy Shore Drive," Brownell said.

Myron Lane: 'Mr. Integrity'

By HENRY BOSWORTH

Some years ago we referred to Myron N. Lane as "Mr. Integrity". We thought the term a perfect fit back then when he was in his prime as Norfolk County District Attorney. We still do.

His death last week takes from the local scene one of those rare individuals you could always trust and one who would give you a fair shake whether you were a pillar of the community or a guy waiting to go on trial for murder.

He had a near quarter-century of spotless service in the district attorney's office--12 as assistant and 12 as D.A., when he bowed out undefeated in 1966.

Since then, as a practicing attorney, right up to his death, he was still "Mr. Integrity".

He once told this writer:

"The most satisfying part of my job [as district attorney] is not putting people inside bars but helping those--who deserve a break--to stay outside them."

Myron was a tough man in a courtroom. If you were guilty--look out! But he could be merciful, too.

He was a hard-hitter, whether he was battling as prosecutor or defense counsel. As an illustration, take the famous 1946 German war crimes trials.

He and three other military prosecutors were assigned to the mammoth task of prosecuting--at one trial--61 defendants accused of murdering something like one million victims.

He and his associates--after a six-week trial--convicted all 61.

Then, he changed hats, and in the role of defense attorney defended nine Germans charged with murdering two American airmen.

This was still a time of strong anti-German feelings. But Myron was a lawyer assigned to defend these men. And did so--pushing all personal feelings aside.

Myron Lane died last week at the age of 64. Sixty-four years without a speck of tarnish.

***

FORMER School Committeeman James McCormick, Sr., is expected to make it official within a week or so: he's definitely running for Norfolk County treasurer.

***

AND, you can file under "S" for "Sure Candidates", the names of Ward 5 Councillor William Delahunt and Ward 6 Councillor Vincent Smyth. They'll definitely run for state representative in Wards 4, 5, 6 regardless of whether Mayor Walter Hannon seeks re-election or not.

***

SPEAKING of Hannon, he is the big political question mark at the moment. Will he or won't he seek re-election to his Beacon Hill seat? Insiders won't be too surprised if he decides to vacate the seat and give full-attention to running the city as mayor.

***

HAVE A QUIP via Jack Silverstein, the North Quincy druggist: "The reason so many twins are born is that the kids are afraid to come into the world alone today."

***

SMILE DEPT: The gang at Burgin, Platner Insurance Co. gave former Mayor Thomas S. Burgin a surprise office party to mark his 70th birthday.

There was the traditional cake and some fun gifts. Among them a couple of toy fire engines and a fire chief's helmet recalling the days when he chased fire engines as Quincy's chief executive.

And for the still staunch Republican, there was another gift: an inflatable rubber donkey with this card: "If Lindsay can switch, so can you Tom." [From one of the girls, an obvious Democrat]

Karen Seager, Harry Bonish Soloists With Quincy Symphony

Karen Seager and Harry Archer Bonish will be soloists with the Quincy Symphony Orchestra at its annual "Youth Performs" Concert at 8 p.m. April 25 at North Quincy High School auditorium.

The program will consist of "Proclamation" for trumpet and orchestra by Ernest Block, featuring Miss Seager as soloist followed by the North Quincy High School Concert Choir directed by Maurice Carboneau.

After intermission, the orchestra will perform Mendelssohn's "Capriccio Brillant" featuring Bonish at the piano and conclude with Wagner's introduction to Act III of "Lohengrin".

Miss Seager, 19, is a sophomore at Eastern Nazarene College majoring in physical education and a graduate of North Quincy High School.

She has participated in the New England, South-East District and Allstate music festivals, was a member of WHDH-TV's "Greater Bostonians" and won the John Philip Sousa award in her senior year of high school.

Karen began her studies on trumpet with Carl F. Leone, music director at North Quincy High School, and studies with Marilyn J. Reiman, brass instructor at Eastern Nazarene College.

Bonish, 18, of Quincy, studied piano with Norman Gellatly, who was director of the Wollaston Glee Club for more than 20 years.

He is now studying with Prof. Robert E. Brown, conductor of the Quincy Symphony and chairman of the music department at Eastern Nazarene College.

He has accompanied Quincy High School concert choir and glee club, is assistant organist at St. John's Church and performed "The Creation" on the organ before Archbishop Humberto S. Medeiros.

Bonish plans to major in music education at the New England Conservatory of Music.

Citizens Group 'Frustrated' Over Inaction On North High

Members of the North Quincy Concerned Citizens Group are "becoming completely frustrated" by school committee lack of action on a short-range solution to overcrowding at North Quincy High School.

Group member William D.

Bell Jr. said parents are concerned because "it seems that either they [school officials] don't know what to do or they don't want to solve the problem."

Bell said many parents were upset by the "almost indifferent attitude" of the school committee at a recent meeting in which group members suggested setting up a portable building on Teal's Pond for school use.

The Concerned Citizens Group met Monday with Peter Chisom, assistant principal at North, to discuss a teachers' proposal for an interim solution.

Chisom said the teachers favored scheduling changes to allow students who have studies first thing in the morning to come in later and those who have last-period studies to leave early.

The teachers also suggested moving shops to the portable building and converting the shops into resource centers and eliminating the student lounge in favor of smaller study rooms.

Eaton Appointed Acting Water Superintendent

Owen Eaton of 79 Whiton Ave. has been appointed acting superintendent of the Quincy Water Division to replace Robert E. Barry who retired.

Mayor Hannon appointed the former sewer foreman to the post April 18 as acting superintendent, pending results of a Civil Service examination.

Eaton, 41, has been employed by the Public Works Department since 1954. The water superintendent's position carries a salary of $13,139 per year.

When the mayor levied charges of drunkenness, absenteeism and theft against the division on Feb. 22, he mentioned Eaton as his choice to clean up what he said "has been a mess for years."

A city council subcommittee is in the process of investigating the charges.

Eaton said he had no immediate plans for changes in the division.

No Estimate On Primary Turn-Out

Quincy voters will go to the polls Tuesday to vote in the state Presidential preference primary election, but city officials aren't even guessing about the turn-out.

"We have no idea what the turn-out will be like," said City Clerk John M. Gillis, who has made a habit in the past of estimating the total vote within five percent.

"This one is too tough to guess," Gillis said, "especially since we have no idea what the 18-20 year-olds are going to do."

So all anyone is sure of is that "some" of the 50,478 registered voters in Quincy will cast their ballots in the Republican and Democratic primaries.

Those voting Republican will be asked to choose among Richard M. Nixon, Rep. Paul McCloskey and Rep. John Ashbrook as their Presidential favorite.

Also appearing on the ballot will be the names of 24 candidates for delegate and alternate seats at the Republican National Convention, four candidates for state committeeman, one for state committeewoman and about 35 for Republican Ward Committee.

Democratic Presidential hopefuls on the ballot will include Sen. Edmund Muskie, Sen. George McGovern, Sen.

Hubert H. Humphrey, Rep. Wilbur Mills, Rep. Shirley Chisholm, Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty, Rep. Edward Coll, Sen. Vance Hartke, Sen. Henry Jackson, New York Mayor John Lindsay, Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Alabama Gov. George Wallace.

The ballot will also include the names of 65 candidates for delegates to the Democratic National Convention, 32 candidates for alternate convention seats, three for state committeeman, two for state committeewoman and about 35 for Democratic Ward Committee.

UR Committee Asks Bill Drop

The Committee to Stop Urban Renewal in Quincy has asked the Legislative Committee on Local Affairs to drop Mayor Hannon's bill to establish a Department of Community Development "in its entirety."

"We don't want it and the day we give up our opposition will be the day when hell freezes over," the letter read.

Chairman Ronald N. Halter and acting secretary Tina Halter asked legislators to consider "very, very strongly" placing the matter on the 1973 municipal ballot.

Committee members include Jordan S. Zisk, legal counsel; John Howard, advisor; Arno Fabrizio, Mrs. D. Maloney, Adeline Pompeo, Tina Halter, Robert E. Marshall, Rita Koretsky, Saul and Elinda Lipsitz.

James Sullivan Democratic Candidate

James E. Sullivan of 29 Bowdoin St., Braintree, has announced his candidacy for Democratic State Committeeman in the April 25 primary election.

Sullivan has been chairman of the Braintree Park Commission for three years, a town meeting member for 14 years and has served on four town meeting study committees.

From 1966 to 1969 he was an elected member of the Blue Hills Regional School Committee and was vice chairman of the board in 1969.

He was a delegate to the 1964 and 1966 Democratic State Conventions and is vice chairman of the Braintree Democratic Town Committee.

WHO'S CRICKET? Author Bernard F. Connors, an ex-FBI agent, helps throw Director J. Edgar Hoover a curve with this one -- the mysterious Cricket, who may or may not be a girl in man's garb but who is, nevertheless, the Assistant Director in an explosive suspense novel "Don't Embarrass The Bureau" [Bobbs-Merrill]. The book highlights behind-the-scenes revelations about the FBI and the bureaucracy of Hoover's "old gray battleship." Unlike the CIA or the Secret Service, and despite the recent passage by Congress of the Equal Rights Amendment, the FBI does not have women agents and Hoover refuses to hire any. Hollywood offers are being made for the book and suggested candidates have already been named for the role of G-Girl [?] Cricket, albeit for obviously different reasons: trim Candice Bergen, playing hands up, and Raquel Welch, who has both hands loaded.

Ode To Spring

Softer than a zephyr's wing,
Nature's priming to do her thing.

The buds are set upon each tree,
Spring flowers tempt the honeybee.

My thoughts are fresh,
My brain awakes.

The sun is warm,
The earth partakes.

What food for thought
Dame spring does bring.

My thanks to her
For a mental fling.

Turkey Roast For Spring

by Martha Logan

A fresh idea for an easy spring meal is Turkey Roast Mandarin Style. The handy 2-pound family-sized turkey roasts come in all white meat or in a combination of dark and white meat. They come in their own foil pans to save dishwashing. The roasts have generous butter patties nestling between the skin and the roasts that melt and baste the roasts as they cook.

The good buttery juices are used to make the glaze-sauce for this recipe. The sauce is thickened with cornstarch and spiced with ginger, vinegar, soy sauce and orange liquid. Mandarin orange sections and slivered almonds are added for flavor, texture and color interest. Some of the sauce is poured over the cooked roast and the remainder is served with the sliced turkey and hot fluffy rice.

Turkey Roast Mandarin Style

- |                                                           |                                   |
|-----------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 2 lb. Butter Basted Swift's Premium Boneless Turkey Roast | 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger |
| 11 ounce can mandarin oranges                             | 1/4 cup cider vinegar             |
| 2 tablespoons cornstarch                                  | 3 tablespoons soy sauce           |
| 1/4 cup sugar                                             | 1/2 cup mandarin orange liquid    |
|                                                           | 1/4 cup slivered almonds          |

Hot cooked rice

Cook turkey roast according to directions. Save drippings. Drain mandarin oranges, reserving liquid. Blend cornstarch, sugar and ginger in a saucepan. Measure drippings from turkey roast and add enough water to measure 1 cup liquid. Combine all liquids and add gradually to cornstarch mixture, stirring until well blended.

Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture reaches a boil and begins to thicken. Reduce heat and cook an additional 5 to 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in mandarin oranges and almonds. Spoon over turkey roast at serving time. Serve remaining sauce over turkey slices and hot cooked rice.

It's In To Be Thin By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

Live it up with little luxuries...

Pre-diet luxury may have meant heavy cream, egg-rich sauces, and calorie-laden pastries, the true luxuries are attainable on a diet, and they are the ones that will sustain your feeling of well-being during your adjustment period.

Take for example, fresh mushrooms. Many diet recipes call for mushrooms. Are you in the habit of just opening a can and tossing them into the pot? Try buying a box of fresh mushrooms without considering the price. Then use them. Enjoy the sensuous satin of their skins as you slice and chop them. Most of all, enjoy the savory richness they impart to any dish for so few added calories.

Don't rely on bottled lemon juice and dehydrated lemon rind. Why not store a bag of plump and sunny lemons in your fruit crisper? They'll brighten your spirits every time that you use them. Brighten your taste buds, too!

Spurge on two ounces of shallots, and you'll find that minced and substituted for onions, they can subtly change the flavor of the most familiar recipe. Luxuries are for dieters, too!

Of course, alcohol is a luxury that you must forego, but you don't need to skip a relaxing cocktail hour. Just sip contently on this non-spirited spirit-lifter.

BRANDY HIGH BALL

- 1 Bottle Citrus flavored No-Cal Soda
- Twist of fresh lemon
- 2 caps Brandy extract
- Crushed Ice

Mix all together and serve in tall glasses garnished with the lemon twists. As you sip, prepare to luxuriate by slowly eating and completely tasting the evening meal. Don't rush the end of the day. After all, you've worked for hours to arrive at this point. These are the luxurious minutes that belong to you, your husband and your family.

Protestant Social Service Bureau 25th Anniversary Dinner April 25

The Protestant Social Service Bureau (PSSB) of Quincy will celebrate 25 years of service to troubled persons on the South Shore at an anniversary dinner and annual meeting April 25, at the Neighborhood Club, Quincy.

Past members and friends as well as those currently involved are invited to attend. Rev. Gregory D. M. Maletta, first director of the agency, will be guest speaker.

Organized in 1947 as the Protestant Community Service of Quincy to provide counseling and placement services for children, the agency has grown over the years and now provides family and marital counseling services as well as child placement to persons in 10 South Shore communities. The PSSB also developed and supervises Donner House, group home for adolescent boys who need care outside their own homes. Donner House opened in 1970.

During its quarter-century the PSSB has been involved with many and varied programs in addition to counseling services including: sponsorship of Golden Age Fellowship groups, chaplaincies to the courts and hospitals, marriage preparation courses, seminars for clergymen, marriage enrichment seminars.

The Bureau is supported by the United Fund, by Protestant churches of the South Shore, by individuals, and by fees charged for services. It serves all persons who come for help, regardless of faith.

Keith Rawlins of Hingham, now Director of Family and Children's Services of the Massachusetts Department of Public Welfare was PSSB director from 1962-1966. Robert Taylor of Pembroke is current director of the Bureau and will be completing five years of service this year.

The PSSB is first and foremost an expression of the churches' concern for the community, serving more than 425 persons from 275 families each year with a budget which has grown from $5,000 in 1947 to $89,000 in 1972 and a staff of nine workers. The agency looks forward to many more years of helping troubled persons on the South Shore.

Health High-Lights

By Jack Silverstein

Hot And Cold Of It

Hot foods and cold drinks may be enjoyable together, but there is evidence that this combination can result in dental damage. Studies have found that intensive cycles of heat and cold can cause tiny cracks in tooth enamel, inviting tooth decay and possible tooth fracture.

Heat alone seems to do no harm. Cold is the villain, and when warm teeth are suddenly exposed to cold, the temperature drop can be shocking. Thus, if your after-dinner coffee at 140 degrees is followed by ice cream at 35 degrees, the enamel contracts severely. The resulting pressure on the shrinking enamel may make it crack. Repeated exposure to such temperature changes increases the possibility of tooth fracture.

One sure way to injure teeth is to chew cracked ice. The physical pressure from chewing hard ice, combined with the sudden temperature drop, subjects teeth to dangerously high levels of stress.

● A Secretary's Credo

I BELIEVE THAT ... the philosophy of the secretarial profession embodies a foundation of logic and learning, ethics and integrity, courtesy and understanding, and a desire to be of benefit to others:

- The principle obligation of a secretary is to function as a support to management and to increase the effectiveness of the executive;
  - A secretary occupies a position of confidence, trust, and responsibility and accepts this position as a privilege to guard carefully;
  - Secretarial excellence requires comprehensive educational preparation;
  - A secretary strives for self-improvement through a program of continuing education;
  - The maintenance of high standards is essential to the continuing advancement of the secretarial profession;
  - The qualifications of a secretary are enhanced by a businesslike demeanor and by friendliness, cooperation, good humor, and enthusiasm;
  - A secretary should assume responsibility for guiding qualified young people toward secretarial careers;
  - A secretarial career is both challenging and rewarding;
- SO BELIEVING ... I THEREFORE dedicate myself to preserve and to practice these principles and to uphold them at all times with dignity and honor.

Definition Of A Secretary

A secretary shall be defined as an executive assistant who possesses a mastery of office skills, who demonstrates the ability to assume responsibility without direct supervision, who exercises initiative and judgement, and who makes decisions within the scope of assigned authority.

Purpose: To Be Better Secretaries

South Shore Chapter, NSA In 17th Active Year

The South Shore Chapter, NSA was founded 17 years ago. And the members have been busy girls ever since.

It all came about because 17 experienced secretaries—employed or residing in the South Shore area—realized the need to become better secretaries through educational, professional and personality development.

They sought information from The National Secretaries Association [International] headquarters in Kansas City, Mo.

On Jan. 8, 1955, the new chapter was born and Mrs. Winifred E. Jarvelin, now secretary to James D. Asher at Quincy station WJDA, was installed as charter president.

Installing officer, on behalf of the Beacon Hill Chapter, NSA, was Mrs. Doris Kennett, CPS, Division Representative.

Meetings were held on the second Tuesday of each month at Ships Haven, Quincy.

In 1956, the first scholarship was awarded to a student who was to further her education in the secretarial field. Applications were open to high schools in the South Shore area. First recipient was Miss Elaine Boyes of Quincy High School. Sixteen scholarships have been awarded to date, totalling $1,400. The 17th will be awarded at the June meeting.

The South Shore Chapter has installed two chapters — in Plymouth, Sept. 15, 1956, and the Fairbanks Chapter in Dedham, April 30, 1961.

The annual New England Conference in May 1961, was held at the Chatham Bars Hotel, Chatham, co-sponsored by the Quincy-South Shore Chapter, and Attleboro, Brockton, Plymouth and Taunton Chapters.

The first chapter-sponsored seminar, open to students, secretaries and businessmen in the area was held at Atlantic Junior High School, Quincy, May 4, 1963.

In 1961, NSA established the Future Secretaries Association program to help students prepare for business and particularly for a secretarial career. The program has been developed to provide better

Five S.S. Chapter Members

Certified Professional Secretaries

In 1951, the National Secretaries Association [International] sponsored the first nationwide Certified Professional Secretaries examination.

This examination is developed and administered by the Institute for Certifying Secretaries, composed of representatives from management, business education, and NSA. This program has been established to promote the designation CPS as the recognized standard of proficiency in the secretarial profession.

A Certified Professional Secretary is one who has successfully completed all six parts of a two-day examination. The examination is based upon an analysis of secretarial work, with emphasis on judgement, understanding, and administrative ability, gained through experience.

The examination includes skills, techniques and knowledge in the following areas:

- Environmental Relationships.
- Business and Public Policy.
- The Economics of Management.
- Financial Analysis and the Mathematics of Business.
- Communications and Decision Making.
- Office Procedures.

Each year the first Friday and Saturday of May the examination is administered throughout the U.S. and Canada at centers approved by the Institute.

There are currently 5,659 CPSs in the program. Presently the South Shore Chapter, with total membership of 27, boasts five CPSs:

Mrs. Helene Finnick, CPS, secretary to Bernard Grossman, Treasurer, Grossman Industrial Properties, Inc.

Miss Eleanor M. Fusoni, CPS, secretary to E. J. Tolle, President, IMass Inc.

Mrs. Winifred E. Jarvelin, CPS, secretary to James D. Asher, President of Television and Radio Broadcasting Corporation [WJDA].

Mrs. Edna Swain, CPS, secretary to Carl Freda, Project Manager, Raytheon.

Miss Ruth Davis, CPS, presently a full-time student at the University of Massachusetts.

Nixon Honor

President Richard Nixon holds "a first" from the National Secretaries Association [International].

In 1957, he was voted the First Special Award for recognition and understanding of the secretarial profession.

Alice Carron To Be Honored As 'South Shore Secretary Of Year'

Ask a busy man to take on another important job and he accepts - because he has the perfect secretary.

Ask a busy secretary to take on another committee chairmanship, or add another chore to her already busy schedule and she accepts graciously.

This is true of Miss Alice M. Carron, 142 Barham Ave., North Quincy, selected as "Secretary of the Year" by fellow South Shore Chapter members.

Miss Carron will be honored on April 26, at a 6:30 p.m. dinner at the Neighborhood Club of Quincy.

Since she became a member of the South Shore Chapter in 1962, Miss Carron has served in various capacities, as a member of most of the committees and chairman of many of the major committees. And she has served as an officer of the Chapter. Corresponding secretary for two terms, recording secretary for one and vice president for one term.

She served as chairman of the following committees: Scholarship, Secretaries Week, Achievements and Budget and Finance, and Hospitality.

Miss Carron, who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Carron, is a graduate of the Commercial Course of Cathedral High School and Boston Clerical School, now known as Boston School for Business Education. She has taken additional courses at

ALICE CARRON

Burdette College and Northeastern University.

This busy secretary finds time to knit and sew and does a good deal of cooking at home. She also finds time to read and enjoys any good fiction or non-fiction book. Her favorite music is operetta.

When asked about her boss, William Dale, Divisional Sales Manager of Investors Diversified Services, Inc., in Braintree, she had this tribute:

"He is great! I have been with Mr. Dale for 13 years, since he came from Williamsport, Pa., to establish the South Shore Office, which opened in Braintree the first of April 1959."

"Mr. Dale knows his business inside and out and he has continued to improve his knowledge of the investment field, with all of the new services being adopted by Investors. He has a knack for training and recruiting men into this business, besides being knowledgeable about all phases of the business."

A great deal of the office responsibility is hers when Dale is away from the office, which is quite often, with meetings in or out of the area.

What would she suggest to the young, inexperienced secretary, or to the high school student contemplating a secretarial career?

"I would suggest that the student get a good background in the clerical and business course in high school and then go on to a business school to further the skills required."

"I also think that the new employee should learn as much as possible about the business in which she is employed, the history of the company and the background and familiarize herself with the things handled every day in the office."

Miss Carron added that if the student is seriously interested in a particular field of endeavor, such as medical or legal, she should make every effort to attend a school which has specialized courses.

"At the time I was in school, things weren't as specialized as they are now," she recalled. "And it wasn't as important - even the schools didn't have as many specialized courses."

Miss Carron is a charming delightful person with a most gracious manner and air about her - a perfect "Secretary of the Year."

trained personnel for entrance into the business world.

Realizing the importance of introducing this program into the South Shore area, the Chapter sponsored the Braintree High School FSA Chapter installed March 20, 1966. This Chapter, still very active, meets the first Thursday of each month at Braintree High School.

In May 1968, at the Sheraton-Eastland Hotel, Portland, Maine, during the Annual New England Conference, the South Shore Chapter bid for and was successful in receiving the award to sponsor the 1970 New England Conference. On May 22, 23, 24, 1970, more than 300 secretaries from the New England states attended the 1970 New England Conference at The Belmont Hotel, Harwich.

During these 17 years, several members of the Chapter who have served as officers in the South Shore Chapter have won election to various division level offices.

Currently, Mrs. Lucy Mercurio, secretary at the Quincy Raytheon Company is corresponding secretary of the Massachusetts-Maine-New Hampshire-Vermont Division, NSA.

During the Chapter's early years, study groups were organized and met weekly in the South Shore area - with subjects covering Business Law Economics, Accounting, and the Certified Professional Secretaries Refresher Course.

The first such study group met at the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy, in 1956-57. Melvin Jack, then head of the Business Department at North Quincy High School and also instructor at Northeastern University Evening College, was the instructor. As a result of his many efforts in behalf of the Chapter, Mr. Jack was awarded Honorary Membership in the South Shore Chapter.

Currently, the South Shore Chapter has 27 members representing 20 local companies, six of which are in Quincy.

Members either work or live in Quincy, Milton, Braintree, Weymouth, Norwell, Plymouth, Hingham, Dorchester, Brookline and Scituate.

Future Secretaries Assn Helps Students Prepare Careers

In 1961 The National Secretaries Association [International] established the Future Secretaries Association program to help students prepare for business and particularly for a secretarial career.

The program has been developed to provide better trained personnel for entrance into the business world.

Through the guidance of experienced secretaries the Future Secretaries Association stimulates interest in the secretarial profession, develops a better understanding of secretarial responsibilities and provides the basics necessary to the preparation of future professional secretaries.

The Future Secretaries

Association provides its members with association with professional secretaries and other students who have many interests in common. They participate in thought-provoking programs developed by experienced professional secretaries and identify with the business world through their association with secretaries.

The South Shore Chapter, NSA, sponsored the Braintree High School FSA Chapter installed March 20, 1966. This Chapter, still very active, meets the first Thursday each month from October through May at Braintree High School.

There are presently 368 FSA chapters in the United States and Canada with a total membership of 10,537.

Sgt. Antonio Mancini Takes Part In Joint Service Exercise

Sgt. Antonio Mancini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Camillo Mancini of 35 Morley Rd., Wollaston, recently participated in a joint services training exercise at Ft. Hood, Tex.

Sergeant Mancini is a U.S. Air Force aircraft mechanic with the 67th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing at Bergstrom AFB, Tex.

More than 23,000 Army, Air Force, Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard personnel took part in the largest joint operation conducted in the U.S. since the Vietnam buildup in 1965. The exercise, dubbed "Gallant Hand", was the first in a series of large-scale maneuvers planned by the U.S. Readiness Command.

A mythical overseas command established at Ft. Hood provided the setting for Gallant Hand. The command was reinforced by a U.S.-based armored division and Air Force tactical airlift, fighter and reconnaissance units, which were employed in simulated combat operations.

The Tactical Air Command provided F-111 and F-4 Phantom fighter-bomber, RF-4 Phantom reconnaissance, C-130 Hercules and C-123 Provider cargo-transport and OV-10 Bronco forward air controller aircraft for the two-week exercise.

Sergeant Mancini is a 1968 graduate of North Quincy High School.

Request Application Inquiries For Manor Be Deferred

Roy A. Lawson, Vice-President of Hunneman and Company, Inc., managing agent for Wollaston Manor has requested that further inquiries relative to applications be deferred until formal arrangements can be made.

"Wollaston Manor is a 164 unit complex for the elderly being developed by Sprague Industries, Inc., with completion date scheduled for early 1974," said Lawson.

He said the "tremendous" response to recent newspaper articles has produced an avalanche of requests for application.

"As soon as all details have been completed we will place advertisements in the papers requesting registration of applicants," he said.

and several other dignitaries were on hand for the store opening at 2 p.m. April 13.

Spotlight On Quincy Youth Hockey

More Time For Boys, Girls At New Rink

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy Youth Hockey Association, Inc., is running into opposition to its proposed new rink but President Bob Hayes and the other officers are hopeful of finishing the new facility by November.

When the rink is completed the association's program will be expanded considerably with more all-star teams, more house teams and, hopefully, several programs for girls, who have been unable to enjoy any ice activity due to lack of ice time.

"This skating facility will supplement the new school department rink and provide about 35 hours per week to the school department for its physical education program and high school and junior high programs until the new school department rink is completed," Hayes explained.

"As the city of Quincy is supplying the land for our new rink, we want to give other hockey groups in the city an opportunity to use the facility. Of course, our own association comes first, but we hope the other groups in Quincy will be able to use it as well."

The new facility will operate two weeks a year with the other two weeks reserved for maintenance.

It is planned to be open from 4:00 a.m. to 1 a.m. the following morning on Monday through Thursday and on Sunday, Friday's and Saturday's operation will be of a continuous 24-hour duration.

City youth programs are currently paying from $20 an hour (MDC) to $75 an hour (Four Seasons Arena in Walpole) for ice time. The average cost is approximately $50 an hour.

"It is our intent that by the erection and operation of a new facility, the cost of ice time can be reduced considerably from that average," Hayes went on.

"Since it is ultimately the parents who must pay for this cost, the erection of this facility by the Quincy Youth Hockey Association will provide additional programs at a considerable reduction in cost. We expect to be able to offer ice time for $35 an hour."

"However, during the late morning and early afternoon hours, a reduced rate will be offered to induce businessmen, mother's clubs, police and fire associations, and other groups to use this facility."

"There will be at least eight hours a week reserved for public skating for the first year during December, January, February and part of March. Additional hours will be allocated during the rest of the season when high school and junior high schools are not practicing or playing games. This eight hours will supplement the 30 hours a week provided by the Shea MDC rink in West Quincy."

"A total of 35 hours a week will be reserved for the school department's physical education program and high school and junior high hockey. Additional time can be allocated if so desired by the school department."

The new facility will seat 500 fans and will include four locker rooms, food concession, pro shop, conference room, office space, warming area, public rest rooms, lecture room, skate room and equipment room.

The planned allocated ice time per week includes 7½ hours for public skating, 8½ hours for school physical education, 26 hours for high school and junior varsity games and practice, 39 hours for youth group skating programs, four hours for businessmen's groups, 5¼ hours for police and firemen's associations, two hours for figure skating, four hours for mother's clubs and 28 hours for rental time to outside groups.

The figure skating and public skating hours will be increased greatly when the high school teams are not active.

UCT Clinches Title, Downs Morrisette 7-1

United Commercial Travelers clinched first place in Quincy Youth Hockey Pee Wee action last week with a convincing 7-1 victory over Morrisette.

John Norton picked up two goals and Mark Rooney, Tom Roche, Brian Norton, Rick Smith and Rick Carnali scored one each as John Dunn managed the lone Morrisette goal.

In other Pee Wee games, Maguire's downed Davis 6-4, Wollaston outdistanced Hannon 4-2 and Crestview defeated Keohane 4-1.

Steve McKinnon shut out Cox and gave his Davis club a 5-0 Bantam victory and Sweeney beat Farina 4-1.

Ed Kane's hat trick was the big punch for Maguires and teammates Dave Previte, Billy Grant and Brian Mahoney added single goals. Davis scorers were Paul Linderfetzter, John Masters, Frank LaPierre and Dave Peters.

Wollaston's Bill Doherty and Kevin McGrath picked up two goals apiece and Paul Barry accounted for both Hannon tallies.

John Erickson's pair and single goals by Jim Massesso and Don Perdios gave Crestview the win over Keohane's despite Steve Glennon's goal.

Bob Carmody (2), Bill Connelly, Jack McHugh and Dave Hurley provided the firepower for Davis in their Bantam league shut-out victory.

Joe McConville scored twice and Paul Lynch and Dave Perdios picked up single goals for Sweeney as Mark Frazier picked up the goal for Farina.

Second Class Citizens

In the wake of Tuesday's Massachusetts Presidential Preference Primary, we can't help but wonder when and if the Independent will achieve equality in the electoral process.

Under the present system an Independent is not eligible to indicate his preference of candidates for the highest office in the land unless he is willing to declare himself a Republican or Democrat.

And many voters are unwilling to forfeit their independent status for any number of sound reasons.

Yet the cost of a party primary is borne by the Independent as well as the registered Democrat or Republican and the outcome is just as important to him.

Arguments can be raised that the purpose of such a primary election is to choose the parties' committeemen and delegates.

But it is also supposed to be an indication of the preference of the voters of Massachusetts as to who they wish to lead them for the next four years.

We suggest that the disenfranchisement of the Independent can distort or even belie the people's preference.

Presidential Primary turn-outs in Massachusetts during the past several election years have averaged far less than 20 per cent of the registered vote.

Such a small minority would seem to indicate that it is the politically employed and politically active party member who makes up the bulk of that electorate.

The average voter often does not have his say for any number of reasons, not the least of which unwillingness to declare himself as a member of one of the two major parties.

We agree that the members of a party should be entitled to elect their own state, city and ward committee members.

But we suggest that every registered voter should be allowed to express his preference for President of the United States from a large field, rather than choosing from two men selected by a privileged few.

We suggest that the answer may be separate ballots for party members to vote for party officials and a universal ballot, available to every voter, for Presidential preference.

The present primary process makes the Independent a "second class citizen".

181,192 Homes In Norfolk County, 174,526 Have Television Sets

The 1970 Census of Housing counted 181,192 housing units in Norfolk County, and 174,526 households had at least one television set [127,880 UHF-equipped], the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce, announces.

The figures are from the first report for Massachusetts which presents detailed statistics on housing for each county.

The report shows that in the county:

There were 50,352 housing units with air conditioning [43,907 with room units and 6,445 with a central system], 134,974 units with a clothes washing machine, 82,684 with a clothes dryer, and 53,864 with a dishwasher.

The 1970 population was 605,051, with an average of 3.3 persons per housing unit.

A total of 107,777 housing units were built before 1949, 37,099 during the 1950's, 17,189 during 1960-64, and 18,566 within the five years preceding the April 1970 census.

Utility gas was used to cook the meals in 81,803 households, electricity in another 88,280, and bottled, tank, or LP gas in yet another 5,192.

There were 179,399 occupied housing units with complete kitchen facilities and 176,960 with complete bathrooms, both for the exclusive use of the households. The number of bedrooms in all housing units ranged from none [in 2,457 units] and one [in 22,520 units] to four or more [in 35,361 units].

Owners occupied 122,021 units, renters 55,062 units, and a total of 3,548 units were vacant year round with 570 for sale and 1,494 for rent.

Copies of the report, Detailed Characteristics, 1970 Census of Housing, Massachusetts, HC(1)-B23, are available for $2. each from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, or from U.S. Department of Commerce field offices located in major cities.

A 'Thank You' From School Department

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Thank you for publishing the articles concerning the career awareness activities for Quincy's elementary and junior high school students which have been sponsored by the guidance department of the Quincy schools. A large number of people have spoken about the stories on "Who Wears A Hat on the Job?" and on the Career Fair held at the Atlantic Junior High School.

We appreciate this opportunity to have the public informed about special services of the guidance department to help boys and girls learn about the world of work and how it relates to their current school activity. It is good to have public recognition given to the members of the community who give of their time and energies to assist the schools, also.

By HENRY BOSWORTH

With all the local political activity, you'd think this was a city election year.

The Speculation Corps is working over-time trying to keep up with sure candidates and maybe candidates for county and state seats.

Councillor Joseph LaRaia, for one, has 'em guessing. He's been looking like a candidate for Norfolk County treasurer. But now may make a bid, instead, for state representative in Wards 4, 5, 6.

If he should go that way, he'd be somebody that incumbents Joseph Brett and Walter Hannon [if he runs] and all contenders would have to reckon with.

MEANWHILE, casting an eye toward Dedham is John J. Sullivan, Sr., the federal mediator from Wollaston. His eye is on the office of Register of Probate.

After 30 years as a mediator, Sullivan is eligible for retirement. Incidentally, he was the youngest mediator ever appointed—at age 24.

His son, John, Jr., is executive secretary to the Norfolk County Commissioners and, at one time, was being mentioned as a candidate himself for Register of Probate.

HOW you doing in The Game? Well, Edward Cook, owner of Cook's Quality Market, Furnace Brook Parkway, is doing pretty well. Has already racked up two $25 winnings. P.S. He also sells the tickets.

DAN CUPID DEPT: School Committeeman Daniel Raymondi and pretty Sharon Thibodeau of Winthrop Park, Quincy, have filed marriage intentions at City Hall. Sharon, secretary to Sterling Junior High School Principal Arnold Rubin, was Dan's hardest working campaigner in last fall's election.

A CITY HALL favorite, Mrs. Alice Gallivan, secretary to the Licensing Board, retires Friday, closing out a 16-year municipal career.

A farewell coffee social will be held Friday from 9:30 to 11 a.m. in her honor.

On Wednesday night, the City Clerk's office gang honored her at a dinner at the Red Coach Grill, Hingham. She was presented with an engraved Paul Revere Bowl—filled with flowers.

PROUD POP DEPT: Ward 5 Councillor Bill Delahunt is passing out cigars celebrating the birth of his first child, a daughter. Kirstin Anne Delahunt was delivered at 3 a.m. April 14 at Boston Lying-In Hospital. Mrs. Delahunt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alois Hermani are visiting Bill and Kati from their home in Germany.

MILESTONE: Eddie Scolamiero, the West Quincy tonsorial artist, is a young 71. Eddie was Rudolph Valentino's look-alike back in the 1920's when he and a youngster by the name of Billy [Jones] DeWolfe ushered together at the old Quincy Theater. The pair have created close friends since. Whenever Billy returns home for a visit, he always drops by to see Eddie.

And when they get together, they usually chuckle about the day that Valentino's wife, Natacha, swooned over Eddie. As the story goes, she was appearing at the theater and walked in for a rehearsal. Eddie was polishing the brass railing around the orchestra pit. She took one look at him and fainted. She supposedly thought it was the great Valentino polishing the brass and it was just too much for her.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT: Poem via Rev. William Kenneally, St. Ann's Church, Wollaston. Title: "I Know Something Good About You".

Wouldn't this be a better world
If friends we meet would say:
'I know something good about you'
And treat us that way.
Wouldn't life be much more happy
If we praised the good we see?
For there's such a lot of goodness
In the worst of you and me.

Mrs. Ruth Pabst registers in voter book. Dr. Thorner has also registered his two daughters and six older grandchildren as voters in the City of Quincy.

Brett Against Meadows Community College Site

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has voiced opposition to the proposed location of South Shore Community College on the "so-called Broad Meadows site in Quincy".

In a letter to Deputy Commissioner Albert H. Zabriskie of the Department of Administration and Finance, Brett said he has "long been opposed to location of the college at this particular location."

"To begin with, the South Shore Community College is supposed to serve the area from Quincy all the way to Duxbury and Plymouth," he said.

"It seems ridiculous that it should be located on the fringe instead of somewhere near the center of the area it is to serve."

"From another viewpoint, the Broad Meadows site can someday be developed as a highly valuable taxable asset to the City of Quincy and, goodness knows, every city and town needs more of this," he said.

Memorial Musical Tribute To Ivar O. Nelson

The Quincy High and North Quincy High School choirs and bands will perform a memorial musical tribute to Ivar O. Nelson at 2:30 p.m. April 30 at the North auditorium.

The combined choirs under the direction of Gale Harrison will open the program with "Star Spangled Banner", "I'll Praise My Maker" and "O God, Thou Faithful God".

The bands, directed by Carl Leone, will play "Casa Grande" and "Thundercrest", the last selection Mr. Nelson conducted.

"Music For a Ceremony", "Eternal Father Strong to Save" and the Navy Hymn will be performed by the Quincy High band led by Anthony Ferrante.

Contributions to a scholarship fund in Nelson's memory may be made through Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, superintendent of schools, 70 Coddington St., Quincy.

Proverb Of A Greeting Card

Little square of paper,
Little dabs of ink,
Little words of Friendliness
That tell the things you think,
Little bows of ribbon
To trim it up just fine.
A little curiosity
Just like yours and mine,
The answer to this puzzle
Isn't really hard,
You'll find it all collected
On a little Greeting Card.
To the lonely it means love
To the ill that you care,
To the elderly means friendship
To the parents from your heart.
All are accepted with a tearsmiles.
Love and the feeling of belonging.

"What's Your Skin Type?"

Now wait a minute. Before you tell me that you have dry or oily skin - or even, praises be, normal skin - let's go into the subject a little more.

Your skin type isn't static. It can change with the climates you move in, the seasons, and your age—and it reproduces itself with a completely new outer layer every month. That oily skin that plagued you at 17 probably isn't around at 27.

When I first learned this about my skin, it was like a revelation. In fact, it changed my entire skin care routine. I began using lots of creams and moisturizers in winter - cut down somewhat in summer. When I travel from Coast to Coast, I change my skin care program as I go. You should do the same.

Look at your skin closely, then re-examine it every month or so. Be prepared to adjust to its changes. Here are some guides to help you determine your skin type:

1. Dry - fair-skinned, fine pores, skin feels taut and sometimes flaky, tends to burn easily.

2. Oily - visible oil around nose, chin and forehead, tendency to break out, usually has larger pores.

3. Normal - no problem areas, fine texture, no break-outs that regular care can't take care of.

Starting now, take a close look at your skin. Adapt your skin care routine to its condition now. Be flexible—and your skin will be better for it!

Sunshine Cup Cakes For Pretty Spring Party

Spring is the prettiest season of the year and such a welcome change from a dreary winter that it's cause for celebration.

And what's a party without appealing refreshments? Sunshine cup cakes, pretty and perky as spring itself, star as dessert in the happy welcoming of spring.

Frost the cup cakes with a pink icing, then concentrate on decorating them imaginatively. Little spring flowers can top some of the cakes while colored jackstraws stand at attention on others. Use tiny jelly beans in assorted colors or other favorite candies. To carry the cup cakes (to a friend's home, to a club meeting or as a surprise gift), pack them in a 9-inch Tupperware Pie Taker. The four-inch high seal covers the cup cakes without crushing, protects them without divulging your secret inside.

Spring's always pretty—and so are your beautifully decorated pink frosted sunshine cup cakes!

Sunshine Cup Cakes

1 package (18½ ounce) white or yellow cake mix Jelly roses, jelly roses (directions follow), jelly fruit slices, peppermint sticks, mint jelly candy leaves, green coconut, etc.

7-minute frosting or white frosting mix (creamy or fluffy) Prepare favorite white or yellow cake mix: bake in paper or aluminum foil baking cups as directed on package label. Cool thoroughly; do not remove baking cups. Prepare favorite 7-minute frosting or one of the white (creamy or fluffy) frosting mixes available. Tint ½ of frosting a pale pink and remaining half a pale green using red and green food colors. Frost tops of cakes and decorate as desired with your favorite assortment of candies. Arrange in 9-inch Pie Taker with Carrioler Handle. Yield: 1½ to 2 dozen cup cakes depending upon size of baking cups.

Jelly Rose

Use a rolling pin and roll 3 or 4 large red, pink or orange gum drops into ovals on a well-sugared cutting board or sheet of waxed paper. Cut each oval in half crosswise. Flair out curved edge of each piece of candy to make a petal. Shape one petal into a cone, pinching bottom of cone together. Arrange remaining petals, as desired, around cone, curved side up. Press and twist bottom of rose into a stem. Place rose on cake and add leaves, if desired.

It's In To Be Thin By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

Keep it coming...the diet.

Keep it off...the pounds.

Keep it up...the good work.

It's your keeping power that will keep you going if the going gets rough. So keep your diet really new, every day. That means thinking through your eating program the day before and planning your meals then. You won't be able to diet in the panic that occurs at 5:00 P.M. if you haven't defrosted the meat for tonight's supper.

Pounds just won't be able to sneak up on you; they'll keep away if you predict your desires. You can keep pounds off even if you eat sweets. Want proof? Just try this delightful new addition to an old-fashioned favorite for a complete lunch.

PINEAPPLE BREAD PUDDING

4 slices Arnold Dietslice
Melba Thin bread
1 cup skim milk
1 cup crushed or chunk pineapple [well drained]
3 or 4 packages Sweet 'N Low
6 ounces cottage cheese
2 eggs
1 teaspoon Vanilla
Dash salt
Cinnamon

Spray bottom and sides of baking dish with PAM or use teflon pan. Cube bread and place in pan. Cover with cottage cheese, sprinkle with cinnamon and two packages Sweet 'N Low, and add pineapple. Beat eggs slightly and slowly, add hot scalded milk. Pour this mixture into dish and sprinkle with remaining Sweet 'N Low. Bake at 375 for about 25 minutes.

Lower to 350 degrees if you are using a glass dish. This makes two servings for lunch.

It's not hard to keep up the good work with something like that to entice you on, now is it? What's more I am here to cheer you along and cheer you up with the diet tips that have tipped the scales for so many who have been successful. # Do you feel a pinch on the first of every month?

Do you feel sharp pressure from your bills every month? Are you unable to shake off their grip? Have you ever wished you could "write yourself a loan" in the privacy of your own home to take care of them all at once?

People who have Norfolk's Reserve Credit do just that -- any time they need money.

Reserve Credit is part of Norfolk's exclusive All Purpose Bank Plan, the modern way to bank that puts all your accounts under one number and one monthly statement. With Reserve Credit we establish a personal line of credit for you. When you need money you just mail a transfer form to the bank, and Norfolk deposits the money directly in your checking account.

You then write your own checks.

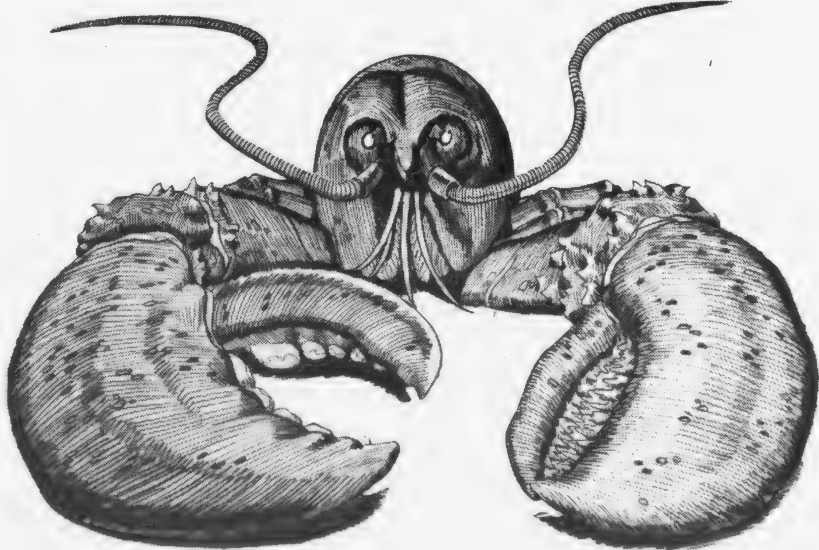

It's that simple. You don't have to make a trip to the bank, so you can write yourself a loan any time -- any place. There's no charge for Reserve Credit until you use it, and the interest on your loan will be at low bank rates. As you repay you'll be rebuilding your reserve for future use.

Stop in at any of our 32 neighborhood offices and see how Reserve Credit can take the pain out of your monthly pinch.

Friendly gesture à la South Shore National.

If it's a friend you need, you can walk into almost any bank at all and find one.

Of course, if you read any bank ads at all, you already know that bankers are among your friendliest folks.

But if you'd like to see that friendliness garnished with a little something green, we'd be the people to talk to.

We think it's nice to make friends. But we think it's also nice to make loans.

So if you need money to buy a new car, or to fix up your house, or pay off a lot of bills, or just about anything, and you want it at low bank rates, come on into the nearest office of the South Shore National Bank.

We're the place to bank when you need the money more than you need a friend.

Dan Barry Actively Involved In Quincy Business, Civic Affairs

For a guy from Randolph, Dan Barry devotes a lot of time to the City of Quincy.

Barry, 45, of 19 Ward St., Randolph, is the owner of Barry's Delicatessen at 21 Beale St., Wollaston, and can be found behind the counter there six days a week.

But his involvement with the city only starts with his profession.

He has been president of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association for the past two years and Mayor Hannon has appointed him to the Downtown Steering Committee planning Quincy's development.

Add to this membership in Wollaston United Commercial Travelers and seats on the Christmas festival, outing, parking and development committees of the Chamber of Commerce and you've got yourself a heavy schedule.

And Barry is also co-chairman of the business and industry division of the South Shore Cancer Crusade.

He was born and educated in Boston, studied real estate brokerage at Northeastern University and moved to Randolph, but, he says, "Let's face it, Quincy is my town. I hope to live here very shortly."

Barry says he has been working with food since "before I was old enough to know better," starting as a bus boy at the Somerset Club of Boston when he was 13.

He worked for Wilbur Foods concessions in Boston for a few years before World War II broke out and he found himself in Naval aviation as - what else? - a ship's cook.

After the war he went to work for H. P. Hood restaurant division in managerial capacities before opening the first Barry's Deli on Bowdoin St. in Dorchester in 1948.

The second store was opened

He has since sold the two shops in Boston and moved around the corner to the Beale St. location which has double the space for his customers and 13 employees.

Plans for the immediate future include expanding store hours to 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and providing dinner-type service in the evenings and Barry said he hopes to open another location in Quincy shortly.

Barry is married to the former Mary Louise Kneeland and the father of four children, Kevin, Susan, Constance and John, all at home.

Medallions In Return

Sacred Heart Youngsters Take Poetic Look At MBTA

About 100 fifth graders at Sacred Heart School, North Quincy, tried out the new MBTA South Shore line and were so impressed turned poets to describe their experience.

The poems were mounted in an attractive scrapbook and presented to MBTA General Manager Joseph C. Kelly.

Kelly was so impressed that he, in appreciation, presented the school with six medallions commemorating the opening of the South Shore line.

Sample of the poetic offerings of the youngsters, 9 and 10 years old, appear here:

MY TRAIN RIDE

I went for a train ride the other night:

When I got on it gave me a fright:

The train was so crowded there wasn't a seat:

Crowds of people had to stand on their feet.

Julie Phinney

THE MBTA

The silver train, the silver train,

I always wait for the silver train

But it never comes on time, never

But I always wait for the silver train.

Joanne Clark

THE SUNSET

I was on the train one night

I saw the sunset's gleaming light

It was blue, yellow, brown and purple

All on a sunset night

Jeane Lambert

THE MBTA

The MBTA has a third rail

The cars are silver, orange and blue,

They have no tail,

Did you see them, did you?

Stephen Colman

THE NEW MBTA

For a ride on the M.B.T.A.

To the conductor you must pay.

As you rock, roll and sway,

It takes you a very long way.

Thomas Monahan

THE MBTA

The MBTA has come at last,

And boy they go pretty fast.

They stop at each and every station,

Maybe someday they'll run the nation.

Mark Donovan

THE SILVER JETS

The silver trains are very fine,

It sends a shiver up my spine,

To see those trains in a pair,

It seems like jets in the air.

I wonder if the men get a big pay.

On the big M.B.T.A.

The men who drive

Always survive.

Kevin Norton

THE MBTA

The trains go to and fro,

They may hate the trip for all we know,

But it is here to stay,

Because it is the MBTA.

Eileen Butts

THE BIG T

If I was going into town,

I'd surely ride the train.

It is the better way to go

Don't you think so?

Marianne Mosesso

THE SILVER BIRDS

I was on the train last night,

The sunset was so bright,

High above the water blue,

I saw a speed boat going through.

Theresa White

MBTA

All Quincy residents proudly say,

Hurray, hurray for the MBTA

Now we get to Boston in record time,

And even bring the "kids" for just a dime.

Jane Griffin

MBTA

The South Shore T is finally here,

Makes faraway places seem so near,

For kids, the aged and shoppers all,

Shopping will be easier in the fall.

John Newcomb

THE MBTA

The MBTA silver and red,

The seats are like your bed.

It goes so fast down the track,

It seems like it's never coming back.

It sways and swerves

And scares your nerves.

John Sloane

THE BIG T

T is for transportation

Boy it's a sensation!

It's as fast as lightning

But not too frightening.

Maureen Kerwin

FOUR FIFTH GRADERS at Sacred Heart School, North Quincy, shown with MBTA General Manager Joseph C. Kelly; their principal, Sister Eileen, left, and their teacher, Sister Georgita, following a presentation to the school of six medallions commemorating the opening of the South Shore Line. Kelly made the presentation as a gesture of appreciation to the 100 fifth graders, who turned poets and wrote about their impressions of their ride on the new line. The pupils, three of whom have fathers employed by the Authority and the fourth a sister, are, from left, Noreen Shea, Timothy McCormack, Sheila Norris and Jacqueline McCloskey.

SACRED HEART fifth graders view with interest the South Shore Theaterama, a color slide presentation of the history of the line. At right are General Manager Joseph C. Kelly and Mrs. Mila B. Dixon, special assistant to director planning and coordination. At projector is Robert Griffin.

Rubeola
Doctors are increasingly worried over general confusion about measles and German measles. They are two distinct diseases caused by two different viruses.
Measles, or Rubeola, most frequently strikes pre-schoolers. German measles, or Rubella, is less contagious and occurs more frequently among young adults. Women stricken with Rubella during the first three months of pregnancy run a great risk of bearing retarded or handicapped children.
Separate immunization shots are available for both Rubeola and Rubella. Unfortunately, most mothers are unaware of this and assume that a single shot protects children against all types of measles. This misconception leaves the children open to infection by one or other of the viruses.

Black's Creek Clean-up For Conservation

An April 9 clean-up of the Feno St. section of Black's Creek began the Quincy Conservation Commission's preparation for Conservation Week May 1-7.

Despite chill, damp winds a good-sized work crew turned out, including girls from the neighborhood and Boy Scout Troop 20 from Wollaston.

Commission members Harold Crowley, Bernard Moore and Leslie Molyneux were also aided by Miss Dorothy Kelly of the Quincy Citizens Association and representatives of the Wollaston Park Association.

Two large dumpsters provided by the city were rapidly filled with items such as automobile batteries, tires, bottles and branches.

"No Dumping" signs have been posted around the area to remind residents that dumping in the marsh is illegal and leads to a rodent problem.

The marsh area along Feno St. will soon be dedicated as Reuben and Liza Grossman Park.

A Century-Old Lesson in Savings and Capital

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holbrook
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursdays

We were intrigued by this simple yet dramatic explanation of the role of saving and capital accumulation. We found it in a book translated into English a century ago from the French.

Its author, Edmond About, approached it in this fashion. He estimated the population of the earth in his day at 1,350,000,000 souls. Suppose, he said, that the average daily production of labor was one franc per head and its daily consumption the same one franc per head. At the end of one or fifty centuries, the human race would be unchanged.

Anything that disturbed this daily production and consumption — an unexpected occurrence, accident, or misfortune — would find the populace helpless. If something destroyed 100,000 daily rations, 100,000 persons would fast for a day. If the interruption lasted for any time, people would perish by the thousands. The slightest interruption of labor meant famine.

"This is no mere hypothesis," wrote About. "All the races which have persisted on living from hand to mouth have finally become extinct."

Suppose, on the other hand, all living beings agreed to save one-tenth of their income — or two sous daily. There would be a return of 135 million francs the first evening, 49 billions 275 millions at the end of the year, 4 trillion 927 billions, 500 millions at the end of the first century.

"And what is a century in the life of the human race?" About pointed out. "Hardly as much as one day in the life of a man."

The daily saving of two sous per head would thus constitute a capital of 3,650 francs for each person in a hundred years. "If we were to content ourselves with laying up treasure like illiterate peasants or half-savage nations."

But suppose this treasure were laid out at interest. A thousand francs invested at 5 per cent yield 131,000 francs in a century and 16,786,000 francs in two centuries. The two centuries of the world's population, its first day alone would yield itself reach 2 trillion 263 billion 680 million francs in two centuries.

Human beings are accustomed to think in terms of decades rather than centuries in computing savings growth and accumulation of capital. All too many do not think about it at all, being content with hand-to-mouth existence.

About has his century-old answer for these people: "Strictly speaking, you have the right to consume from day to day all that you have produced, but reasoning and experience prove to you that the fruits of your labors, when accumulated in savings, become the instruments of easier and more lucrative labor."

Billy DeWolfe Signed For Broadway Bound 'Irene'

A tip of the ole' beret to BILLY DE WOLFE. A star of motion pictures and television, DE WOLFE, a Quincy native, was recently signed by producer HARRY RIGBY to star in next season's Broadway bound "IRENE"... A seasoned professional, BILLY DE WOLFE is sure to delight Broadway audiences with his own unique style of showmanship... Nostalgiaizing a short 7 years back, I wish we had more of JULIET PROWSE on the screen. A beautiful gal with talent to match, producers have yet to give her a "chance" to prove her worth as an actress...

What with MARTHA MITCHELL mouthing MARTHA RAYE impersonations, one can only wonder when political oriented Ms. MITCHELL makes show biz a full time career... And you can bet money that MARLON BRANDO is all smiles these days. His 6% of "THE GODFATHER" take assures him years of care free happiness with millions to spare... And what's silent screen star CORINNE GRIFFITH doing these days?... JAMES GARNER is licking his past TV wounds with mutterings of retirement. Translated, this means GARNER, with an ego as big as the Grand Canyon, will lunge at the first film script thrown his way...

ANDREJ WAJDA, Poland's elite director emeritus, was the recipient of lavish praise at the recent [April 10-19] Dept. of Film of the Museum of Modern Art's showing of the "Recent Films From Poland". Internationally, WAJDA is respected with all the awe and admiration of FELLINI and KUBRICK... Cinematographer ROBERT SURTEES has been signed as the camera chief for STANLEY KRAMER's next, "OKLAHOMA CRUDE". Though not a household word, the name SURTEES is associated in the film industry with excellence... Last year SURTEE's camera'd two motion picture triumphs, "THE LAST PICTURE SHOW" and "THE SUMMER OF '42"...

The way "SLAUGHTERHOUSE FIVE" is limping along, it may take a good five years for the KURT VONNEGUT, JR. adapter to make the break even point. In its first 2 weeks out, the flick did a paltry $100,000 at the all important box office... English funny girl WENDY CRAIG is that country's reply to CAROL BURNETT. London based in the highly rated situated comedy "AND MOTHER MAKES THREE", Miss CRAIG was voted the funniest woman on TV by Britain's prestigious TV Times... The late MAURICE CHEVALIER's last screen appearance is in the soon-to-be-released "THIS IS NOEL COWARD", a musical biog of the living legend Mr. COWARD...

OSCAR Ed Notes: For the second year in a row 20th Century-Fox walked home with the most golden statuettes, five. And in the winners circle they roped the biggies-Best Picture, Actor, Director, Screenplay and Film Editing... And my batting average in Oscar predictions was break even with .500 This column was right on target with JANE FONDA, best actress; GENE HACKMAN, best actor; and BEN JOHNSON, best supporting actor... And the Academy salute to CHARLIE CHAPLIN was tear jerking to the nostalgia point... Just too bad it took Hollywood years to acclaim him as the brilliant man he always was...

OLIVER REED establishes a milestone with a portrayal of screen villainy guaranteed to send a shiver up the sturdiest of spines. In the "bad guy" department, REED does one better than an earlier LEE MARVIN... And what of RED SKELTON you ask? He, like others in the business, is turning to writing as a creative outlet... For stealing talent, the music industry has no peer. Columbia Records sired away NEIL DIAMOND from MCA, even though DIAMOND has three more MCA albums to go... The war for talent is so furious, Music executives are lavishing box-office names with contracts in the multi-million dollar bracket...

ROGER MOORE is being mentioned as the prime James Bond candidate for the next "LIVE AND LET DIE". Shooting is scheduled to roll in September, and SEAN CONNERY has firm film commitments beyond that date... So far MOORE has the inside track on the Bond role. And yes, I think ROGER MOORE would be convincing as the super agent. He has the charm, sophistication and build in the 007 mold... VINCENT PRICE was named Columbia [Mo.] College's first "Distinguished Man of the Year". [Columbia is an all female college]... Singer ADAM WADE spreads his wings with his dramatic acting debut in "COME BACK, CHARLESTOWN BLUE"...

Soup opera star ["LOVE OF LIFE"] JANE HOFFMAN takes time out from the continuing series for a key role in the now-being-lensed "UP THE SANDBOX"... In the picture Miss HOFFMAN plays mother to BARBRA STREISAND... After seeing "BLINDMAN" a second time around, I still wonder where RINGO STARR gets the nerve to "act". He just can't. So why doesn't his press agent clue him in?... If you see one more film this year, make it "THE GARDEN OF THE FINZI CONTINIS". Oscar'd as best foreign film of the year [1971], it is a visual monument to man's duo-complexity of prejudice and love...

And from the mid-west, the Detroit News has put the clamp on all X rated movie Ads. Won't touch 'em with the proverbial 10 foot pole. I thought you'd never ask, and yes CLAUDE JUTRA is one of Canada's top three directors... Gulf and Western is one of the big sellers on the stock exchange. The reason? They own Paramount Studios, who just happened to have produced "THE GODFATHER"... Titles tell all, and "L. A. PLAYS ITSELF" is one of the worst homosexual flies to hit the screen. Filmed by FRED HALSTED, the picture comes up a loser as a social and art commentary. So poorly made, it doesn't deserve an X-tag...

● Tennis

North Host To Quincy Netmen

North Quincy's tennis team was 12-3 a year ago and 9-2 two years ago and, although the Raiders have a number of players returning, Coach Bill Willoughby is not predicting a similar record this spring.

"We have a good group but we are in a tougher league this year," Willoughby said. "We are in the new Independence League with Quincy, Xaverian, Archbishop Williams, B.C. High and Catholic Memorial and they are all strong."

Returning from last season are Roger Pratt, Tom BeHenna, Kevin McKinley, Larry Dryer, Dave Duvall, Dave Coutree, Charles Cornwell and Max Rockman.

Paul O'Malley and Kevin McElaney are new members of the Raiders' squad and look good.

North was scheduled to open its season Tuesday at Catholic Memorial and today [Thursday] faced Quincy at home. Tuesday the Raiders will be at Xaverian in Westwood.

Meantime, Bill Mitchell's Quincy netmen were due to host Xaverian on Tuesday, yesterday played a non-league match at Weymouth South, hosts Malden Monday, is at B.C. High Tuesday and entertains Weymouth North in a non-leaguer next Wednesday.

Warren Jordan's 37 Points Lead Beechwood To Victory

Warren Jordan hit for 37 points to lead Beechwood Knoll to a 57-46 victory over Central and the Junior High Division Championship of Recreation Department basketball.

Jack Brown chipped in eight points for Beechwood Knoll as Paul Kelliher led Central scorers with 13 points, followed by Scott Roberts at 11 and Glenn Ball with 10.

Jordan paced his team with 18 points in their semi-final victory over Atlantic and Kelliher's 11 points sparked Central to their semi-final win over Snug Harbor.

In the elementary school division, Montclair downed Snug Harbor 23-17 on the strength of John Silva's 13 point effort. Bugger Whalber led Snug Harbor with six points.

Montclair qualified for the finals with an upset win over Beechwood Knoll as John Timmons hit two free throws with six seconds to play for the one-point edge.

Snug Harbor's balanced attack led by Bill Hill with 10 points gave them a victory over Central and a berth in the finals.

Applications Available For Aquatic Schools

William F. Ryan, Chairman of the Water Safety Committee of the Greater Quincy Red Cross Chapter announces that applications are available for National Aquatic and First Aid and Small Craft Schools.

Applicants must be 17 years

Jackie Quigg Goal Ties Game For Hannon, 3-3

Jackie Quigg scored his first goal in organized hockey to give Hannon a 3-3 tie with Morrisette in Quincy Youth Hockey Pee Wee League action.

Other Pee Wee games saw Keohanes edge Maguire's 4-3, Davis upset Crestview 3-2 and Wollaston battled to a 1-1 tie with first-place United Commercial Travelers.

In Bantam games, Rich Butt's hat trick led Cox to a 6-1 victory over Farina and Sweeney defeated Davis 3-2.

Quincy's Mighty Mites I tied Abington 4-4 on the strength of two goals by Cliff Marshall and one each by Mike Nevins and Kevin Craig and the Mites II lost to Scituate 3-2 despite Dan Boyles two goals.

Morrisette carried a 3-2 on the strength of goals by John Yaxter, Paul Higgins and Mark Assard in the closing moments of the game when Jackie Quigg added his score to a two-goal effort by Paul Barry.

Ed Kane's hat trick wasn't enough for Maguire's as Keohane's posted scores by Mark Ricciardi [2], Paul McDermott and John McKay.

Dave Peters [2] and Paul Linderfetzter provided the Davis punch to offset Crestview goals by Don Perdias and Jim Mossesso.

Mike Storer and John Norton tallied the only points for Wollaston and UCT, respectively.

The lone Farina goal was scored by Tim Coffey as Dan Donovan hit for two and Joe Carly scored one to add to Rich Butt's three-goal effort for Cox.

Dan Barry, Paul Lynch and Mike Faherty scored for Sweeney as Joe Rice and Joe Pistorino picked up the Davis goals.

Pierce One-Hits Medford, Quincy Edged

The Quincy and North Quincy baseball teams, after battling the elements, finally opened their Greater Boston League seasons and, following Monday's games each had a 2-1 league record.

North ran its overall mark to 3-1 with a 5-0 win over Medford, while Quincy suffered its first loss, 3-2, to Somerville, making its overall mark 5-1.

Friday Bob Basiliere's Presidents host Malden at Adams Field, Monday entertain Medford and Wednesday will face North. Charlie Bunker's Raiders Friday play at Everett, are at Malden Monday, then host Quincy.

Bob Pierce, a junior varsity player a year ago, pitched a brilliant one-hitter for North against Medford, the lone hit coming in the eighth inning. He struck out eight and walked four in earning his third straight win. He had previously won both North decisions in relief appearances.

The game was scoreless until the eighth when the Raiders exploded for all five runs. Tom Burke, who had a double and triple, drove in a run with the tie and Pierce made sure of the win with a three-run double.

Lee Watkins also had two hits as the Raiders collected seven.

Quincy was edged by Somerville despite a three-hitter by ace Jimmy Walker, who suffered his first loss after two wins. Walker struck out eight and walked three but Somerville scored twice in the fifth inning without getting the ball out of the infield.

A high bouncing infield hit and walk with two outs were followed by a grounder between first and second on which the first and second basemen failed to make a play to fill the bases. Two errors let in the two winning runs.

Quincy scored both runs in the fifth on hits by Artie Boyle, John Caron and John Warren. The Presidents had men on second and third with one out in the second but the next two batters struck out.

Quincy, following three impressive non-league wins sparked by tremendous pitching, opened its league season with two wins in games which were sharp contrasts.

Following a 3-1 opening victory over Revere, the Presidents went five hours and 16 innings before nipping Everett, 9-8.

Jimmy Walker picked up his second win over Revere, going eight and a third innings, giving up one run and two walks and striking out five.

With the bases loaded and one out, Bob Lane relieved and struck out the last two batters to save the game. It was the second time Lane had saved a win for Walker.

The Everett game was one which both coaches will be glad to forget. Going into the ninth inning of the marathon, the score was tied at 7-7. Everett scored the tie-breaking run but in the bottom of the inning Quincy deadlocked it again and it looked as though the game might never end.

Bob Brill pitched the last seven innings, pitching superb two-hit ball and was rewarded with the win in the bottom of the 16th inning.

Mike Marvelle singled and Bob Malvesti beat out a bunt. John Caron sacrificed and walks to John Warren and Connie Driscoll forced in the winning run.

Quincy Jayvees Off To Good Season

Bud Mosher's Quincy junior varsity baseball team is enjoying an excellent season with a 5-1 record, suffering its first loss Monday, 9-5, against Somerville.

The junior Presidents have been combining fine pitching with good hitting. Jerry Rugdon pitched a no-hitter against Abp. Williams, Paul Craig hurled a four-hit shutout against Revere and Mark Dwyer pitched an 8-2 win over Everett.

Frank DiSalvio, also a good pitcher, Mike Varrasso and Bob Bens are hitting well, Roy Pettinelli has sparkled defensively. Jim French, whose best position is first base but is playing the outfield with Varrasso at first, has played well. And Mosher feels Dave Ciani is one of the finest catching prospects Quincy has had in years.

"Our sophomore group is the finest I've had in some time," the junior varsity coach said.

Tom Dormandy Goal Gives Quincy "A" Championship

Tom Dormandy drove home a Jim Fitzpatrick pass with four minutes left to play to give Quincy "A" a 4-3, come-from-behind victory in the finals of the Recreation Department street hockey tournament.

John Cooney picked up a hat trick to account for all the Montclair scoring in the match before a full house at Shea Rink, West Quincy.

Cooney put Montclair ahead 1-0 off the opening face-off and gave his team a 2-1 lead at the end of the first period after Quincy's John Kelly tied the game at 1-1.

Montclair goalie Frank Marriello handcuffed Quincy despite constant pressure through most of the second period until Tom Koelsch scored on a backhand to tie the game again.

Mike Marks put Quincy ahead in the third period, but Cooney's third goal tied the game again to set the stage for Dormandy's game winner.

Quincy "A" gained their play-off seat through a 5-4 squeaker over Fore River and Montclair downed Squantum 4-1 in semi-finals.

Registration Still Open For S.S. Babe Ruth League

The South Shore 16-18 Babe Ruth League Inc., has finalized its schedule for the 1972 season.

Quincy will field two teams in the new league, the Raso Construction Company and the Vin Smyth Boys Club.

Over 50 boys have already indicated a desire to play. However boys may still sign up by calling Fred Coolen, president, at 773-8507 or John McDonnell secretary-treasurer, at 479-5478.

Registration for the program will also be permitted on the field before the try-outs which will be held on Saturday, May 13. Boys 16 years old will report at nine a.m., boys 17 and 18 years old will report at 1 p.m. at Merrymount Park, corner Hancock St. and Southern Artery. In case of rain May 13, all boys will report at Merrymount May 14 at 12:30 p.m.

Track

Quincy Faces Chelsea, North Meets Medford

The Quincy and North Quincy track teams, which were scheduled for Greater Boston League meets Tuesday at Quincy Veterans Memorial Stadium will return to the regular league site, Medford, for today's [Thursday] meets.

The Presidents will face Chelsea while the Raiders meet Medford in 2:30 meets.

Saturday both local squads will take part in the Coaches' Relays at Brockton. Next Tuesday at Medford it will be Quincy vs. Medford and North vs. Malden.

Last Tuesday's meets were the only league affairs scheduled for Quincy.

Coaches Tom Hall of Quincy and Bob Gentry of North, however, are trying to move the May 16 set to Quincy. The two local rivals clash on that date, final day of league competition. Quincy opened its season last week with a surprisingly easy 90-41 win over what is considered a strong Revere team. Revere is coming off an outstanding winter season but the Presidents' domination of the jumping events made things easy for them.

North won seven events including the relay but dropped a 74-57 decision to Somerville, rated one of the league powers this year.

Quincy swept the discus and 220. The 220 will be a strong point for some time to come as all three scorers are sophomores. In this event Pete Ramponi, Steve Oriola and Paul Riggs finished 1-2-3.

In the discus, Ed Marden, in his first meet, won, followed by sophomore Dave Sten and Frank Guido.

Mark MacLeod won in his first mile run. John Johnson won both the low hurdles and high jump, Bobby Ciano, unbeaten over three years in spring and winter track and cross country, won the half mile, Brian Feeney the two-mile, Bobby McDermott the high hurdles, Kevin Cox the long jump, Steve McCarthy the triple jump.

North Quincy's winners were Steve Leet, who got off the best shot put of the afternoon, 44 feet, 8½ inches; Jim Ziniti in the discus, Steve Little the triple jump, Paul Bonoli the half mile, Jack Reynolds the 100, Steve Cordeiro the javelin and the relay team of Dave Ashmanskas, Walt Collins, Bob McCormick and Reynolds. Reynolds started the anchor leg trailing by 10 yards and won by 10. He also took second in the high jump, McCormick was nipped in the mile despite a clocking of 4:54. Collins was third in the low hurdles and Ashmanskas second in the dash.

Denise Bereszniwicz, Shirley Lyons Koch Winners

Denise Bereszniwicz and Shirley Lyons received trophies for high average in the senior and termite divisions, respectively, at the Koch Club Girls bowling banquet at Sacred Heart School, North Quincy.

Miss Bereszniwicz finished the season with a 96.6 average to pace the seniors and Miss Lyon's finished at 84.9 to lead the "termites".

More than 300 bowlers and parents attended the awards ceremony and family-style turkey dinner.

Senior trophy winners include Judy Abbruzzese, second high average at 94.7; Joanne Flynn, third high average 93.8; Pat Monahan and Kathy Glennon, high three at 318.

Tricia Newcomb rolled the season's high single at 148 and Carol Falzone was second at 134.

Gail Gattorna finished second in the Termites scoring race at 93.2 followed by Debbie Alessi at 83.1.

Termite winners included Carol Sears with a high three of 301, Ann Cahill with the second high three at 295, Regina Chetwynd with a high single of 111 and Cindy Mahoney with a second high single at 108.

QJC Baseball Team Looms As Solid Title Contender

Last year the Quincy Junior College baseball team finished in a fourth place tie in the Mass. Junior College Conference but this spring Coach Dave Burke's team looms as a definite contender for the championship. QJC Monday belted Graham, 11-0, at O'Rourke Playground for its fourth straight easy conference win following an opening day non-league squeaker.

Today the Collejuns face a serious test as it puts its 5-0 record on the line against strong Wentworth in a conference game at O'Rourke. Friday they play at Chamberlayne in a non-league game and Tuesday host Bryant and Stratton in a league contest at O'Rourke.

"We have several returnees and a fine group of newcomers and it looks like a good year for us," Burke admitted. "We have more Quincy and North Quincy boys than usual and they are all doing well."

Monday Justin McCarthy pitched a two-hitter and was given good batting support as QJC collected 14 hits including a home run, triple and double by Tim Flynn, three hits by John Stevens and two each by Jack Flaherty and George Stuart.

Following a 1-0 squeaker over Chamberlayne in a non-league game on Pastor's no-hitter, QJC raced to three easy wins, all in the conference.

Last Saturday the Collejuns rolled over Franklin, 11-3, as Pastor pitched six-hit ball and didn't issue a walk. Flaherty and Flynn each had three hits, Foley a double and two runs batted in and Alibrandi a double.

In the previous game QJC walloped East Coast Aerotech, which this year replaced Newbury in the conference, 10-4. Donovan, making his first start, went four innings and received credit for the win and Pastor took over and pitched shutout ball the rest of the way, retiring 12 batters in a row before allowing his only hit.

Tobin, Flynn and Alibrandi all had triples to pace the attack.

Earlier the Quincy club overpowered defending conference champion Newton Jr. College, 18-6, pounding out 15 hits. Flaherty drove home five runs with two hits, Stevens had three hits, Foley a homer and double, Alibrandi, Stuart and Sullivan a double and single each and Flynn two singles. McCarthy pitched all the way and did a good job after a four-run first inning.

For pitchers Burke has Justin McCarthy, one of several service veterans on the squad; Bob Paster of North Quincy and Frank Petrilli of Quincy, all returnees, and Jim Donovan, also of North, a converted third baseman. He played well at third a year ago. Another promising hurler is North Quincy's Ron Vickers.

George Foley of Readville is the catcher and Paster, who caught in high school, will spell him behind the plate when not pitching.

Quincy's John Stevens is back at first base, Tim Flynn, last year's North Quincy High second baseman, is playing that spot, North's Tony Alibrandi is at short and hard hitting Jack Flaherty, one of last year's top North batters, is the third baseman.

Mrs. Ernestine Beyer Wins National Poetry Award

Mrs. Ernestine Cobern Beyer of Quincy has received the National League of American Penwomen's first prize award for her religious poem, "The Pool".

Mrs. Beyer, 78, poetess, writer, lecturer and former opera singer, accepted the award April 12 during a trip to Washington that included luncheons at the White House and Capitol.

Cong. James A. Burke of Milton read Mrs. Beyer's award-winning poem into the Congressional Record on April 13.

The daughter of an archeologist, Mrs. Beyer was "discovered" by an opera singer passing her house while she was singing with her housework.

After a brief formal training, she began a career as a coloratura soprano with the Metropolitan Opera, where she sang with Enrico Caruso under the name Maria Conde.

She retired from the opera when her husband became vice president of Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. of Boston.

Poetry then became her first love and she has also authored several children's books.

CITIZENS OF QUINCY WE FEEL THAT:

1. We are respectable members of our community who, with dignity and efficiency, supply the necessary fundamental work force of a 24-hour emergency equipped hospital. Negotiations for our new contract have been fruitless. Our proposal for a cost of living increase in wages has been rejected.
2. If a select few, including members of the Mayor's staff, receive a wage increase, it is unfair discrimination to deny less influential employees the same consideration.
3. Our pay does not come from the tax dollar but from the Quincy Hospital Department which operated at a net profit of $215,572.00 in 1971. Our efforts contributed to making this possible.
4. Our duties to the sick and suffering preclude the right to strike. We can only ask that we be dealt with fairly by the community we serve.

For February Storm

City Expects Nearly $200,000 In Flood Damage Rebate

The Office of Emergency Preparedness is expected to approve an application by the City of Quincy for nearly $200,000 in storm and flood damages incurred in the Feb. 18-20 storm.

The city's losses were in the form of tons of debris on beaches, road washouts, seawall damage, erosion of land, vehicle damage, sewer line breakdowns and rat infestation.

There were also leaks in the roofs of the Thomas Crane Library and Quincy City Hospital, homes to be pumped and 20 fibre election boxes ruined by salt water.

Temporary and emergency work totalled $117,642.34 and permanent work cost $77,370.10, according to Mayor Hannon.

Michael J. Vitagliano Jr. of the planning department has been working through the mayor's office with the O.E.P., Army Corps of Engineers, Environmental Protection Agency, Highway Administration and State Division of Waterways and Public Work to present the city's claim.

Although much of the work has been completed, the promise of these funds will mean the release of damage repair jobs for commencement, the Mayor said.

Congressional Leaders Pledge Fight For GD Ship Contracts

Sens. Kennedy and Brooke, Cong. James A. Burke and Cong. Louise Day Hicks have pledged to extend every effort towards expediting contracts for the General Dynamics Shipyard at Fore River.

In response to a recent telegram from the Quincy Taxpayers Association, the Massachusetts Congressmen informed QTA President Dr. Philip L. McCarthy of their efforts on behalf of the yard.

Cong. Burke said contracts for General Dynamics have been "very much in the forefront of my efforts since I have been in Congress."

Burke stressed the importance of the shipyard to the economy of Massachusetts and said he has met frequently with union, management, the Defense Department, and Navy officials to help find contracts.

Ed Martin of Sen. Kennedy's office phoned Dr. McCarthy and Sen. Brooke and Cong. Hicks sent telegrams indicating their support.

A telegram on the matter from the association to President Nixon remains unanswered.

Testimonial May 12 For Capt. John Wuerth

Quincy Lodge of Elks will hold a testimonial May 12 at the Elks Home for Capt. John E. Wuerth, head of the Quincy Police Personnel Department, who is retiring May 15 after 42 years service.

Clerk of Courts Dennis Ryan will be toastmaster. Guests will include Mayor Walter Hannon, Sen. Arthur Tobin, former Mayor James R. McIntyre and former City Manager Edward T. Lewis.

Capt. Wuerth joined the police force on May 15, 1930 and has been long active in Elks affairs.

He is Quincy chairman for the Elks National Foundation, which provides assistance for retired or homeless Elks.

The testimonial committee includes Jack Hennessey, Bob Furtado, Patrick Fitzgerald, Fred Parsons, Sterling Melver and several other lodge members.

"Everyone is working hard on the testimonial," Hennessey said, "because Capt. Wuerth is a wonderful guy who helps in many ways all the lodge functions and outings."

Clear Storm Debris By June 6

Mayor Hannon has asked all persons whose property has suffered sea-wall damage or debris accumulation in the Feb. 18 storm to contact Civil Defense at 472-6118.

Quincy has 90 days to clean up debris and repair sea-walls and roads under the Federal Disaster Assistance Program. The expiration date is June 6.

Black's Creek Clean-up Highlights Conservation Commission Program

The Quincy Conservation Commission will coordinate a clean-up of Black's Creek in the area of Fenno St. and Beechwood Knoll School May 6 through 13.

Boy Scouts, the Wollaston Park Association, Quincy Citizens Association, Beechwood Knoll Association and Merrymount Association will assist in Quincy's delayed observance of Conservation Week.

A display with photos and exhibits of commission workings is scheduled to be set up May 5 in the window of the Quincy Savings Bank.

Commission members toured the city May 1 to observe proposed construction sites and open space areas about which citizens have complained.

"Deploable conditions" were noted in the vicinity of Boston Harbor Marina in Squantum due to combustible materials and "boat graveyard" which members said constituted a fire and health hazard.

Also visited were the Jordan Marsh property, where illegal fill has been removed; the proposed MDC pump station site on East Squantum St., E. G. Leon Co. land on Sagamore Creek, Massachusetts Engineering property on West Squantum St. and J. A. Sullivan Co. land near Bay State Road.

The commission, aided by Boy Scouts and volunteers, began a clean-up around Black's Creek last week, removing large quantities of debris and trash from the Fenno St. area.

After the clean-up is finished, the area will be dedicated as Reuben and Lizzie Grossman Park.

Crossing Hancock Street

Now that the Celtics season is through and the Bruins playoffs are almost over, people are going to be looking hard for another spectator sport.

But the player's strike and the baleful banjo-hitting of the Red Sox have caused a colossal decline in local baseball interest.

So what's a body to do? Funny you should ask.

Our suggestion, if you're getting bored, is that you head down to Quincy Center almost any weekday afternoon and take in an exhibition game of Pedestrian Ping Pong on Hancock St.

Pedestrian ping pong is also known by the more primitive names of duck-the-truck, beat-the-bus and avoid-that-auto.

The rules are simple and any number can play.

All you have to do is set foot off the sidewalk on Hancock St. anywhere between Cottage Ave. and School St. and rely on your own courage and ingenuity to carry you to the opposite sidewalk.

The Quincy Square obstacle course is relatively short -- only about 60 feet -- but don't let its size fool you.

The free flow of traffic along the course constitutes a gauntlet worthy of the Mohican Indians, or the Perils of Pauline or at least a Boy Scout initiation.

Only a seasoned veteran can be expected to make it from sidewalk to sidewalk without at least one nose-to-bumper confrontation with a motorcycle, car, truck or bus.

Fortunately there hasn't been a serious injury to a pedestrian -- yet.

We hope something is done before a pedestrian is hurt.

There is virtually no regulation of traffic flow between the police officer usually stationed at Cottage Ave. and the lights at School and Elm Sts.

As a result, there is an almost non-stop line of vehicles parading along Hancock St., often at speeds too great for the area.

Free-flowing traffic constitutes a hazard to the pedestrian who must cross the main thoroughfare during his or her shopping day. And it is a hazard that could be avoided.

We suggest an officer be stationed at Revere Rd and Hancock St. at least periodically to give the shopper and downtown employee needed protection.

Mrs. Gladys Seraphinelli Becomes Quincy's First 'Assistant Doctor'

By DICK MATTULINA

Mrs. Gladys Seraphinelli of 209 Hobart St., Quincy, has become the first registered nurse in Quincy to attain the position of Nurse Clinician Practitioner.

Mrs. Seraphinelli, who has worked for Dr. Conrad Nobili at 34 Hancock Ct. for the past 18 years, was one of seven nurses chosen from a large field to attend the five-month course.

Classes were held at Harvard University and Massachusetts General Hospital to teach the nurses to assume many of the routine duties that occupy much of a physician's time.

The course trained Mrs. Seraphinelli and her fellow students to conduct routine physical examinations, care for chronic illnesses and help manage minor illnesses.

A nurse clinician practitioner is a sort of "assistant doctor", according to Dr. Nobili, who can help evaluate a patient's malady during examination and refer her findings to the physician.

"They are not trying to make physicians of the nurses," Dr. Nobili said. "A nurse practitioner serves as an aide to the doctor but all decisions and final evaluations are made by the physician."

Mrs. Seraphinelli said the new position will be helpful in the present shortage of doctors to allow quick diagnosis and treatment of minor illnesses for patients who might normally have to wait a day or more to see a doctor.

The five-month program covered mini-courses in anatomy, physiology and pharmacy and taught the nurses to handle the basic tools of the medical trade.

Mrs. Seraphinelli's class was the second of its kind under the auspices of Harvard's Department of Continuing Education and the Committee on Teaching and Education at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Nurse practitioners are working in clinics at Boston Hospitals, including the pediatric clinic at Carney Hospital.

Dr. Nobili lectured in the section of the course pertaining to allergies.

Brownell Asks For Clean-up Of Creek Woods

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has asked the MDC to include the wooded area along Furnace Brook Parkway near Wollaston Beach as a target for its May 6 beach clean-up.

In a letter to MDC Commissioner John W. Sears,

Brownell said the area has been "virtually ignored" by the agency for many years "with the result that it now badly needs a clean-up."

"The beauty of this last wooded area on the water's edge is now on the decline because of neglect," he said. "A cleanup effort in this area will do much, in my opinion, to restore its original beauty and vitality."

Z. Cranston Smith Re-Elected To Metropolitan Planning Council

Delahunt Urges Mayor Establish School Building Needs Committee

Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt has called upon Mayor Hannon to appoint a school building needs committee as recommended by the capital improvements committee.

"With a school building needs committee I believe we can plan far enough into the future so that the Quincy City Council will have adequate time to study all ramifications of the various construction projects which the school department plans to undertake," Delahunt said.

The committee would be unpaid, appointed by the mayor and comprised of residents from various parts of the city, according to recommendations.

Members would review periodically the space needs of the school department and would make recommendations to the mayor, city council and school committee on school department construction projects.

Special Features

the beauty of it all by barbara weber fashion and beauty director holiday magic, inc.

"Bravo the Normal Skin!"
What a blessing, the beautifully textured, rarely-a-problem skin we call normal!
You who've been blessed with it rarely have a breakout, almost never have too much or too little oil, and hardly ever suffer from a dry, taut feeling. Your skin behaves itself with just a little regular care from you!

You've got a wide range of skin care preparations to choose from. You can use cream, washing cream or liquid cleansers—even soap if it works for you. You can use a facial scrub or mask every week or so—that's your ounce of prevention, remember? Since your skin reproduces itself about once a month, these sloughers and tighteners help it along.

And for creams—moisture cream should be a daily thing. Since it doesn't deal with the oils in your skin, but with the moist, youthful-looking glow of your complexion, you'll want to form the habit of using it regularly before make-up. Also use a rich oil for the eye area nightly.

Night cream can be a sometime-thing... whenever conditions change and your skin seems to need extra lubrication.

The care you give your skin should be just as regular, just as painstaking as the care your oily- and dry-skinned sisters must give theirs. After all, you want to keep your normal complexion, and a little extra effort goes a long, lovely way!

The Now Washbasket

By Joyce Champion

Although white nylon underthings have been on the market for many years, women still write in with this question: "How can I keep them white?"

By proper care nylons, the toughest of the man-made fabrics, not only can be kept white and fresh, but they can be re-whitened after they turn yellow.

First, wash them only with other white things. White nylons can readily pick up colors. Use warm to hot water and a gentle wash cycle with detergent and a borax additive, like Boratene, which deodorizes the garments and keeps them relatively odor free during the next wearing.

By comparison colored nylons should be washed in warm water, also at the gentle cycle setting. This will hold the colors fast.

A fabric softener in the rinse water will help eliminate the cling caused by static electricity.

Delicate, silk-like nylon blouses should be washed in warm water (120° F.), using a gentle cycle. Touch up ironing, if necessary, should be at a low temperature.

To return nylons to their original whiteness soak them in hot water, using a packaged color remover. And follow the directions on the package diligently.

(For a free copy on the informative booklet, "The NOW Washbasket", write to Miss Joyce Champion, Manager of Home Economics, U.S. Borax, P.O. Box 76878, Los Angeles, California 90005.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

Do you realize that...
Your child sees approximately 5,000 food commercials a year on television?

And what do they advertise?
Do you realize that the magazines your child leafs through contain even more food ads? And what do they feature?

Take a minute to make a survey. Bet you'll find that most food advertisements concentrate on the convenience, the unnecessary, the empty-caloried foods that everyone could get along without. That's why they have to be advertised!

Now what's a mother to do? You have to be the educator as well as the parent in food matters. You can't nag, ever! There's no surer way to childhood resistance than maternal insistence. You can't disparage the junk your child is seduced into asking for in all the ads.

You have to be able to explain that there are other better alternatives in an appealing way: For this afternoon's snack, why not fill the cookie jar with these?

'It's Important To Be Human'

A few years ago a friend gave me a framed motto which read..."It's more important to be human than it is to be important." It hung on my waiting room wall for many years...until one day it was missing. Someone had removed it...and on the wall where it hung was written in pencil..."It's also human to steal." I have hoped that the person who took my motto is benefitting from it as much as I did.

The greatest thing that a person can be is human...not "I'm only human" as an excuse for weakness...but "I am human" as a commitment for strength. There really are no super-humans among us. When a person claims to be superior over other persons because of color...nationality...religion...that's just using one's humanity as an excuse for bigotry. When a moralistic parent tells an 18 year old daughter..."if you get pregnant don't come back to this house"...I would remind that parent that right when your daughter needs you most you have forgotten that "it's more important to be human" than to care what your neighbors and so-called friends will think. The refusal to be honest...to accept our own and other people's humanity doesn't make one super-human...it makes one phony. It's important to be human.

Some try to live on a sub-human level. These are the people who do not love themselves...hold a low opinion of themselves...apologize for living. How difficult for a wife to live with a husband who doesn't think of himself as a human male...or for a husband to live with a wife who doesn't think of herself as a human female. Neither pretending to be super-human...nor sub-human can give meaning to life...it's only important to be human.

What makes us really human? Try these on for size. First...to be human is to love. When one loves one feels...feels sensitive to the needs and feelings of other persons...is aware of the beauties and pleasures of the world we live in. One who loves gets close to other persons...wants to be fully known by at least one other person...feels free to trust...to relate...to share life. Loving makes one human.

Secondly...to be human is to reason...TO THINK. It's human to have problems...it's human to wrestle through to solutions...to new levels of achievement. Humans are problem solving creatures. To wish for no problems is to wish to be dead. Reasoning makes one human.

Now you see why marriage is a human institution. It calls for loving and reasoning. Marriage goes on the rocks when either love or reason is missing. Passion without reason won't put bread on the table. Reason without passion is like living with a machine. There must be the balance between love and reason.

If you've struck that fine balance between love and reason...you've got it made...because you've learned to be human.

FOR YOUR COMMENTS: For private counseling...For group therapy...you may write Dr. Knox care of the Quincy Sun or call 545-5947 or 326-5990.

'Ideas That Irritate' Series Starts Sunday At United First Parish

A new series of Sunday morning addresses on "Ideas That Irritate" will open with "The Need to Be Unsaved" by Pastor John R. Graham at United First Parish Church May 7.

"What with all the problems that surround our lives as well as the chaos in our society, it's natural that gimmicks and programs are readily offered to 'save' us from our misery," Mr. Graham said.

Salvation "is being packaged for us in new and interesting ways. The automobile offers a form of salvation as does the government," he said.

"It's about time we stopped and let it be known that the biggest problem facing us is learning how to be 'unsaved'."

Wollaston Theatre Going Strong After 48 Years Of Operation

The International Rock Opera Company rolled into the Wollaston Theatre April 30 with a concert production of "Jesus Christ Superstar".

It was no surprise that the show was a success and the idea of a stage show is nothing new to the Wollaston Theatre.

The 1,150-seat auditorium was built in 1924 to house legitimate theater productions and was the home stage during the 1920's and 1930's for the Wollaston Community Players. A South Shore entertainment landmark, the theatre has operated continuously for 48 years dating back to the era of silent movies, Charlie Chaplin, Rudolph Valentino, Theda Bara, Douglas Fairbanks Sr., Lon Chaney, Mary Pickford, etc.

Hollywood's hey day caused owner Edward Sears to install a screen in the hall, but the original stage drops, dressing rooms and chandeliers were left intact.

So the Wollaston Theatre has been the scene of many stage performances during the era of the movie, including this year's Community Auditions program for the United Commercial Travelers and a George Jessel - Tiny Tim show for the Quincy Police Association. Manager Robert D. Keyes said he and Mr. Sears' widow, Mrs. Harriet W.

Sears of Elm Ave., Wollaston, hope to bring many live performances to the auditorium in addition to the weekly movie fare.

Keyes, 40, heads the staff of 12 ushers, ticket takers and concession workers at the theater which shows one double-feature each week night with matinees on Saturday and Sunday.

He was born in Boston, graduated from Boston University, spent four years in the Air Force during the Korean Conflict and became manager of the theatre seven years ago.

He and his wife, the former Nancie Dray, have six children, Debbie, Jacquelyn, Robert Jr., Jeffrey, Brian and Jessica.

Keyes is a member of the United Commercial Travelers, North Quincy Knights of Columbus, Wollaston Business and Professional Association and Wollaston American Legion.

Harold R. Davis Candidate For Register Of Probate

Quincy School Committeeman Harold R. Davis today announced his candidacy for the office of Norfolk County Register of Probate.

In his announcement Mr. Davis declared:

"I have thoroughly enjoyed my position on the Quincy School Committee and intend to serve out my full four year term on the Committee which of course is a non-paying position. However, I now wish to become a full time public servant in order to devote my energies to improving the quality of the life of all citizens.

"For some time I was undecided as to whether I should seek the Democratic nomination for the position of Register of Probate. I intend, to conduct a positive campaign in order to inform the voters as to what I would do as the Norfolk County Register of Probate.

"The average citizen usually only has contact with the Probate Court during a time of sorrow such as the death of a loved one or when seeking a divorce. Therefore, in addition to the normal record keeping functions of the Registry I would hope to more positively assist individuals who call upon the services of this office.

"In addition I believe that more should be done by the Register to educate lawyers and the general public with respect to changes in the law. In short I believe that the Register of Probate can be a true public servant and not merely a bureaucrat."

Attorney Davis is a life long resident of Quincy and was educated at Thayer Academy in Braintree and received his A.B. degree magna cum laude in history from Bowdoin College.

HAROLD R. DAVIS

In 1969 he received his Juris Doctor law degree from the Georgetown University Law Center.

Mr. Davis was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1969. He is a member of the American, Massachusetts, Boston and Norfolk County Bar Association. He is presently associated with a large Boston law firm.

In 1970 Mr. Davis served as a campaign coordinator for Senator Edward M. Kennedy. Mr. Davis was elected to the Quincy School Committee in 1971, receiving the highest number of votes ever received by a candidate for that position in the City of Quincy. He was recently elected to the Democratic Ward One Committee in Quincy. In addition to his duties as a School Committeeman, Mr. Davis is on the Executive Board of the State Young Democrats. He is also a member of the School Health Committee of the Southeastern Chapter of the Massachusetts Heart Association.

Mr. Davis was recently married to the former Kathleen Smith of Quincy. Mr. and Mrs. Davis reside on Presidents Lane in Quincy.

Only Collapse Can Keep QJC From Title

It will take a complete collapse by the Quincy Junior College baseball team to keep it from winning the Mass. Jr. College Conference championship.

Dave Burke's Collejuns took a 5-0 conference record and 7-0 overall mark into last Tuesday's conference game against Bryant and Stratton. Friday QJC hosts Newton Jr. College, defending conference champ, at O'Rourke Playground at 3:30 and next Tuesday winds up the regular season against Wentworth in a 3 o'clock game at Harvard University.

Quincy continued to roll with two wins last week, pounding Chamberlayne, 14-5, in a non-conference game stopped after five innings, after nipping Wentworth, 2-0, in a conference game.

In the Chamberlayne romp

QJC had 14 hits, including several by reserves who received a chance to start. Tim Flynn had a triple and double, Frank Niles a double and single, George Foley a double and single, Jack Flaherty and Jim Donovan two singles each.

Donovan pitched all the way for his second win, giving up eight hits and striking out seven.

In the Wentworth win Bob Pastor pitched a four-hit shutout for his third win, including a no-hitter in his first game. He struck out five and walked two and was given some fine defensive support, especially by shortstop Tony Alibrandi.

QJC scored in the first and fifth innings. Alibrandi singled home Flaherty in the first and Flaherty singled in Ned Tobin, who had doubles, in the fifth.

Quincy, Raiders Jolted

The Greater Boston League baseball championship is up for grabs this spring with just about any one of the teams having a chance at it.

Malden jolted Quincy and North Quincy hopes as it handed Quincy its second league setback last Friday and then North dropped its third league decision to the Golden Tornado on Monday, 6-4. The Raiders previously had been shocked by Chelsea, 6-5.

Incidentally, Chelsea, a league doormat for years, previously surprised Somerville, 9-3, for its first win over the Highlanders since 1965.

Yesterday Quincy and North collided for the first time in a big one for both teams. Today Quincy hosts Medford in a game postponed Monday due to the sudden death of the Medford track captain, halting all Medford activities for a few days.

Friday it will be Chelsea at North at 1:15 p.m., and Quincy at Revere, Monday Revere at North and Quincy at Everett and next Wednesday Chelsea at Quincy and North at Somerville.

North got off to a good start with two runs in the first inning at Malden on home runs by Bob Morton and Tom Burke but Malden came back with three in its half. North tied it in the fourth but the home team scored three more to clinch it. North had only five hits and the last three were not well stroked.

Richie Carroll started pitching but lasted only two-thirds of an inning. Bob McKay pitched well for 3 2/3 innings but the most pleasant surprise was Morton's pitching over the last four innings.

"It was Bob's longest and most impressive outing and he will see a lot more action on the mound for the rest of the year," Coach Charlie Bunker said.

Quincy last week went from the sublime to the ridiculous on successive days.

The Presidents unleashed a 21-hit attack to pulverize Chelsea, 21-4, supposedly the most runs scored in a game by Quincy at least in the last 10 years.

But they wish they had saved some of those runs because the next day they were blanked by Malden, 6-0.

To say the outburst pleased Basiliere, especially after the club had experienced batting difficulties, is putting it mildly and he was also enthused by the performance of several reserves.

"It is good to see the boys explode that way and I just hope it continues," Basiliere said. "And it is good to see some of the kids on the bench come through. Defensively we had been having our troubles also, but today we made just one error."

Jimmy Walker had four hits, Bob Malvesti, Mike Marville and John Caron three each, while seven players had one hit, including a grand slam home run by Bob Brill.

Malvesti did the pitching and scattered nine hits, having only one bad inning, the fourth, in which Chelsea scored three times.

It was a different story against Malden as sophomore Buddy Demontier held the Presidents to six well-scattered hits, struck out seven and walked only two.

"That kid is the best pitcher I've seen so far this year," Basiliere observed. To show how the youngster scattered the hits, four of them came singly in the last four innings.

Brill and Bob Lane were treated harshly by Malden but Walker did well in two innings of relief.

Dennis Marville had two hits, the only President to have more than one.

Meanwhile, North Quincy enjoyed an explosion of its own as it pounded out 19 hits to murder Everett, 18-7.

The outburst included two home runs by Tom Burke and one by big Jim Driscoll. Burke drove in seven runs with four hits, while Bob Torino and Bob Pierce had three each.

Pierce, though not nearly as sharp as in his one-hitter over Medford, was the starting and winning pitcher and earned his fourth win, which was the Raiders' total for the year up to that time. He gave way to Bob Morton.

North Jayvees Edge Malden

Coach Jack Bowes' North Quincy junior varsity baseball team defeated Malden Monday to give it the same record as the varsity club, 4-3.

Bowes has received outstanding performances from several players including Mike

Devin, a fine catcher; pitchers Bob Parker and Steve McLaughlin; Paul Cuniff and Bob McCabe, the top batters, and Reggie Sandofer, who does well at third, first base and pitching.

Quincy Girls Softball Team Hard Hitting Gang Of Gals

The Quincy and North Quincy girls softball teams got underway last week and it appears that Mary Pratt's team is headed for another banner season.

Quincy opened by clobbering Brookline, 20-3, and followed up with a 13-3 win over North Quincy.

In the romp over Brookline Margaret Ryan paced an 18-hit attack with a home run, two doubles and a single while pitchers Debbie Congdon and Bonnie Seeley held Brookline to eight hits. Quincy's defensive stars were Donna Brickley, Marilyn Silverstein and Betsy Witt.

Against North Quincy, which has a new coach in Cheryl Manoli, Quincy clinched the win with six runs in the second inning. Donna Brickley's triple highlighted this inning, while Miss Congdon drove in three runs with a fifth inning home run. Lori DeCoste and Nancy Cappadona had two hits apiece in the 13-hit offensive.

Miss Congdon spotted the Raiderettes two runs in the first inning, but with relief help again from Miss Seeley, blanked North until the final inning.

Friday North hosts Malden and next Thursday will be home to Quincy.

North Takes Three Quincy Drops Two

North Quincy's tennis teams were 21-5 over the last two years and Bill Willoughby's Raiders are off to another fast start with three wins in a row.

North opened with a 3-2 non-league win over Weymouth North as Kevin McGinley and Roger Paratt won singles matches and Dave Duvall and Kevin McElaney rallied for the key doubles win.

The Raiders followed with a 5-0 sweep over Catholic Memorial in their opening game of the new Independence League as McGinley, Tom BeHenna and Paratt swept the singles and Duvall and McElaney, Paul O'Malley and Larry Dyer took both doubles matches.

Quincy lost to Xaverian, 5-0. North then topped Quincy, 3-2, in a league game as BeHenna and Paratt won singles matches, Duvall and McElaney doubles. Quincy's Pat Dempsey was a singles winner while Ken Slate and Jordan Manfredro won their doubles match.

Today [Thursday] Quincy hosts Catholic Memorial and North is at Abp. Williams. Monday Quincy is home to Weymouth South, Tuesday Quincy entertains Abp. Williams and North is home to B.C. High. Next Thursday it will be Quincy at Xaverian and Catholic Memorial at North.

North will face Hyde Park again next Monday at Wollaston. Quincy will meet Boston Tech Friday at Furnace Brook and will play at Boston England next Tuesday.

Among the North Quincy players are Tim O'Leary, Bruce Hendriksen, Bob Sullivan, Joe Barkas, Jeff Burrell, Carl Leone and John Flynn.

Joseph Graziani To Run For County Treasurer

Joseph G. Graziani Jr., 39, Milton Town Treasurer, is a Democratic candidate for Norfolk County Treasurer in the September state primary.

Mr. Graziani has been Milton Town treasurer since 1964 and during that time has administered approximately $125 million, including the processing of 13 bond issues.

He is also treasurer of the Federal Emergency Employment Act of 1971, which involves handling funds for the 24 Norfolk County towns in the Milton Consortium.

For five years prior to his election as town treasurer, he was a Municipal Examiner for the Bureau of Accounts for the Massachusetts Department of Corporation and Taxation, auditing the accounts of cities, towns and counties in Massachusetts.

Mr. Graziani said he believes, his experience as a town treasurer administering municipal funds, as an accountant auditing municipal accounts and as custodian of a town retirement fund gives him "a unique and excellent preparation for the similar duties of the county treasurer."

"For the past 13 years," he said, "I have been involved in making decisions concerning municipal financing, accounting and law. My re-election eight times as Town Treasurer is proof of the confidence the voters of Milton have in my ability to administer large amounts of money efficiently, responsibly and honestly."

Mr. Graziani was born in Milton, graduated from Milton High School and received a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration with a major in Accounting, from Northeastern University in 1958. He has done graduate work and has taken a number of courses in Municipal Financing at Boston College. He has also studied municipal government at Babson Institute.

How To Have A Baby Boy

In an area of Western New England, along the Mersey River, boy babies far outnumber girls. Normally, statisticians expect the ratio to be 106 boys to 100 girls. But along the Mersey, the ratio began changing some years ago and in 1962 it zoomed up to 124 boys for every 100 girls.

An Australian scientist, William Lyster, discovered that the content of the area's water supply changed in 1938. At that time, an engineering project drained an old mineral-rich mining region near the Mersey. Almost immediately there was an increased male birthrate.

So, for those parents who want a boy child, perhaps they could add the drinking of mineral-rich water along with the other unorthodox methods running from poitens to prayer. Of course, none of these methods has been what you would call reliable or proven (or even recommended). But it is interesting.

Money is meaningless without good health. So, even if you're a sick millionaire, have your chauffeur drive you to NABORHOOD REXALL PHARMACY, 406 Hancock St., North Quincy or call PR 3-6426 for fast, prescription service. You can also pay your electric or telephone bills or use our notary public service. Hospital equipment and supplies for rent or sale. Prescription, tax and insurance records kept plus 24 hour emergency service in North Quincy. Open 7 days a week from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

'No Basis For Allegations'

Council Subcommittee Clears Water Department

A city council subcommittee has found no basis for Mayor Hannon's charges of theft, drunkenness and excessive absenteeism on the Quincy Water Department staff.

In a report submitted to Council President Arthur H. Tobin, the panel found:

- No "basis for the allegation of excessive drunkenness while on duty."

- That "the allegation of theft has no foundation."

- That department workers are to be commended "for the quantity and quality of work performed with such an undermanned working force."

"We are of the unanimous opinion that the personnel of this department are honest, hard-working and good family men," the report read.

Because of its deadline, The Sun was unable to obtain comment from Mayor Hannon on the report.

Serving on the investigation panel were Ward 4 Councillor Albert R. Barilaro, Chairman Investigating Committee; Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth, Chairman Public Works Committee; Ward 1 Councillor Edward S. Graham, Ward 2 Councillor Clifford H. Marshall and Councillor-at-Large Joseph J. LaRaia.

Committee members said the department work force consists of 39 men, 7 meter readers and two inspectors covering three shifts a day, seven days a week.

"As of April 13 there were 13 vacancies in this department," according to the report and "it has been most difficult to fill these vacancies for many years."

The committee found that many eligible applicants are hesitant to accept jobs on the department and workers often request transfers to other departments because of the nature of the work.

"An examination of the department roster indicated a great deal of absenteeism due to sickness and the legitimate use of sick time," the report said.

Employees who exceeded their allotted sick time were not paid for time away from work.

Councillors mentioned "one individual" who "constantly refuses to cooperate" and recommended that the problem be corrected on an individual basis.

"During several administrations, some personnel have had a drinking problem which has been reported to three different mayors and three commissioners of public works."

"The worst offenders, however, severed their services many years ago," the committee said.

Councillors said "the motive for stealing is not prevalent" because the department does not carry a valuable inventory and there has been no breaking, entering or thievery in eight years.

Sunbeams

By HENRY BOSWORTH

As we've said before, there's never a dull moment in politics.

The Speculation Corps-always looking ahead-is wondering if there could be some interesting political checkerboard moves next year. Like this:

Norfolk County Sheriff Charles Hedges has indicated this is his last term. Positively. So, the badge goes up for grabs in the 1974 county election.

Democrats have been capturing all the major county offices in the past few years and there's a whole line of them waiting in the wings now to run for sheriff.

Republicans want to hold onto this last GOP stronghold.

The Speculation Corps figures that Hedges might bow out in 1973 instead so that Gov. Sargent can appoint another Republican to the post. This would give the latter more strength as an "incumbent" in the 1974 election.

And guess who they think could get the appointment: Mayor Walter Hannon, a close friend of Hedges.

Of course, if that happened, Hannon would step down as mayor and City Council President Arthur Tobin would become acting mayor until the city election in the fall of 1973. Then Tobin would run for a regular two-year term.

Well?

Only thing wrong with that figuring right now is that Hedges is telling friends he definitely will finish out his term.

And City Hall insiders say that Hannon insists he has no intentions of being a one-term mayor.

And, would Hannon really want to be sheriff?

But, never a dull moment.

SPEAKING of Tobin, there's a "Birthday Salute" planned for him May 21 at the Charter House Motor Hotel, Braintree. From 5 to 7 p.m. [He'll be 42].

***

FRIENDS reportedly are urging Dean Nicastro to make a bid for state representative in Wards 2 and 3.

Nicastro topped those two wards in his unsuccessful bid for School Committee last fall. But those really close to him, say he wouldn't run against his Quincy Point neighbor, Rep. Clifford Marshall. If Marshall, for some reason, doesn't seek re-election, Nicastro would go.

But you can be pretty sure Nicastro will be back in political action next year. And probably as a councillor-at-large candidate.

***

SCHOOL Committeeman Francis McCauley, former city councillor, is bowing out as treasurer of the Quincy Republican City Committee. His school committee and business duties are requiring more and more of his time.

The GOP Committee will hold its elections May 18 at the Quincy Sons of Italy Social Hall.

Thomas Blacklock is running for re-election as chairman but reportedly may have some opposition.

***

TOGETHERNESS: Bernard Moore, manager membership services for the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce, and his wife, Maureen, share the same birth date-May 3. And, they also met on a May 3rd. Have been married since 1965 and have three boys.

***

DISPUTE: In his announcement as a candidate for Norfolk County Register of Probate last week, School Committeeman Harold Davis noted he received "the highest" vote ever as a Quincy School Committee candidate.

Not so, says former School Committee Vice-Chairman James McCormick, now running for Norfolk County treasurer. McCormick says he twice piled up much higher votes than that.

[City Hall records agree. Davis received 16,396 votes last year. McCormick got 19,073 in 1963 and 19,174 in 1959.]

THE SIGHTS YOU see when your cameraman isn't around: A white convertible [black top] parked in the wrong direction, beside a yellow painted curbstone, under a no parking sign on Hancock St. across from Sears. And the driver managed to get back to the car and drive off before a meter maid found him. [You should have such luck!]

Full Text Of Subcommittee Findings

Following is the complete text of the City Council's sub-committee which investigated Mayor Walter Hannon's allegations against the Water Department. The report appears as it was sent to Council President Arthur Tobin.

The following report is respectfully submitted by a Sub-Committee of the Council's Public Works Committee concerning Mayor Walter Hannon's allegations against the Water Department. The Committee consisted of Councillors Barilaro, Graham, Marshall, LaRaia and Smyth.

The table of organization for the Water Department consists of thirty-nine men, seven meter readers and two inspectors. [This Committee did not concern itself with the office staff.] As of April 13th, there were thirteen vacancies in this Department. It has been most difficult to fill these vacancies for many years. Because of the nature of its work, eligible applicants from certified Civil Service lists are reluctant to accept employment in this vital department. It is not uncommon for men to request a transfer from the Water Department to another City Agency because of the type of duty.

The Committee both recognizes and commends the personnel of this department for the quantity and quality of work performed with such an undermanned working force. The department works seven days a week covering three shifts [including Saturday, Sunday and holidays].

An examination of the department roster indicated a great deal of absenteeism due to sickness and the legitimate use of sick time. The personnel who exceeded their accumulated sick time in any given year [January to December] were not paid for their time away from work. Absenteeism, whether in private business or government, places a greater work burden on the other personnel. This factor varies in degree in all classes of industry. The problem should be studied and corrected on an individual basis. One individual in this department constantly refuses to cooperate. This same man has been caught sleeping on the job and reprimanded for this action.

During several administrations, some personnel have had a drinking problem, which has been reported to three different Mayors and three Commissioners of Public Works. The worst offenders, however, severed their services many years ago. The Committee did not find any basis for the allegation of excessive drunkenness while on duty. It was pointed out that if a man reported for work in this condition, he was sent home for the day. Drinking is a social problem and sickness of our society. This disease is prevalent in all types of business and in all classes of society. We are of the unanimous opinion that the personnel of this Department are honest, hard working and good family men. The quality and quantity of work was not regressive.

The allegation of theft has no foundation. The Water Department does not carry an inventory with a high dollar value and therefore the motive for stealing is not prevalent. Approximately eight or nine years ago, a break was reported in the Penn Street garage. Chief Ferrazi investigated this incident and could find no basis of stealing from the Water Department employees. Since this time, there has been no incident: of either breaking, entering or thievery.

In conclusion, the Committee recommends the installation of two-way radios in the department trucks for greater efficiency.

An in-depth study is now being conducted concerning the purchase of water meters. Visits to national manufacturers of water meters by the Council are now being arranged. Completion of this study and report will be submitted before council recesses for the summer months.

SMALL BUSINESS "Turns on our Economy" is the theme of the poster and proclamation declaring May 14-20 National Small Business Week. With Mayor Hannon is Mrs. Rosemarie Scott of Hingham, associate regional director for General Business Services.

Poet's Corner

MOTHER'S DAY

A beautiful month is May Especially, the Second Sunday,
When its "beauty was enhanced."

With a Special proclamation,
From the President ...
Woodrow Wilson, on May 8, 1914

Decreed a national display,
Of the American flag, a public
Dedication and expression of
Our love and reverence for Mothers of our country;
where

Its touching influence and Gratitude has spread to All churches throughout.

Unique and special are Mothers.

For they have the power to Yield productive, moral and Spiritual characters in their Treasured offsprings ...
All this leads to good Citizenship, a credit and a Blessing to all Humanity.

However -- in the midst of the World's whirl-go-round
Some people come to the Realization of their L-a-c-k:
Tender consideration, in All areas of the Heart.
Home ties, the feeble, for Mothers who abide afar, and
For those who have drifted
In the land of the oblivion.

The purpose of this Holiday's
Observance, is to make us Aware of our selfishness and Dignify them with gifts of Love, words of appreciation,
Acts of kindness, letters, or Pink and White Carnations,
Their floral emblem ...
Standing for sweetness,
Purity and endurance.

Show--that you care--
Before it's too late, or You'll regret it forever ...
A "life time" have they Poured of their Love,
Service and Sacrifice.
Surely--you can afford--
"... REMEMBRANCE ..."
One Day of the Year.

Anna T. Anderson, Quincy

NEAT—Cotton canvas takes naturally to the crisp, tailored lines of spring's safari suit. The long-sleeved jacket is trimly belted over cuffed shorts. By Trifles.

BLACK'S BACK — And it shows up best in sumptuous fabrics like cotton velveteen, shaped here into a super newsboy look. An embroidered star adds extra sparkle to the quilted vest.

Duckling—A New Barbecue Treat

Try a new idea for your patio parties this season—Barbecued Duckling.

It's easy to prepare and elegant to serve.

Roasted on a spit or in a covered barbecue unit, duckling has an exceptional savoriness that will be relished by your guests. Duckling is available all year in supermarket frozen meat display cases. For your convenience, the National Duckling Council suggests that you always keep a brace of fresh frozen duckling in your freezer.

Spit Roasted Duckling

1 frozen duckling (4½ to 5 pounds) defrosted
½ teaspoon salt

Wash and drain duckling. Pat dry with paper toweling. Sprinkle neck and body cavities with salt. Skewer neck skin to back. Truss duck compactly. Tie wings against breast. Tie legs together loosely, looping cord around tail. Insert rotisserie spit lengthwise through duck cavities on a slight angle; balance and tighten holding prongs. Roast on rotisserie over moderate to low heat until meat on drumstick is tender, about 3 hours. Yield: 3 to 4 servings.

SPRING-FRESH—Cotton in an airy saffron and white pattern dramatizes the traditional charm of a country tieback curtains that frame handsome window shades of tawny gold. A handsome 18th Century chest is set between the French door-windows to become part of the conversation group.

Week of May 11-14

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - If the budget can stand it, this may be the opportune time to give up that extra income so you can relax for the summer.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Giving up and taking the easy way out isn't always the answer - but right now it may be the only thing you can do.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - You've stirred the pot long enough - now you can step into the background and watch the fireworks to see if it was worth it.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - If you've been indiscreet, now's the time to call the whole thing off - act quickly before you change your mind.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - A good-week to pay off one big bill that's been bothering you - do it quietly and without fanfare.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - Don't worry about the party being called off, there will be plenty of other invitations for you to accept this month.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - You'll have to be extra careful in your selection of a summer wardrobe this year - the sexy, daring styles seem to appeal to you now.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Beware of an emotional explosion this week and the ending of a love affair. Travel could be exciting this month.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - You can talk someone out of calling it quits this week whether it be on the job, in the home, or elsewhere.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - You'd like to just sit on the sidelines and watch the activity but your good sense is needed and should be offered.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Watch your blood pressure this week as there are a lot of things going on over which you have no control. Frustration builds.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - You've entered a period of new starts now and slow, steady progress should be your aim as you reorganize your life.

It's In To Be Thin

Director, The Diet Workshop

Spring is definitely springing... and are you ready to get with it and get out and get doing?

Is it lack of energy that's got you down? Can you sprint down the sidewalk after your speedy four-year-old, or do you wheeze and puff in a vain effort to overtake him?

Your energy is directly related to what you eat. Eating in quantity will weigh you down, and you'll never get off the blocks in any sprint. Eating in quality, well-balanced and nutritious foods, will give you the pep and vitality to see you through the maddest of footraces.

So if you know you need to readjust your way of eating, get ready...get set...go! The day is now. Let's get you off and running.

Begin with this recipe that is a "for free". Use it as a salad, a relish, a snack, an unlimited vegetable. However you eat it, it is delicious and safe from a calorie adding standpoint.

MARINATED SAUERKRAUT

1 One-pound can Sauerkraut
1/3 cup Cider Vinegar
1/4 cup chopped Celery
1/4 cup chopped Sweet Red Roasted Peppers [canned]
4 Packages Sweet 'N Low

1/4 Teaspoon Onion Salt
1/4 cup chopped Green Pepper

Make brine from Sweet 'N Low, vinegar, salt and pepper. Combine all other ingredients and add brine. Let stand several hours before serving.

It's a zesty treat that adds zest to the eater because it adds not an ounce to the frame. You can't hibernate in springtime when all the world is coming out into the open. You'll have to expose your arms, your legs, your body to the light of day, just as Nature intended.

A sensible eating style will melt winter's leftover fat drifts. It will rejuvenate your energy supplies. It will make this spring's blossoming your brightest and loveliest so far. When you feel better, you feel better about yourself, you act better and you are better fun to be with!

Fingernail Clues

When a newborn infant is sick, its frailty makes needed diagnostic tests impractical or even risky. But even a premature baby can have its fingernails clipped. And doctors have found that analyzing the clippings can help them diagnose several major disorders.

Most important of these are anemias and growth abnormalities linked to protein malnutrition. Analysis of fingernail clippings has shown that there is a great difference in the nitrogen content of the clippings taken from a healthy and sick baby.

The technique is still experimental, but doctors at the University of Alabama predict that it will, one day, replace the more difficult method of taking samples of internal tissue.

"If malnutrition is diagnosed early", say the medical researchers, "we can often help the baby catch up. But if his malnutrition extends too long, he cannot be rehabilitated."

Money is meaningless without good health. So, even if you're a sick millionaire, have your chauffeur drive you to NABORHOOD REXALL PHARMACY, 406 Hancock St., North Quincy or call PR 3-6426 for fast, prescription service. You can also pay your electric or telephone bills or use our notary public service. Hospital equipment and supplies for rent or sale. Prescription tax and insurance records kept plus 24 hour emergency service in North Quincy. Open 7 days a week from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

No Job Too Big Or Too Small For Wollaston's Pemberton Roofing

The late Norman W. Pemberton opened a small roofing company in Wollaston on March 13, 1913, catering to the homeowner and small building contractors.

As the organization approaches its 60th anniversary, Norman W. Pemberton Inc., at 141 Newport Ave., employs some 40 workers on projects ranging from home roofing to the Pilgrim Station nuclear plant in Plymouth.

One of Pemberton's early projects was roofing the shop of a Wollaston ice cream dealer named Howard Johnson.

The relationship has continued through the years as Pemberton has installed many of the familiar bright orange roofs on Howard Johnson restaurants across the country.

And a crew will be heading for Georgia within the next two weeks to put the top on the latest HoJo's there.

Work in progress for Pemberton includes the new Chalet Motel on Morrissey Blvd., the Armstrong Cork office building in Braintree, and 1000 Southern Artery.

Mr. Pemberton's son Brigham took charge of the business after graduating from North Quincy High School and attending Wentworth University.

Brig Pemberton is a member of the Kiwanis Club, Quincy Master Builders Association and a Navy veteran of the Korean War.

He is married to the former Louise Charbonneau and the father of five children, Penny, Becky, Julie, Cindy and Billie.

Vice President of Pemberton Roofing is Sam Volpe of 59 Rawson Rd, Wollaston, a veteran of 26 years with the company.

Volpe is a graduate of Quincy Trade School and the Armed Forces Institute and served with the Marine Corps during World War II.

He is past commander of Bryan VFW Post, a member of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association and North Quincy Knights of Columbus. He and his wife, the former Pearl Parady, have two children, Donna and Paul.

Harold McCarthy of 26 Plover Rd, Adams Shore, is executive vice president and has worked for the company for the past 25 years.

He is a graduate of North Quincy High School, a Marine Corps veteran and a member of the Quincy Fathers Club and South-Shore Master Builders Association.

McCarthy is married to the former Audrey Aikens and the father of three children, Gail, Karen and Steven.

Norman W. Pemberton Inc. is a member of the National Roofing Contractors Association and the New England Approved Roofers Association and is registered as a bonded roofer for all leading material manufacturers.

'Ninety-First Psalm' Cantata May 21 At Wollaston Congregational

The "Ninety-First Psalm," an original cantata written by Edward B. Whittredge of Milton, will be presented May 21 at 4 p.m. at Wollaston Congregational Church, Winthrop and Lincoln Aves., Wollaston.

Choir members from the Wollaston Baptist and Wollaston Methodist Churches will combine with the choir of the Wollaston Congregational Church to present this cantata.

Even as a young boy, the words of the "Ninety-First Psalm" had special appeal for Mr. Whittredge, and he determined in some future time to try to compose a suitable musical setting for this beloved psalm.

Members and friends of the Wollaston Congregational Church, honored Mr. Whittredge at his retirement party in 1970, and presented him with gifts for the publication of his work. He had served 34 years as Minister of Music at the church. The Cantata has been published by the Neil Kjos Music Company of Illinois.

The work, dedicated to the Wollaston Congregational Choir, is described as a very moving and melodic piece of music, typical of Mr. Whittredge's compositions that are known throughout the South Shore Area.

Mr. Whittredge will conduct his own composition.

Donald Reade of Braintree, present organist and choir director at Wollaston Congregational Church, formerly of Winthrop Congregational Church in Holbrook, and also an English and drama teacher at Cohasset High School, will accompany at the organ.

Robert Brown of Quincy, organist and choir director at Wollaston Baptist Church, director of the Music Department at Eastern Nazarene College, and Conductor of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra, will play the Prelude and sing in the chorus.

Gerald Mordis of Roslindale, member of the Wollaston Congregational Choir and teacher of violin at the Brookline Music School will play a violin selection during the offertory.

Soloists will be:

Sopranos, Rose Sawyer of Braintree, soloist at Wollaston Methodist Church, Carol Whittaker of Braintree, soloist at Wollaston Congregational Church.

Alto: Deborah Laneman of Roslindale, soloist at Wollaston Congregational Church.

Tenor, Francis Williams of Wollaston, soloist at Wollaston Congregational Church.

Basses, Ralph Marple of Wollaston, soloist at Wollaston Baptist Church, and John Whittredge Hill of Braintree.

How do you compare financially?
Most Americans Have Less than $10,000 Wealth

By Philip J. Lawrence
 President
 COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
 And Loan Association
 of Quincy and Holbrook
 8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursday

Those who think of the American economy as providing abundance for all its citizens will be distressed to discover that 28 per cent of all Americans claim total wealth of less than $1,000.

This includes whatever they own in homes, automobiles, savings accounts, or other assets.

Five per cent had absolutely no net worth and 11 per cent were in debt—almost one of every six American family unit heads without a dollar of wealth.

Almost 60 per cent of Americans claim less than $10,000 in total wealth. The median or midpoint in the wealth distribution is $6,721—half of the American population having more, half less.

More than 80 per cent are below $25,000 in total wealth. Those with less than $50,000 in net worth represent 93 per cent of all Americans.

Findings of a survey authorized by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System reflect a positive relation between the size of wealth and the size of current income.

Of those in the $10,000-$15,000 annual income range, 66 per cent have net worth under $25,000, 86 per cent are under $50,000 in wealth, and 96 per cent under $100,000.

In the $15,000-$25,000 annual income range, 37 per cent have wealth under $25,000, 64 per cent under $50,000, and 87 per cent under $100,000.

Net worth leaps forward as annual income reaches the $25,000-$50,000 range. Six per cent in this category have net worth under $25,000, 14 per cent under $50,000 and 36 per cent under $100,000.

Age of the earner also has a high correlation with the accumulation of wealth. Of those under 35 years of age, 77 per cent had net worth under $5,000, 88 per cent under $10,000, and 98 per cent under $25,000.

In the 35-44 age group, 44 per cent were under $5,000 in accumulated wealth, 63 per cent under $10,000, and 87 per cent under $25,000.

In the 45-54 age group, 39 per cent had less than $5,000 in wealth, 49 per cent had less than $10,000, and 80 per cent had less than $25,000.

In the 55-64 age group, 28 per cent were under $5,000 in net worth, 44 per cent were under $10,000, and 72 per cent under $25,000.

Of those 65 years and older, 33 per cent had less than $5,000, 51 per cent had less than $10,000, and 76 per cent had less than $25,000. Not a great deal here to suggest the carefree enjoyment of retirement years.

Joseph E. Brett To Seek Eighth Term

Rep. Joseph E. Brett today announced he will seek his eighth term as state representative in the Third Norfolk District which comprises Quincy Wards 4, 5, 6.

Brett said he considers himself a "full-time legislator" averaging 65 to 80 hours a week.

In his announcement, the veteran Democrat declared:

"It has been a great honor and pleasure for me to represent the citizens of Quincy in the legislature for the past seven two-year terms and as a member of the Quincy City Council prior to that.

"During my 14 years of service as a Representative, I have served on a number of committees and special commissions dealing with education, mental health, social welfare, natural resources, transportation, and as chairman of the Committee on Urban Affairs, formerly known as Metropolitan Affairs.

"I consider myself a 'full-time legislator' as I average between 65 and 80 hours a week in performing legislative duties and related activities. Despite that, I am under no illusion that I have been able to please all of the people all of the time but I can honestly say I have always tried to do my best to represent my constituency fairly and intelligently in the best interests of all the people.

"While I am sure my voting record over the past 14 years has not pleased everyone, when it is considered that I have to vote on thousands of issues every year, my 'Batting average' may not be too bad. At least the majority of our fellow citizens have thought so in eight elections.

"As I announce my candidacy for another term, I assure all my fellow citizens in the Third Norfolk District their continued support will be most gratefully appreciated.

'We Care' Theme For National Nursing Home Week Observance

PROCLAMATION - Carl Awed looks on as Mayor Walter J. Hannon signs proclamation declaring May 14-21 National Nursing Home Week in Quincy.

Three From Quincy On Home Week Committee

Three Quincy nursing home officials are serving on a state-wide committee planning for Nursing Home Week celebration, opening Mother's Day, May 14, and stressing community participation and the theme, "We Care".

Quincy committeemen are Edward Finn, President of the South Shore Chapter of the Federation; Charles Michael Daley and Carl A. Awed.

The program will seek to enlarge community understanding and awareness of the needs of 32,000 aged and ill persons living in long-term care facilities in the Bay State.

EDWARD FINN
Open House programs will be held, and programs of visitation and "adopting" for one or more days of aged people able to go outside will be encouraged by the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes.

Nursing of the aged and chronically ill has come a very long way since the relatively recent era of the poor farm and converted boarding house.

Today's Nursing Home gives much more than tender loving care and necessary medical, nursing and personal service. It also provides social and religious activities, recreation and rehabilitative programs.

"We Care" will be the theme of National Nursing Home Week observances May 14-21 at homes for the elderly in Quincy and across the country.

Twelve Quincy homes will hold open houses on Mothers Day May 14 to open a week's program seeking to enlarge community understanding of the need for nursing home-community involvement.

Involvement is necessary to meet the needs of 32,000 aged and ill persons in long-term care facilities in the Bay State.

A second goal is to counteract "scandalous" publicity with "the truth about nursing homes" to establish confidence "in this vital segment of the health care system," a Quincy spokesman said.

Homes participating in the open house program include:

- Crestview Nursing Home, 86 Greenleaf St., Quincy.
- Elmwood Nursing Home, 210 Arlington St., Wollaston.
- Friel Nursing Home, 58 Beach St., Wollaston.
- John Adams Nursing Home, 211 Franklin St., Quincy.

- Merrymount Manor Nursing Home, 38 Edgemere Road, Quincy.

- Oceanside Nursing Home, 445 Quincy Shore Drive, Quincy.

- Presidential Convalescent Home, 43 Old Colony Ave., Wollaston.

- Quincy Nursing Home, 11 McGrath Highway, Quincy.

- Robbin House Convalescent Home, 205 Elm St., Quincy.

- Seaver Nursing Home, 24 South St., Quincy.

- Snug Harbor Nursing Home, 49 St. Germain St., Quincy.

- Will Nursing Home, 215 Safford St., Quincy.

In addition, homes will sponsor programs of visitation and "adopting" aged people for a day or more, encouraged by the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes.

Serving on the committee planning the week are Edward Finn, president of the South Shore Chapter of the state federation; Charles M. Daley and Carl A. Awed.

The federation represents the majority of 690 nursing homes in Massachusetts.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, licensed nursing homes and related facilities in our community are providing dedicated, concerned care to our aged and ill, and

WHEREAS, these long-term health care facilities have assumed a leading role in upgrading the standards of services for these elderly, chronically ill and convalescent persons, and

WHEREAS, many of these homes are holding Open Houses Mother's Day, May 14, 1972;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Walter J. Hannon, Mayor of the City of Quincy do hereby proclaim the week of May 14, 1972 through May 21, 1972, as

NATIONAL NURSING HOME WEEK

Quincy, North Lassies In Return Match

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy and North Quincy's girls' softball teams were due to meet for the second time today [Thursday] and, although the Quincy lasses, coached by 'old pro' Mary Pratt, were favored to make it two in a row, the North team, showing steady improvement under its new coach, Cheryl Manoli, hoped to make a far better showing than in the first game.

Quincy breezed, 13-3, in the first meeting, the second cinch win for the First Ladies, who had a bad day in the field and suffered a 10-4 defeat at the hands of Malden in the next game.

They bounced back last Friday to top Braintree, 6-2, to run their record to 3-1.

"We have a fine nucleus of veterans," Miss Pratt said. "They are Jean Macchi, Debbie Congdon, Margaret Ryan, Mary Lumley, Nancy Cappadonna, Betsy Witt and Patty Healy. Nancy is the only senior on the squad."

Miss Macchi is the starting centerfielder, Miss Ryan the third baseman, Miss Cappadonna the second baseman, Miss Witt the shortstop and Miss Lumley the catcher. Miss Congdon is sharing the pitching with a fine sophomore prospect, Bonnie Seely.

"There has been a very good turnout of sophomores who show great potential," said Miss

Pratt. "Three have won starting assignments, Donna Brickley at first base, Doreen Congdon in right field and Marilyn Silverstein in left."

Other sophs who have seen service are Lori DeCoste, hard hitting infielder; Janice Lorenzetti, and Debbie D'Olimpio, second string catcher. Yvonne Conley, a junior outfielder, Aila Juvonen and Mary Silvia round out the squad.

"The outstanding sophomore prospect is Donna Brickley," Mary went on. "She is playing first base, plays a fine defensive game and also swings a good bat."

Despite North's slow start, Miss Manoli is not displeased and has seen her team improve steadily.

"We had a slow start because of my late appointment as coach," said Cheryl, who succeeded Gail Palmer. "However, things are beginning to shape up and we hope to give Quincy plenty of trouble in our second meeting."

North has only one senior in the starting lineup, giving the future a rosy hue.

The Misses Wier, Smith, Bereszniwicz and Tabor all played a year ago.

In the early games Miss Manoli made several changes in

QJC Winds Up Today, Eyes Conference

Coach Dave Burke's Quincy Junior College baseball team, enjoying its finest season ever, sought Tuesday to wrap up its first Mass. Jr. College Conference championship when it met Wentworth at Harvard University.

QJC took a 6-0 conference record and 8-0 overall mark into the game against a team whose only loss was to Quincy. All other teams had lost at least twice.

Yesterday QJC faced Dean Jr. College in a non-conference game and was due to end the regular season today [Thursday] against Bryant and Stratton at O'Rourke Playground in a game rained out last week. Then come the conference playoffs.

The Collejons ran their record to 8-0 last week when Jack Flaherty's two-run homer in the sixth gave them a 7-5 win over defending champion Newton Jr. College. It was Quincy's second win over last year's champs.

Quincy took a 5-3 lead with four runs in the third inning but Newton tied it up in the fourth. Bob Pastor, QJC's outstanding pitcher, relieved starter Justin McCarthy in the sixth and with the bases loaded and no outs, retired the side with no runs and earned a save.

Quincy had only four hits, two doubles by Ned Tobin and a homer and single by Flaherty, but took advantage of walks and errors.

"This is by far the best season since we started baseball four years ago," said Burke, the Collejons' only coach. "Our second team in 1970 finished in second place with our best previous record."

Burke pointed out that Ron DiNardo, one of his former standouts, is having a good year at Northeastern, and Dick Howe, another former QJC star and now a volunteer assistant to Burke, was a fine player at Suffolk University.

an effort to find the best combination. Misses Tabor and Bereszniwicz have been the top batters and Misses Bereszniwicz and Sylvester the best on defense.

"We are not to be underestimated," Cheryl concluded. "All the girls need is a little experience working together to blend their individual talents."

Friday Quincy is host to Brookline and next Wednesday Quincy plays at Hingham and North hosts Brookline.

Quincy, North Return To Action After Rains

Last week's rains washed out all Greater Boston League track meets and forced a change in the league schedule.

Quincy, which has lost only once in the past two years and which looks like unbeaten champion again this spring, was due to face Malden Tuesday and North Quincy, still looking for its first win, was down to meet Everett. Today [Thursday] it will be Quincy vs. Medford and North vs. Malden and next Tuesday Quincy vs. Somerville and North vs. Revere. All these meets will be at Medford.

Next Thursday's Quincy-North meet, highlighting the final scheduled set of league meets, has been moved to Quincy Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Tom Hall's Presidents, whose only loss in the past two years was to Bob Gentry's North Raiders in the final meet two years ago, were runaway winners in their first three meets. North, meanwhile, has lost three close decisions.

Quincy, in its latest meet, breezed past Chelsea, 91-40, for its 11th straight league win.

Johnny Johnson was a double winner, taking the low hurdles and high jump and is unbeaten in both events this year.

The brilliant Bob Ciano, unbeaten in spring and winter track and cross country for three years, kept his record clean with a win in the mile. Marty Swirko won the half mile in excellent time of 2:04.8.

Other Quincy winners were Brian Feeney, unbeaten in the two-mile; Bob Volpini in the shot put, Kevin Cox in the long jump, Kevin Shea in the javelin, Ray Lawyer in the 100, Pete Ramponi in the 220, Pete Daley in the 440 and the relay team of Lawyer, Ramponi, Johnson and Daley.

In the previous meet at Quincy Veterans Memorial Stadium, Quincy annihilated Everett, 109-22, as sophomores and juniors scored most of the points. Quincy is loaded with sophs this year and they have been doing a great job.

The Presidents, who took 13 of 15 first places, won every running event and swept the 100, 220, 440, half mile and mile. They also won the two-mile and relay.

Winners were Lawyer, 100; Daley, 220; Mark MacLeod, 440; Swirko, half mile; Ciano, mile; Feeney, two-mile; Johnson, low hurdles and high jump; Bobby McDermott, high hurdles and triple jump; Mike Varrasso, shot put and Shea, javelin.

North lost a pair of close meets, bowing to Chelsea, 67-64, after a 69-62 loss to Everett.

Against Everett Steve Little won the triple jump, Danny Coughlin the long jump, John Meyer the discus, Dave Ashmanskas the 100 and Dave Mahoney the high jump. Paul Bonoli was second in the half mile, Bob McCormick second in the mile and Dick Malloy second in the two-mile.

Against Chelsea Little won the triple jump, Coughlin the long jump, Jeff Leet the shot put and Mahoney the high jump, while John Pomerole took second in the 220, Coughlin second in the 440, Bonoli second in the half mile, McCormick second in the mile and Meyer second in the discus. Ashmanskas was out sick and his presence may have made the difference and given North a win.

"McCormick turned in excellent times in both meets despite finishing second," Gentry said.

GBL Title Up For Grabs

The weatherman is throwing the Greater Boston League baseball schedule into a turmoil with several rainouts last week and more this week. As a result, when the games will be played is as much of a mystery as to who will win the title.

Any one of several teams can win or finish second and gain state tourney berths and only a few teams are dropping out of the running.

"I think the team finishing with a 9-5 record can win the championship," North Quincy Coach Charlie Bunker said. "I honestly feel if we can win four of our last six games and finish 8-6, we can finish second."

North dropped to a 4-4 league record and 5-4 mark overall Monday when it lost a rain-shortened 3-2 decision to Revere, which leads the league with a 5-3 record. Quincy's game with Everett was postponed and this threw another monkey wrench into the schedule.

Quincy and North had rescheduled their rain-outed game for Tuesday but with Quincy's game with Everett postponed, that game was due to be played on Tuesday.

Friday, Quincy is scheduled to host Somerville at Adams Field, Monday North plays at Medford and next Wednesday North is home to Everett and Quincy plays at Malden. What happens in between is anybody's guess.

Revere jumped away to a 3-0 lead in the first two innings against North but the Raiders cut the gap to a run with runs in the fourth and fifth. Rain halted the contest in the top of the seventh.

North's second run came on an extremely unusual play.

"It was one of the most amazing plays I've seen," Bunker said. "Bob Pierce was on second base and tried to score on a line single to left. The ball was hit so hard he shouldn't have tried to score but was waved home by the third base coach. The catcher had the ball and was waiting for Pierce well up the third base line. Bob suddenly jumped right over the surprised catcher, fell, picked himself up and scored. He took everyone by complete surprise, especially the catcher."

Bob Morton, who has developed into a fine pitcher, went the route for the Raiders and turned in another excellent job but received little support at the plate.

Last Friday North had walloped Chelsea, 8-3, rolling to a 6-0 lead before Chelsea scored all its runs in the sixth inning.

North pounded out 15 hits including four by Lee Watkins, three by Bob Torino, a triple and double by Tom Burke and two hits apiece by Pierce and Morton. Pierce was the winning pitcher and had all North's wins, with Morton pitching well in relief.

Quincy's league record dropped to 3-4 when it dropped decisions last Friday and Saturday. The Presidents' overall mark was 6-4.

Friday Revere, the hottest team in the league at present, scored six runs in the seventh to topple Quincy, 8-3. Jimmy Walker pitched well until that inning but showed the effects of a week's layoff.

Quincy was held to seven hits, three by John Warren, a triple and single by Mike Marville and two singles by Bob Brill.

Saturday the Presidents lost to Medford, 5-1, in a makeup of a rain-outed game as they were held to four hits.

The Lunatic Fringe

Remember the rash of political assassinations in South and Central America back in the 1950's?

And remember the running joke that you shouldn't worry if you don't like the man elected yesterday because chances are he'll be shot tomorrow?

Well it's time to stop laughing, America, because it appears we have now become the assassination capitol of the World.

By our count, if you go back to the time of Pancho Villa and include every country from Mexico south, our neighbors in this hemisphere have accounted for 10 major political assassinations.

Monday, George Corley Wallace, Governor of Alabama, became the 10th holder of or candidate for the highest office in the United States to have an attempt made on his life.

And that figure doesn't include the two mayors of Chicago, one governor of Kentucky, one senator from Louisiana and the host of civil rights leaders who have fallen to gunmen.

It would appear that the only difference between us and the South American revolutionaries is that they are better shots.

Since 1865, American Presidents Abraham Lincoln, James A. Garfield, William McKinley and John F. Kennedy have been slain by assassins' bullets.

Unsuccessful attempts have been made on the lives of Presidents Harry S. Truman, Theodore Roosevelt and Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

But the lunatic fringe in America is no longer content to wait until a man is elected to office.

In 1968, Martin Luther King Jr. declared himself a candidate for the Presidency only to be gunned down shortly after the first primary.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York was slain in Los Angeles as the final returns were rolling in on his victory in the California contest of 1968.

And now George Wallace lies hospitalized with three gunshot wounds suffered while campaigning in Maryland.

No Presidential blood was shed for 20-year periods between the assassinations of Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley, but the pace has stepped up to three murders and one attempt in the last decade.

It seems that no candidate of national prominence, regardless of his political stance, is safe today.

So once again the cry will go up for strict control of small firearms and we can not help but join in that outcry.

But for the time being, we pray for the swift and complete recovery of Gov. Wallace and of the nation.

● Youth Speaks Out

● The idea that someone always wins and someone always loses is obviously false when we look at Vietnam. Nobody is winning anything there.

● Many Democratic candidates are hoping that the convention will deadlock, and they will be nominated; but it would probably take a 14 month deadlock to get some of the candidates nominated.

● He's so miraculous that some people might change religions and become Orr-ist.

● The height of frustration must be waiting for a dial tone after you just paid the new rate increase to Ma Bell.

● Now might be the time for soccer to catch on in New England; certainly nobody will be watching the Red Sox.

● National columnist Joseph Alsop said last week that the South Vietnam army had proved itself. He's right, only it's proved itself totally incompetent of anything but serving as a bad example.

Community College At Broadmeadows

Editor, Quincy Sun:

There is perhaps no city on the Atlantic seaway that has the natural resources and opportunity for development as has the City of Quincy.

Quincy has more than 20 miles of waterfront. Ninety percent of which is open to the sea. Quincy is located on three navigable rivers - the Neponset river, the Fore river and Town river.

The United States government has spent hundreds of thousand dollars for dredging these waterways. What has the City of Quincy done to take advantage of this federal spending?

Some 60 years ago when the Boston Edison Company built its plant in Weymouth it wished to build on the Fore and Town rivers in Quincy, but was rebuffed by the residents and officials of the city.

Had the Edison company been allowed to locate in Quincy, as it wished, we would now be collecting taxes on more than 40-million dollars of taxable property rather than the Town of Weymouth. As it turned out Weymouth collected the taxes and Quincy got the soot and smoke.

The City of Quincy, unless something is done, is about to lose millions of dollars in taxes if the Community or Junior College is built in the Broadmeadows.

Not only does the City of Quincy stand to lose all these taxes but will also lose the more than six hundred thousand dollars paid to the Massachusetts Electric Company so that the city could give the property to the state as a location for such college.

The Broadmeadows property is perhaps the last remaining property of size and value located near downtown Quincy. It has a potential tax value of more than 25-million dollars. Can Quincy afford this loss?

Locating the college at the Broadmeadow site will increase the present traffic problem in Quincy square. Quincy square needs relief rather than additional traffic.

I agree with Representative Brett that the proposed College should not be located on the perimeter of the area to be served.

A suggested site for the college is a portion (perhaps some 50 acres) of the federally owned ammunition depot on Beal St., just off Route 3A in Hingham.

This property could undoubtedly be had for a nominal figure.

The state would also save hundreds of thousands of dollars in construction costs as there would be no expense for piling and fill as would be the case should the Broadmeadow site be used.

Lets get on the ball before it is too late.

What Quincy needs is leadership not sponsorship.

By HENRY BOSWORTH

Norfolk County Commissioner George McDonald is hinting he will return to the Quincy city political wars next year.

The former Ward 4 and at-large city councillor bowed out of the city political arena last year to "concentrate" on his commissioner duties.

He's up for re-election this fall.

And guess what municipal job he's hinting about making a bid for next year: Mayor.

***

ARTHUR JAFFE is challenging Thomas Blacklock for chairmanship of the Quincy Republican City Committee. Balloting is tonight [Thursday] at the Quincy Sons of Italy Social Hall.

***

WHICH REMINDS US: City Councillor Joseph LaRaia will be honored at a reception tonight - also at the Sons of Italy Social Hall. LaRaia, a Democrat, has been rumored as both a candidate for Norfolk County treasurer and for state representative in Wards 4, 5, 6. No confirmation yet. There's been some speculation lately however, that he will sit out the elections this year.

***

QUINCY'S "NO FIX" was intended to weed out that privileged character-the all-day parking hog. Apparently we still have a few around. For example: The white Rambler with "For Sale" signs in the windows parked several hours on Hancock St. in front of the Norfolk Country Trust Co. - just across from the traffic control booth. [The car behind it got tagged].

***

CUTE DEPT: Mrs. Mae D'Angelo of 65 Davis St., is the popular traffic supervisor at Newport Ave. and Beale St. Just how popular was quite evident the other day.

As she stopped cars at the intersection to allow students from the Wollaston School to cross, she was suddenly surrounded by 45 youngsters who presented her a bouquet of carnations and sang "Happy Birthday" at the top of their voices as motorists smiled.

Mrs. D'Angelo hasn't gotten over it yet.

***

HE HASN'T MADE it official yet, but John J. Sullivan Sr., the federal mediator from Wollaston, is off and running for Norfolk County Register of Probate. Sullivan has 200 sets of nomination papers in circulation - room for 76 names on each. One thousand qualified names are required. Sullivan, incidentally, has filed for retirement as a mediator. Should be making his announcement around June 1.

***

YOU CAN STOP wondering whether Rep. Clifford Marshall will see re-election in Wards 1, 3 this fall. He will. Like George McDonald, he's doing a little hinting, too. Like making a bid for some other city office next year: Councillor at-large or mayor.

***

AND, Adeline Pompeo says she's running for state senator this year against Arthur Tobin in Quincy, Braintree and Holbrook. She made a fairly good run but unsuccessful bid for councillor at-large last year.

***

SOUTH SHORE THEATERAMA, a 20-minute audio-visual presentation of the history of the MBTA rapid transit extension to Quincy is available for schools, clubs and other organizations. Bookings may be made by calling the Promotion Development Section, Planning and Construction Directorate. [That name is almost as long as the extension]. The number: 722-5796.

***

NEW GAL FRIDAY to the Quincy Licensing Board is Mrs. Cecelia McPhillips. She replaces Mrs. Alice Gallivan who retired.

***

LOOK-ALIKES DEPT. - Louis Tanguoso, owner of the Leaning Tower of Pizza on the Southern Artery, and comedian Mort Sahl.

Council Reluctantly Approves $400,000 For NQHS Annex

The city council has reluctantly approved by a unanimous vote the appropriation of $400,000 to build a temporary annex to North Quincy High School on Teale's Pond.

Council President Arthur H. Tobin said after the roll call that the council is "serving notice to the school administration and the mayor that we do not appreciate voting for something we do not want."

Councillors accompanied their affirmative votes on the matter with accusations of "poor planning" and "lack of foresight".

Mayor Hannon praised the council afterwards for a "tough decision".

"They didn't want to vote for it and I didn't want to bring the order in," Hannon said.

The $400,000, metal structure will be built in a residential section on the land-filled area which was formerly Teale's Pond, and is scheduled for completion before the start of the 1972-73 school year.

Tobin said "temporary building is a play on words. It's a temporary use of a permanent building - a metal building being put up in a residential neighborhood."

Hannon said the city can now concentrate on a permanent solution to the overcrowding at North Quincy High School.

MBTA Senior Registration May 23

The MBTA's senior citizen registration team will be in Quincy, May 23.

Registration for eligible senior citizens will take place at the Woodward School for Girls, 1102 Hancock St., from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

To be eligible for a reduced fare identification card, which contains the name and address of the holder and a color photograph for positive identification, senior citizens must bring proof of age such as a

Medicare card, birth certificate, baptismal record, or driver's license; proof of residency in the MBTA district such as a driver's license, library card, or charge plate; and a 50 cent cash fee.

MBTA officials stressed that those senior citizens who already have their card do not need to register again. What appears to be an expiration date is used merely for internal auditing and control purposes.

Once a reduced fare identification card is issued, it is good for life.

Hannon, Fitchburg Mayor To Discuss CD Friday

Fitchburg Mayor Carleton Blackwell will meet at 11 a.m. Friday, with Quincy Mayor Walter J. Hannon to discuss civil defense planning and tour Quincy's emergency operating center.

The mayors, both staunch supporters of civil defense, are up-dating their local increased readiness procedures to cope with potential disasters in their communities.

The meeting was arranged by Louis F. Saba of Brockton, State Director of Civil Defense and Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Participants will include Robert Polack, Assistant City Planner, Fitchburg; Frank Norton, CD Director, Fitchburg; Quincy Director Edward H. Roberts; Director Saba and his field directors Harold Rossi, Ernest Coombs and Frank Willard.

Some 75 Quincy City Hospital employees picketed City Hall during Monday night's council meeting to bring attention to their contract fight.

The workers, some of whom carried signs charging that the city is "unfair," paraded in front of the building from 7 to 9 p.m.

George E. Harvey, president of local 1139, representing DPW and non-professional hospital workers, said the union has been trying to get the city to negotiate a new contract for three or four months.

The union has been working without contract since November as members are seeking a cost-of-living increase and what Harvey calls "a decent wage".

Union officials charge "unfair discrimination" in the granting of raises to "a select few, including members of the Mayor's Staff" while denying the union increase.

"Our pay does not come from the tax dollar, but from the Quincy Hospital Department which operated at a net profit of $215,572 in 1971," officers said.

Our duties to the sick and suffering preclude the right to strike," they said. "We can only ask that we be dealt with fairly by the community we serve."

Medicaid Office Moves To 1381 Hancock St.

The Quincy Medicaid office has been moved from 43 School St. to the Norfolk County Trust Building at 1381 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Persons applying for medical assistance should report directly to the Hancock St. office because phone service has not been completed, according to Councillor-at-Large Joseph J.

LaRaia.

All other public assistance activity is still being conducted at the main office at 23-25 School St.

Special Features

ONE-STITCH COTTON SWEATERS—If you can master one simple big stitch, you can create all kinds of clever tops. Knitted from cotton rug yarn, these are ideal for pulling over a swimsuit when the sun sets. To make them, you use a garter stitch and just keep on knitting rectangles. Then sew rectangles together to form sleeves, yokes, or hoods. Conso's cotton ball fringe adds dash to the sweater at left, while embroidered flower trim customizes the other. Sweaters are knitted with Aunt Lydia's heavy cotton rug yarn by American Thread.

In Women's Lib Counter-Revolt—

He Cottons To Knitting...

A counter-revolution to the women's lib movement is underfoot. It seems that some men believe women have been monopolizing certain fields of endeavor for much too long. One such believer is Matt Keane, a New Yorker who's an advertising account executive for the new magazine, 1,001 Fashion & Needlecraft Ideas.

He'll tell you without dropping a stitch that women have monopolized the craft of knitting, and he's staging a one-man revolt to get his colleagues to man their knitting needles.

Keane got interested in knitting by virtue of the fact that (1) he works for a needlecraft magazine, and (2) he spends much of his time, on jets flying from his New York headquarters to the Mid-West and needed something to do to pass away the time in flight.

His fellow passengers gave him a little ribbing when he first took up knitting, but that was before they saw some of his handiwork. One of his most spectacular productions is a handsome striped sweater made from black and white cotton rug yarn. The sweater is made from a simple garter stitch, which is easy to do and goes at jet speed.

If you're a beginning knitter—male or female—you might want to follow this brave fellow's lead and try your hand at making a sweater or a beach cover-up with this simple one-stitch method.

All you do is knit four rectangles and then sew them together. Two fairly small rectangles are used to form the sleeves, and larger ones are stitched together for the sweater body.

As a starter, you might try knitting a sleeveless sweater that requires only two rectangles. If you're a size 12, for instance, make each rectangle 16 inches wide and whatever length you want your sweater to be.

Sew the rectangles together on either side of the top for shoulder seams. Then stitch down each side, leaving an opening for the arms. Finish off the armholes and hem with a row of cotton fringe in matching or contrasting colors.

MEN'S LIB?—Matt Keane, advertising account supervisor for 1,001 Fashion & Needlecraft Ideas magazine, mans his knitting needles on a cross-country flight.

MAN-KNIT—If you can knit a simple garter stitch, you can make this handsome sweater. Black and white cotton rug yarn is knitted into four rectangles which are then sewed together to form a sweater.

Poet's Corner

My Mistake

Everytime I get into a good situation,

I seem to stumble and fall.
I look back and think of what I should have done,

I could just bang my head on the wall!

Cause I don't know when to leave things alone

Now I'm on my own again.

Taking people for granted only brings heart-ache

That was my big mistake
My friend.

No Meat Price Decrease Seen

It looks like the meat market and prices will remain stable for the next few months, reports the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture.

Meat prices did come down a little on some cuts; but other cuts have remained high. Don't look for any decreases in prices this summer, you will be wasting your time. Your best buys for your summer cooking is to keep up with the advertising on meat and poultry sales.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

Power Up with protein... That's the secret of successful dieting. It's the protein power that gives you the pep and push to persist.

Don't limit your protein thinking to an egg for breakfast and meat for lunch and dinner. If you do, lady, you're in a rut! Who passed the law that said you can't make an open-face grilled cheese sandwich for breakfast? Who is holding the gun to your head so that you have meat for dinner every night. No one! Did anyone absolutely forbid you to serve your protein cold instead of hot? Of course not! So try this sweet and sour salmon for lunch today, or for dinner if you serve a 6 ounce portion.

SWEET & SOUR SALMON

- 1 16-ounce can Icy Point or Pillar Rock Salmon, drained
- 1 Tablespoon Dried Onion Flakes
- Dash Pepper
- 1/3 Cup White Vinegar
- 2 Packets Sweet 'N Low
- 1 Bay Leaf

Clean and separate salmon into large lumps. Place in bowl. Mix white vinegar, Sweet 'N Low, onion flakes and pepper together. Pour over salmon and add enough cold water to just cover the fish. Place bay leaf on top. Cover and let stand in refrigerator for at least one hour.

The largest part of your food dollar goes to the protein portion of your diet. Protein builds you new muscle and organ cells daily. The very best sources of protein are animal in origin, but too many of us tend to forget that "animal" does not connote beef only. It can mean "egg", and "fish", and "cheese" as well.

For those members of your family who are not on reducing diets, animal protein can be supplemented with the protein from soy beans, chick peas, dried beans, dried peas, and cereal grains. The world will not fall apart at the dinner table tonight if you use your imagination and provide a low-cost protein substitute instead of roast beef. Your food budget will receive a boost, and your family will still have the proper amount of that most important nutritional element—protein.

For information on your diet and nutrition, please write me in care of the Quincy Sun or at The Diet Workshop, 594 Merrick Ave., East Meadow N.Y. 11554

THE HARVARD MUSEUM

I went to the museum today.
I saw glass flowers and pots that look like corn cobs. I saw a cannon that was real.

PUPPIES

Puppies they play all hours of the day they do not need to care, if you call them they com a running because they think they are going out for some fresh air.

THE RAIN

The rain is falling, falling down so hard. When I am in my car it sounds loud. When I look up in the sky the rain falls in my mouth. When the rain stops I go out and see the puddles on the side walk. I splash in them with my friends. We play hide and go seek. Do you like the rain?

A DREAM OF A NEW EARTH

Have you ever thought how the earth must have been before man was created? It must have been beautiful just to look at prairies and forest and clean rivers with no pollution. But today there are so many things polluting the air, the water, and the land, and if we think about it and will realize how we are destroying this once-clean earth and the land that we have to live with the rest of our lives, we'll do everything in our power before it's too late to save this beautiful planet.

Kevin Downing

THE HONEY BEE

The Honey Bee
Is busy in his tree
Making lots of honey!
It is all so funny
To see him make honey.
Buzz! Buzz! Buzz!
He looks like yellow fuzz
Up in his tree,
Making honey for you and me!

Friday we went to the Police saw a fish, it weighed over 100.

And a big crab. And an octopus and many wheel bones.

Michael Bridgeman

WINGS

Wings are things
That insects learn to fly with That insects go whispering by with
Not a sound.
Those insects should watch out

When they're on the ground
Because when someone comes
It's homeward bound.

Melissa McCauley

MY STAR VISIT

It was like you were way up in the sky looking at the Stars.
Sometimes it seemed as if a planet fell on you. Most of the planets were named after Greek and Roman Gods. They pointed out all the things like the big dipper, and the Hunter and his dog. It showed where the asteroid belt is. Pluto seemed not even to move. They made it look like a rocket was taking off.
I liked Saturn because of its rings. Earth is the third planet closest to the sun. Mercury is closest to the sun. Pluto is the farthest from the sun.

Gregory Madden
Wollaston School

COLOR

Color is a rose that just came into bloom,
Color is a new, freshly painted room.

Color is happy, Color is gay Color is the first beautiful spring day.

Color is alive, Color is quick,
Color is the face of good old St. Nick.

Color is shining and very bright Color is the sunset just 'fore night.

Color has peace, Color has love,
Color is all the things
mentioned above.

Susan Ivey
Montclair School

WHAT I LEARNED!

I learned about policemen.
Officer Dennehey told me all about policemen in Boston.

He let me hold a big club. He didn't let me see his gun. He let me see his mace.

SPRING

Beauty is seen in Spring
When the birds begin to sing,
As you look in your yard, the grass is shiny and green
And all the flowers can be seen.

At the end of Spring you can tell that summer is on its way,
As it is very hot each day.
This is the time of year
When most people are happy and full of cheer.

BEAUTY IS

Beauty is seen,
In the summer
Kids running and getting hot
Going to the beach and seeing
The beautiful waves rush to The shore.

Beauty is heard,
At the beach
Hearing the seagulls flying
Over head,
And hearing the wind howling
And whistling.

Council Cites Arthur Ciampa, Ann Gaffey For Aging Council Work

Certificates of appreciation were presented by the city council Monday night to Arthur Ciampa and Mrs. Ann Gaffey, former chairman and secretary of the Quincy Council on Aging.

The resolution was entered by Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia on behalf of Councillor John Quinn who was unable to attend the meeting.

The Council cited Ciampa for "his unselfish donation of time, effort and talent" which led to the Council on Aging's "being recognized statewide, as well as nationally as the optimum of what a Council on Aging should be as it peaked in 1971."

Mrs. Gaffey was cited for "serving over six years, without compensation and with a record of 100 percent attendance."

Attending the council session were former executive director Jack Sheehan, Mrs. Rebecca Wolf, Charles McGarry and Theodore Johnson of the council on aging.

Paragon Park To Aid

Muscular Dystrophy Saturday

A special one-day event at Paragon Park, Nantasket Beach,
May 20, will benefit Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc.

Greater Boston Chapter President David Morse, announces that park proceeds on that date will be turned over to the agency.

Morse said, "an exciting day-long program is planned including a stage show in the afternoon."

Several attractions have been added this season, amounting to more than half a million dollars in new equipment, park officials report. The stage performance will feature celebrities from WMEX Radio, Bozo the Clown and "Sleuth", a teenage rock group.

Money resulting from the event will assist the association with the financing of patient care services and dystrophy research.

"We're hoping that there'll be a large turnout of youngsters at the park taking advantage of the special discount price," said Morse.

"How Do You Relate To Others?"

Are we dependent for our peace and freedom upon what others do or don't do?

Rather are we dependent solely on God, our divine Principle.

Mrs. Josephine Carver, C.S.B., a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will discuss this in her forthcoming talk "How do you Relate to Others?"

You and your friends are all

Meet Your Wollaston Businessman

Steve Richmond Puts Emphasis On 'Happy' At Happy Chef Restaurant

When you think of The Happy Chef, think of Steve Richmond.

Richmond, 27, of 1241A Sea St., Quincy, is the founder, owner and manager of Happy Chef restaurants at 661 Hancock St., Wollaston, and 5 Commercial St., Weymouth Landing.

Despite his age, Steve has 12 years experience in the food business and spins a pizza with the best of them.

He took his first job as a dishwasher in a pizza shop at 15 while a student at St. Mary's High School in Cambridge.

After graduating high school, he attended Bentley College for three years and held several positions in restaurants around Greater Boston.

Three years as manager of a Papa Gino's franchise in Malden Square prepared him for the big step toward opening his own business.

The first Happy Chef restaurant opened 18 months ago at Weymouth Landing in Braintree and Richmond opened his second shop in Wollaston last October.

Richmond said he chose the name "because so many people seem unhappy in this world, I thought a name like Happy Chef might sort of inspire them."

The shops trademark with a smiling figure in chef's cap holding the letter "C" is based on Steve's own drawing.

The two Happy Chef shops now employ a total of 32 workers, including Richmond's right-hand girl Mrs. Lillian Killion of Milton Rd, Quincy.

Items on the menu include pizza, spaghetti dinners, submarine sandwiches, burgers and soft drinks.

Richmond is a member of the board of directors of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association and a nominee for the board of North Quincy Knights of Columbus.

Among the charitable works he is involved in is the planning of a dance to benefit Cerebral Palsy.

He is married to the former Maureen O'Malley of Dorchester and the father of two children, Stephen Jr., and Michelle.

John W. Mahoney Named Social Health Coordinator For Schools

John W. Mahoney of 134 Oxenbridge Rd has been appointed social health coordinator for Quincy public schools, to work with students who have drug problems.

Mr. Mahoney has occupied a similar position for Scituate schools since 1969.

He will be responsible for maintaining a liaison between the school system and Survival Inc. and assist in shaping that organizations program to meet educational and rehabilitation needs of Quincy's youth.

A life resident of Quincy, he graduated from North Quincy High School in 1954, served in the Army and holds a bachelor's degree from American International College and a master's in education from Boston State College.

Mr. Mahoney was an English teacher at Lewis Junior High School in Roxbury from 1961 to 1962 and joined the Scituate system as a social studies teacher in 1962.

He developed Scituate's K-12 social education curriculum and dealt with in-service training of teachers in the abuse problem associated with drugs, alcohol and tobacco.

In 1969, he headed a state Department of Education conference on drug abuse for educators in 34 cities and towns.

Mr. Mahoney is a member of the Scituate Teachers Association, Massachusetts Teachers Association, National Education Association, Scituate Social Health Council, Quincy Kiwanis Club and Quincy Historical Society.

Large Safety Lens To Be Installed

A large red lens will be installed on the traffic signal at Newport Ave. and Oakland Ave. "in the near future," according to Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt.

Delahunt requested the device earlier this year as a result of numerous complaints from residents that high speed traffic on Newport Ave. frequently failed to stop at the light.

He said a larger lens "could be readily seen for a considerable distance and would eliminate this problem" which threatens school children from St. Ann's School.

Dr. H. Russell Beatty Retires From Wentworth June 30

Dr. H. Russell Beatty, one of this country's foremost engineering technology educators, and a Wollaston resident, retires as president of Wentworth College of Technology June 30.

The 66-year old internationally-known educator, who lives at 43 Bishop Rd, has spent 35 years in the technical engineering education field starting with Pratt Institute in 1937 where he became assistant to the president and acting dean of the school of engineering.

In 1953, he returned to Boston as president of Wentworth Institute from which he retired last June. During his presidency at Wentworth, the technical institute developed into one of the largest and foremost institutions in the U.S. for industrial technical education.

The Maine-born engineer-educator was also responsible for the founding of Wentworth College of Technology in 1970 for graduates of technical institutes and junior colleges desiring to earn a bachelor's degree in engineering technology. The college graduates its first class on June 18. These graduates will be known as "engineering technologists".

Dr. Beatty will be succeeded at the college by Dr. Edward T. Kirkpatrick, who is also president of Wentworth Institute. Dr. Kirkpatrick, formerly dean of the college of engineering at Rochester Institute of Technology, will serve as president of both institutions, Wentworth Institute and Wentworth College of Technology.

A graduate of the University of Maine and New York University, Dr. Beatty has been the recipient of three honorary degrees from Northeastern University, Stevens Institute of Technology, and the University of Maine. He is the author of "Principles of Industrial Management" which is used by many engineering colleges and business schools as a classroom textbook.

Prior to becoming an educator he held engineering posts with General Electric Co., Remington Rand Co., and Holtz Cabot Electric Co.

In addition to being a former president of Engineering Societies of New England, Beatty was active in numerous national and regional engineering and educational organizations. He was a member of the Engineers Joint Council Mission to the Soviet Union to study the utilization of engineers and technicians in Russia, and also served as a special member of the state's commission that surveyed education in Massachusetts.

Upon his retirement, he will continue his role as consultant to the College of Petroleum & Minerals in Saudi Arabia, his management engineering consultant practice, and as a member of the Science Education Advisors of the National Science Foundation. He will also continue his community activities as member of Mass. Health & Education Facilities Authority and the Advisory Board of Salvation Army.

Urge Approval Of County Golf Course Plan

The Quincy Citizens Association has urged the legislative committee on counties to approve acquisition of Wollaston Golf Course by Norfolk County.

"All the people of Norfolk County would benefit in future years from your foresight in approving the setting aside of this golf course for year-round recreational purposes," QCA officers wrote.

"Various surveys have been made pointing out that the facilities would be self-supporting for the most part and we believe the Norfolk County Commissioners would be the ideal agency to administer the recreation program and superintend the area."

Dr. H. Russell Beatty Retires From Wentworth June 30

Dr. H. Russell Beatty, one of this country's foremost engineering technology educators, and a Wollaston resident, retires as president of Wentworth College of Technology June 30.

The 66-year old internationally-known educator, who lives at 43 Bishop Rd, has spent 35 years in the technical engineering education field starting with Pratt Institute in 1937 where he became assistant to the president and acting dean of the school of engineering.

In 1953, he returned to Boston as president of Wentworth Institute from which he retired last June. During his presidency at Wentworth, the technical institute developed into one of the largest and foremost institutions in the U.S. for industrial technical education.

The Maine-born engineer-educator was also responsible for the founding of Wentworth College of Technology in 1970 for graduates of technical institutes and junior colleges desiring to earn a bachelor's degree in engineering technology. The college graduates its first class on June 18. These graduates will be known as "engineering technologists".

Dr. Beatty will be succeeded at the college by Dr. Edward T. Kirkpatrick, who is also president of Wentworth Institute. Dr. Kirkpatrick, formerly dean of the college of engineering at Rochester Institute of Technology, will serve as president of both institutions, Wentworth Institute and Wentworth College of Technology.

A graduate of the University of Maine and New York University, Dr. Beatty has been the recipient of three honorary degrees from Northeastern University, Stevens Institute of Technology, and the University of Maine. He is the author of "Principles of Industrial Management" which is used by many engineering colleges and business schools as a classroom textbook.

Prior to becoming an educator he held engineering posts with General Electric Co., Remington Rand Co., and Holtzer Cabot Electric Co.

In addition to being a former president of Engineering Societies of New England, Beatty was active in numerous national and regional engineering and educational organizations. He was a member of the Engineers Joint Council Mission to the Soviet Union to study the utilization of engineers and technicians in Russia, and also served as a special member of the state's commission that surveyed education in Massachusetts.

Upon his retirement, he will continue his role as consultant to the College of Petroleum & Minerals in Saudi Arabia, his management engineering consultant practice, and as a member of the Science Education Advisors of the National Science Foundation. He will also continue his community activities as member of Mass. Health & Education Facilities Authority and the Advisory Board of Salvation Army.

"Various surveys have been made pointing out that the

Lee Remick Smash In 'Loot'

A front page lawsuit is in the brewing over the estate of the late WALTER WINCHELL. Daughter WALDA is protesting the $400 per week for life left to her in trust, with anxious daughter-in-law EVE pacing in the wings for a big chunk of the internationally famed columnist's $2 million plus estate... JACKIE CURTIS, famed underground transvestite film star, is reincarnating her image with a more masculine JAMES DEAN look. CURTIS is going all out with the facade, complete with shorter hair, and a much flatter chest...

Documentary artists RALPH KINER and ARTHUR BARRON are piecing together "THE FRIENDSHIP PING PONG MATCHES", a motion picture depicting the Chinese team's American ping pong tour... Best known for their in-depth documentary on the life, times and struggles of singer JOHNNY CASH, KINER and BARRON hope to have their newest film scoop on the market by mid-October, the latest... Comic LARRY WILDE couldn't resist the writing itch. Just turned author with his first novel, "THE EMASCULATORS"... SUSAN HAYWARD is toppled in "THE REVENGERS", her first film outing in over five years...

Though not the oasis of creativity it once was, movies still are being made in Hollywood. British producer JOHN HEYMAN decided on the Tinseltown locale once he was assured of JIM BROWN starring in his "BLACK GUN"... BROWN liked the script, and okayed it with a "has to be shot in Hollywood" proviso... LUCKY LUCIANO, the "godfather" of all godfathers, is next on the list of must be made bio-pictures. Producer MARTIN GOSCH owns exclusive film rights to the late underground figure's life story, and is now hunting around for financial backing... Director FRANK CAPRA is in the giving mood. Just willed his posh $250,000 Pasadena luxury resort to alma mater, the California Institute of Technology...

Quincy's LEE REMICK has a smash hit on her delicate hands in the not moving vehicle, "LOOT". This irreverent farce pokes fun at things that hurt and then some. Not for the establishment at heart, "LOOT" will have a ready market in the movie goer who appreciates a wholesome laugh at the ridiculous... As good an actor as ROD STEIGER is, his best effort in a long 20 plus year career comes down to one film, that being "THE PAWNBROKER" [1965]... Some actors are best remembered by audiences for a wide variety of screen portrayals. SPENCER TRACY for instance... But not so ROD STEIGER. Since 1965 STEIGER's talent hasn't lived up to what he demonstrated in "THE PAWNBROKER". And I include "IN THE HEAT OF NIGHT" [1967] for which he won an Oscar...

And let's hear it for DEBBIE REYNOLDS. With a capital R for rudeness... While attending female impersonator JIM BAILEY's performance at the Music Center Pavilion in Los Angeles, Miss REYNOLDS upstaged BAILEY with a no class move of grandstanding attention on herself when she couldn't find her seat after the first intermission... As a way of alleviating an embarrassing situation, she put on a show of her own by introducing audience celebrities with intoxicated overtones... From a "Tammy" lass of charmed elegance, DEBBIE REYNOLDS has matured into an all too ripened maternally tomato...

Publicity never hurt any actor. BURT REYNOLDS' nude display in Cosmopolitan magazine has gathered him legions of female fans who never knew he even existed... RODDY McDOWELL is still busy as ever. Just signed for a lead part in "THE POSEIDON ADVENTURE". McDOWELL is one of the few "child" stars to bridge the generation gap... Been in show business all of 40 years... And keep your eye on former TV star ROBERT HOOKS. Twentieth Century-Fox is grooming him for stardom... HOOKS is the male lead in 20TH's "TROUBLE MAN", one of a package deal of films certain to escalate HOOKS to the big time...

QUOTE. UNQUOTE: Critic REX REED socking it to this year's Oscar Show: "It has been so cheapened by its members that they would vote for the most popular successes, especially in a year in which we've had some extraordinary art films"... REED, more than likely was referring to "THE LAST PICTURE SHOW", a film which he, and others, considered Best Picture of the Year... Columbia's "BUTTERFLIES ARE FREE" will world premiere in N.Y.C. this summer... For those who keep tabs on the upcoming CANNES FILM FESTIVAL, "THE RULING CLASS", starring PETER O'TOOLE, is England's official entry...

For the record books, MAYA ANGELOU will be the first female Black film director with her forthcoming, "NOW I KNOW WHY THE CAGED BIRDS SING"... And if that weren't enough of an accomplishment, Miss ANGELOU is also penning the script, one based on her best selling autobiography of growing up in segregated America... CLIFF ROBERTSON is getting the '72 Oscar buildup, and "J. W. COOP" is the celluloid reason why. A must see film... Though too early in the season to gauge, "J. W. COOP" looms as a definite candidate for 10 Best of the Year...

And what of JOAN COLLINS you quiz? Still as attractive as ever as you'll verify with the mystery-chiller, "TALES OF THE CRYPT"... As for Miss COLLINS performance, four star all the way... Just when I was beginning to wonder what happened to BARBARA PARKINS, she pops up in the film "PUPPET ON A CHAIN"... Though I still can't figure out ANNE BANCROFT's five year film exile. Sure, she wants a "solid" script. But how temperamental can one be in choosing a film property... If ANNE BANCROFT doesn't make a move soon, she will find "comebacking" a long tedious haul to marquee status... Have you noticed ARTE JOHNSON's new about face image? Not so much the clown as post "LAUGH-IN" days...

Brownell Wants Signal At Blessed Sacrament

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has requested that the Police Department install a pedestrian traffic light at Blessed Sacrament Church in Houghs Neck.

In a letter to Police Chief Francis X. Finn, Brownell said an April 9 accident in which a seven-year-old boy was struck by a car could have been avoided with a light at the church.

He added that "a traffic light is needed to help protect children attending the Atherton Hough School during the week."

"Also, I ask that a regular police detail be assigned to this area at times when pedestrian traffic is highest on Sundays and during school weeks," Brownell said.

Unhanging Hangover

What can you do about a hangover? Medical authorities point out that alcohol causes overexpansion of the blood vessels in the brain, so as a first step, they recommend you get out of bed. That will constrict the vessels and lessen the roaring headache. So will an ice pack or the caffeine in coffee.

The thirst that accompanies a hangover is due to dehydration. Several cups of salty beef broth will quell the nausea and replace lost minerals and fluid. Water will only add to the queeziness.

Hangover victims can help their bodies burn up remaining alcohol faster, say the experts, by eating foods containing fructose which is plentiful in honey, ripe fruits and many vegetables. A slice of toast and honey or tomato juice and spices are two practical suggestions. A final cure to future hangovers is to stop drinking the night before.

Quincy, North Wind Up GBL Seasons Today

The Quincy and North Quincy track teams were due to end their Greater Boston League seasons today [Thursday] when they collided at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Tom Hall's powerful Quincy team, stocked with outstanding sophomores, was favored Tuesday to top Somerville and take a 5-0 record into today's North meet.

Going into Tuesday's meet the Presidents had won 14 straight meets, having been unbeaten league champs a year ago. Their only loss two years ago was in the final meet to North, unbeaten champion that year.

Last Tuesday North, with only one win this spring, faced Revere at Medford.

North will wind up its regular season Monday when it faces Thayer Academy in the makeup of a postponed meet at the Thayer track.

Last week Quincy won every event except the half mile to annihilate Medford, 100-31.

Bobby McDermott and John

Johnson were double winners, McDermott copping the high hurdles and triple jump and Johnson the low hurdles and high jump.

"Johnson has been a double winner in every meet this season," Hall said. "He has also been on every winning relay team. He is only a junior and has scored 56 1/4 points so far."

Sophs Paul Riggs and Dave Sten won the long jump and discus respectively, and the other Quincy winners were Ray Lawyer in the 220, Pete Daley in the 440, Steve McCarthy in the 100, the brilliant Bobby Ciano in the mile, Brian Feeney in the two-mile, Bob Volpini in the shot put and Phil Iovanna in the javelin. The relay team of Lawyer, McDermott, Daley and Johnson.

Bob Gentry's North team was defeated by Malden, 73-58, as the Raiders swept most of the seconds and thirds but Malden took most of the first places.

Raider winners were Jeff Leet, unbeaten this year in the shot put, Jack Reynolds in both the high jump and low hurdles and Steve Little in the triple jump.

Taking second places were Bob McCormick in the mile, a fine race; Dan Coughlin, nipped by inches in the 440; Paul Bonoli in the half mile, John Pomerole in the 220 and Dave Ashmanskas in the 100.

Earlier in the week Quincy was given one of its closest battles of the year but swept by Malden, 76-55.

Winning Presidents were McDermott in the high hurdles and triple jump, Johnson in the low hurdles and high jump, Feeney in the mile, Lawyer in the 100, Daley in the 440, Marty Swirko in the half mile, Frank Guido in the discus, Riggs in the long jump and the relay team.

North gained its first win, 74-57, over Everett.

Raider winners were Little in the triple jump, Steve Cordeiro in the javelin, Reynolds in the high jump, Pomerole in the 220, Coughlin in the 440, Bonoli in the half mile and the relay team of Ashmanskas, McCormick, Pomerole and Reynolds.

North's Ron Bradley Drafted By N.Y. Nets

Ron Bradley of North Quincy, 6-3, 190-pound junior guard with the Eastern Nazarene College basketball team, was drafted in the 15th round by the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association.

However, Bradley, who sat out the entire 1971-72 season after a knee operation, plans to play his final season of college basketball at ENC next winter.

Naturally, I'd like to play pro basketball but I feel I need that extra year to mature in and I also want to test my knee," Ron said.

In three years of varsity ball for the Crusaders, Bradley has scored 1,910 points. In two of these years he led the team in rebounding and in all three he was the leader in assists. "Ron is a complete basketball player and is the best college guard I've ever seen," said Coach Jim Smith.

Bradley this summer will travel through the Orient with the Venture for Victory basketball team which will hold clinics and play two games a day in Hong Kong, the Philippines, Taiwan and Japan.

ENC's Don Eads, six-foot guard who took up the scoring slack after Bradley's injury and who broke Bradley's school scoring record for one game, was named to the All-Nazarene college team.

Eads, who was also named to the District 32 NAIA team, was the third leading NAIA scorer in the country as he hit on 51 percent of his field goal attempts and averaged 33.5 points a game.

● Junior High Sports

Broadmeadows Baseball Team Hot And Cold

Coach John Walsh has a young baseball squad at Broadmeadows Junior High this year and the club has been hot and cold.

Good examples of this were last week's two games in which Meadows blasted Point, 15-0, then turned around and was defeated by Sterling, 11-6.

"The squad is young with Ted Wiedemann and Don Connors the only returning starters," Walsh said. "The defense has looked good but hitting and pitching are a question mark."

The usual starting lineup has John Riley pitching, Paul Ferris catching, Jim Forrester first base, Terry O'Day second base, Bill Dacey shortstop, Mike McKenzie third base, Wiedemann left field, Connors center field and Tim Dunn right field.

Ninth grade players are Wiedemann, Connors, O'Day, McKenzie, Dacey, Riley, Dunn, Forrester, Ed Houten, Steve Salventi, Rick Hennessey and Bob Reardon.

Eighth graders are Ferris, Lew Fishman, Paul Sutherland, Kevin Donovan, Jack Powers, Dave Raftery, Jim Wenner and Steve Sullivan.

The lone seventh grader is Marc Connolly.

In the breeze over Point Riley and Dunn combined to pitch a four-hitter, while Riley, Wiedemann, Connors, McKenzie, Dacey and Fishman each had two hits.

Mr., Mrs. Paul O'Leary Score Low Gross

Mr. and Mrs. Paul O'Leary shot a 41 for the low gross score in the mixed Scotch foursome tournament May 10 at Furnace Brook Golf Course.

Alice Pagnano and Frank Foster tallied the low net score, followed by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Corbin in second place and a three-way tie for third between Marie Corayer and Quentin McCaffery, Mrs. Walter Phelps and Walter Hendrickson and Claire Walsh and Harry Backus.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hodges and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roche are in charge of Scotch competition for the season, to be held each Wednesday at 5 p.m.

Red Cross Small Craft Clinic May 26 - 29

Quincy, North Eye Second Place

Although both the Quincy and North Quincy baseball teams fell to 4-5 in the Greater Boston League last week when each lost to Somerville, neither is out of the running for at least second place and an Eastern Mass. Tourney berth.

"I'm not sure of the standings but I'm sure every team has lost at least three games and we as well as Quincy still have a chance at least of second place," said North Quincy Coach Charlie Bunker after the scheduled North-Quincy game Monday was rained out.

That game, also rained out earlier, was reset for Tuesday. Yesterday North was host to Everett and Quincy played at Malden. Today North goes to Medford, Friday it will be Malden at North and Quincy at Medford. The Presidents and Raiders are due to meet for the second time Monday at Adams Field in the finally regularly scheduled game of the year.

Somerville topped North, 5-2, and the following day exploded for five runs in the seventh inning to break a 1-1 tie and topple Quincy, 6-1. Bobby Malvesti had pitched excellent ball for Quincy until the big inning.

The big news last week was Jimmy Walker's no-hitter, the first for a Quincy pitcher in nine years, as the Presidents waltzed by Chelsea, 8-0.

"I was glad to see Jimmy get his no-hitter as he's been on the varsity for three years and has done a good steady job for us," Coach Bob Basiliere said.

Walker struck out eight and walked four during his masterpiece.

Quincy erupted for seven runs in the third inning to clinch things. Malvesti had a triple and single, John Caron, Artie Boyle and Dennis Marvelle two singles each and Walker a triple.

Mighty Mites I & II Compile 4-1-1 Three-Week Record

The Quincy Youth Hockey Mighty Mites I and II have outscored their opponents 34-12 for a combined record of 4-1-1 over the past three weeks.

The Mites I posted a 9-2 victory over Hanover II, 4-0 shut-out of Duxbury and battled Abington to a 4-4 tie while Mites I downed Bridgewater 5-3, and Hanover 10-0 before losing to Scituate 3-2.

Robbie Zanandelle, Brian Sullivan and Kevin McCormick hit for two goals apiece and Kevin Craig, Chuck Marshall and Tom Murphy added to the scoring for Mites I in the win over Hanover.

Marshall, Murphy, Craig and Rick LaPierre provided the firepower against Duxbury and Ma shall scored twice and Craig and Mike Nevins picked up single goals to tie Abington.

Tom Doherty's two goals and single scores by Bob Kelley, Rick Stevens and Ted Duggan led the Mites II over Bridgewater.

Karl Nord, Joe Carroll, Dan Boyle and Tom Doherty each scored twice and Ted Duggan and Bob Kelley hit for single goals in the romp over Hanover.

Dan Boyle hit for both the Mites II goals in the loss to Scituate.

North Still Undefeated, Quincy Hosts Boston Latin

The North Quincy golf team, in its first year under Coach Paul Stanton, is continuing as it did for so many years under the retired Jack Donahue and is rolling along undefeated.

In its latest match North romped over Weymouth North in a non-league match, 8½-½, extending its record to 6-0 overall and 4-0 in the Mass. Coast League in which it is tied for first place.

In the breeze over Weymouth the Raiders' first duo of Tim O'Leary and Bob Sullivan took 2½ points. The other two teams, Bruce Henrikson and Joe Barkas in the middle match, and John Flynn and Paul Cadigan swept three points apiece.

North had previously defeated Boston English, 7-21, in a league match as O'Leary and Barkas took two points, Sullivan and Henrikson also took two while Carl Leone and Cadigan swept three.

Friday Quincy hosts Boston Latin at Furnace Brook and Monday North entertains the same team at Wollaston. Tuesday Quincy will play at Hyde Park and next Thursday will play at Boston Tech.

QJC In Title Finals

The Quincy Junior College baseball team suffered a letdown in the final week of the season and had to be satisfied with second place in the Mass. Jr. College conference but moved into the finals of the championship playoffs against first place East Coast Aero Tech.

The two out of three game series was scheduled to open on Monday at Allison Park in Newton but the opener was rained out. The teams hoped to get started on Tuesday.

Dave Burke's QJC team had an 8-0 conference record and 10-0 overall mark going into its final three games but lost them all.

First the Collejuns dropped a 4-3 squeaker to Dean Jr. College in a non-conference game as dean pounded out three home runs including one for the winning run in the last inning.

Burke shuffled his lineup as it was a non-league game and used several reserves. Second baseman Tim Flynn got his first chance to pitch and did a fine job in a losing cause. He was relieved by Jim Donovan and Ron Vickers. Flynn also had a homer and Jack Flaherty had two hits.

The Quincy club then dropped another squeaker, 3-2, to Bryant and Stratton for its first conference loss, the game going an extra inning.

Quincy took a 2-0 first inning lead but that was all it could score and B & S scored once in the second, tied it in the seventh and won it in the eighth.

Charlie Sullivan had three hits and George Foley drove in the only Quincy runs. Jud McCarthy was the losing pitcher in relief of ace Bob Pastor.

Quincy lost its chance for first place by bowing to Wentworth, 4-2, last week in the final game of the regular schedule. McCarthy again was the loser despite a good job.

Quincy thus finished the regular season 8-2 in the conference and 10-3 overall. Aero Tech was 9-1, Wentworth 7-3 and Graham 6-4 in the conference. QJC handed Aero Tech its only defeat.

In the playoff semifinals last Sunday Quincy topped Wentworth, 6-1, and Aero Tech defeated Graham, 7-0.

Pastor pitched a six-hitter while Quincy had 10 hits, including two apiece by Frank Niles, Ned Tobin and Foley.

'Summer Scene '72' Registration May 20 At Quincy High School

Registration will be held from 8 a.m. to noon May 20 at the Quincy High School Guidance office for "Summer Scene '72", a new approach to summer school in Quincy.

Director Louis R. DiMartinis said the program will be geared to "provide to as many youngsters as possible an exciting bonus learning opportunity during those long summer months."

DiMartinis said summer school has too long been a program one attended due to failure or "if grades were not up to snuff."

"Although there is still the need for programs dealing specifically with skill reinforcement and development, there is an additional need for a greater variety of enrichment activities," he said.

Course offerings will include instrumental music, art, typing, industry and mass production, metal workshop, graphic arts, automotive repair, sewing and cooking.

Arts and humanities courses will include creative writing, theatre arts, marine biology, stage band techniques, reading, language arts, mathematics and science.

"All course offerings will be utilizing a multi-dimensional approach, making full use of outside resources whenever and wherever applicable," DiMartinis said.

Delahunt Moves For Senior Citizen Discounts

Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt has introduced a program providing discounts for senior citizens at local businesses.

Delahunt suggested that Quincy business and professional organizations could be utilized to ascertain which businesses in the community would be interested in providing discounts.

A list of participating businesses with the amount of the discount indicated would be distributed to seniors who would be issued photo identification cards, Delahunt said.

"Not only would such a program benefit our senior citizens who are hard pressed by inflation and rising taxes," he said, "but it would provide local merchants with a competitive edge for the senior citizen dollar."

He said he hoped "response from the business community to my proposal would be swift and enthusiastic."

"I am confident implementation of this program would benefit both segments of our community - business and the elderly."

Franco-American Volunteer Program This Summer At Happy Acres Camp

The Quincy Recreation Department will participate this summer in the Kennedy Foundation's Franco-American Volunteer Program at Happy Acres Day Camp for retarded children.

For the third consecutive summer, volunteers from France will live with Quincy families and work with retarded children at the department-sponsored camp.

A reciprocal program for American students is being conducted for those interested in volunteer work with the retarded in France.

Anyone interested in this program should contact Director William F. Ryan at the Recreation Office, Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St., Quincy.

QCA Asks For Evening License Commission Hearings

The Quincy Citizens Association has requested that the license commission hold evening hearings on all new liquor licenses or other licenses adjacent to residences.

Association officers also suggested that hearing schedules be published in newspapers at least a week in advance because many residents miss the small-print legal notice or notices at City Hall.

Special concern was voiced over "the increasing number of liquor licenses being issued to bars in Quincy Point."

City To Widen Sidewalk, Plant Trees At Bargain Center

The Washington Street sidewalk in front of the Bargain Center will be widened six feet as part of a proposed landscaping and beautification project in the area, Mayor Hannon announced.

The widening will allow for tree planting and the installation of benches and other features to add to the "green-eye appeal" planned for the City Hall-MBTA area.

The Public Works Department will undertake the project as part of its general maintenance program scheduled for completion in early October.

● Quincy, Yesterday

THIS BUILDING has served a number of purposes, as seat of the East Norfolk District Court, Y.M.C.A. and post office. It was built in 1817 to serve as Quincy's Town Hall and town school. In 1842 it was moved to a site near the Coddington School, but removed to its original site on Hancock St. adjacent to the Hancock Cemetery in 1856. Completely modernized it is known today as the Central Building. It houses the Burgin, Platter Insurance Co. on the street floor and law offices on the second floor.

First Quincy District Court Established 100 Years Ago

By PAUL HAROLD

With the Quincy District Court on Chestnut St. opened, it is interesting to look back to the beginnings of the Quincy Court.

The Quincy Court, officially called the District Court of East Norfolk, was established 100 years ago in 1872 by act of the legislature. The judicial district of the court included the towns of Quincy, Braintree, Randolph, Holbrook, Weymouth and Cohasset. Milton was added in 1875.

Before the establishment of the district courts in Massachusetts, "trial justices" would settle disputes in the outlying areas. One of the first such "trial justices" was John Quincy Adams [father of Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy and mayor of Quincy, 1896]. These "trial justices" were in fact, nothing more than justices of the peace who were given authority to hear small civil and criminal cases.

At its establishment, the jurisdiction of the Quincy Court was limited to civil cases not exceeding $300 and to criminal cases where the fine was not over $100 or the sentence not over a year. Today, the court's jurisdiction is unlimited in civil cases and limited to offenses not more than five years in state prison, in criminal cases.

Five justices have presided over the court, but not one has been from Quincy: Everett Bumpus of Weymouth 1872-1882, James Humphrey of Weymouth 1882-1901, Albert Avery of Braintree 1901-1933, Kenneth Nash of Weymouth 1933-1971 and the present justice, Robert Prince of Brockton. Recently, the court has had two special justices, Mrs. Gertrude Halloran of Quincy and James Mulhall of Quincy, who retired in 1971.

Clerks of the court included: J. Belcher White of Randolph, James Churchill of Milton, Lawrence Lyons of Quincy and the present clerk, Dennis Ryan of Quincy.

The court convened for its first session on June 1, 1872, in Revere Hall, located on the second floor of the old Town House, the present Central Building, site of Burgin, Platter Insurance Co. Since then it has sat in the Adams Building, the Shaw Building [now the Bargain Center] and in 1910 moved to its Coddington St. location.

One of the most famous cases in the history of Massachusetts originated at the Quincy District Court back in the 1920's. Sacco and Vanzetti were arraigned in Quincy about a month after the famed Braintree murder-holdup and were ordered held for the grand jury in Dedham.

Living, Today

'Something ... To Look Forward To'

Ann was 43...Frank was 47...she was attractive...I took him to be 20 pounds overweight...children grown...he had a net income of $300 weekly...and he was satisfied with things as they were. The wife was unhappy...in fact she was miserable. "I just don't know what's the matter with him..."she was saying. "All he wants to do is sit...look at the boob tube...eat chips and drink beer. That's why he's so fat...look at that belly." Ann reached over and patted his stomach. "We have no goals...just everything the same...TV...chips and beer."

"I enjoy eating"...Frank said..."I'm not hurting anyone. What good is life if a guy can't eat?" As we continued to talk we found that this man had stopped doing many of the things which they had enjoyed years before. She was starved for wholesome activity...fun things...something to look forward to. They had reached a point where they just existed...they weren't really living. Something had to change...she was near the end of her rope.

Everybody needs "something to look forward to"...living for the moment can become very mechanical.

The eat-sleep-work routine is the existence of an animal...not a man or a woman. It leads to dullness...obsessive...drunkenness...divorce...because a partner needs "something to look forward to".

There are short range...and long-range things to look forward to. Many couples look forward to their Saturday night out together...dinner and dancing...movie...visiting with friends...a party. The anticipation of that "good time" can tug us along through the week. It can prevent the doldrums...depression...even little sicknesses that are just bids for sympathy. You need "something to look forward to"...short range.

Then...there's the long range things to look forward to...the summer vacation trip...a promotion...a son's graduation from college...a daughter's first baby...a retirement home. These joyful events take years for fulfillment. One of the saddest phenomena of our times is the older people who have nothing to look forward to...no tugs from the future...just bare walls...and death. This is why even a short visit from friends and loved ones is so valuable to such persons. Everybody...young and old...needs "something to look forward to."

Too many of us are living just for the present...want the immediate satisfaction...can't work for the more meaningful thing which is down the road. Here's Frank who likes food...he overeats and gets fat...while all the time wishing to be slender. But the long-range goal is blocked because the person is compulsive about the immediate satisfaction of eating. It's a matter of priorities. If you'd rather over-eat than have a healthy attractive figure...O.K. but you can't have both. You must choose between immediate pleasure...and the greater "something to look forward to".

I hope you don't have an Ann and Frank situation. They finally reorganized their lives so that they had important things to look forward to...and both became happy again. Misery is often overcome simply by having "something to look forward to."

Register Income Tax Preparers To Stop Fly-By-Nighters

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Now that the mad rush of the income tax season is over let us not forget there will be many more for years to come.

With all the controversies among the Internal Revenue Service, the Treasury Dept., and the many tax preparation firms, and professional tax preparers, it isn't fair that the good, honest and qualified preparers should be affected by all the adverse publicity.

Licensing or Registering practitioners should be the answer to this problem. After all, we find that plumbers, electricians, dentists, doctors, lawyers, real estate, insurance, investment brokers, etc., are all licensed. Why not income tax preparers who deal with public finances and the everchanging laws, rules and regulations by Congress which are to be properly interpreted by the practitioner in order to give the public the best service possible. Having been a tax accountant for many years with various income tax firms in various capacities, and worked with personal clients and with the I.R.S., it must be said that no one should be exempt from taking the qualifying test in order to free ourselves from the fly-by-nighters and give the public the most competent service and protection possible which they are entitled to.

Council Approves $2,050,000 Bond For School Rink, Office

The City Council approved a $2,050,000 bond issue Monday night for the proposed skating rink-administrative complex at Quincy High School.

Approval was followed by charges and rebuttal that "school officials have not been fair and frank" in their original cost projections for the facility presented to the council.

Councillor-at-Large Joseph J. LaRaia said the $480,000 estimated construction cost was "highly conservative and used only to promote ... the cost of their proposals."

LaRaia said he refuted "the authenticity of these figures" when they were presented and predicted the cost would be $75,000-$100,000 higher.

He said the "moment of truth" came Monday when City Auditor Alexander Smith presented the cost at $557,000.

The city will receive 65 percent reimbursement for the $1,524,000 rink portion of the facility but must pay the entire $557,000 cost for the administrative offices.

School Committee Vice Chairman Paul C. Kelly accused LaRaia of "looking for headlines in an election year". He said the $480,000 figure LaRaia referred to was presented to the council as an estimate of construction costs only. LaRaia has been rumored a candidate for Norfolk County Treasurer.

Kelly said school officials explained at the time that the figure did not include architects fees, contingencies, clerk of the works salaries and other incidentals.

City Auditor Smith said the final figures both supported LaRaia's claim and showed that the "superintendent and the architect were telling the truth."

"Joe [LaRaia] was right" when he said the final figure would be at least $75,000 higher than construction costs, Smith said.

But he added that school officials made it clear in their first presentation that the figure did not include fees, piling and contingencies because "they didn't know the percentages."

The final figure, including the $2,050,000 bond issue and $53,000 already appropriated, is identical with the original overall cost of projection, Smith said.

School Committee Vice Chairman Paul C. Kelly said there has been "no misrepresentation" and accused LaRaia of "looking for headlines."

"It's obviously an election year," Kelly said.

LaRaia said "this experience casts doubts as to the accuracy of the cost figures that school officials will present to the city council on all future proposals."

The school committee and ice skating rink committee "have always been available to answer any and all questions concerning prices," Kelly said.

"If he [LaRaia] didn't ask the proper questions, it's not our fault," he said.

Committee To Seek Council On Aging Head

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has appointed a nine-man committee to screen candidates to succeed Arthur Ciampa as executive director of the Quincy Council on Aging.

"The committee will be empowered to advertise, screen and advise the mayor as to the most qualified candidate" for the office, Hannon said.

Their choice would be appointed provisionally for one year with subsequent involvement dependent "both upon satisfactory performance and on passing the Civil Service test."

Named to the committee were:

* Earle P. MacLeod, president of the Quincy Community Action Organization Inc.

* James Pisciotto, senior regional planner of United Community Services.

* Dr. Arne Korstvedt, chief psychologist of the South Shore Mental Health Center.

* Rev. Joseph Connolly of St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

* Ruth MacRitchie, League of Women Voters.

* Rev. Ronald Ober, Wollaston Methodist Church.

* Dr. Alfred Mahoney, Quincy Health Commissioner.

* Charles Edgerly and Clarence Edwards of the Council on Aging.

To Secure Summer Jobs For Students

Two college students will be assigned to the Division of Employment Security this summer in an effort to find summer jobs for the youth of Quincy.

Mayor Hannon has asked William Trifone, director of college work-study programs to assign the workers and has appealed to the business community for cooperation.

"Much has been said about cities and towns depending on state and federal government funding for various programs to alleviate many of the problems of the cities and town," he said.

The cry has been to stress the place of the private business sector in our economy.

"On that basis, I am urging all of our businessmen in the area to make every effort to utilize the services of our youth for the coming summer," he said.

Hannon said only 20 percent of the 1,000 applicants were placed in jobs last summer and federal funds for placement this year will be limited.

Poet's Corner

The Prison Cell

[Editors Note: The following poem was written by a sixth grade student at the Pollard School, Quincy Point. Carl England came to Quincy from England a year ago and will be returning at the end of May.]

His teacher, Rosemarie Guivens notes the poem is exactly as Carl wrote it.]

This lonely boy is sad and hot.
For three days now he's taken Pot.
And 23 dollars for pot is a jip,
But it's real good when you're on a trip.

These Iron bars have trapped him in.
But taking drugs is a rotten sin.
There he stays for ever more.
Until he drops down to the floor.

He's on the floor and awful ill.
Now he would rather die than take a pill.
His friends have taken Heroine,
He should have told them it's a sin.

But now the boy has met his death,
And smells of Pot are on his breath.
But to this day it's very plain,
Some other kids will lie in pain.

Carl England

For Freedom's Sake

For freedom's sake they leave their homes,
Their time of youth, those they hold dear,
For mankind's sake they bear their tasks,
Their endless marches, their heavy gear.

In freedom's name they jeopardize
The future to which they are heir,
Knowing always the suffering
It might become their lot to bear.

In freedom's cause, they travel on,
And never falter at their call,
Though frightened in the knowledge that
Some will be called to give their all.

And though the threat to freedom's quest
Lies far beyond the boundless sea,
To hearts that care for freedom's cause,
No one is free till all are free,

Quick Rice Parmesan

For a man-pleasing summer menu, grill a garlic and oil rubbed steak over charcoal and accompany it with Italian-style Quick Risotto. The rice go-along is easy to prepare atop-the-range in the kitchen or can be cooked in an electric skillet. If the dish has to wait a little, until the steak is cooked to perfection, there will be no loss in quality, when you use UNCLE BEN'S QUICK Rice, the fast-cooking rice that has the flavor and texture of regular longer cooking rice.

Just a few simple ingredients are required for the risotto—chopped onion, beef bouillon, rice and grated Parmesan—the kind that comes in a handy shaker container. The rice that cooks in 5 minutes is a handy summer staple for meals at home or on-the-go.

Quick Risotto

2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 can beef bouillon plus water to make 2 cups liquid

2 cups UNCLE BEN'S QUICK Rice
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook onions in melted butter in medium skillet until soft. Stir in bouillon mixture and rice. Bring to VIGOROUS boil. Cook, over moderate heat, UNCOVERED about 5 minutes, until water is absorbed. Mix in cheese. Serve hot with garlic-flavored steak. Makes 4 servings.

It's In To Be Thin By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

A helping of health ... that's what you put on your plate every time you plunk down a spoonful of vegetables. So when you're tempted to fall into the childish way of thinking about vegetables, which is to disregard them, grow up!

We are so pampered with the fresh taste and appearance of the frozen vegetables available to us at all seasons that we forget what bounty we have. Less than 50 years ago, vegetables were an occasion to be cherished. Fresh peas came only at the end of June; fresh string beans in July. The dreary winter months brought beets, carrots, turnips, and potatoes out of the root cellar. Every week the ones that appeared on the table were a little more wrinkled and a little less tasty.

Now that we can have our pick of the harvest at any time of year, what do we do with the privilege? We overlook it. And we overcook it. We take a package of vegetables from the freezer, toss it into too much water, boil it to death, and drown its vitamins. Here's how to do something different:

TWO-DAY TWO-WAY BROCCOLI SOUP

- 1 Package Frozen Chopped Broccoli
- 3 Packets Instant Chicken Broth
- 1 Tablespoon Onion Flakes
- 1/2 Teaspoon Parsley Flakes
- 6 Drops Butter Flavoring [or a sprinkle of butter salt]
- Salt and Pepper to Taste
- 1 Quart Water

Combine all ingredients in saucepan and simmer 5 to 10 minutes. Divide into two parts.

Serve first part with a sprinkle of grated parmesan cheese and 1/4 teaspoon Hidden Valley Dressing. Next day place remainder in blender with 1/2 cup skim milk. Blend until smooth and heat slowly on low heat.

For your weight-control and weight-loss eating, vegetables are your very best space fillers. You just can't ignore them because your ignorance will cost you nourishment as well as satiety. Every tiny vegetable tendril is packed with vitamins and minerals. The vegetable bulk not only fills you up, it helps your digestive system work by stimulating the process of elimination.

Cook your vegetables lovingly, creatively. Stir fry them munching crisp, Chinese-style [this is the year for Orient orientation] in a small amount of bouillon. Herb them. Marinate them in a sweet and sour dressing.

Most of all cherish them and be grateful for them. Now that summer is at hand, track down a farmstand that will supply you with intriguing new varieties. Jolly up your meals with what is "coming in" from the fields. The otherwise common place carrot, freshly plucked, is an uncommon treat.

Write to me in care of The Quincy Sun or at The Diet Workshop, 594 Merrick Avenue, East Meadow, New York, 11554 for the answers to any of your diet questions and for our free brochure "Sweet Rewards for Dieters".

Hannon, Council Support Memorial Day Observance For POWS

Mayor Hannon and the City Council have signed a resolve in support of the Committee to Remember Our Prisoners of War observances for Memorial Day.

The committee, with the endorsement of city government, is asking residents to leave a light burning on their porch or lawn and drive with headlights on in memory of prisoners.

Prisoners in Southeast Asia

"have been humiliated, tortured and maimed by people who blatantly disregard the Geneva Treaty on prisoners of war," according to Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth.

Smyth, chairman of the council Veterans Services Committee, introduced the resolve at Monday night's meeting.

"Their families have been subjected to indignity and mental torture by people who refuse to disclose the whereabouts and condition of these American prisoners they are now holding," Smyth said.

"The basis of this appeal is to demonstrate to our President, Congressmen, Senators and to the Hanoi government that the American people have not forgotten their prisoners of war."

Taleb Grotto 'Band-Tasia' Raises Funds For CP

By DICK MATTULINA

The award winning Taleb Grotto Band of Quincy has recorded a long-playing album "Band-Tasia" to raise funds for the grotto's cerebral palsy contributions.

The 60-piece group's first recording was cut last spring at the Masonic Temple in Quincy and produced by Quincy Recording Studios, 1354 Hancock St.

Conductor Walter M. Smith Jr. of Marshfield said band members decided to make the album because "we thought we could do better that way than we could in a concert" in raising funds.

So Taleb Grotto advanced the group money and the 60 members spent four hours in recording session to produce their effort.

The album, featuring march music and selections from Meredith Willson's "The Music Man", may be purchased from any band member or Grotto officer.

Taleb Grotto Monarch Walter Newcomb said copies may also be obtained from the South Shore National Bank Wollaston office, Weymouth Cooperative Bank in Weymouth Landing, Braintree Cooperative Bank in South Braintree Square, Whynot Pontiac in Randolph and South Shore Television in Quincy Center.

Songs on the album include Bagley's "Front Section", Roux' "Festival Day", Seitz' "Grandioso", Fillmore's "The Man of the Hour", Jewell's "Supreme Triumph".

Also "Americans We" by Fillmore, "Gardes Du Corps" by Hall, "Semper Fidelis" by Sousa, "National Spirit" by Hummel and "Gate City" by Weldon.

Taleb Grotto Band started as a seven-piece orchestra in 1923 and grew to full band in 1924 under conductor Harry W.

Sprague.

It came into full bloom in 1926 when leadership was assumed by world-famous cornetist Walter M. Smith Sr.

Persons over 40 may recall the late Mr. Smith as a radio performer with various bands and for his performances at the old Hatch Shell in Merrymount.

Within a year, he had molded the band into the number one concert band of all Grottos.

Taleb Grotto Band walked away with first prize as National Champions with a brilliant and flawless musical performance at the 1928 National Convention in Richmond, Va.

The band continued to win honors in every contest and competition it entered under Walter Smith's leadership until his death in 1937.

Gifted baritone soloist Walter J. Lund was conductor from 1937 until Mr. Smith's son, a cornet virtuoso in his own right, took the baton in 1940.

Some of the finest musicians in Greater Boston have been numbered among the Taleb Grotto Band, including many who have played for John Philip Souza and Edwin Franko Goldman.

Under Walter Smith Jr. and manager Alfred R. Favor, the band continues to prove it is among the best in its field.

Latest honor was first place at the national championship competition during the Atlantic City Convention in 1969-70.

The band gave a public performance last October at North Quincy High School and performs regularly at monthly Taleb Grotto meetings.

Members donate their time, talents and money without compensation.

They include Russell O. Barritt, Anthony Bersacola, Francis Black, Samuel S. Blake, Sven H. Caspersen, Paul R. Chambers, Milton Child, George M. Connell, Emerson Corson.

'Big Three' At Beacon Cleansers Combine For 100 Years Experience

Shortly after World War II, Joe Grippi of Willet St. bought himself a truck and offered his services door to door around Quincy as a dry cleaner.

"I bought a sign from a guy and it only had room for six letters," Joe said. "So I started thinking of names with six letters to get me near the front of the phone book and came up with Beacon."

Business quickly got too big for a truck and Grippi "got a little hole in the wall" at 622 Hancock St. and hung out his "Beacon Cleansers" sign in 1947.

Three years later his growing business moved next door to 624 Hancock St., Wollaston, where it has been ever since.

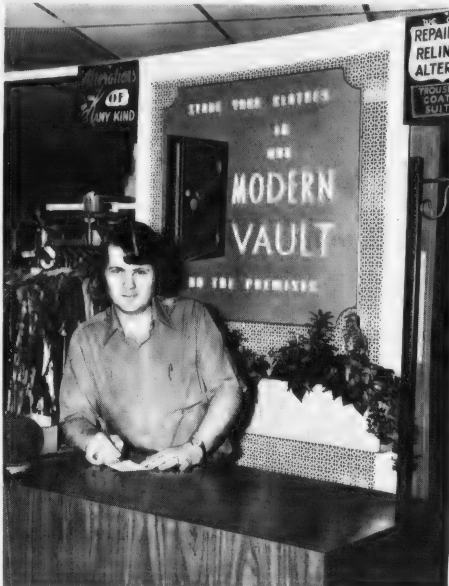

Joe Grippi is now president of a dry cleaning operation which employs 13 people, including two delivery truck drivers, and houses what he proudly proclaims as "the best storage vault in the South Shore."

He, his son Ken and floor manager Mrs. Sadie Pece have a combined total of more than 100 years in laundering which belies their ages.

Both the Grippis cut their teeth in laundries. Joe taking his first job as an apprentice at West Quincy Tailors at the ripe old age of 10.

Ken, who is vice president of the firm at age 26, also started his "apprenticeship" at his father's shop when he was 10 years old.

Ken is a graduate of North Quincy High School and served with the Seabees in Vietnam before graduating from the National Institute of Dry Cleaning in 1967.

KEN GRIPPI, vice president of Beacon Cleansers, 624 Hancock St., Wollaston, takes pen in hand to serve customers. Ken's father, Joe Grippi, founded the business more than 25 years ago by driving around the city in a truck and offering his services door to door.

In 1967, he won a certificate of merit and the annual spotting and finishing award of Dry Cleaning World publication.

Joe Grippi, 58, was born in Italy and moved to Quincy as a child where he later met and married the former Elizabeth West of Sweden.

The elder Grippi's have two children, Ken and daughter Mrs. Patricia Pomarico, one granddaughter Michelle and "we're expecting a grandson in June," Joe said.

The grandson - or granddaughter - is due shortly to Ken and his wife, the former Priscilla Fielding. They live on Beale St.

which provides global communications and air traffic control for the USAF.

He is a 1953 graduate of Quincy High School. His wife is the former Sandra J. Gustafson.

How do you compare financially?

Study Reveals Secret of Americans' Net Worth

By Philip J. Lawrence
President

COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS

And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holbrook

8-6 Weekdays

8-7:30 Thursdays

Have you ever wondered how you compare financially with your fellow Americans? This is a natural curiosity, especially in a nation where the only class consciousness is based upon how well a family can afford to live.

One of America's best-kept secrets has been how much a person or family makes or what its financial means are. Men and women more willingly divulge secrets of their intimate lives than their annual income or net worth.

An insight into the amount of wealth possessed by Americans was made available through a survey of the financial characteristics of consumers authorized by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

Stripped of its "multiple linear regression," "elasticities of portfolio components," and statistical jargon, the study provided an illuminating picture of the wealth of contemporary Americans at various age levels.

The assets and debts of American consumer units were grouped into six major components of wealth. A consumer unit was defined as "each group of two or more persons related by blood, marriage, or adoption, and residing together, as well as each individual not living with relatives."

The six wealth components investigated were 1) homes, 2) automobiles, 3) businesses or professions, 4) liquid assets—savings and checking accounts and U.S. savings bonds, 5) investment assets—mainly marketable securities, investment real estate, and mortgages, and 6) a miscellaneous group consisting largely of assets held in personal trusts.

Researchers found it so difficult to obtain satisfactory data about equity in life insurance, annuities, and retirement funds that these were omitted from the wealth totals. They reported that "many participants could not make even approximate estimates" of their holdings in these areas.

An equity or net worth concept was used in arriving at the amount of wealth in each category so that debts secured by assets were deducted from the values of the assets. Thus, the equity in a home represented its market value less the debt on the home. Incidentally, three-fourths of the debt deducted in the study represented mortgages on owned homes.

Some of us who like to think that the apparent wealth of others was inherited will be surprised to learn that most of the consumer units achieved their wealth through their own savings. Only one of twenty units reported that an inheritance accounted for a substantial portion of its present wealth.

In succeeding articles we shall review the findings concerning how much wealth Americans have, where it is located, and what they are saving for.

Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron which deployed on temporary duty from Bergstrom AFB, Tex., for the month-long exercise.

He and fellow airmen from the Tactical Air Command unit are processing and evaluating photographs for intelligence purposes during the operation.

Dr. Michael Sherwood Joins Survival, Inc. Staff

Dr. Michael Sherwood has joined the staff of Survival Inc. Dr. Sherwood is Director of Professional Counseling Inc. of Quincy, and is on the staff of Quincy City Hospital, Boston Hospital for Women, and is a clinical instructor in psychiatry at the Harvard Medical School. As a member of Survival's training and education staff, he is currently supervising the counseling staff of Survival's Maintenance Supported Therapy (MST) program. Dr. Sherwood's skills and experience, a spokesman said, are contributing greatly to the success of the methadone type treatment modality that began in September.

In addition to providing methadone maintenance, Survival's MST program offers twice weekly group therapy and individual counseling. Persons with opiate [heroin] dependence problems are urged to contact James Manganiello at Survival's Opiate Redirection Center. A no wait appointment can be made by calling 471-8492.

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth has urged the MDC to consider the corner of Squantum Causeway and Quincy Shore Drive as the site for its North Quincy pumping station.

Smyth, who opposes the proposed construction at the former First National Store at East Squantum St., said his suggestion makes "good sense from an economic point of view."

"By so doing, you will not be disturbing the residents of Williams St. and Hummock Rd.," Smyth said in a letter to MDC Commissioner John W. Sears.

"The connecting pipes for the new sewer system are located in this area," he said.

Six Supertankers Subsidy Gets Approval

Congressman James A. Burke announces that the Maritime Administration has approved a subsidy of 42.97 per cent for construction of six supertankers at General Dynamics, Quincy Shipyard.

The action puts approval of the project in its final stages, leaving only matters of design and operation of the 1,094 foot long ships to be resolved.

The highest subsidy possible was 43 per cent. The U.S. will give $25,325,000. of the negotiated price of $58,925,000. per ship. Total subsidy is $151,950,000.

Burke was joined in this announcement by Senators Edward Brooke and Edward Kennedy and Congressman Hastings Keith of West Bridgewater. Burke observed that this is the "best news we've had in a long time for the shipyard." I can only hope that everything will go smoothly from here on in for the Shipyard.

Brownell Urges Passage Of Pollution Fine Bill

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has filed a bill directing the MDC to investigate the sources of pollution to Quincy beaches.

The bill is one of several environmental protection measures among the 46 pieces of legislation filed by Brownell for the 1972 session.

It also requires that recommendations be made by the MDC on methods to eliminate any source of pollution discovered.

Three other proposals provide tax incentives to industries seeking to reduce air, noise and water pollution.

Another measure authorizes the Norfolk County Commissioners to participate in cooperative shore protection and repair programs for the City of Quincy.

Brownell is co-sponsor with Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn of a bill establishing a Division of Environment Protection within the attorney general's office.

Public Meeting On Flood Problems At North Quincy June 8

Chronic flood problems in Quincy, Braintree and Milton and methods for prevention of losses will be discussed at a public meeting in Quincy June 8, the U.S. Army Engineers announces.

Colonel Frank P. Bane, Division Engineer for the New England Division, said residents of all three communities are urgently invited to the 7:30 p.m. meeting at North Quincy High School.

A Congressional resolution passed by the House Public Works Committee Dec. 2, 1970 authorized the $250,000, three year study. The Congressional approval followed flood insurance and reconnaissance studies by the Corps of flooding problems along Furnace Brook, Town Brook and Hayward Creek.

Floods in 1955, 1968, and 1969 brought into focus the fact that urban development in the recent years has accelerated runoff into once adequate stream channels. A storm of the magnitude of the 1955 flood would cause an estimated $1.5 million in damage to commercial, industrialized and residential properties at 1971 price levels.

"Preliminary examination of hydrologic and hydraulic data indicate," Colonel Bane said, "that flood stages slightly higher than those of 1955 flood would drastically increase flood losses."

The Army Engineers pointed out that the 1968-1969 flood experience caused damages approaching the losses suffered in 1955. "This is a graphic warning of the high loss potential generated by extensive residential and commercial development in the past 16 years," Colonel Bane said.

"I urge residents in the study area to attend the June 8 meeting," Colonel Bane said. "All information and comments by the public will be helpful to us in completing the study and recommending a course of action."

Quincy Blanks North, No. 100 For Basiliere

The Quincy and North Quincy baseball teams ended their seasons out of the Greater Boston League title running but Quincy's 1-0 win over North in the final game for both teams on Monday gave Quincy Coach Bob Basiliere some personal satisfaction.

Basiliere reached a milestone with the win, his 100th as the Presidents' coach. He had to wait until there were two outs and two strikes on the batter in the last inning to achieve the 100th victory.

A week ago the two city rivals staged a masterpiece at Adams Field as fog forced cancellation of their game after 14 scoreless innings. This was the first game of the year between the teams.

Monday's game, the second scheduled contest between the two, went into the bottom of the ninth scoreless but with two outs and two men on, a two-strike single to right field drove in the only run in 23 innings between the old rivals.

As neither team made first or second place in the league, it was decided not to replay the tie game.

The brightest star in the two games was North pitcher Bob Pierce, who pitched 22 scoreless innings against the Presidents but has only his second loss of the year to show for it.

Pierce went all 14 innings a week ago, giving up four hits, striking out seven and walking two. Monday he went the route, giving up five hits, three of them infield hits, struck out eight and walked four.

Bob Torino was sensational at shortstop for the Raiders.

Jimmy Walker, who started the 14-inning game for Quincy and hurled 12 innings before giving way to Bob Malvesti, went the route Monday, yielding seven hits, striking out seven and not issuing a base on balls.

North finished its season with a 7-6-1 league record and 8-6-1 overall mark, while Quincy was 6-7-1 in the league and 9-7-1 overall.

The first game between the two was halted for 20 minutes to see if the fog would clear but after that time it was still virtually impossible to see anyone on the field.

North had kept its hopes for at least second place and an Eastern Mass. Tourney berth alive by topping Everett, 5-4, and Medford, 8-4, but then was edged by Malden, 3-1.

Quincy had defeated Medford, 6-4, but lost to Malden, 5-4, prior to the final game with North.

North's junior varsity finished in fine style Monday with a 3-0 win over Quincy's high flying jayvees behind the stellar pitching of Steve McLaughlin, who will be a key man next year.

Another key for North next season will be Bill Shea, called upon to make his first varsity start against Malden when games on four successive days and a pair of sore arms left Coach Charlie Bunker without a hurler.

● Junior High Sports

Point Track Team Small In Numbers But Big On Talent

Point Junior High has the smallest enrollment in the city and the athletic teams suffer in league competition.

This is true with the track team but Coach Larry Keough's team has been holding its own and he feels some of the boys will do well in the all-league pentagonal meet at the stadium next Wednesday.

"We are small in numbers and it has hurt us in our dual meets," Keough said. "But we do have some fine individual performers who could help us tremendously in the city meet. This is a good group of young men and all have worked very hard."

Ninth grade standouts are Jim Johnson in the 100-yard dash and high jump, Mike Cirillo and Mike Reardon in the long jump, Bob DeAngelis and John Goguen in the high jump, Jim Martel and Martin Muscato in the mile, Tom Grodin and Doug King in the shot put.

The eighth grade has two fine high jumpers in Dwight Anderson and Leo Barron. Anderson also runs the half mile.

The relay team is made up of Steve Palumbo, Anderson, Bob Silva and Jim Rose. Bob Varrasso is the shot putter with Carmen Cacciatore, Ken Sunnerburg and Greg Affia.

Steve Palumbo is in the dash with Rose and Perry Paolucci, while Silva, Dave Woish and Joe Ingegueri compete in the long jump. Steve Spano is another eighth grade competitor.

The seventh grade has Ed Daley in the high jump, Bob D'Olympio in the long jump and dash, Bob Giglio in the one-lap run, Jeff Johnston, Bob Pettinelli and Bob Maggiani in the shot and a fine relay team comprising Manny Williams, Daley, D'Olympio and Giglio. Other seventh graders are Bill Mezzetti and Tony Medico.

● Softball

Quincy Girls' Softball Team Nears End Of Strong Season

Quincy girls' softball players, must be listening to their coach, Mary Pratt, who was one of the best in the country, because they are rolling along toward another outstanding season.

Mary was an outstanding pitcher several years ago in the All-American Woman's League in the midwest and her Quincy girls have been taking her advice with good results.

Last week Quincy walloped Hingham, 15-9, and Weymouth South, 11-5, to make its record 7-1 with one game remaining against Malden, the only team to defeat the First Ladies.

In the Hingham romp Donna Brickley, Betsy Witt, Debbie Congdon and Margaret Ryan were the sparks.

Against Weymouth South

Miss Witt and Miss Ryan combined for six hits, including two long doubles. Miss Congdon, in relief of Bonnie Seeley, posted her sixth win against no losses.

Jean Macchi was the defensive star with seven putouts in centerfield and she also assisted in a double play which ended the game.

Quincy Girls Wind Up Net Season Friday

The North Quincy girls' tennis team doesn't have a senior this spring but the Raiderettes were 4-4 after last week's matches. They end their season Friday at Weymouth South as they go for a winning record.

After being blanked, 5-0, by undefeated Weymouth North, the Raiderettes bounced back to sweep Malden, 5-0, to even their record.

Misses Matson, Chiminello and Lawlor won their singles matches while Misses Hughes and Brennan took first doubles and Misses Langley and Quinn completed the sweep.

Meanwhile the Quincy girls were edged by Hingham 3-2, as Miss Glennon won her singles match and Miss Ilacqua and Nancy Bernstein won in doubles.

The Quincy girls wind up their season next Tuesday at Weymouth North.

Last week the Quincy girls just missed as they were nipped by Walpole, 59½-57½, being outclassed in the running events.

Quincy had a big 31-14 bulge in the field events but the winners kept pecking away and finally won the meet with a win in the relay.

The most exciting event was the mile won by Jill Seamans in 6:09.3, a new Quincy record. Miss Foley took three firsts, discus, shot put and high jump and Miss Bennett won the 220 and 440. Miss King won the half mile and Miss Ilacqua the javelin.

The Quincy lasses will compete in the state meet on June 3 at the U. of Massachusetts.

Presidents Finish Perfect Season With North Win

Quincy High may have a track dynasty in the making.

The Presidents completed their second straight unbeaten Greater Boston League season last week with an 85½-45½ win over rival North Quincy for their 15th successive win and 20th in the last 21 meets. The only loss in the past three years was to North in the final meet two years ago when the Raiders were unbeaten champions.

The GBL champs now set their sights on the state title. The trials will be held Saturday and the finals on Monday. Both Quincy and North will have several entrants in the state meet.

Not only did Quincy finish another unbeaten campaign but the Presidents' brilliant Bobby Ciano wound up a remarkable three-year career.

Bobby, who holds the state mile title, finished a three-year varsity career unbeaten in spring track, winter track and cross country.

"Bobby is a tremendous boy and a remarkable trackman," Coach Tom Hall lauded. "He is really outstanding and is very coachable."

It appears that Quincy will be Quincy's winners included: Ciano, who beat North ace Bob McCormack in the mile.

Bob McDermott in the triple jump and high hurdles.

Mark McLeod in the half mile, edging North's Paul Bonoli by two feet.

Sophomore Paul Riggs in the long jump and 220, Ray Lawyer, 100; Pete Daley, 440; Brian Feeney, two mile and Phil Iovanna, javelin.

North's Steve Leet finished up undefeated in the shot put, Dave Mahoney won the high jump, Jack Reynolds the low hurdles and the relay team also won.

Although it won only one meet, Bob Gentry's North team lost several close decisions.

The team to beat for several years to come in the GBL. Many of this spring's standouts were only sophomores and the junior highs again are turning out excellent trackmen.

The highlight of the Quincy-North finale at Veterans Memorial Stadium was Quincy Sophomore Dave Sten's record-breaking toss of 143 feet in the discus. He set the new league mark in his first year of competition.

Red Raiders Off To Bermuda

The Greater Boston League champion North Quincy High School Basketball Team will leave Logan Airport May 26 for five days and four nights in Bermuda.

Montezuma's Revenge

There have been so many bad jokes about overseas diseases resulting in diarrhea to travellers, that the myth has become more threatening than the disease itself.

Actually, locally acquired ailments with names like "Montezuma's Revenge", "Aztec Two-Step", "Delhi Belly", or "Turkey Trot" are not as bothersome to most travellers as the victims would like you to believe.

If it's going to hit you, it will usually come during the first or second week. There is not much you can do, other than relieve the more uncomfortable symptoms.

The disease almost always runs its full course in three days or less.

It is generally concluded that young people are more susceptible to it than older people indicating a sort of immunity to "Turista" may develop with age.

Congratulations to Coach Dave Burke and his Quincy Junior College baseball team.

The Collejons, due to a let-down in their final three games, had to be satisfied with second place in the Massachusetts Junior College Conference with an 8-2 record. But they came back to twice wallop first place East Coast Aerotech to win the playoff championship and complete the most successful year in their four-year history.

Aerotech had posted a 9-1 record in regular season play, losing only to Quincy but was outclassed by QJC in the playoffs.

In the opening game of the finals Quincy romped, 11-3, as Jim Donovan went all the way on the mound and John Stevens belted a three-run homer to spark a five-run fifth inning.

Donovan gave up only three hits for his third win with no losses, struck out six and walked three.

Tony Alibrandi had a double and two singles and Stevens had a single as well as his homer.

The title game at Allison Park in Newton was even more one-sided as QJC romped, 13-0, behind the two-hit pitching of Bob Pastor, who pitched his seventh win without a defeat. He struck out five and didn't issue a base on balls.

QJC pounded out 15 hits including a double and two singles by Pastor, a double and single by Stevens, and two singles apiece by Frank Niles, Ned Tobin and John Cingolani.

Alibrandi and Jack Flaherty, both former North Quincy High stars, were elected co-captains of next year's squad and will be two of six players returning.

QJC wound up with a 13-3 record, by far the school's best record.

'The Godfather' Box Office King

Watch for "THE GODFATHER" to eclipse the big three, "LOVE STORY", "THE SOUND OF MUSIC", and the current box office champ "GONE WITH THE WIND", as the new box office king... In its first eight weeks out, "THE GODFATHER" has grossed close to $50 million. A whopping figure for the most ambitious of productions, what this film has done in so short a time is absolutely incredible... In city after city, this motion picture is breaking, and setting, all $$$ records...

By the end of the year, I see "THE GODFATHER" vaulting over "LOVE STORY" and "THE SOUND OF MUSIC", and hugging very closely to "GONE WITH THE WIND" for the number one position as the all-time moneymaking picture... And by next year at this time, it will be Numero Uno at the box office. In years to come, with re-release after re-release, "THE GODFATHER" will continue to set the pace, and remain unchallenged as the Number One grossing film of all time... "The" art film of its genre [gangster picture], this motion picture will continue to enthrall audiences in the decades to come because it is that rarity in film art, a microscopic analysis of the human condition for better or worse...

For those who keep score, the only two nations who do not control by censorship the film output of their countries, are Japan and X-rated "home sweet home"... And in the hard core porno department, America has outdistanced its 'sister European neighbors with flies that even make "open-minded" Continentals blush with shame... Veteran film star DANA ANDREWS is three grandchildren young... IRENE RYAN, the famed "Granny" of the "BEVERLY HILLBILLIES" television series, has set up a $1 million scholarship fund to benefit students of the arts...

More news on IRVING songbird NINA VAN PALLANDT. As forecast in this column a week ago, Miss PALLANDT is embarking on a motion picture career... She recently signed as ELLIOTT GOULD's co-star in "THE LONG GOODBYE"... Filming is scheduled to begin this June in Los Angeles, with the proviso temperamental GOULD doesn't pull one of his famed "walkouts"... LYLE STUART's moving literary homage to his wife, "MARY LOUISE" just has to be made into a motion picture. A true "love story" in every touching sense of the word...

And what of JOHN DEREK and ROBERT STACK you ask? Far as can be verified, DEREK is in permanent retirement from the scene screen. Hasn't done any TV or film work for the past six years... As for ROBERT STACK, it's my guess he's playing it cool since his "NAME OF THE GAME" TV success of a few years ago. STACK, though not in demand as a film actor, still has draw appeal on the small tube... As soon as the right series presents itself, STACK will make his move back to television...

It was bound to happen, and the V for "Violence" movie is now a reality. The second in a series of V-rated thrillers is "CARNAGE", so shocking in depiction that it would be advisable for an adult to see it, if this is his thing, accompanied by another adult... Television's funny girl CAROL BURNETT makes her much awaited film debut in the heavy drama "PETE AND TILLIE"... Warner Bros. "MALCOLM X" documentary is being readied to splash on the national screens with the Boston area targeted with a June date...

Remember LORRAINE DAY? She returns to the wide screen in "THE HOUSE OF DRACULA'S DAUGHTER"... The results will be in by the time this column makes print, but at this writing, PETER O'TOOLE looms as the Cannes Film Festival favorite to walk off with Best Actor accolades. His "THE RULING CLASS" is O'TOOLE'S best acting stint since "THE LION IN WINTER" [1967]... For the curious "SANFORD AND SON" is a television carbon copy of England's 10 year TV hit "STEPTOE AND SON". And if I may add, for being innovators, the English craftsmen have it all over their American TV counterparts...

And please will FRANK SINATRA ever make up his mind. According to the latest press releases, he is not going to star in "THE LITTLE PRINCE"... A month ago SINATRA was all set to end his "retirement" with this Paramount production, but backed out at the last minute for reasons best known to himself and studio brass... So as it now stands, SINATRA is still "retired". At least until his mood dictates otherwise... Those airlines screening films on flight are becoming concerned with the lack of suitable film matter with which to present to their passengers... JACK VALENTI, president of the Motion Picture Assn. of America, has received written complaints from three of your biggest airlines...

AUDREY HEPBURN, now based with husband DR. ANDREI DOTTI in Italy, makes a stateside visit in August where she'll be guest lecturing on film at USC... Though Miss HEPBURN hasn't made a motion picture in years, she is a celebrity favorite with Japanese TV audiences. Miss HEPBURN does a commercial where her neck line is shown. To the Japanese male, a woman's neck is the paramount sex symbol... DEAN MARTIN WAS NBC ordered to cool it with the "blue" material... WALTER BRENNAN rates as one of the ten best character actors of the past 40 years and three Best Supporting Oscars tell why...

Oops and here we go again. KEN GAUL is setting in motion his second New York Erotic Film Festival. GAUL has his eye on a November showing...

THE HUGH HEFFNER-ROMAN POLANSKI "MACBETH" is doing a fast fold at box offices. In its initial four weeks out, "MACBETH" has yet to crack the $250,000 mark... At age 41, RICHARD HARRIS is waking up to the fact he can be a truly outstanding dramatic actor. Provided he "works" at it...

Sheehan Sisters Participating In Twins Survey

Kathleen and Karen Sheehan, 10-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Sheehan of 19 Riley Ave., East Weymouth, are among 200 sets of twins participating in a nationwide research project.

The Sheehan girls are filling out questionnaires from the National Mothers of Twins Club indicating their likes and dislikes and what being a twin means to them.

Results of the nationwide survey will be presented at the national convention at the Parker House in Boston during the last week of July.

Questions include whether twins prefer to dress alike or differently, whether they prefer the same bedroom or different rooms and whether they feel inferior or superior to their twin.

It also asks questions such as whether they like being asked "which one of the twins are you?"

Mrs. Sheehan has been publicity director for the South Shore Mothers of Twins for three years and is in charge of national publicity for the convention.

Mr. Sheehan is a teacher at Cohasset High School and Quincy Junior College.

We've Just Begun To Fight

Planning Director Geoffrey A. Davidson was quoted last week as telling the Quincy Taxpayers Association that Quincy Center has "already lost the war with South Shore Plaza."

We disagree.

The remark doesn't reflect the tone of Davidson's address which centered on the need for long-range planning and full-time review of fiscal plans for the downtown area.

But it does echo an unfortunate and, we feel, unwarranted pessimism in the community about the future of the shopping district.

No one can deny that Quincy Center has lost ground to shopping plazas. But the war is far from lost.

An enthusiastic and unified group of downtown business and professional leaders is forming a Quincy Center business association geared toward revitalization of the area.

The organization is a spin-off from the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce incorporating with the Chamber's blessing, not operating independently and autonomously.

The aim is to give increased specialized attention to Quincy by the new group as the Chamber embarks on a regional development campaign of its own to attract new business and industry throughout the South Shore.

The group can act as an information source and catalyst for work with city officials on development plans, serve as a public relations organization and work actively to entice new business to the area.

As it is, Quincy Center offers a larger variety of stores, products and services than any of the suburban shopping plazas.

Specialty and department stores can be found in Quincy Center to suit virtually every need and pocketbook.

In addition, the downtown area houses a great number of professional services such as doctors, dentists, and lawyers which can not be found in the plazas.

And the large number of banks and investment houses in the downtown area makes Quincy the financial capitol of the South Shore.

The parking garage under construction in the Ross Parking Area will greatly enhance Quincy Center's attraction for the shopper.

Beautification projects such as that underway near City Hall and the proposed Hancock St. pedestrian mall are steps in the right direction.

So, don't sell Quincy short. The war is far from over.

And, Quincy may have just begun to fight.

Opposes Transferring Of Community Resources Coordinator Post As A 'Serious Mistake'

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Last fall the position of Ass't. Director in the Council on Aging was abolished and a new position - Activities Director, Senior Citizens, was created in the Recreation Dept. I did not agree with the action at the time, and pointed out that a similar position had been stricken from the 1970 budget of the Council on Aging.

In 1970, Don Strong, as Director, requested a trained social worker for the Council staff, who was to direct senior citizen activities. The Mayor struck this from the budget stating that not enough activity existed for a full time worker. However, to carry on senior citizen activities and help in the general recreation dept. work the position of Ass't Director was created.

My contention was that the new position - Activities Dir.

Senior Citizens was unnecessary and in conflict with those of the Ass't. Dir. Also, at the time, the clerical staff from the Council on Aging moved up to Recreation, leaving the office in shambles. Even the filing system, such as it was, was disrupted. When the new Director came into office he had two strikes on him and the result was inevitable.

The food item [meals program] on the budget was cut and the city failed to match funds donated to the Council on Aging to expand the meals program. As a result, expansion planned previously for hot meals to be delivered to Pagnano Towers and Oceanview, was never realized. This appears to have been a case of 'penny wise, pounds foolish' when we consider that Congress is now considering legislation to subsidize meals programs and something will be done at this session.

The Council on Aging is set up under enabling state legislation and has a direct tie-in with the Mass. Comm. on Aging and the newer Dept. of Elder Affairs. Nationally it is recognized by the White House Conference on Aging. The Recreation Dept. has no such connections. The transferring of the position of Community Resources Coordinator, or the funds for it, from the Council on Aging would be a serious mistake.

Further emasculation of the Council on Aging could jeopardize any future state or federal funding for senior citizen activities. There are 17,000 so-called senior citizens in the city of Quincy. The Recreation Dept. attends to the recreational needs of 200 or 300 at the most. The primary needs of senior citizens generally are more vital than that and should receive consideration.

Theodore Johnson
Council on Aging.

A 'Thank You' From Nursing Homes Federation

Editor, Quincy Sun:

May we say a brief but sincere "thank you" for your publishing of news in connection with national Nursing Home Week, May 14-21, and the open house festivities beginning Mother's Day, May 14.

Many visitors toured Nursing Homes and many took time to express a cheery greeting to patients and shut-ins.

The elderly sick folk who have outlived all their relatives and friends and have almost no one to be concerned about them were especially grateful.

Loneliness is one of the greatest afflictions in the Nursing Home. The people in the outside world can do much to brighten their world in their sunset years.

With all the avalanche of news you have to contend with, we appreciate and we express our thanks for remembering the elderly in the Nursing Homes.

The now demolished Quincy Sq. block where the old McGilvray drugstore and Eastern Mass. bus waiting room once stood, will soon be a beautiful mini-park mall.

By City Council resolve, the area will be named in honor of late Quincy Police Capt. William F. McIntyre, father of former Mayor James R. McIntyre.

There's talk of transferring the huge polished granite ball from the Fore River bridge traffic rotary plot to the mall.

And you're a young old timer if you can remember the ball on the lawn at City Hall, just outside the city clerk's office. [Back in the 1940's].

The mall will certainly help beautify the Quincy Sq. area and in itself should become a Quincy Sq. tourist's attraction along with First Parish Church, Hancock Cemetery and City Hall.

A COCKTAIL PARTY for former School Committee Vice-Chairman James McCormick, candidate for Norfolk County treasurer, is planned for June 14 at The Lantana, Randolph, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Ticket committee includes George C. Smith, Jr., 16 Anderson Rd, Wollaston, Taylor Ahern, 65 Andrews Rd, Wollaston and Robert F. Tweedy, 22 Williams St., North Quincy.

***

SEEMS to be a gang waiting in the wings to run for Norfolk County sheriff in 1974 when Republican incumbent Charles Hedges retires his badge.

One name that hasn't been mentioned as a prospective candidate should be: Ward 1 Councillor Edward Graham. The latter, reportedly, is definitely considering another run.

He was Hedges' opponent last time out. Having learned the Norfolk County campaign route, and being a Democrat, he'd certainly be someone to reckon with in '74.

***

YOUNG Paul Harold, the budding political figure from Adams Shore, is mulling over an interesting job offer from Texas. The Governor of Texas' office called him last week to ask him to come on down and set up a legislative intern program in the Lone Star state.

"The offer is mighty appealing," says Paul. "But the drawback is that I'd have to take up legal residence in Texas."

Harold was a candidate for state representative in Ward 1's special election last October. He was defeated but bounced back to re-organize and be elected president of the Massachusetts Young Democrats.

Meanwhile, he's "thinking it over".

***

NEWEST member of The Quincy Mustache Club: Dr. Charles Djerf, the noted pediatrician. Quite becoming, too!

***

ANOTHER political note: Louis Caruso has returned to Ward 3 as a resident, and is eyeing another bid for city councillor from that ward.

***

GOOD NEWS DEPT: Vin Contrino, the popular South Quincy tonsorial artist, is out of the hospital and champing at the bit to get back to work. His son, Lou, is holding the fort for him. Incidentally, Vin and his wife, Mary, celebrated birthdays this week - both on Tuesday.

Duke's Death Stirs Memory Of 'Duchess' Of Quincy

By DICK MATTULINA

The recent death of the Duke of Windsor stirs memories of the part Quincy played in the abdication that shocked England and the world in 1936.

Wallis Warfield Simpson, the woman for whom King Edward VIII abdicated the throne of Great Britain, lived at 156 Davis St. in North Quincy from 1917 to 1918.

Ironically, some of her neighbors referred to her as "the Duchess" even then.

But the nickname referred to her solitary nature rather than to any extra-sensory perception on the neighbors' part.

Simply, they thought of her as somewhat of a snob who kept to herself and ignored them.

At that time the Duchess was Mrs. Edward Spencer, wife of a Navy Lieutenant stationed at the old World War I "Victory Plant" at Squantum Naval Air Station.

She first met the Duke, then the Prince of Wales and heir to the British crown, while married to Spencer.

The Spencers' former neighbors remember them as a devoted couple who kept pretty much to themselves.

They recall she used to drive him to work every day in their Ford and then return to carry out the duties of the typical housewife -- washing, ironing, sewing.

At 75 two years ago, the Duke reaffirmed the love that caused him to step down from the throne on which he sat for a mere 327 days.

"If we had to relive December 1936, I would make the same decision," he said "I would leave".

Apparently, the Duchess of Windsor did not find Quincy terribly interesting.

While visiting at a Boston Hospital in 1943, a reporter asked her about her familiarity with Greater Boston.

She replied she did not know Boston very well and remembered it as an area "for passing through."

Mayor Reminds Residents Of Two Quincy POW'S

Mayor Walter J. Hannon urged Quincy residents Monday to keep Lt. Cmdr. Richard Stratton and Capt. Alan Brudno in their thoughts.

The Mayor, speaking at Memorial Day services at Mt. Wollaston cemetery, reminded on-lookers that the two Quincy officers are suffering "humiliation and torture" as prisoners of war in Vietnam.

Stratton and Brudno, who have been held prisoners for some seven years, "did not run away from war or escape to gain amnesty," Hannon said.

They are "full of hope" but will have "no peace" until they return to the United States, he said.

Atty. Paul A. M. Hunt, judge advocate of the American Legion, told the gathering "The significance of Memorial Day is easier to know and feel within than it is to tell.

"We can and should have confidence and faith in our country and in ourselves and the total of our individual spirits imbued with this confidence and faith will rise up and provide for the responsible leaders of our country the strength to overcome the problems our nation faces," Hunt said.

The ceremony followed a Memorial Day parade through Quincy Square with 36 units and some 2,000 marchers who paused at First Parish Church to honor the graves of Quincy's two Presidents.

Parade officials included City Clerk John M. Gillis, chairman; Anthony M. Famigletti, chief marshal, Arthur G. McLean, chief of staff.

George Burke To Address St. Ann Seniors

Wollaston resident, will be the speaker.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Marie Paule and Ms. Margaret Currier.

Health High-Lights

By Jack Silverstein

Rabies Progress

Rabies is on the rise, but fewer people are dying from it than formerly, perhaps because more people that get bitten are being vaccinated. Skunks are the principle source of rabies infection from wild animals in America. In Europe and Canada, the main culprit is the fox. Dogs and cats are the leading source of rabies contracted from domestic animals.

According to the World Health Organization, in Belgium, Luxembourg and Switzerland, "cattle represent the main source of rabies".

Another new trend in rabies vaccine is the single shot treatment which may be in the offing. Experiments have shown that animals infected with rabies have been successfully prevented from dying after only a single injection of the new drug. At present, human beings treated for rabies must undergo an uncomfortable series of 14 daily injections.

Poet's Corner

Freedom

Freedom haunts me-it floats all around me,

I reach up to grasp it-but it's never there.

I put on my glasses-everything now looks clearer,

There it is up above me in the air.

I run up to people-and I plead with them, please!

Will you help me catch freedom if you dare?

They are all silent-I stand there helpless, my only answer is a glare.

"Freedom where are you?" I whisper softly, "I've tried hard to find you-its not fair!"

That I have to spend-my whole life looking,

When nobody else seems to care.

Which Hair Style Is For You?
Is choosing a flattering hair style difficult for you? If so, consider the basic principles of proportion and balance. Proportion in hair design means a correct relationship between head size and body size. Your hair style should not clash with your figure, and in balancing your coiffure take head shape, profile, neck and shoulder line into consideration. The most flattering hair-do is one that makes your face and head appear to have an oval shape.

Most of us have a face shape — be it round, square, oblong, triangle, heart or diamond — which needs a hair style that camouflages our flaws. If you're not sure of your face shape, try this easy test: hold a comb lengthwise next to the side of your face. Where the comb touches you is the widest part of your face. For example, the comb at the side of a triangle shape will show fullness at the jawline and narrowness at the forehead. It will touch a diamond shape only at the middle. Wherever the comb doesn't touch you need fullness in your hairdo.

There are many flattering and up-to-date hair styles for your own particular face shape. But first wash hair regularly, and use a good protein conditioner. The healthiest hair is the prettiest hair — no matter how it's styled!

Nutritious And Economical Cheese Stuffed Hot Dog- Potato Casserole

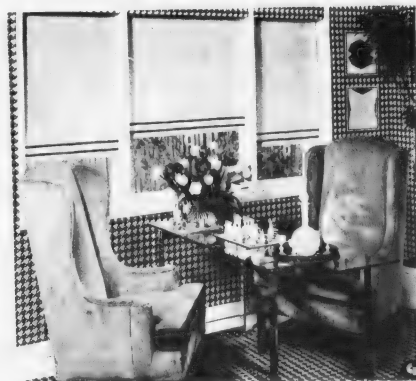

Delicious, attractive dinners can be economical if you plan them around hot dogs. They combine so well with other foods that variety in hot dog meals is limited only by the imagination.

This great American favorite is nutritious and inexpensive, contains a healthy 12.4% protein when cooked, and is low in carbohydrate (1.6%). Like most processed meats, hot dogs are government inspected.

Cheese stuffed hot dog-potato casserole is a good example of creative cooking with hot dogs. Cleverly arranged in a casserole, this combination makes an irresistible good hearty dinner.

Cheese Stuffed Hot Dog-Potato Casserole
6 hot dogs 3 tablespoons instant
6 strips process American cheese, cut 3 1/4 by 1/2 by 1/4 inches minced onion, fresh
6 slices bacon 5 to 6 drops hot red pepper sauce
6 servings hot seasoned 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen green peas, cooked, drained, buttered and seasoned, optional
2 eggs, slightly beaten

Split hot dogs lengthwise, not quite through. Place a strip of cheese in cut of each hot dog. Cook bacon slowly until done, but still limp. Wrap a slice of bacon around each stuffed hot dog. Combine potatoes, eggs, instant onion, chives or green onion and hot red pepper sauce; mix. Spoon potato mixture over bottom of well-buttered shallow 2-quart casserole. Arrange franks down center of potatoes. Bake in 400°F. oven until hot dogs and potatoes are hot, cheese melted and bacon crisp, 12 to 15 minutes. Just before serving, spoon peas around edge of casserole. Yield: 6 servings.

STYLISH SUN-FILTERS—Ready-made window shades take on a custom look with the addition of black and white gimp and white ring pulls. In vinyl-coated cotton cambric, the gold shades make a perfect background for wing chairs upholstered in spring green cotton corduroy and grouped around a glass-topped table. They're by Joanna.

It's In To Be Thin By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

Summa cum slimmer... come summer. That should be your goal if you are now just "a little" overweight. That "just a little" easily turns to "just a lot" when you don't take the time during spring to prepare for the hot days ahead.

Take off that all-purpose, all-covering coat. Ah-Hah! You're not quite ready to graduate into sleeveless dresses and thigh-high shorts, are you? Have you tried on a bathing suit yet? If not, why not?

You don't have to cringe at the idea of summer fashions or the idea of dieting. There is time yet to reform, repent, and redirect your eating habits into a high-protein, three-meal-a-day way of eating and living that will bring your weight in line with fashion's line before the beach season opens.

Will you miss the treats of summer and spring as you drop the pounds? Not if you are eating something seasonal and sweet like this special spring-time dessert:

RHUBARB ORANGE DELIGHT

1 Large bag Frozen Rhubarb or One bunch fresh
1/2 Orange, unpeeled and sliced
1/2 Teaspoon Orange extract
2 Tablespoons Water
Artificial sweetener to taste

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. If you use fresh rhubarb, cut into uniform chunks after discarding leaves. Simmer until tender but not shapeless. Sweeten to taste.

That doesn't sound hard to take, does it? With the promise of a non-fattening snack like that to sustain you through the middle of a long, dry afternoon and a breakfast, lunch, and dinner with all the vitamins, minerals, and protein that healthy bodies demand, you'll find the surplus poundage slithering off before you have time to miss your old habits. Your revived pep will carry you through those lovely shopping trips for the perky new sportswear you've been craving. Face it, it's a lot more satisfying to buy hot pants than potato chips.

If you want to step into summer with a summa cum slimmer appearance, write to me at The Diet Workshop, 594 Merrick Ave., East Meadow, New York 11554 and I'll be happy to advise you on the best way to start.

Warren Noble, John Delano Make Things Click At Noble's Camera Shop

Richard Welch decided to sell his Welch's Camera Center at 680 Hancock St., Wollaston, three years ago and Noble's Camera Shop moved to Quincy.

Partners Warren Noble and John P. Delano bought Welch's store in 1969 as the site of the third shop in their growing chain.

Noble, 42, of Norwell Ave., Norwell, opened his first store in Hingham at 61 South St., 16 years ago.

His second store opened on Cushing Way in Cohasset in 1967 about the time a former Cornell University student named John Delano began working part time for Noble.

Delano, 24, of Steamboat Lane in Hingham, became a partner in the firm when Noble's Camera Shop opened at Wollaston.

A bachelor, he was born in Quincy, graduated from Darrow School in New York and attended Cornell before working in the shop.

John is vice president of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association and assistant harbor master in Hingham.

Noble is married and the father of seven children and is territorial vice president of the Master Photofinishers and Dealers Association.

He is the founder of the Hingham Merchants Association, past president of Hingham Rotary and active in many other civic and fraternal organizations.

Noble and Delano both hold Certified Photographic Counselor degrees from the Master Photofinishers and Dealers Association.

"You have to pass an exam to get that degree," Delano said. "It proves that we're more than just a department store camera counter."

In addition to film and camera supplies, Noble's in Wollaston offers a line of greeting cards and office supplies. Store hours are 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Friday until 8 p.m.

Wollaston Glee Club Wins New England Competition

both arranged by Bartholomew and directed by Maurice Carbonneau.

After rehearsing with other clubs at 3 p.m. and a baked ham and oyster supper at 6 p.m. May 20, the group joined in the grand concert at 8 p.m.

Achievement At Age 42

ENC Graduation Proud Moment For Pat DiStefano Family

The proudest faces in the audience at Eastern Nazarene College commencement exercises Monday belonged to Tracy, Leslie and Marcia DiStefano.

The girls, aged 7, 4 and 3, were there to watch their father graduate magna cum laude from ENC at the age of 42.

Pasquale S. DiStefano of 38 Payne St., South Quincy, finished with an average of 3.8 out of a possible 4.0 and was elected to Phi Delta Lambda national honor fraternity.

And the figures become more impressive when you consider that DiStefano was a grade school drop-out.

Somewhat of a hellion as a boy, Pat was forced by grades and conduct to leave Quincy schools in the seventh grade.

After returning as a disabled veteran from the Korean War, he decided he wanted to complete his education and took a job at the Post Office while attending night classes at MIT for his high school diploma.

He was later admitted to Quincy Junior College on probation because he was lacking in math credits.

The end of his first year at QJC saw Pat carrying a 3.5 grade average, serving as editor of the school newspaper and taking summer courses at Newman Preparatory School to clear his math deficiency.

So the probation was dropped and he earned an associate's degree from the school with a 3.8 cumulative average.

Then it was on to Eastern Nazarene where he earned straight A's in all courses for the final two years of his bachelor's program in social welfare, and finished just half a point from summa cum laude.

"The college experience has been a tremendous awakening for me," DiStefano said. "It has taught me to think and, to be a better person."

Not satisfied with a bachelor's degree, Pat will attend two social welfare courses this summer at Eastern Nazarene and Harvard University.

"Sometime around August I will decide where I will go for graduate studies," he said.

He has been accepted for master's degree programs at Harvard, Brandeis and Suffolk Universities.

As a research project for his degree, DiStefano prepared a study of youth activities in the city and submitted copies to Mayor Hannon and City Planning Director Geoffrey A. Davidson.

In it he proposes establishment of a city youth service commission in hopes to reduce juvenile delinquency which, he says, has increased 295 percent in the past five years.

DiStefano is president of the Ward 3 Civic Association and the South Shore Cancer Unit, was Quincy chairman for the American Cancer Society for two years and holds a gold service pin from the society.

He is former director of Quincy Community Action Program, served on the Capital Outlay Committee, is a founding member of the South West Community Council and a Big Brother.

Army Reserve Center Dedicated To SP4 George Underwood

The Army Reserve Center at 100 Southern Artery has been dedicated in memory of SP4 George W. Underwood, the first Quincy man killed in Vietnam.

Former Mayor James R. McIntyre was principal speaker at the ceremony

SP4 Underwood, an Army

medic, died in a Vietcong ambush on July 23, 1964, while delivering supplies to the site of a new school in a refugee village in the Central Highlands.

The school was named in his honor and he was posthumously awarded a Purple Heart medal which was presented to his parents during United Nations Day in October 1964.

In his remarks, McIntyre said "Specialist Underwood's love of his fellow man and love of teaching were exemplary.

"While he trained in war-making, George Underwood also was a peacemaker. He was a medic, healing the sick and injured, and a teacher instructing and building schools for the Vietnamese."

Guests at the dedication included Mr. and Mrs. George Underwood Sr., Mayor Walter J. Hannon, Rep. Joseph E. Brett and Anthony Famigletti, commander of the Quincy Veterans Council.

The Underwood Armory is headquarters for the 187th Separate Infantry Brigade, the largest Army Reserve unit in New England.

QCAO Launches Fund Raising To Send Youngsters To Summer Camps

The Quincy Community Action Organization has launched its 1972 fund raising campaign to send needy Quincy youngsters on a summer camping experience, announces Executive Director Russell E. O'Connell.

In a letter to the organization endorsing the drive, Mayor Walter J. Hannon commended the group for past efforts which have led to residential and day camp opportunities for more than 600 Quincy children from low-income families.

"I am hopeful that this year's efforts will be even more fruitful," Hannon said. "I strongly urge the citizens of our community to participate in this most worthwhile endeavor to ensure its success once again."

Frank Moran of 103 Darrow St., Houghs Neck is the fund raising chairman.

Moran noted it cost approximately $40 to send a youngster on a week-long camping experience, utilizing camps throughout the South

Shore and Cape Cod areas. Youngsters are referred to the organization by school guidance counselors and social service organizations. Parents can apply for their children. The Campership Committee selects youngsters based on the need for a camping experience. Boys and girls from all over the city are selected.

The group will be distributing collection cans in business establishments throughout the city. Campership also depends on donations from concerned citizens, social, and fraternal organizations and businesses in the city.

Donations may be sent to: "Camperships", Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc., 9 Bicknell St., Quincy, Mass. 02169.

In a letter to O'Connell, Mayor Hannon said.

"I would like to take this opportunity to say a word of commendation and support in behalf of the Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc. for their efforts to launch a fund raising drive to provide campership opportunities, either residential or day-camp, for low income youngsters.

"In the last two years, sufficient funds were raised to enable over 600 Quincy children to attend overnight and day camps. I am hopeful that this year's efforts will be even more fruitful.

"I strongly urge the citizens of our community to participate in this most worthwhile endeavor to ensure its success once again."

Quincy Girls Track Team In State Tourney Saturday

Girls' track was introduced at Quincy High school a year ago and, under the tutelage of Peter Gallagher, considerable interest was created in the sport.

This spring this interest has increased and Gallagher was greeted by 33 girls when he called out candidates. In addition, Pete has 18 junior high girls working out with the squad so interest should remain high in future years.

The Quincy girls, who just missed getting their first win when Walpole pulled out a 59½-57½ decision after Quincy had piled up a 31-14 bulge, will compete in the state championship meet Saturday at the U. of Massachusetts.

Although walloped by Needham, 85-32, in their second meet, the Quincy girls had some fine individual performances.

Miss Seamans set a new club record when she won the mile run in 6:10. Other Quincy winner was Miss Coletta in the shot put and Miss Foley in the high jump. Miss Foley was also second in the shot. Although not winning any events, Cathy Ilacqua was the top scorer with nine points with seconds in the hurdles and javelin and a fourth in the dash. Misses Coletta and Foley had eight points each.

Girls' track has been mushrooming throughout the state and Gallagher hopes to arrange an extensive schedule for the girls. They opened their season with a tri-meet at Falmouth with the host school and Silver Lake.

Although the First Ladies had no chance against Falmouth, one of the strongest teams in the state, they did beat out Silver Lake by seven points.

Falmouth, winning every event except the 440 relay and the mile, rolled up 102 points. Quincy had 27 and Silver Lake 20.

"We did well in the field events but were unable to keep up the pace in the running events," Gallagher said. "This was our big problem last year."

"But things do look better. We have two real fast girls this year that weren't with us last year, Kathy Bennett and Susan Drew, and this could make a big difference."

Also Janice Lamparelli, Lisa Lee, Mary Long, Eileen Mullen, Kristen Poole, Dotty Pope, Linda Robinson, Davelyn Ross, Mary Jane Schuerch, Jill Seamans, Donna Stangel, Paula Stevens, Laura Whitney, Betsy Witt and Debbie Zimmerman.

Junior High girls working out are Paula Burke, Sheila Burke, Cheryl Hennessey, Doreen Kennedy, Barbara King, Gertrude McManus, Janice Notorangelo and Lynn Walkama of Broad Meadows; Betty Cunningham, Anne Fornaro, Mary Lou Fitzgerald, Joyce Flynn, Mary Ann McCarthy, Jean Mullen, Mary Ann Mullen, Rory Nolan, Regina Norton and Patricia Kussman of Central.

Miss Drew placed fourth in the 50-yard dash at Falmouth, beating Quincy's two record holders, Cathy Ilacqua and Miss Foley. The 440-yard relay team of Misses Adams, Pat and Joanne Kussman and Miss Schuerch took second and Cathy Ilacqua took third in the hurdles.

In the field events Quincy gave Falmouth some good competition and had some excellent performances in the shot put, taking second through sixth. Miss Coletta took second in her first competition, followed by Misses Foley, Robinson, Glennon and Joan Ilacqua. Miss Coletta came through with another pleasant surprise by finishing third in the long jump.

Sophomore Susan Higgins took third in the discus and javelin and is an excellent prospect. "She is one of our best hopes," Gallagher pointed out. "We were strong in the javelin and discus last year but lost our best girls through graduation."

Other Quincy scorers were Cathy Ilacqua, second in the javelin; Judy Foley and Linda Robinson, third and fourth in the high jump; and Miss Witt, fifth in the discus. Also looking good were Miss Glennon in the mile and Miss DeGust in the hurdles and high jump.

Art Keefe Joins Brewers As Public Relations Director

Art Keefe, who attended the Wollaston School and Central Junior High School before moving to Westwood, has resigned as statistician and assistant public relations director of the Red Sox to take the position of public relations director of the Milwaukee Brewers.

Art will start his new duties in two weeks.

Keefe, who lived 11 years in Wollaston and whose mother still lives there, has held the dual Red Sox positions for more than four years.

He will be succeeded by Richard L. Bresciani, assistant sports information officer at U Mass, for 12 years and publicity officer for the Cape Cod League for four years.

Mary Pratt's Quincy girls' softball team wound up another outstanding season last week with a 9-1 record and avenged its only defeat.

The First Ladies pounded Malden, 10-3, to make up for the lone setback, as Debbie and Doreen Congdon sparked the romp.

Debbie, who pitched her seventh win without a defeat, held Malden to three hits while Doreen had a bases-loaded triple and scored three runs herself.

Nancy Cappadona had a two-run single, Donna Brickley two doubles, Marilyn Silverstein and Jean Macchi two singles each. Betty Witt sparkled on defense as she handled six chances in the infield without an error.

In their last game the Quincy Lassies walloped Weymouth South, 13-5, as Margaret Ryan had four hits and Debbie Congdon, Miss Brickley and Miss Cappadona two hits each.

Debbie wound up with an 8-0 pitching record as she received credit for the victory.

Carlozzi To Coach Quincy Legion Team

Connie Carlozzi, who coached Morrisette Legion baseball teams to five Zone 6 championships in his seven years as coach, will be facing his former team this summer as coach of the Quincy Legion team.

Connie, a former semipro star for the Braintree White Sox, coached Abington Legion the past two years and has succeeded Doug Fleming as Quincy coach.

Fleming coached the Quincy Post team for four years and had his first winning record, 10-8, last summer. Quincy lost many close games including all three to Morrisette by one run.

Bob Benn Sparkles

Quincy Baseball Team To Depend On JV'S

Quincy High's varsity baseball team next year will be depending heavily upon graduates of this spring's successful junior varsity team coached by Bud Mosher.

One of these players, however, already made a name for himself in his only varsity start last week.

Sophomore Bob Benn was brought up from the jayvees for the final game against North Quincy because the regular second baseman was ill.

The youngster halted a North threat in the eighth inning when he snared a hard liner and converted it into a double play with two runners on base.

Then, in the bottom of the ninth inning and the game scoreless, Bob singled home Bob Brill with the winning run. There were two outs and two strikes on Benn at the time.

Bob Basiliere, who gained his 100th win as the Presidents' coach with that decision, may not be coaching next spring. Bob, Quincy's coach for the past 10 years, has been acting principal at the high school and if his appointment is made permanent, he will not be coaching in 1973.

Quincy, North Netmen Post Contrasting Seasons

The North Quincy and Quincy tennis teams had contrasting seasons as Bill Willoughby's Raiders finished 7-3 and tied for second place in the Independence League, while Bill Mitchell's Presidents were 0-10 in the league but picked up two non-league wins over Malden.

In the final matches B.C. High topped North Quincy, 4-1, and Abp. Williams blanked Quincy, 5-0.

In the previous matches North shut out Williams, 5-0, and Quincy bowed to Catholic Memorial, 5-0.

Quincy Golf Team Finishes With 6-4 Slate

The Quincy High golf team finished with a 6-4 record after losing to North Quincy, 6½-2½, last week at Furnace Brook.

The North team, with only one loss, played Boston English Tuesday and finishes its season today at Boston Latin.

North's Tim O'Leary and

Bruce Henrikson took three points from Quincy's Don Conley and Paul DiFederico, Bob Sullivan and Don Cove took 2½ points from Tom McKinnon and Jim McKinnon, while Quincy's Bob Cahill and Joe Sherman took two points from the Raiders' Joe Barkas and Bill Corbin.

Ciano Edged In State Titles

Quincy's Bobby Ciano, defending state Class A mile champion, was edged by Attleboro's Bud Conley in the state championships last Saturday at White Stadium but will return to the stadium Saturday for the all-class meet.

Ciano is one of three Quincy trackmen who qualified for the all-class meet. Sophomore Paul Riggs placed second in the discus and Pete Daley was fifth in the 440. The first five finishers in each event qualified for this week's meet.

In Class B North Quincy's Jack Reynolds won the low hurdles and will try to repeat Saturday in the all-class meet.

North Quincy finished its regular season last week and lost to Thayer Academy, 69-53, despite double wins by Steve Leet and Bob McCormack.

Leet, unbeaten this spring in the shot put, won that event and also the javelin while McCormack won the mile and half mile. Dick Malloy won the two-mile and Steve took the high jump.

David Cassidy, Tch! Tch!

The rich get richer, and CARY GRANT is $2 million ahead of the game as a result of a deal with National Telefilm Associates [NTA]... GRANT owned film properties like "WALK DON'T RUN" [1966]. "THAT TOUCH OF MINK" [1962], and "INDISCREET" [1958] were but several in the package purchased by NTA... For those who follow the Cabaret scene, Europe's LOVELACE WATKINS is the best in the business today. A seasoned professional with the ability to keep an audience on its feet with standing O's, WATKINS is talking motion pictures with, among others, FELLINI...

CATHERINE HINDS, Boston's make-up consultant to the stars, recently completed a TV make-up session with ROY FULLMER, a former co-star in the "HAZEL" television series... Miss HINDS tells us that FULLMER, who was in Boston doing a commercial for the Oldsmobile Dealers of New England, "plans on devoting all his creative energies to the production side of making pictures..."

What they're doing now department: LANA TURNER'S in the franchise health spa business, and GINGER ROGERS is adding glamour to the J. C. Penney Company as a PR girl...

Young DAVID CASSIDY has heads shaking what's next with his nude posing in underground periodicals. Really, someone should have a talk with that boy before he blows a solid career... ANDY WARHOL'S newest, "HEAT", is a takeoff on "SUNSET BOULEVARD" done up in the true WARHOL tradition of putdownism... JEANNE MOREAU, though well past the 30-year mark, still captivates audiences with her romantic lure as she so well demonstrates in the soon-to-be-released "CHERE LOUISE"...

Ohio Governor JOHN J. GILLIGAN runs a dent into ART LINKETTER'S Mr. Nice Guy facade by accusing the latter of advertising "basically deceptive" health insurance policies on television, radio, and in the news media... LINKETTER is the voice of Prudential Ins. Co. of America, and Gov. GILLIGAN has initiated a statewide probe into fraudulent advertising claims... And on the other side of trouble, DEAN MARTIN has been hit with a $6 million lawsuit by Universal for walking off the set of the film "SHOWDOWN"...

Just one man's opinion of course, but from where I sat former grid star ROSEY GRIER acts with all the finesse of a defensive tackle as you'll probably agree after struggling through his scenes in "SKYJACKED"... And "now" GLENDA JACKSON is talking retirement... "THE FRENCH CONNECTION" is racking up record revenues down under in Sydney, Australia... CLIFF ROBERTSON doesn't go in for the superstar bag. Rather, this skilled actor considers himself "a craftsman dedicated to the profession of acting" and "finds the acceptance of my peers in the industry more satisfying than the superstar buildup"...

Last year only two major studios showed a net profit, they being WALT DISNEY and AIP... Awards mean zero where TV ratings are concerned. DICK CAVETT won an Emmy for the Outstanding Variety talk-series, and as forecast in this column a few weeks back, has less than 90 days to shore up his sagging Nielsen's... MICHAEL J. POLLARD is back, and at long last in the down to earth, grit western "DIRTY LITTLE BILLY". A biopic that details the early life of Billy the Kid, POLLARD turns in a performance as realistically stripped of romanticism as the era in which the film was set. A must see flick...

"FRITZ THE CAT", the X-rated cartoon now making a run as a record setting box office attraction, is spawning other X-rated animators around the globe... "SINDERELLA" [England] and "CLEOPATRA" [Japan] have followed suit. And let us not forget "LITTLE ANNIE FANNIE" which played New York earlier this year to S.R.O. crowds.

Veterans News

The Veterans Administration repeats that parents drawing benefits based on service-connected deaths of veterans and servicemen qualify for the first time for $55 monthly aid and attendance payments.

VA officials said 19,100 parents became eligible Jan. 1 for the additional allowances authorized by PL 92-197.

The new law allows VA to pay the $55 benefit to parents on death compensation and dependency and indemnity compensations rolls if their physical conditions require regular assistance from others.

Specifically, VA officials explained, a beneficiary must be "a patient in a nursing home, helpless or blind, or so nearly helpless or blind as to need regular aid and attendance of another person."

Another provision of PL 92-197 granted increased monthly payments Jan. 1 to 186,000 widows, 53,000 children and 66,000 parents of veterans who died of service-connected causes.

Dependent parents who want more details on aid and attendance payments were urged to contact their nearest VA office or local veterans service organization representative.

The third annual Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 20, 21, 22.

Coordinators for the event, which has become Quincy's biggest summer attraction, are Remo DeNicola of South Shore Television & Appliance and George White of The Patriot Ledger.

Henry Bosworth of The Quincy Sun is publicity chairman.

This year, the bazaar is being sponsored for the first time by the new Quincy Center business association now being formed.

As in the past, the accent will be on old fashioned values and fun over the three day period with many activities and sales planned.

The bazaar will be climaxed on the afternoon of July 22 by the Miss Quincy Bay Race Week beauty pageant to be held on Hancock St. in downtown Quincy.

Other activities will include: Band concerts, banjo bands, barbershop quartets, square dancing, puppet shows, antique auto parade, sidewalk art shows, fire engine rides, exhibits by clubs and other organizations.

Last year nearly 100 Quincy center stores, shops and other businesses took part in the bazaar. Thousands of shoppers and fun-seekers were attracted to the downtown area over the three-day period.

The planning committee includes:

Al Archambault of Gilchrist's; Vincent Banco, Child Teen; Marty Baron, Lerner's; Robert Colman, Colman's Sporting Goods; Sumner Cohen, Kincaid's; Burton Cook, Tag's Sleep and Lounge Shop; Jack Cosseboom, Milton's; Ferdinand (Pete) DeNicola, South Shore Television & Appliance; Kenneth P. ### 'A Good Beginning'

Dr. Creedon Calls Commencement Time For Hope

By DICK MATTULINA

[Photo by Gunter]

Wednesday night was a time for the 1,171 members of the Class of 1972 at North Quincy, Quincy and the Vocational-Technical School "to celebrate a beginning."

Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, superintendent of schools, paraphrased President Nixon's remarks to Congress following the Moscow Summit in his address to the graduating seniors:

"Never has there been a time when hope was more justified or when complacency was more dangerous," Dr. Creedon quoted. "We have made a good beginning."

Whether or not the "beginning" represented by commencement ceremonies has been good "can be answered only by each of the members of the graduating class," he said.

Again quoting the President, he said "each undoubtedly does the best he knows how for whatever he considers himself to be."

Laura Cameron of North Quincy High was the first of three student speakers at the ceremony, using "The Purpose of School" as her theme.

Rick Gilbert of the Vocational-Technical School spoke on "The Voc-Tech as a Way of Life."

Jonathan Kolodny of Quincy High told a fable, complete with moral, about a meeting with "The Supreme Educator."

The combined bands and choirs of the school provided the processional music and national anthem and the Rev. Keijo I.

School Committee Tribute To Principal John Walsh

The Quincy School Committee paid tribute Wednesday night to John Walsh on his retirement after 15 years as principal of North Quincy High School.

Mr. Walsh, who became a teacher at North in 1941, was awarded a diploma from the school at commencement exercises at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, superintendent of schools, hailed Mr. Walsh as an extraordinary "teacher, administrator, booster, counselor and friend with literally thousands of young people."

Since he became principal, "slowly but surely the image and prestige of North Quincy High School came to be symbolized as one and the same with John Walsh," Dr. Creedon said.

"He has seen the school - his school - in good as well as turbulent times," he said. "The accomplishments of generations of young people while students at North are undoubtedly a great source of pride to John."

He added that the students' "personal successes and contributions to society are not only too numerous to mention, but are so diversified and far reaching that it is doubtful they could ever be totally known."

Dr. Creedon quoted the philosopher Epicurus who said that "skillful pilots gain their reputations from storms and tempests."

"While we might wish it otherwise, it is from the seas of crises and confrontation that leadership emerges tall and straight and John Walsh has been pilot of his vessel - North Quincy High School - through it all.

"And to him we say: Well done."

Mr. Walsh received his diploma from Quincy High School in 1930, before North was founded.

"It seems only just," Dr. Creedon said, "that the one who has more than anyone else symbolized North and who has bestowed thousands of diplomas upon other graduates should receive a diploma."

"Therefore, acting upon the request of the faculty and student body of North Quincy High School, the Quincy School Committee has added to the list of graduates of the Class of 1972 the name of John Walsh."

William Dwyer To Succeed Cranston Smith On Planning Board

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has appointed William A. Dwyer of 421 Sea St. to replace Z. Cranston Smith on the Quincy Planning Board.

Smith notified the Mayor in a letter dated May 25 that he was resigning as clerk of the planning board, a position he has held for six years.

Dwyer was born in Quincy, attended Quincy schools, Northeastern University and Wentworth Institute and served in the Navy in the South Pacific during World War II.

After his discharge, he formed the Dwyer Oil Co., Dwyer's Samoset Service Station and later Dwyer Realty.

In his letter to the Mayor, Smith said he is stepping down "because of increased activities in Metropolitan Area Planning Council programs and my involvement as Quincy's representative to that regional organization."

Smith has served as the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce representative on the planning board since its inception in February 1966.

"During those six years, I have represented [The Chamber] in many endeavors to aid the city government undertake needed parking downtown and badly needed improvements in our road system," he said.

The advancements "have unleashed new forces in Quincy, such as State Street South and Kemper Insurance, a complex of approximately $40 million now, with much more to come.

"It is with regret that I tender my resignation to your forward-looking government, effective at your convenience."

'The Failure Of Intimacy'

When we visited India last summer we saw thousands of hungry people on the streets of Bombay. Mothers with babies in their arms followed us on the streets...patted their stomachs...touched their mouths...held out their hand for money. It was pathetic. It gave one the feeling of "where do I start even to make a dent in this awful starvation?" If you offered a coin to one beggar...dozens of others swooped down upon you for a gift. This is what ignorance...no birth control...backward religion...war devastation does to innocent people.

There's a hunger among our people which seems to be growing by leaps and bounds...it's the hunger of the soul...people starved for human companionship...affection...closeness. Here's the forty year old man who has worked hard for fifteen years...now has a nice home...three children...car...boat...and a wife that he can't get close to. He takes business trips and feeds his emptiness with strangers he chances to meet. But that doesn't satisfy...he wants intimacy with the woman he loves...his wife. She...on the other hand...is afraid to get close...spends much time reading...often on psychological matters...analyzes herself...holds a low opinion of herself...talks little...feels like a failure. Her's is the failure of intimacy. She's a loner...so he's lonely. Marriages with the intimacy gap mean unhappiness for both persons.

Very often the loner is the man...like Jane's husband Reginald. She'll ask him if he heard from the insurance man today...who's reviewing their whole insurance program. Reg answered... "Yes"...Period...that's all he said. Over and Over Jane tried to open conversation regarding the insurance. All she could get was the mono-syllable answer. He just doesn't talk. He rides his motorcycle...works on it...fishes by himself many nights...seldom wants a sexual relationship with Jane...gives her his paycheck...enters into no decisions regarding the home...refused to get involved. He avoids argument...rides off on his motorcycle if Jane tries to force a confrontation. She's just as starved as the hungry women of Bombay...theirs, food...Hers for closeness. She seeks a solution to the intimacy problem in her counselor's office.

If you're not having any big arguments with your partner...no talk fest that really dig into each of your honest feelings...no real leveling with each other concerning your needs which are not being met...it just may be that one of you is a loner...even though married. Inwardly he/she may be deeply troubled with the problem of intimacy...may join groups to cover up his/her loner traits...often with other loners. Only a few loners achieve fame...Oswald...Sirhan...Ray...Bremer...most loners are the never-heard-of-variety...their inability to get close...just suffer in silence.

Can a loner change? Of course he/she can...we can change any learned behavior that we want to change. How? Couple Counseling...therapy group. Here feelings are allowed to surface...little by little one feels acceptance...human warmth...the removal of the failure of intimacy.

Try it...it works.

'The Wedding's Off'

[Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn prepares this weekly column to inform Massachusetts residents about the state consumer laws.]

Planning a wedding can be among the happiest times in peoples' lives, but for my office it frequently results in consumer complaints. No matter what careful preparation go into a wedding, marriage plans, like any others, may be subject to change.

Each year especially in the spring my Consumer Protection Division receives complaints from brides and grooms-to-be who have called off their plans after giving deposits for wedding arrangements. In these cases, consumers have been unable to obtain refunds from caterers, dressmakers, florists, tuxedo rentals, or limousine dispatchers.

In some cases, a person is not necessarily entitled to a refund. In many instances, the deposits have been made after signing a legal contract or retail installment sales agreement. Before signing any contract for wedding preparations, consumers should be certain they fully understand its terms. Even if wedding plans change, a consumer is still obligated to hold up his end of the agreement.

For example, at the last minute Joan breaks her engagement and cancels her arrangements for the reception hall. These eleventh hour cancellations will greatly inconvenience the hall's proprietors. At this time of year the halls operate on such a tight schedule that the owners may be unable to re-rent the facilities and will suffer a financial loss for that day. In most cases the hall is entitled to keep Joan's deposit.

When a bridegroom-to-be purchases an engagement or wedding ring, he should make sure he learns the jeweler's return policy. Merchants and jewelers should display this policy in a conspicuous manner. In many instances a bridegroom wishing to return a ring finds that he is unable to do so. Return policy is up to the individual store-some may refuse returns, others may give credit, and still others may refund.

Before making wedding plans, brides and groom-to-be should be aware of cancellation and refund policies should their plans be terminated or changed.

Francis McCauley Resigns From Draft Board 127

Francis X. McCauley is resigning from Quincy local draft board No. 127 after serving four years.

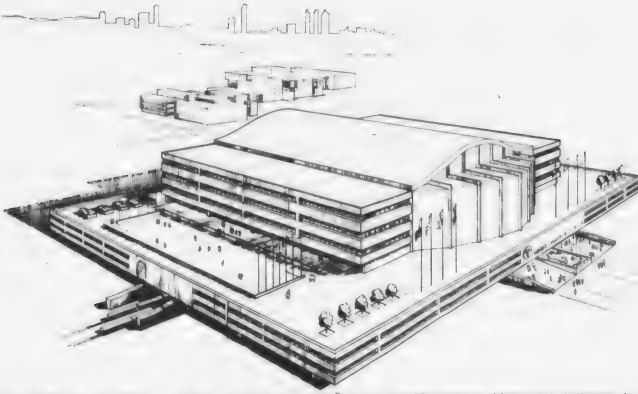

McCauley, president of Shipbuilders Co-operative Bank and a member of the Quincy School Committee said, "I am resigning basically because of increased business duties and additional duties as a School Committee member."

Local 127 serves Wards 1 and 2.

McCauley was appointed in 1968 by President Lyndon Johnson on the recommendation of Gov. John Volpe.

His resignation has been sent to Victor C. Bynoe, state director of selective service.

$12-Million Coliseum To Top North Quincy Station MBTA

A $12-million, five-level convention center with hockey and basketball facilities will be built using air rights over the North Quincy MBTA Station.

The facility, to be called Minuteman Memorial Coliseum, is to be financed privately and is expected to open on Patriots Day 1975.

The announcement was made at a press conference Tuesday by Mayor Hannon, Clifford deBaun of M.B.M. Developers Inc. of Boston and Edward Kreitsek of Minuteman Memorial Coliseum Group of Boston.

Hannon said the 90,000-square-foot third level will serve year-round as a convention and trade show center and can house special events such as concerts and the circus.

The first level of the structure will be the MBTA station with the second level as a parking area.

In addition to the auditorium area, the third level will include an outdoor mall and skating rink.

The 13,000-seat hockey rink and basketball surface will occupy the fourth level with dressing and medical facilities, concessions, restaurant and lounge.

The top level will have closed circuit television facilities in case of overflow crowds at sports events.

Additional parking can be available at the State Street South and MBTA sites, spokesmen said, and the MBTA service should greatly reduce traffic problems.

Mayor Hannon said the center will provide Quincy with a "fitting facility for hosting Bicentennial events" in 1976.

Poet's Corner

At Day's End

Is anybody happier because you passed his way?

Does anyone remember that you spoke to him today?

The day is almost over, and its toiling time is through.

Is there anyone to utter now a kindly word of you?

Can you say tonight, in parting with the day that's slipping fast,

That you helped a single brother of the many that you passed?

Is a single heart rejoicing over what you did or said;

Does the man whose hopes were fading, now with courage look ahead?

Did you waste the day, or lose it?

Was it well or sorely spent?

Did you leave a trail of kindness, or a scar of discontent?

As you close your eyes in slumber, do you think that God will say,

You have earned one more tomorrow by the work you did today?"

John Hall, Quincy

In the Kitchen

MEXICAN HOT CHOCOLATE

- 4 tbsps. sugar
- 4 tbsps. unsweetened cocoa
- 1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
- Dash ground nutmeg
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 qt. milk
- 1 egg white, unbeaten

Combine sugar, cocoa, cinnamon and nutmeg. Blend in 1/2-cup water and boil one minute. Beat milk and egg white together only until blended; stir into chocolate syrup. Cook until hot (do not boil), beating constantly with a rotary beater. Serve hot with cinnamon sticks, if desired. Makes six portions.

Salads Spark Spring Tastes

The wonderful season of Spring is here. The early morning chirping of birds, the breaking up of ice floes on lakes and rivers, the swelling of magnolia blossoms preparing to pop into magnificent beauty all attest to the coming alive of nature. Our taste buds react to seasons also, and in the Spring, there is a natural inclination to turn to salads.

The appeal of salads is in their variety of ingredients and dressings. There are endless flavor and "fixin's" ideas to awaken the most jaded palate. As an example, Spring Entree Salad is a delightful chef's salad recipe which offers a host of variations, each of which presents a completely different and individual flavor treat. You'll recognize the good nutrition elemental in these ingredients as an extra reward for serving this salad.

Spring Entree Salad

- Assorted greens
- Lettuce
- Ham, cut in strips
- Green pepper strips
- Shoe string potatoes
- Tomato wedges
- Hard-cooked egg slices
- Roka Brand Blue Cheese Dressing

Tear greens into bite-size pieces onto a lettuce-lined salad platter. Arrange ham, green pepper, potatoes, tomatoes and eggs on top; garnish with watercress, if desired. Serve with dressing.

Note: In place of ham, try cold roast beef, bologna or salami, cut in strips; Swiss or cheddar cheese, cut in strips; chunks of tuna or crab; or shrimp.

Dressings that might be substituted include Kraft Thousand Island, Salad Secret, Green Onion, Catalina Brand French, Miracle Brand French or French.

Happy Homemaking

By BARBARA BAKER

When raveling any hand-knit garment, wind the crinkly yarn on a wire coat hanger with the curved ends pushed in. Then suds the wool (still on the hanger) and hang by the hook to dry. Rewind and reknit. Wool so washed has no tangles and is like new.

If you like to knit socks, knit the toe with a different color yarn. When a hole appears, it is quite simple to ravel these stitches and re-knit a new toe instead of darning.

If you like to embroider and your thread has a tendency to tangle, try this: Wind each color in a little ball and put each ball into an empty pill bottle. Punch a hole in each plastic lid, put the thread's end through it and you can pull out the length needed.

Put the left-overs from balls of knitting wool in glass jars and store in the basement. This method keeps the moths out and you can easily see the colors at hand.

Sun Signs By Regina Russell

Week of June 8 - 15

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - You will find the activities in your home a bit upsetting unless you are creating the mess through your own efforts.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - The pressure of last week is off and you can enjoy visiting and short pleasure trips once again. Watch expenses.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - A good time for interviews, starting new plans or seeking the help of agents to act in your behalf. Make out a budget.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Travel is indicated although you may not have planned a trip at this time and will go with mental reservations.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Be careful of what you say or write because your judgement is faulty and could cause misunderstandings or heavy expenses.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 23] - The difficulties you are having emotionally and financially are caused by children or your own pursuit of pleasure.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - Household expenses are running too high, you need to balance your budget if you wish to avoid problems later.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Travel or a religious ceremony is putting a strain on your budget but you probably think it's all worthwhile anyway.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Looking at the dark side of matters beyond your control will affect your health - adopt more philosophical attitude.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - The expenses you encounter now could ruin your budget for a long time to come - cut back wherever you can.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Sitting on the sidelines isn't your cup of tea but there isn't much you can do about it right now except wait it out.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - A feeling of competence and the lure of adventure could combine to make this a week to remember. Go after what you want.

It's In To Be Thin By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

What's so special about you?

You! You are a unique combination of habits and hobbies, desires and designs, fads and foibles. There is no one quite like you and that may be why you have not yet found the diet which is right for you.

Have you picked one of those diets that dictates? What if you are the sort of person who must have every minute filled with something different? Within a week, you'll find yourself in rebellion against the "big brother" watching over your eating habits.

On the other hand, if you are indecisive and the diet you clipped from the magazine is a "one from column A and two from column B" affair, you'll flounder before twenty-four hours are up.

Dieting, like everything else in life, is an intensely personal proposition. You must find a program that will be flexible and rigid at one and the same time. I flatter myself that this is the very program I have been preaching and living for years. You know how much protein you must have for a meal - but you decide which. You know that you must have carbohydrate for breakfast - but you have the choice of bread or cereal. This frees the flexible simultaneously reinforcing the rigid. It also provides taste tempters like this:

- 1 Cup shredded cabbage
- 1/4 Cup diced green pepper

Pour tomato juice into saucepan and sprinkle gelatin over it. Heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat and add soda, bitters and salt. Chill until the mixture is about the consistency of egg white (until a depression remains when the back of a spoon is pressed on top). Fold in the vegetables and chill until firm.

A fat person must make one big acknowledgment before embarking on any eating program, that is, "once a fatter always a fatter." For that reason, the program must be one that will be comfortable all the days of your life. Longevity is great if you're enjoying life at seventy or eighty. Eating is enjoyable, too, and I know how enjoyable slimming eating can be.

Health High-Lights

By Jack Silverstein

Search For A Sweetener

The search for sweeteners centers on an artificial substance that would be harmless to humans and leave no bitter aftertaste. Now that the government has totally banned cyclamates from both drug and food products, researchers are scrambling to find an acceptable replacement.

One chemical compound which is 150 times sweeter than sugar and on which an American pharmaceutical company holds the patent, is now undergoing toxicity tests.

Until this or some yet unannounced product gets FDA approval, Saccharin has the field almost to itself. Saccharin, which is 500 times sweeter than sugar, but which leaves a somewhat bitter aftertaste, was proclaimed safe by FDA shortly before the cyclamate ban was issued.

Name-Changing Ceremony June 11 For Lydon-Russell Funeral Home

The interior of the Russell Funeral Home, 644 Hancock St., Wollaston, has been redecorated in preparation for name changing ceremonies Sunday.

The John Lydon family of Beale St. is looking forward with proud anticipation to that event when the firm becomes known as the Lydon-Russell Funeral Home.

Lydon, 32, is president of the home, which he purchased from the family of the late Bernard A. Russell five years ago.

He was born in Boston, graduated from Gate of Heaven High School in South Boston and majored in accounting at Northeastern University.

He also graduated with high honors from the New England Institute of Sanitary Science, Embalming and Funeral Directing.

He is active in civic affairs and is vice chairman of the Rent Grievance Board, treasurer of the Young Democrats and an associate member of the Democratic City Committee.

Lydon is a notary public, director of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association, outside guard of North Quincy Knights of Columbus and page of Wollaston United Commercial Travelers.

He was recently elected vice president of St. Ann's Holy Name Society in Wollaston.

John and Diane Lydon have four children, David, Janet, Carol and Michelle.

The home was founded by

Mr. Russell in 1930 "and has been a landmark in Wollaston since with its attractive waterfall and architectural design which lends to a home atmosphere," Lydon said.

The building was built for a bride, became a maternity hospital and later a nursing home before Russell purchased it, Lydon said.

"I know of no other building which has served the four stages of life - birth, marriage, old age and death - as this one has," he said.

22 Wollaston Pupils Meet Billerica Pen Pals

Some 22 Wollaston School second-graders took a field trip to Drumlin Farm in Lincoln recently to meet their pen pals.

Miss Pamela Hunter's class has been exchanging letters and holiday cards this year with 34 second-graders from the Dr. Hajjar School in Billerica.

The Billerica children are students under Miss Nancy Russell who graduated from college with Miss Hunter.

The trip culminated the Wollaston students' study of farm life and gave them the opportunity to meet and play with their pen pals.

Miss Hunter's class sang "Thank You Very Much" and treated the Billerica students to cookies made by their teacher. Miss Russell's students gave the Wollaston class a poster "To the Best Pen Pals" with each child's name inscribed in red glitter.

The Wollaston School class includes Stephen Ballem, Elizabeth Barren, Paula Boyne, Michael Bridgeman, Susan Burke, Brian Dennehy, Cathy Downing.

Also Michele Dupont, Cheryl Fraser, Barbara Genatossio, Amy Johnson, Kerri, McCreedy, Beverly McEachern, Maureen Monagle, Judy O'Leary.

How do you compare financially? Most of Our Wealth Is in Our Homes

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holbrook
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursdays

The equity in owned homes accounts for a larger share of total wealth of the U.S. population than any other asset. This fact has been disclosed in a study authorized by the Federal Reserve System.

Of the total wealth of America's families, 27 per cent was the owners' equity in their homes. Equity in owned homes was reported by 57 per cent of all consumer units, whether a family group or separate individual.

Equally interesting, home ownership was widely diffused throughout the population. For example, the 30 per cent of the population of consumer units with the lowest incomes held 17 per cent of the total home ownership equity compared with 12 per cent of the total wealth.

This diffusion is explained in part, the study notes, by the relatively high home ownership rates in the lower income brackets.

It bears out the observation of one expert that the house-with-mortgage has become the surest way to translate current income, before it evaporates, into a family financial basis.

He noted that in a recent 10-year period the sale value of all non-farm homes, representing the equity held by owners after subtracting all mortgages, rose almost 40 per cent.

"Here is perhaps the most fundamental change in our economics and politics," he said. "Most voters are now people of property."

With its long-term rise in values, he observed, "the housing market has done far more than the stock market, with its limited group of customers, to turn the American majority to capitalist-minded affluence."

The study bears out the fact that with those having a smaller share of wealth, the equity in the home is the major contributor. Forty-eight per cent of the wealth claimed by those having between $1,000 and $5,000 is in their homes, 59 per cent for those whose wealth is between $5,000 and $10,000, and 55 per cent for those between $10,000 and $25,000.

Even those claiming wealth between $25,000 and $50,000 report 37 per cent of it is invested in their homes. Those between $50,000 and $100,000 have 21 per cent of their net worth in their homes.

There is a relative uniformity in the shares of wealth in homes at all age levels. With an overall percentage of 27, those under 35 had 26 per cent of their wealth in their homes, those 35 to 54 had 32 per cent, those 55 to 64 had 25 per cent, and those 65 and older had 22 per cent.

The share of wealth devoted to homes reaches a peak of 59 per cent for those whose wealth is between $5,000 and $10,000. It declines thereafter to 55 per cent for those with wealth between $10,000 and $25,000, 37 per cent for those between $25,000 and $50,000, and 21 per cent for those between $50,000 and $100,000.

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth has asked the Quincy Traffic Commission to survey traffic on Hancock St. from West Squantum St. to Beale St.

In a letter to Police Capt. Roy Cavicchi, Smyth said "residents of this area have on several occasions complained about the excessive speeding of automobiles and occasionally trucks using this street as a thru-way even though a sign is posted barring commercial vehicles usage except for neighborhood deliveries.

"Your office is requested to make a survey of this condition and forward recommendations for the alleviation of this serious hazard," he said.

Seniors Speak On 'School Purpose', 'Voc-Tech Life', 'Supreme Educator'

SUCCESS TO OUR GRADS

Good luck in the goals you have set.

Representative and Mrs.
Thomas F.
Brownell

The three student speakers at Wednesday night's commencement ceremonies gave their views on "The Purpose of School", "The Voc-Tech As A Way of Life" and "The Supreme Educator."

Laura Cameron of North Quincy High told graduates and guests that the "real purpose of school seems to lie not in marks or information, but in processes

"The plot structure of Hamlet may be forgotten, but the method involved will be remembered for future reading," she said. "Details of history will be lost, but hopefully the ability to interpret political issues will remain in tomorrow's citizens."

Rick Gilbert of the Vocational-Technical School said "The future of this city, state, country and world lies in the minds and the stable hands of all the graduating students of 1972.

"Maybe our hair is a little longer than the past graduating classes," he said. "Some of us smoke a different kind of cigarette, but we are the future of the world and we are going to run it the way it should be run. The right way, our way."

Jonathan Kolodny of Quincy

High School told of a mythical encounter with "The Supreme Educator" to emphasize his point that the most valuable lessons of school "will live with me long after the academics have faded from memory. . . .

"Through our schooling we have learned respect for the lessons of the past and hopefully are prepared to be responsive to the problems of the future," he said.

Point Junior Seniors Should Help Quincy Next Season

Point Junior High's baseball team had its ups and downs this spring but veteran coach Dick Moran had some outstanding players who should help Quincy High's teams in the future.

"Joe Cortese, a ninth grader, is an outstanding all-around player as are Bob Power, Rich Bogen and Jim German," Moran said. "Of the eighth graders, Steve Infascelli, Dave Perdios and Mike Carloni are fine players and should be key performers next year."

Ninth grade players were Power, first base and outfield; Bogen, outfield; German, third base; Cortese, catcher, pitcher and second base; Michael Salverio, outfield and pitcher; Tom Leone, outfield; Bob Leahy, outfield; Michael Durant, outfield; Rich Butt, shortstop and second base; Joe Doyle, outfield; Ed MacDonald, shortstop and third base; Ray Morreale, second base; Mike Tropea, catcher, and Matt Guest, outfield.

Eighth grade players were Infascelli, pitcher and outfield; Carloni, first base; Perdios, shortstop; Gerry DiGravio, catcher; Jeff Wallace, outfield; Michael Dunlea, catcher and outfield; Dave Barrett, outfield; Anthony Spadoncia, pitcher and outfield and Shawn Dwyer, second base.

Quincy Track Girls Turn In Good Performances

Although none of the members of the Quincy High girls' track team scored in last Saturday's state meet, they turned in excellent performances.

"They did a fine job but the other girls were just too experienced and our good times weren't good enough," Coach Peter Gallagher said. "But things are looking up. Last year we had only three state qualifiers and this year we had six."

The Quincy lasses finished with a 4-3 record last week when they nipped Jeremiah Burke, 59½-58½. They had previously defeated Abp. Williams, North Quincy and Silver Lake. They will compete in the Mass. Junior Olympics at Falmouth on June 17.

Quincy winners in the final meet were Cathy Ilacqua in the 440 and hurdles, Barbara King, 880; Jill Seamans, setting a new school record of 5:48 in the mile and the 880-yard medley relay team of Miss Ilacqua, Kathy Bennett, Judy Foley and Jill Seamans. The 2:15 time was another school record.

Quincy's top scorers for Quincy this year were Miss Ilacqua with 43 points, Miss Foley, 40; Miss Bennett, 24; Miss Seamans, 20; Susan Higgins, 19; Kathy Coletta, 15 and Miss King, 11. Misses Ilacqua and Foley were team captains.

Mrs. Richard Hoag Scores Low Gross In Tourney

Mrs. Richard Hoag fired the low gross in the Women's Tuesday golf tournament at Furnace Brook Golf Course May 30.

Mrs. Robert Roche posted the low net score, followed by Mrs. Fred Lutfy, Mrs. Anthony Spinello and Marie Corayer.

Mrs. Lutfy and Mrs. James Mo..son were in charge of the tournament.

Raiderettes Wind Up Tennis Season, 5-4

Although this was a rebuilding year for the North Quincy girls' tennis team, the Raiderettes, without a single senior, wound up with a 5-4 record last week.

"This is a rebuilding year for us," Coach Eileen Rowbotham said. "The top three players are Sophomores Robin Chiminello and Debbie Mattson and Junior Annette Lawlor." Misses Chiminello and Lawlor are the co-captains.

Other returnees who are helping the squad are Judy McCormack and Cheryl Cahill. Some surprisingly good play has been turned in by Kathy Hughes, Judy Farrell, Cheryl Faherty and Leslie Beth Brennan, all playing for the first time.

Other newcomers are Sophomore Diane Dunn and Freshman Judy Quinn, excellent prospects.

"There is a great deal of interest among the freshmen," Miss Rowbotham explained. "They should help us in the future."

They are Tricia Habel, Helen Langley, Lorren Chiminello, Regina Burns, Fran Jackson, Ellen Santry, Elaine Murray and Carol Lentini.

Morrisette Opens Sunday, Quincy Monday

• Cattaneo Has 13 Veterans

By TOM SULLIVAN

Morrisette Legion baseball teams have won 17 Zone 6 championships and advanced to the state finals five times.

Things appear extremely bright as the team opens its quest of another title Sunday at Hingham. Wednesday Morrisette will make its home bow against Braintree at Adams Field.

A year ago Ray Cattaneo became the third coach to lead Morrisette to the zone title and into the state finals and he has 13 of his 18 players back. He expected everyone back except third baseman Pete Lucier and left fielder Kevin Ryan, but three expected returnees decided not to play this year.

"Things should be bright for us this year with 13 players back," Cattaneo said. "If we have the same spirit and hustle that the boys gave us last year there is no reason why we shouldn't do as well if not better than last year. But there is always that doubt that enters into the picture."

"Are we going to get the breaks again, are the pitchers going to give that little bit extra when needed, is the big hit going to come at the right time, is that kid waiting patiently on the bench going to come through when put into a game? All these things happened last year."

Morrisette was 16-2 last year and eliminated Needham, Salem and Arlington in state tourney play to win the Eastern Mass. title but again lost in the state finals, this time to Leominster. Morrisette has never won the state crown in five appearances in the finals.

Cattaneo has all his 1971 pitchers back, Jimmy Walker from Quincy High, one of the all-time Quincy greats who pitched a no-hitter this spring; Tony Knasas from B.C. High, Bobby Malvesti of Quincy High and Len Pepe, now at Holy Cross.

Three promising additions this year are Bob Lane and Jerry Bugden from Quincy High junior varsity and Steve McLaughlin, a southpaw from North Quincy jayvees who saw some varsity action for the Raiders.

Morrisette has standout Dave Nelson catching for the third straight year. The North Quincy High star is one of the best in Legion ball.

Three starting infielders are back, big Jim Driscoll of North Quincy at first base, Russ MacDonald of Quincy High and Norwich University at second and Joe Marini of B.C. High at shortstop. Artie Boyle of Quincy, Lee Watkins of North Quincy and Connie Driscoll of Quincy are other infielders who will see their share of action. Boyle looks like the starting third baseman.

In the outfield Cattaneo has slugger Tom Burke of North back in centerfield, Mike Marvelle of Quincy will move from right to left and John Warren, who hit well for Quincy this spring, will be in right field against right-handed pitching and Malvesti, when not pitching, will be there against southpaws.

Dom D'Olimpio, rated by his coach as one of the finest fielding outfielders he has seen, will be ready to play in any outfield spot.

The only newcomers this year are Bugden, McLaughlin, Lane, Warren and Watkins.

Cattaneo again has Billy Corcoran, a former Morrisette pitching star, as his assistant coach.

• Carlozzi Returns To Quincy

Connie Carlozzi, starting his 17th year as a Legion baseball coach, is back for a second tour of duty with Quincy Post, which opens its Zone 6 season Monday at Adams field with a 6 o'clock game against Weymouth. Wednesday Quincy will be at Hingham.

Carlozzi, a pitching standout with the old Braintree White Sox, coached Quincy and Braintree Legion teams before piloting Morrisette for seven years and winning five Zone 6 titles. The past two years he coached Abington Legion.

"It is good to be back in Quincy," Connie said. "We have a young team here which, I believe, will give a good account of itself and things look bright for the future with many boys coming back for a few more seasons."

Connie has two good catchers in Bobby Morton of North Quincy High and Greg Fennessey, who played for Carlozzi at Abp. Williams. Morton, who played behind Dave Nelson at North, is also an excellent third baseman and pitcher.

Billy Shea of North Quincy has the inside track at first base with Mike Crosson of Williams behind him.

Quincy will have one of the top second basemen in Legion ball in North Quincy's Tim Flynn, a North graduate who this year starred for Quincy Junior College and was one of the team's outstanding batters.

Bob Torino of North will be at shortstop with Dave Murphy of North and Ron Vickers of Quincy High and Quincy Junior College battling it out for third base.

Other infield hopefuls are Jim French of Quincy junior varsity, an outstanding young prospect; Tony Trubiano of Williams, Bob Parker of Quincy a first baseman; Eric Tuovi of Quincy and Dave Carroll of Quincy.

The top outfield prospect is Steve Mele, son of Sam Mele, a special scout for the Red Sox, a fine batter and fielder with a good arm who also is an excellent infielder and can pitch if needed.

Other outfielders are Dave Drew of Quincy, Bob Brill of Quincy, Ed York of Williams and Fennessey.

Brill, an outstanding pitcher for Quincy High this spring, looks like the number one hurler with Morton expected to be number two and Paul Craig, a southpaw from Quincy jayvees a fine prospect. Murphy and Mele also are expected to see pitching service.

"We may have some troubles with Morrisette and other teams reportedly loaded with veterans, but I can assure the fans our team won't quit. They are a fine group of boys and we won't be out-hustled," said Carlozzi.

There is a further Morrisette tinge to Quincy with Tom Malvesti, son of veteran Morrisette athletic officer Nick Malvesti and a former Morrisette player under Carlozzi, one of the assistant coaches. Another is Keith Cullinane, who played for Carlozzi at Williams but was unable to play in his senior year due to an injury.

Carlozzi is disturbed at the lack of practice fields in Quincy. "I couldn't find a field to practice on except on Saturday and Sunday," he said. "It seems funny a city the size of Quincy can't provide fields for us. I feel we are running behind other teams due to the lack of practice. I had to wait until last Sunday to make my final cut."

North Golf Team, 10-2

North Quincy's hopes of grabbing at least a share of the Mass. Coast Golf League title went out the window last week when the Raiders bowed to Boston Latin, 6½-2½, in the final match of the season.

Latin thus won the league crown with a 10-0 record and North finished second at 8-2. The Raiders ended up 10-2 overall.

North's first team of Tim O'Leary and Bruce Henrikson won one point, the middle pair of Bob Sullivan and Carl Leone were blanked and the final duo of John Flynn and Joe Barkas split, 1½-1½.

In its previous match North had defeated Boston English, 9-0, as O'Leary and Henrikson, Sullivan and Don Cove and Bill Corbin and Barkas all swept their matches.

Make Most Of Educational Tools Urges Hannon

[Cont'd from Page 1]

Aho offered the invocation.

After Janice Gallinaro, president of the Quincy High and Voc-Tech senior class, extended a welcome to guests, North President Brian Van Riper introduced Mayor Walter J. Hannon.

The Mayor told graduates they were living in the greatest country in the world and had received the best education the world had to offer.

He praised parents and teachers and urged the students to make the most of the tools they have been given to help themselves and help each other.

"Civilization will not end as a result of nuclear explosion or holocaust," Hannon said, "but rather it will come to an end when people no longer care about one another."

He said the Class of 1972 is graduating in "turbulent times" but they are prepared to face life and its challenges.

Dr. Creedon said commencement is, traditionally, a time for words which "indicate recognition of the parental love and pride that unites, as a silent bond, all of us here this evening.

It is a time for "Words that will express appreciation for the contribution made to our graduates by dedicated and caring teachers" and aid students to acknowledge the "help they have received from all those who love and care for them."

"And," he said, the words would "help all of us to demonstrate that we are willing and able to share in a common petition to Almighty God, asking for His help as we rededicate ourselves to the coming of a better tomorrow."

Nixon's address gives hope that "we are justified in praying that the heretofore hidden silvery lining of the moon will reveal itself as having been made from seamless cloth of brotherhood and peace," Dr. Creedon said.

"Hope — that four-letter word — is not only the cornerstone of our democratic form of government, but is the very root and meaning of our Judaic-Christian heritage.

"Complacency — akin to despair — is the antithesis of hope and is destined to lead a democratic people to disaster," he said.

"To simply hope for a better world... is not enough and apparently that has been recognized by our assembled graduates, for in the 1972 issue of the Goldenrod, yearbook of

Quincy High School and the Quincy Vocational-Technical School, one finds these words:

"Spend just a moment to look out your window, the glass is as clear as you want it to be. Light dawns a newness... to all who are willing to open much more than their eyes when they see."

Marshall Asks For Meeting On General Dynamics Future

Rep. Clifford H. Marshall has asked Mayor Hannon to "seek an immediate meeting" with management and labor representatives of General Dynamics shipyard to discuss the future of the yard.

Marshall asked that the meeting be called "to seek the true answers to the many questions that have arisen in the past week regarding the viability of the General Dynamics shipyard."

"I and many others feel very strongly that there are many problems affecting the lives and economic welfare of the men employed at the shipyard and their families and the entire economic status of the South Shore area," he said.

He requested that "executives and leadership of the General Dynamics Corp., presidents of all the unions of General Dynamics, city officials and all other interested persons" be invited to the meeting.

"I believe, at a meeting of this nature, that perhaps the air can be cleared for General Dynamics executives as all concerned seek the truth of the future of the General Dynamics Shipbuilding Corp.," he said.

Marshall said several people in his district "had their hopes built extremely high due to the work of the congressional delegation" on behalf of the shipyard.

"But there is a lot of divisiveness being built up between the management and union leaders," he said.

Filing Deadline June 28

Hannon Not Expected To Seek Re-election To House Seat

By DICK MATTULINA

With the filing deadline less than two weeks away, speculation is running strong that Mayor Walter J. Hannon will not seek re-election as state representative from Ward 4, 5 and 6.

Only seven candidates for 10 county, state and national offices have filed nomination papers with the election department at City Hall and Hannon's name is noticeably absent.

Sources close to the mayor say the Republican incumbent will make an announcement shortly about whether or not he will run.

During the mayoral election last fall, however, Hannon told the Quincy Sun "I don't believe I would seek re-election when my [House] term runs out."

He said he would serve out the term primarily to save the city the $15,000 expected cost of a special election in his district.

And, to the best of The Sun's knowledge, the Mayor has no nomination papers in circulation at this time.

Rep. Joseph E. Brett, a Democrat, is the only one of four incumbent state representatives to have filed to date and no one has turned in signatures as yet to challenge any incumbent.

All House candidates must collect 150 signatures of registered voters in their district and return them to the election department by June 28.

One week later, validated signatures must be submitted to the state.

In Wards 4, 5 and 6 where Hannon and Brett are incumbents, there are at least four others who have expressed an interest in running.

Greg Fallon has bumper stickers out proclaiming his candidacy and Jack Hennessy of Hennessy Plumbing and City Councillors William D. Delahunt, and J. Vincent Smyth are expected to be contenders.

Hannon said assessor will review the sheet, calculate changes from last year and determine what the actual result will be.

Hand-Made Wedding Gown Labor Of Love For Rose Fink

The time between engagement announcement and wedding is usually a pretty hectic period for the mother of the bride.

But the normal concerns of hiring a hall, band, caterer, photographer, etc. weren't enough for Mrs. Rose Marie Fink of 130 Taffrail Rd, Germantown.

Preparations for the June 11 wedding of Miss Donna Marie Fink and Raymond Capobianco of 11-A Golden Ave., Medford kept Mrs. Fink busy virtually every day for the past 11 months.

You see, the bride walked down the center aisle of St. Boniface Church at 4 p.m. in a crocheted satin wedding gown which was hand-made by her mother.

Mrs. Fink, a hair dresser at Earl's Beauty Salon, on Hancock St., Wollaston, spent three or four hours of every day since last July crocheting at home or at work.

The result was a gown of boucle satin yarn with sea pearls and a hand-crocheted head piece and train to match.

Mrs. Raymond Capobianco,

And in between, she found time to make three sheaths with printed, sheer overskirts in 18th Century style, two of them in ice pink and the other in ice blue.

The blue gown was worn Sunday by Miss Roseann Miele of 36 Thomas St., Medford, who was maid of honor at her cousin Donna's wedding.

Deborah Polaski of Old Wellington Rd, Dighton, and Sarahann Petrella of 11-A Golden Ave., Medford, wore the pink gowns as bridesmaids.

All of this is work enough under ideal situations but you have to remember that tradition forbids the groom-to-be to see his fiancée's gown until the wedding.

Frequently Mrs. Fink would be crocheting away in her living room in the evening when a knock would be heard on the door.

Donna would ask who it was, Ray's voice would answer "Me" and Mrs. Fink would set Olympic records running up the stairs with the gown.

Ray never saw any part of it until Sunday.

YOUR FATHER'S DAY PRESENT — GIFT OR GOOF?

It was once said that 50 million Frenchmen can't be wrong; approximately the same number of Americans will find they can do no wrong on the third Sunday of June. They are the Americans who are eligible for Father's Day tributes — and their relatives will spend something like a billion dollars on the booty!

Right here — in picking the presents — is where millions of Americans could be wrong. But you undoubtedly won't be — if you follow a few simple rules for giving the gift that gives a lift.

1. Pick something he can — and will — use. Here you really have to know your man. Is he clinging to that old bathrobe because he thinks it's a bit of self-indulgent extravagance to buy a new one — or is it a mystic attachment that no number of shiny new smoking jackets is going to break up? The costliest electric shaver will sit unused on the shelf of the man who prefers shaving with a blade razor.
2. Check with other members of the family before you buy. One new pair of slippers is enough for any man, and even the most enthusiastic basement workshop craftsman can use only a limited number of hacksaws. At a family conclave, Mom can set the kids straight on Dad's sizes, tell them which apparel and den items he absolutely can't use; members of the clan can then pool any hints they've picked up.
3. Don't charge it to Dad. No, not for Father's Day!
4. Buy the best of any fracturing an entire litter of piggy banks. It does mean buying quality rather than quantity or size.

5. Wrap it handsomely. Handsomely, not prettily, is the word. Just as the clock, ashtray or bookend you'd give him should be clean-lined, not cluttered with fussy detail, so the gift wrappings should be a solid color or a striped or tweedy pattern — no rosebuds, please. Make the ribbon bows simple enough for the large masculine fingers to undo with ease. Unless you've gotten him something big and bold enough to speak for itself — an easy chair or a convertible — don't underestimate the showmanship in a well-wrapped package.

6. Know how to present your present. The most ordinary gift acquires several carats of additional sparkle if it's literally a token of esteem.

To dramatize this point, make Father's Day itself something of a production. Let him sleep as long as he likes, undisturbed by the below of clear young voices. When he wakes up, serve him breakfast in bed.

His present can be grouped around his favorite living room chair, along with a Sunday paper that is still intact. Let no one mangle it to clip ads or beat Dad to the sports pages or crossword puzzle. Be sure that, on this one day of the year, he has no competition for bath or shower. And wouldn't it be great if he could look out of the window upon an unfamiliar scene — the car washed, the lawn mowed by someone else?

Feed him his favorite dishes — not just for Sunday dinner, but all day, and regardless of his waistline. Thus pampered, he'll put real feeling into that phrase, "Just what I wanted," or at any rate he'll give Mom the kind of lip service she won't mind at all.

'Don't Tell Your Father'

Marriage is a partnership...a business and love partnership. Two adult people...a man and a woman...enter into this partnership with legal...social...often with religious sanction. You own property together...make love together...have children together...grow together. A partnership means that decisions are made together...policies or ground rules are agreed upon so that each can know what to count on...regarding children...use of money...future plans. Each has certain responsibilities which if carried out make the partnership work...If not...you're in trouble.

In some marriage partnerships...one of the partners may take the bit in his/her mouth and run away with it...leaving the other partner not knowing what's going on. This often results in hostility...even separation.

"Don't tell your father"...is a common game which some wives play with children by authorizing the child to do something which they know is a violation of the partnership agreement with her husband. Some husbands play the "don't tell your mother" game also. What this does to children is to teach them to play one parent against the other...usually the approach is to the easier parent. It teaches them to get away with things by devious means...find ways to deceive...and shows lack of respect to the parent from whom the truth is being hidden.

What it does to the partnership is even more devastating. It creates suspicion...if it's the mother deceiving the father...that man...if he isn't a marshmallow to begin with...is probably going to become irate both against his wife and the child with whom she has entered into collusion. That spoils the partnership...both it's business and love aspects.

The ego of many a woman has been devastated by husbands who have entered into deceptive activity with children...with the admonition "don't tell your mother." It makes a mother/wife feel like a mere housekeeper...it's degrading personally...it destroys the partnership.

Of course...back of the "don't tell your father/mother" game...something else is wrong in the partnership. Probably it's lack of closeness. That's the trouble in most marriages...the fear to get close. Some people want to get close to their partner...indeed have the idea that that's what marriage is all about. Other people are very uncomfortable in a close situation. The more of a loner you are the less comfortable you are with closeness...physical closeness...verbal closeness...closeness that reveals feelings. To really know a person means you are close to that person. To want to be known means you want to be close. Merely doing nice things for people may be a substitute for real closeness...for being known to your partner.

When you really get close to your partner...there'll be no "don't tell your father" games.

Persons Denied Credit May Learn Why

[Attorney General Robert H. Quinn prepares this weekly column to inform Massachusetts residents about the state consumer laws.]

Summer is fast approaching and many Massachusetts residents are applying for credit for vacation expenses. However, an application for credit often triggers an investigation by a credit bureau into a consumer's bill payment practices.

Most consumers are covered by a credit file which documents their credit and business history. Often this file may be the deciding factor in the decision to extend credit or loan money.

A person who refuses credit has to give the name and address of the credit bureau which supplied him with an unfavorable report. Under Massachusetts law, consumers who have been refused credit have the right to review their credit reports, upon request. He may also ask for a re-investigation of his credit standing.

If a person has been refused credit and such refusal is caused by a credit bureau's report, he may contact the credit bureau and ask for a person interview to discuss the credit report. If a person is unable to meet personally at the agency, he must send a letter to the bureau giving it permission to discuss the report over the telephone. This procedure prevents unauthorized persons from prying into credit files.

In some instances credit bureaus receive inaccurate and incomplete information and render unfavorable reports.

In some cases a consumer has been denied credit because a credit rating showed that he had outstanding bills—unpaid for a long period of time. When the consumer asks to see the credit reports, he often discovers that the money is owed by another person with the same name. The consumer finds that he is not responsible for the debt listed.

If a consumer learns that he has been refused credit due to any erroneous information, he may request a re-investigation of his standing. If after the re-investigation, the information is found to be inaccurate, the agency must delete the information from its files. If the dispute is not resolved after the re-investigation, the consumer may file a brief statement describing the problem. The agency must then record in any subsequent credit reports that certain information is disputed by the consumer.

After deletion of any inaccurate information, the agency must notify any person designated by the consumer who within two years has received a credit report containing the inaccuracies for employment purposes or within six months for any other purpose.

The outfit, as if you didn't know, was made by Mrs. Fink.

We Haven't Had Cause to Use This Word In Years

We use a lot of other words. Words like "Watch the top of that cabinet", "Be careful with that table", "Let's put more padding on that painting". As a result of these words, we've not said "oops" in years. And we won't for years to come. Yet our service costs no more than that of moving firms who advertise in less sophisticated papers.

ON BEING A MAN

As each new dawn scatters shadows
With God-sent shafts of light,
So must each Dad banish the doubts
That plague the road of life.

Destined to share familial bonds
In the oneness of Truth,
Does not each male somehow convey
God's image to all youth?

Even as Christ profoundly pledged;
"Who sees me see the Father".
In every man there rests the trust,
To witness Him forever.
Priscilla Laveaga.

GOOD PSYCHOLOGY

ONE OF THE SECRETS TO BEING A SUCCESSFUL GUEST AT A PARTY IS BEING A GOOD LISTENER. TOO MANY PEOPLE BREAK INTO A CONVERSATION JUST TO GET THEIR "TWO CENTS" IN, WHICH IS BOTH DISCOURTEOUS AND ANNOYING.

FOR THE "COOLEST" PARTY YET, OFFER GUESTS ICED TEA AS WELL AS COCKTAILS. A LOT OF PEOPLE DON'T DRINK THE STRONGER BEVERAGES AND WANT SOMETHING MORE ADULT THAN SODA TO SIP.

DAISY-FRESH—A colorful daisy applique brightens this one-piece stretch coverall in a cotton blend. It's styled with a convenient new side-snap construction for easy changing, and has a gently elasticized waist-back for perfect fit. By Carter's.

FREE-SPIRITED COTTON—Here's how to go from sun-deck to dining room with just the touch of a button. The secret's a swirling, side-open skirt of cotton in an abstract black and white print that slips quickly over a clinging body suit. For wind-tossed hairdos, a contrasting cotton scarf provides fashionable coverage. From Impressions by Justin McCarty.

Shrimp Cooked In Foil Bundles

Jumbo shrimp take to the outdoor grill when seasoned and then wrapped in strong heavy duty aluminum foil. Here's a very special entertaining idea, but one that can easily be converted to any kind of quick cooking meat, fish or poultry. Individual foil bundles cooked right on the grill! Be sure to serve grill-prepared bread, too.

Shrimp Bundles

2 lbs. large shrimp
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter
freshly ground pepper
1 teaspoon herbs for salads

Remove shell, leaving tail in place and devein shrimp. Combine garlic, butter and herbs; let stand over heat a few minutes. Add lemon juice. Arrange 5 to 6 shrimps on individual serving squares of heavy duty Reynolds Wrap. Top each with butter mixture; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bring foil up over shrimp, double folding edges together. Double fold ends, turning them up. Place on grill over medium hot fire and grill for 10 to 20 minutes. Serve packages on paper plates, letting each person open his own. Makes: 4 servings.

Hot Italian Bread

Slice Italian bread in 1-inch diagonal slices. Blend 1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese with 6 tablespoons softened butter; spread between bread slices. Wrap in Reynolds Wrap, leaving partially open at top. Heat on grill, tipping occasionally from one side to another.

"Marriage is a wonderful thing; a partnership in which each partner gives mutual admiration and respect to the other. Now we can all have a good laugh, and go on from here."

Sun Signs

By Regina Russell

Week of June 15 - 22

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - The opposition is exerting pressure and you are in for undeserved criticism. Avoid disputes, you come out second best.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - You may have strong views on the subject but expressing them now will injure the very cause you are fighting for.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - An unexpected gain enables you to make a favorable change. Travel, romance and study should be put on the agenda now.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - This is a very busy week and it can make you a bit short tempered. A list of things that need doing should help.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Abrupt speech or a touch of sarcasm could set off fireworks, try an indirect approach to get your ideas across.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - By listening to others you get a sudden inspiration that opens a new avenue of thought. This helps you at a later date.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - This is not the time to present your ideas or opinions - you only make waves and nothing is solved. Better to wait.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - If circumstances prevent traveling, a new study subject will satisfy your active, restless mind for the time being.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - There is an opportunity for travel and if you can lay your responsibilities aside, the change will be good for you.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - Everything seems to be going wrong this week, try to take disappointments calmly and postpone any final decisions.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - An unexpected meeting could have romantic overtones that set in motion changes that are beneficial to your future.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - A new project may add to your responsibilities but you assume the duties with a feeling of competence.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

How's your bridge game? If your god is Goren and if you honor every honors count...face one fact about the game you love - it's changing.

You don't think so? Just take a look at the bridge table the next time you play. What do you notice?

Well, maybe the cards or the bidding hasn't changed, but notice the players. If you've been playing with the same group for any length of time now, I'll bet that you'll find your partners getting slimmer. They may be older, but they are probably better looking than they were when you first played. Weight has something to do with it.

What's more, if you'll look at the refreshments that are served, I'll bet [doubled and redoubled] that they are slimmer, too. Gone are the bowls of candy into which the dummy dipped her idle hands. [The dummy!] Gone are the mayonnaise salads, the mounded sandwiches, and the voluptuous desserts. They've been banished along with dog-eared paper playing cards, things of the past in our streamlined age.

When you find a sweet, it is apt to be something like this:

BANANA CREAM ROLL

2 Eggs
2/3 Cup skim milk powder
1 Ounce white bread
1 Banana
1/2 Teaspoon Cream of Tartar

1/2 Teaspoon Baking Soda
1 1/2 Teaspoon Vanilla
2 Packages sweetener

Combine all ingredients in blender. Pour into teflon or Pam sprayed cookie sheet. Bake 350 for 10 minutes. Cool.

CREAM FILLING:

6 Ounces Cottage cheese
2 Teaspoons Vanilla
2 Packages sweetener

Combine in blender until very smooth. A few drops of skim milk may be added if desired.

Using a spatula, carefully loosen banana layer cake from cookie sheet. Spread with cream cheese filling, carefully roll. Freeze for four hours, slice and serve.

Progress, it's wonderful! As for you when you're dummy, why not a few isometric exercises while you're sitting there just to firm up your muscles? Doesn't hurt, you know. Just contract your thigh muscles and count to ten. Relax and repeat. You're not only getting in your game of bridge, you're including part of your daily physical fitness program. Bridge can be the total afternoon out - social contact, diet pleasure and exercise. How about that?

Want to work your diet into the other parts of your life? I'll be happy to help you. Write to me at The Quincy Sun or The Diet Workshop, 594 Merrick Ave., East Meadow, N.Y. 11554.

ADVICE TO WOMEN

who DRIVE... and MEN, Too... from DeDe Benson... a woman who does

Dear De De:

What is getting into our younger generation? My husband and I are professional people. Both my daughters are in college, preparing for careers in law and medicine respectively. But my son, Alex, who is soon to graduate high school, wants to be an auto mechanic. If he is going to follow through with his foolishness, it will disgrace the family. How can I convince him to go to college and study for a real career?

WORRIED MOTHER,
Darien, Conn.

DEAR WORRIED:

What Alex is choosing for himself is a real career—one that can be enormously satisfying and remunerative. Numerous top executives in the automotive industry started as mechanics. Skilled mechanics can and do earn more than many professional people. But even if the pay weren't potentially good, job satisfaction is perhaps the most important factor of a happy life. If Alex would be happier working with a wrench than with a pencil, encourage him to pursue the mechanic's career. There are many fine schools operated by the auto repair industry to help him become a good mechanic. To paraphrase a currently popular bumper sticker: If you don't like mechanics, next time your car breaks down, call a doctor.

Dear De De:

Your column always contains the advice to take your automobile service problem to your favorite mechanic. Well, my mechanic Sid is no longer my favorite. When we brought our new car in for a tune-up, we were disturbed that when we got it back it didn't seem as peppy as we expected and it didn't idle smoothly. When I pointed this out to Sid, he said he had tuned the car to manufacturer's recommendation and that the job was done right. Do you call this satisfactory service?

JUST WONDERING,
Salinas, Kansas

DEAR JUST:

From what you've written, it seems that Sid was really doing his job in helping the air of Salinas to be just a little cleaner. In new-model cars like yours, the sophisticated anti-pollution devices require careful and exact adjustments. This may mean a minor sacrifice in performance and a slightly rougher idle. True, Sid or other mechanics could perform a tune-up for peppy performance but it would be at the sacrifice of low emissions. Be happy that your mechanic is giving you the air—clean air.

Dear De De:

Help me settle an argument with my fiancé. Recently while at a shopping center another driver backed into my car. The damage was only slight and the other driver paid me $40 cash to have it fixed after I got an estimate on repairs. Since it was only a minor ding and I could use the money, I decided to keep the cash and let the damage go. My fiancé said I was wrong and should have it fixed. What do you think?

BETH P.
London, Ontario

DEAR BETH:

I agree with your fiancé. Aside from any moral consideration, what looks like a minor ding now could well develop into a rusty hole in your car. If that happens the value of your car at trade-in could decrease a lot more than the $40 you received. The money you save could come in handy when you marry that wise fiancé of yours.

Correctly Working Thermostat Can be Engine's Warmest Pal

Some motorists seem to think that the main function of an automobile thermostat is to allow the car's coolant to get hot enough to provide warmth through the heater to the passenger compartment in cold weather.

"Not so," cautions The Gates Rubber Company. The thermostat is a delicately calibrated instrument which is designed primarily to allow the engine to heat up to its optimum operating temperature quicker, and to maintain the temperature within a very narrow range for the most efficient operation.

The danger of the first concept is that the motorist may think he doesn't need the services of the thermostat in the warm summer months. Thus, he may neglect maintenance of this important item. Or, he could even decide to remove the stat, or have some amiable serviceman do it for him.

Operation of the cooling system with a faulty stat, or none at all, is uneconomical at best. A cold-running engine burns more gasoline, increases oil dilution, has more sludge and rust formation, plus increased piston ring wear. These can lead to shortened engine life, or even premature breakdown. And lost time and trouble during vacation travel months really hurts the pocketbook and spoils your fun.

What to do? See your serviceman. Have the stat, plus other vital cooling system parts, such as radiator cap, radiator hose, heater hose and V-belts, checked every spring and fall.

Drive Easy, Breathe Easy, Cut Pollution

If you speed, you do more than run the risk of a traffic ticket. You also add to air pollution. According to Shell Oil Company, the faster you go the more fuel you burn and the more pollution you create.

Jack rabbit starts or driving with your foot riding the brake pedal also consume more fuel and create additional pollution.

Here's Effective Way To 'Decob' Car Engine

A favorite seat-of-the-pants way to "blow the cobs" out of a sluggish engine is to take the car out on a high speed limit road. This is especially true when the car has been confined to low-speed, stop-and-go city driving. As a result, the spark plugs become dirty and fouled to a point where noticeable misfire occurs, despite the fact the plugs have low mileage on them.

According to Champion Spark Plug Company, the most effective way to "decob" the engine is to vary speeds on the highway. It's done as follows:

Accelerate slowly until the engine begins to miss. Then back off on the throttle until the engine runs smoothly again.

Continue running at this lower speed for about one mile.

Then accelerate slowly to the miss point again. Ideally, the misfire should be occurring at a higher speed.

Decelerate again and repeat the process until the misfire reappears.

If you can't get rid of the misfire it's a sign that the plugs are beyond redemption and plugs should be serviced or replaced.

Avoid Costly Engine Breakdowns With Complete V-Belt Inspection

By ROD McKINNON

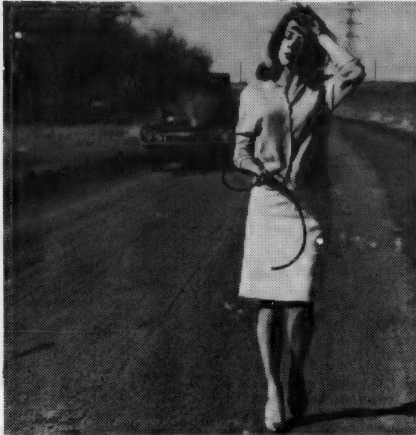

Summer ushers in vacation time for most families—and this means many miles on the family car—usually with the air conditioner running full blast.

All the belt-driven accessories on modern cars take varying amounts of horsepower to drive and if the belts aren't installed and tensioned properly, belt failure can occur. Costly, time-consuming road breakdowns can ruin an otherwise pleasant family vacation.

You can save time and trouble by getting your serviceman to check the belt drives at the start of summer—vacation trip or no vacation trip.

The tension required for belt drives depends, principally, on drive geometry, belt speed and horsepower transmitted. These factors vary widely in automotive accessory car factory drives, from make to make, and even from model to model.

Therefore it is impossible to adjust the belts on all original equipment alternator, power steering, or air conditioning drives the same. You need help from someone who has the knowledge of the tension ranges needed for different drives, to measure the tension.

A breakdown that could have been avoided happens on a lonely highway. Had she taken her car to a service outlet to check the fan belt before the trip, the mishap would not have occurred. V-belts should be examined for wear and tension.

After-market air conditioner compressor drives are somewhat different. Certain tension ranges will adequately serve well over 90% of all like drives. Yet, even here, experience, knowledge, and special gauges are needed to tension the belts.

Remember, before the vacation season starts, ask your serviceman to check the tension of all V-belts on your car as well as the condition of these and other under the hood replacement parts. It's good, "happy vacation" insurance.

'Correct Tires to Buy' Quiz Helps Driver Make Decision

Are you confused about the various types of tires being advertised? How can you intelligently select the right tires for your car when you purchase replacements?

Firestone Tire & Rubber Company has prepared a quiz to help you make the right decision. Answer these questions, add your point total and find out what you should buy.

1. How fast do you drive?
Seldom over 60 (1 point); frequently over 60 (2 points); mostly over 60 (3 points).
2. How often do you drive on rough roads? Seldom (1 point); frequently (2 points); mostly (3 points).
3. How often do you drive on expressways? Seldom (1 point); frequently (2 points); mostly (3 points).
4. How often do you drive with heavy loads? (Two or more adult passengers, heavy cargo or both.) Seldom (1 point); frequently (2 points); mostly (3 points).
5. How many more miles do you plan to drive your car? 10,000 miles or less (1 point); 25,000 miles or less (2 points); 40,000 miles or more (3 points).
6. What kind of driver are you? Easy (1 point); average (2 points); hard (3 points).

If you total nine points or less, you can use bias-ply tires in the lower price range.

If you score between 10 and 13 points, you should buy a bias-belted or high performance bias-ply tire.

With 14 points or more, bias-belted or radial tires are recommended.

PLACE CIRCLE OVER OIL FILLER TUBE

Cut this cartoon from your paper. Sift the flap on three sides. Press the circle over your engine's oil filler pipe while the engine is running. If the flap is pulled down, your pollution control valve and system may be operating properly.

If the flap stays flat, or is pushed up, your PCV valve, or your system may be plugged. Replace the PCV valve and have the connecting lines flushed.

This tester does not detect partially plugged systems. PCV valves should be changed according to manufacturers recommendations, or every 12,000 miles.

Lady Driver Offers Travel Tips To Help Prepare For Vacation

New Sign Language

By JODY CARR

This is the time when you and your family are finalizing plans for your first long weekend trip of the summer, if not your big vacation trip.

You probably will be traveling by car and under circumstances that are quite different from the short hauls you've been making since last summer.

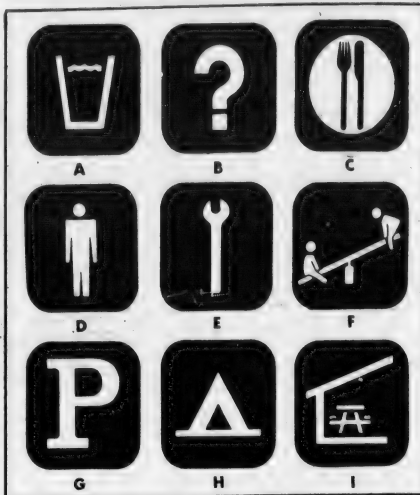

Your plans undoubtedly include having your car properly checked over and serviced for the journey. But have you considered some of the safety and convenience devices available to you to make your trip a better one?

For example, an extension lamp that plugs into your car's cigarette lighter socket is great for reading maps, searching for Junior's frog under the front seat or even more stringent emergencies.

Speaking of emergencies, can you be seen if you have one on a lonely road? Newer cars are equipped with emergency flasher lights. Check to see how yours work. In older cars, carry flares. These are vital if your car should be disabled at night. The small flashlights with blinkers may not do the job if another car is approaching you at 70 miles per hour.

Do some browsing in your neighborhood auto supply store for these and other items you may want to include. A multi-purpose dry type fire extinguisher, for instance, of at least 2 1/2-pound capacity... Underwriters Laboratory Approved... will give you some peace of mind.

Do you have any kind of tool kit to take along? In the

NEW ROAD SIGNS CUT CONFUSION—A vacationing traveler has complained that somehow his appetite was often dulled by the road signs that told of accommodations off the road. The sight of a sign reading: GAS—FOOD turned his hunger pangs into a queasy feeling. Perhaps that's one reason why a committee of government agencies is developing a series of picture road signs. Not only will the signs provide a uniformity of information on facilities, but will assist foreign travelers in locating needed services. See if you can identify the facilities from the signs: Answers: A. Drinking Water; B. Information; C. Food Service; D. Restroom (Men's); E. Mechanic; F. Playground; G. Parking; H. Campground; I. good old days, cars came equipped with a fairly good supply of basic tools. Today you could do little more than change a tire with the tools that come in your car.

Your auto supply counter-man is an expert on what you should carry with you. But he may not think of one item that deserves a place in your travel paraphernalia, because it isn't in his line.

This is a first aid kit. It is smart to carry one, and your druggist can help here.

Replacing Transmission Filter Part of Preventive Maintenance

When your automatic transmission begins to slip you can be in deep trouble.

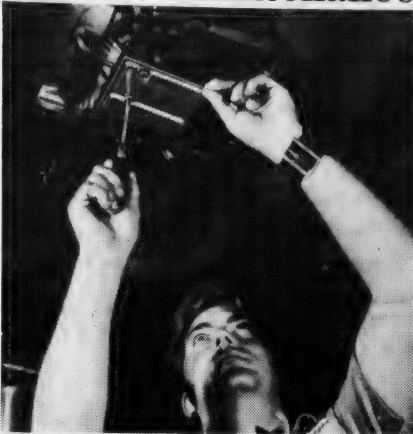

Here's one area where preventive maintenance pays off with a big plus. Ironically, the reliability of the automatic transmission has often resulted in its being ignored — and neglected — until too often it's too late, say Fram Corporation engineers.

Today's auto, with its bigger engine, its power steering, its air conditioning — all place a bigger burden on the automatic transmission. This burden is compounded further during hot summer months, heavy traffic or trailer towing conditions.

Transmission fluid performs under heat and pressure and must be kept clean by a filter.

Excessive heat creates a varnish, restricting the vital fluid flow and possibly causing expensive transmission repair or replacement.

You can avoid all of this by simple preventive maintenance. Invest in a new

Among the least known (to the motorist) but most vital services is periodic changing of the automatic transmission filter. This filter helps keep transmission fluids clean and thus assists in longer service life for vital transmission parts.

only acts as hydraulic fluid to operate the transmission but, with important additives, helps to keep internal parts clean. As clean, that is, as is the fluid itself. That's your part.

Change filter and fluid when recommended. It can be a case of paying a little now for transmission filter and fluid, or a lot later for transmission overhaul or replacement.

Importance of Right Driver Attitude

The rich prize money at the Indianapolis "500" is a fantastic goal for the men behind the wheel. Yet most competitors are going for a bigger prize than money. They're running for their lives as well.

According to Bob Veith, a member of the Champion Spark Plug Company Highway Safety Team, "There's more than prize money at stake when we compete. There's also finishing safely, in one piece. And the best way to come out ahead on both counts is by having the right driver attitude."

Said Veith, who has competed at Indianapolis 11 times and is a former Rookie of the Year at Indy, "When we talk to thousands of high school students and military personnel every year, we stress one thing. And that's the right, driver attitude — the determination to drive to survive."

"We know at any race track, that our equipment is in top shape. We each have a team of skilled mechanics to cut to the minimum any chance of car failure. Our cars are equipped with the best safety equipment there is. So the ultimate answer to our survival is in our determination to drive safely and intelligently."

One way Veith gets his school and military audiences to remember right driving attitudes is to have them remember the letters in CAR.

C stands for Care both of the equipment and of the driver. A vehicle with faulty brakes, worn tires and other safety hazards is an invitation to an accident. Also, a driver who is overly tired, has been drinking or taking narcotics is a poor safety risk. (More than half of all fatal accidents involve drinking drivers, Veith said.)

A stands for anticipation. Always anticipate what the drivers in front, in the rear and on both sides of you may do. If they do something foolish, make sure you have an escape route planned.

R stands for respect. Respect the other driver's right to be on the road and do nothing that will hinder his safety as well as your own, Veith remarked.

Veith is one of eight full-time racing veterans who participate in Champion's program. Begun in 1953, the program has been attended by 15,000,000 persons in all parts of the U.S. and Canada.

Air Pollution Levels Receding Due to Low Emissions Devices

People who yearn for the "good old days" when air pollution was not considered a problem may have their wishes fulfilled.

Despite the growing number of cars on the road and the headlines about the air pollution problem, an encouraging fact remains: Pollution from automobiles is at a lower level than a decade ago and is dropping each year.

In fact, estimates the National Air Pollution Control Commission, by the end of this decade hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions will be at 1940 levels. Back then there was little need for concern over automotive air pollution.

The reason for this decline is the pollution-combatting mechanisms developed by the auto industry. Items like the positive crankcase ventilation system introduced in 1963 and the gasoline vapor burning system new on 1971 models have already achieved great reductions in pollution levels.

Indicating the effectiveness of the new system, 84 percent of present-day pollution from cars comes from older cars not equipped with the latest pollution devices.

Today, total amount of pollutants from cars is about 78 million tons. By 1980, the annual figure will be about 25 million tons, approximating pre-World War II levels.

POLLUTION FIGHTERS — Sometimes the difference between a polluting car and a clean one can rest in a few simple and inexpensive-to-replace parts. This young car care conscious lady is not smoking a pipe, but displaying a PCV valve. The valve should be checked for efficient operation as part of every tune-up. She reminds motorists that air filters (the large round ring), oil filters and gasoline filters (the white object on the oil filter) are also vital for clean, trouble-free engine operation and should be replaced at regularly scheduled intervals.

Definition of Car Check-Up: Trouble-Free Vacation Trip

In Webster's "New Twentieth Century Dictionary" there are 38 different definitions for the word "check." (You can check that if you like.)

But one definition of the word is vital to a trouble-free motoring vacation this summer. That is a thorough check of various safety and performance components. Clip this article and take it to your favorite service outlet.

Then have your serviceman look into the following for good operating condition:

- ☐ A tune-up will give you sure starting, peppy performance and good gasoline mileage. It also will reduce harmful emissions. The tune-up should include new spark plugs, points, condenser, distributor and wiring check, setting timing, compression test and servicing of anti-pollution devices. Battery, electrical system and carburetor checks also should be included.
- ☐ Lubrication to prevent premature wear of vital moving parts. This should include an oil change plus filter, chassis lube and check of all hydraulic fluid levels.
- ☐ Cooling system should be cleaned and flushed and refilled with a good permanent type anti-freeze plus rust inhibitors. Also have the thermostat, fan belt, water pump, all hoses and radiator cap checked for sound condition.

- ☐ Brakes. Have brake linings inspected, adjustments checked.
- ☐ Tires and Wheels. Check tires for general condition and have them rotated. Also check wheel alignment and balance to prevent premature tire wear.
- ☐ Suspension. Check shock absorbers to prevent potential loss of control while driving.
- ☐ Visibility — Check windshield wipers, washer system, headlights, turn signals, backup and brake lights.

With all these items in good condition you can forget about another kind of check. That's a bank check you won't have to write for expensive repairs on the road.

INCREASE TIRE LIFE

Improperly balanced wheels can reduce the life span of your tires by as much as 25 percent. Check wheel alignment and balance and rotate your tires every six months.

Free Pamphlet Tells Solution For Pollution

A 12-page pamphlet telling "What You Can Do About Your Car's Exhaust Pollution" is available free from Champion Spark Plug Company.

The pamphlet contains information on the causes of high emissions and gives advice on how the car owner can help reduce pollution. To obtain a copy, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to:

LIGHT COUNT

The average car has 38 light bulbs. Every one is important. Be sure they all work.

CUT POLLUTION

A misfiring spark plug can increase unburned hydrocarbon emission by 300 percent. A tune-up can correct the problem.

Rediscover Pleasures Of Traveling By Car

Properly Maintained Auto Can Help You Rekindle 'That Special Feeling'

This summer why not take your car on a second honeymoon? Certainly, bring the spouse and the children along but also rekindle that special feeling you once had with your automobile.

As you're traveling to interesting places along adventure-filled highways, it's not hard to do.

Undoubtedly, it was love at first sight when you purchased your car. Then, probably, the feeling began to wear off with one too many trips in bumper-to-bumper traffic and with those all-too-frequent reminders that the car was growing older.

But with the coming of the vacation season, you can rediscover the pleasures that come from traveling by car. Moreover, that discovery will be even more enjoyable when your car is in its optimum condition.

Start by visiting your favorite service facility.

Ask your service technician to check over key components of your car for safety and performance.

Then have him perform the services necessary to assure a trouble-free trip.

One such service is a tune-up that provides better gasoline mileage, peppier performance and an important extra benefit.

That is a reduction in harmful exhaust emissions, thus helping keep the air clean.

Getting your car ready for that second honeymoon is more than merely a matter of personal choice. It's a matter of living as a concerned citizen on this planet.

Look at it this way.

If your car won't start on your driveway, then it's you and you alone who suffers.

If that same untuned car stalls and can't start on a crowded expressway, then you are inconveniencing hundreds of other motorists behind you.

Or, if you experience a blowout due to a worn tire on a sparsely traveled road, it's your misfortune.

Transfer that blowout to a fast-moving freeway and cause an accident, then you may be inviting a real tragedy to yourself and some innocent fellow motorist.

Of even further-reaching consequence if your car is a polluter, you are affecting everybody in your community.

So, getting your car in shape is an invitation to joy. It is also a sign that you care about your fellow man as well as your own family.

THEY ALSO SERVE — While it is hardly likely that you'd take your favorite service technician on your vacation with you (unless you are married to him), there's no one more important to a happy trip than he is. By getting your car in shape, he can assure you that your journey will be as safe and pleasurable as a well-maintained auto can make it.

Hotter Running Cars Need Lasting Coolant

In designing cars to fight air pollution, car manufacturers are building hotter-running engines that help make combustion more efficient. In addition, the growing popularity of air conditioning and other power demanding accessories tends to increase engine heat.

Therefore, use of permanent anti-freeze as a year-round coolant is recommended to avoid overheating — even in warm weather areas.

Exhaust Pipe Deposits Show Engine Woes

A dry, sooty deposit on the inside of your car's tail pipe is the tip-off that the engine is wasting gas. It's not burning the fuel-air charge in the combustion chamber the way it should, and it shows in the exhaust.

Also, an oily, black deposit is a sign of burning oil, through worn rings, valve guides or other causes.

A normal exhaust pipe should show a crisp, grayish deposit. Soot, except under conditions of excessive choking or city driving, is a sign of wasted gas and the trouble may lie within the carburetor, ignition system or both.

'What Do You Mean My Car's Brakes Are Shot?'

Police Officer Frequently Hears Motorists Object

By CHARLES BARUCH

"What do you mean my brakes are shot? The car stopped, didn't it?"

The motorist's reaction was considered not unusual by Officer Frank Blankwell. Officer Blankwell (not his real name) was completing a long, tiring day on a spot-check vehicle inspection lane near a major city. He had been listening to alibis ranging from the ridiculous to the less than sublime.

Misaligned headlights? "It's the manufacturer's fault. They should make them so they don't go out of whack," the owner said.

Bald tires? "I was going to get new ones but I haven't had time."

Bad shock absorbers? "Shock absorbers! What are they?"

As offending drivers were handed a violation notice, requiring them to have the trouble repaired and bring the car back in 10 days for a recheck, Officer Blankwell was often greeted with a scowl or muttered comments like, "Why aren't you guys going after muggers?"

Since vehicle inspections were introduced, better than 50 percent of all cars tested have failed in at least one critical safety area.

"Better Than Average"

Officer Blankwell was running a little better than the national average that day. He and his crew had checked better than 50 cars and 29 of them had defects.

Brakes and tires were the most common failings with steering and misaligned lights ranking next. Some of the cars inspected looked like refugees from a scrap yard. Officer Blankwell said:

"We're accused of discriminating against the poor man who can't afford a new car but needs transportation to get to his job. And it bothers me to tell a man he can't drive his car."

"But it would bother me even more to pull him out of a wreck caused by a tire failure at high speeds."

"And it would bother me a heck of a lot more to see some child run down because someone with faulty brakes couldn't stop in time."

Blankwell operates in an

Well-functioning wiper blades are an integral part of a safe car. Here inspections test the tension of the wiper arms. About half of all cars tested have at least one safety defect, vehicle inspectors find.

area that does not have compulsory vehicle inspection. Instead, it uses the spot check lane system where police inspect cars at random.

Said Blankwell, "I know the arguments against compulsory inspection. Our legislature apparently believes that passing an inspection gives the motorist a false sense of security and that he won't maintain his car until the next check.

"I personally can't buy that approach though. The conscientious car owner will take care of his car. The careless one needs prompting, even if it's only once or twice a year."

Tail Pipe Bumping

As Blankwell's crew was stowing their check equipment for the day, a car drove by. Its tail pipe was bumping on the pavement and the front wheels were wobbling.

"That's what I'm talking about," the officer said. "There are more ways to save lives than to nab a mugger."

Lots of people are concerned about pollution. But concern alone won't stop it.

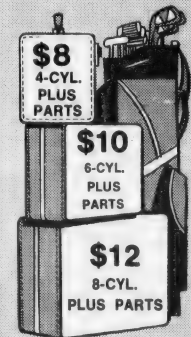

Tests on cars with high emission levels show that an engine tune-up can substantially reduce pollutants. By more than 50% on the average.

So there is something that you can do to fight pollution. Have your car's exhaust emissions checked. If your car needs a tune-up, get one. At least once each year or every 10,000 miles. And urge your friends and neighbors to do the same.

Further information is in the free factbook, WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT YOUR CAR'S EXHAUST POLLUTION. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Tune-Up Factbook, P.O. Box 910, Toledo, Ohio 43601.

Frank Evans Co. Inc. Started As Summer Job For Teacher

About 20 years ago, a Boston elementary school teacher named Frank Evans and his brothers took a summer job building cottages.

Evidently they did a good job because requests for Evans' services increased each year to the point, in 1957, when he gave up teaching to form Frank Evans Co. Inc.

The company employs 14 men, specializing in home improvements such as roofing, gutters, aluminum and vinyl sidings, awnings, storm windows, porch enclosures and carpentry.

Evans was born in Boston, graduated from Boston English High School and served in the Navy during World War II.

After his discharge, he entered Suffolk University where he earned his bachelor's degree. He later received a master's degree in education from Boston State College.

Evans taught elementary grades at various Boston schools from 1950 to 1957 when he opened his home improvements business.

He started the business at an office on Greenwood Ave., near the old Wollaston Railroad Station and moved three years later to his present site at 343 Newport Ave., Wollaston.

A feature of the company is that Evans does all appraising himself so that there is no salesman's commission added to the customer's bill.

At 45, Evans is a member of what he calls an "old-timers' hockey league which plays regularly at Cohasset Slating Rink and Hingham Arena.

He plays forward on the team with a slap shot that he admits is "not too good" and has recently taken up tennis.

He is a member of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce, Wollaston Business and Professional Association, United Commercial Travelers and North Quincy Knights of Columbus.

He lives in Cohasset with his wife, the former Anne McKenna, and seven children, Jane, Frank, Anne, Rosemary, Priscilla, Larry and Richie.

Andrews graduated from North Quincy High School in 1961 serving as president of his graduating class. He was captain of the varsity basketball team and was a pitcher for the school's baseball team. He received his Bachelor of Science Degree from Northeastern University in 1966 and his Master's Degree from Boston State College last week.

While attending Northeastern University, Mr. Andrews served as assistant basketball coach at Archbishop Williams High School. Following graduation from Northeastern, he was a physical education instructor at the Fernald State School, Wrentham for handicapped children.

Locally, he was employed for nine years in the Quincy Recreation Department [while attending North Quincy High]

On The Screen By Vincent Puleo

Jessel In White Toupe

BILL GRAHAM is piqued at the Motion Picture Assn. [MPA] ratings committee for slapping his no sex, no violence, no drugs Rockumentary "FILLMORE" with an R... The MPA clamped down with the R-rating because of a too liberal use in the picture of a "common" everyday-used four letter word... Froths GRAHAM, "there isn't a 10-year-old in the country who doesn't know the word, and the idea they [under 16] should be barred from the theater because of it is preposterous"... "FILLMORE" is a documentary about the last days of GRAHAM'S famed West Coast Rock Palace, the Fillmore...

GRAHAM finished his blast at the MPA by accusing them of "living in the stone age" and a biting "they [children] get a rain of blood and bullets all over the place on television, and now they have to be accompanied to the theatre to see a clean film"... The picture was slated to be screened in seven major cities until the R-rating came into the scene. As of this writing BILL GRAHAM is fighting the MPA for a G-rating, and will not release "FILLMORE" until an appeal can be heard... Personally, I fear the MPA's stone age wisdom will have the last two-letter R word. It's unfortunate because GRAHAM has created an interesting and enlightening film about the Rock world, the four letter words aside...

JOHN HUSTON'S upcoming "FAT CITY" is being pre-ballyhooded as that director's best effort in years. We shall see... Television's most famed barmaid EVELYN SCOTT has returned to her behind the counter duties in the daytime version of "PEYTON PLACE". And in real life the lovely Miss SCOTT has yet to touch a drop... HILDEGARD NEIL'S comeback continues on its merry path back to stardom. Miss NEIL has been signed opposite, GEORGE SEGAL for the romantic comedy "A TOUCH OF CLASS".

"RED SUN" has been sizzling at international box offices in Paris, London, Tokyo, Sydney, Copenhagen and W. Berlin, and should have massive lines queuing through the turnstiles when it stateside debuts this summer... Starring an all star cast of CHARLES BRONSON, URSULA ANDRESS, ALAIN DELON and TOSHIRO MIFUNE, the fast-paced, gore western packs more than enough action to keep the most anxious of viewer glued to his seat...

QUOTE, UNQUOTE: White touped GEORGE JESSEL one-lining as he embarked off on another Vietnam entertainment tour: "Everybody knows my age, so why 'kid with the dark toupe' any more. As for the girls. Maybe they 'too are a memory'... Ah, but what a memory!... HUGH O'BRIAN returns to TV next season in the two-fisted drama, "PROBE". And for O'BRIAN this will be a homecoming of sorts. ### Tetanus And You

Nobody is permanently or naturally immune to tetanus. It still strikes down a couple of hundred Americans each year, and one third to three quarters of the reported cases are fatal.

Surveys show that about 40% of men and women over 40 are susceptible to tetanus simply because they are poorly protected. On the other hand, if you take a few minutes for a course of shots, or even a booster, the chances of death or illness because of tetanus is virtually nil. The reason: Tetanus vaccine is just about 100% effective.

Don't guess about your level of protection or wait until you're hurt, when it may be too late. If you've been routinely immunized with toxoid in infancy or in the military, you have a good start.

Depending on your age now, a booster may well be all you need to bring your immunity up to par. Immunity lasts ten years on the average.

Quincy Bows To Weymouth

Morrisette Over Hingham

Morrisette, seeking its 18th Zone 6 championship, is off and running while Quincy, off to a disappointing start in its opener, showed promise for the future as another Legion baseball season got underway over the weekend.

Morrisette, a 4-1 winner over Hingham Sunday, last night hosted Braintree, goes to Milton Friday, is home to Weymouth Sunday and entertains Randolph next Wednesday.

Quincy, a 5-0 loser to Weymouth Monday, played at Hingham last night, goes to Randolph Sunday and visits Milton next Wednesday.

Morrisette, with 13 returnees from last year's state finalists, received a three-hit pitching performance from Jimmy Walker and a nine-hit attack paced by Tom Burke's three hits to topple Hingham, a newcomer to Zone 6.

"It was a good opening game and Hingham has a good team," said Morrisette Coach Ray Cattaneo. "I was pleased with our all-around performance."

Quincy, with veteran coach Connie Carozzi back at the helm for his 17th American Legion season, showed the effects of little practice time in its opening night loss.

Quincy was held to one hit and pitcher Bob Brill, eyed by several major league scouts, had one bad inning, the fourth in which Weymouth scored four runs with the aid of three walks.

"We are behind the other teams because I couldn't get a field to practice on except for Saturday and Sunday," Carozzi said. "Weymouth had a large number of practice games while we had only two. I feel our hitting will come along and we will improve with a few more games."

"In one inning the Weymouth pitcher walked four batters but we failed to score because a baserunner was picked off first base. I wasn't too disappointed and I think we will come along."

Smyth's Passed Ball Opens New Babe Ruth League Season

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth committed the first error ever in the brand new South Shore 16-18 Babe Ruth Baseball League.

Smyth, who sponsors one of Quincy's two teams in the league, was charged with a passed ball when he failed to field Mayor Walter J. Hannon's toss to open the first league exhibition June 4 at Adams Field.

In fairness to Smyth, though, there was an element in the crowd which felt the Mayor should have been charged with a wild pitch.

Teams from Braintree, Milton, Randolph, West Roxbury and two each from Quincy and Weymouth played two innings apiece in the jamboree exhibition to give fans a sample of the calibre of baseball they will play.

The Suburban Umpires

Association donated four umpires and a collection benefited the Jimmy Fund.

Babe Ruth officials in attendance included Walter Shannon, national hospitality chairman; George Lally, state director; Robert Curran, New England regional director and Richard Case, international president.

Quincy teams play at home on Tuesdays and Thursdays at Adams Field.

Mighty Mites Compile Impressive Record

The Quincy Youth Hockey/ Mighty Mites I and II have combined for a record of 4-1-1 in league action over the past few weeks.

The Mites I came off a 2-2 tie with Marshfield to post successive wins against Columbia, Scituate and Brockton as the Mites II dropped a tough one to Holbrook 4-3 but bounced back to trounce Cohasset.

Chuck Marshall and Kevin Craig gave Mites I their tie with Marshfield and Kevin scored again the next week as Robbie Zanandelli hit twice and Rich LaPierre added the final goal in a 4-1 victory over Columbia.

Kevin Craig's four goals and hat tricks by Chuck Marshall, John Toland and Rich LaPierre led the team to an overwhelming 17-0 romp over Scituate.

Kevin McCormick [2], Brian Sullivan and Bob Zanandelli added goals to the scoring and Ken Mann shut out the opposition in goal.

Tom Murphy's two goals and one by Chuck Marshall powered the team to a 3-2 win over Brockton.

The Mites II managed two goals by Tom Doherty and one by Joe Carroll but fell short in their match against Holbrook, 4-3.

But Dan Boyle's hat trick, two goals by Bob Kelley and the goal-tending of Paul Reinhardt led the team to a 9-2 laughter over Cohasset.

Joe McKenna, Carl Nord, Joe Carroll and Kevin Ryan rounded out the Mites II scoring.

The teams, consisting of boys aged 7 and 8, have both compiled excellent league records.

They will play each other for the championship of Quincy

Function To 'Embrace Hope, Aspiration'

The primary function of Quincy Junior College has been "to embrace as its own the hopes and aspirations of all its students," according to Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, superintendent of schools.

Dr. Creedon's address, to be delivered at QJC commencement ceremonies Tuesday night, said hopes must be embraced "so that all can come to the realization that doing better is better than doing one's best."

"The hope of Quincy Junior College goes well beyond the obvious need for better facilities in which to house a more expanded educational program," he said.

"The hope of Quincy Junior rests in the continued enthusiasm of its dedicated and concerned faculty as well as in the aspirations and contributions to society of the thousands of students who have passed through the Coddington building."

Dr. Creedon's remarks were to present the 223 seniors who received degrees and certificates from Mayor Walter J. Hannan at the exercises.

Atty. F. Lee Bailey was commencement speaker and Mayor Hannan and Charles T. Sweeny, chairman of the board of Community College Association, extended greetings.

Valedictorian of the class was Michael White of Hyde Park.

Invocation and benediction were offered by Rev. Joseph J. Downey of St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point.

Dr. Creedon recapped the history of the school and its growth from first-year enrollment of less than 40 students to its present full and part-time population of more than 2,000.

"No other community or junior college in the Commonwealth public or private, has worked harder to overcome the limitations of a totally inadequate physical plant as has Quincy Junior College," he said.

Day Of Mourning Declared For Vendome Fire Victims

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has proclaimed June 22 a day of mourning for the nine Boston firemen who lost their lives in the recent fire at the Hotel Vendome in Boston.

"A tragedy such as this strikes all citizens as well as fellow city employees in neighboring cities," the Mayor said.

"We too feel a deep loss and express our profound sympathies to the families of these men."

In a letter to department heads, Hannon asked that city employees contribute to the fund which has been established for relief of the families of the firefighters.

Persons wishing to contribute may forward checks to Vendome Fire Fund, c/o Robert E. Foy, City Treasurer, Quincy City Hall.

OEP Approves $87,420 For Quincy Storm Damages

Houghs Neck Man Helps Save Three Fishermen

Coast Guard Fireman James M. Craig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Craig of 19 Edgewater Drive, Houghs Neck, helped save the lives of three crewmembers of the sinking fishing vessel Prelude II off the Long Island coast.

His ship, the Coast Guard

Cutter Tamaroa out of Governor's Island, N.Y., intercepted the Prelude II's "Mayday" and abandoned her fisheries patrol to go to the rescue.

The Prelude's main deck was going under when Craig's ship arrived on the scene and began to help, and after 12 frantic hours of pumping and damage control, he and his shipmates saved the stricken fishing vessel and towed it into a safe port.

The Tamaroa then returned to her law enforcement duties off the New England coast.

Fund Raising Underway

$55,000 Goal To Send H.S. Bands To Dallas, Dublin

By DICK MATTULINA

The North Quincy and Quincy High School bands will follow in the globe-trotting footsteps of the schools' championship sports teams next year if they can raise a total of $55,000.

The North Band received an invitation recently to appear in the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Dublin, Ireland next March 17.

And less than a week later, Quincy Marching Instructor William Morrill received a letter inviting his unit to join the Cotton Bowl festivities in Dallas, Texas, on New Year's Day.

School Committee approval has been granted to both requests and all that remains is to raise the funds to send some 240 musicians, majorettes and colorguards on their way.

North Band Director Carl Leone said his group has been invited to spend five days in Ireland next March, including the parade appearance.

Vito Barresi of 36 Rawson Rd., chairman of the North Music Parents Group, said he has applied for a permit to raffie a car to help raise the estimated $25,000 needed for the trip.

Duggan Brothers Chevrolet has offered a 1972 Vega at cost and Chase Press on West Elm Ave. has volunteered to print the raffie tickets.

Barresi, who is secretary of the North Quincy Merchants Association, said the business group may stage a Mardi Gras as part of its campaign.

Officers of the Music Parents Group include William J. Cornwell, first vice president; Charles F. Murphy, second vice president; Mrs. Barbara McConaghy, secretary and Mrs. Peg Gallagher, treasurer.

The Quincy High Band is one of 12 high school units in the country and the only one from New England to be invited to participate in the Cotton Bowl program.

The Presidents will march in the Cotton Bowl Parade and perform on nationwide television in the football pregame show.

Beer, Wine Good For Nursing Home Patients

Beer and wine tasting parties in nursing homes are becoming more and more popular and many doctors say that those beverages do even more good for their patients than tranquilizers.

That is what Edward J. Finn of Quincy, told the 23rd annual convention of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes, at Hyannis.

Finn is president of the South Shore Chapter of the Federation, a member of the Federation Board of Directors, and associated with the John Adams Nursing Home, Quincy. Several hundred delegates attended the three-day program at Dunfee's Resort Center, Hyannis.

Finn said recent studies had shown that a small amount of beer or wine a day has a remarkable effect on many elderly men and women in long-term health care facilities.

He said he looked upon the wine parties as a social lubricant because it helps shy or withdrawn people start a conversation more easily.

Finn said he believed a little beverage of this kind cheers patients up and a little pick-me-up can give some patients a very big lift.

He said surveys had disclosed that a little alcohol helped stimulate social activity and reduced the need for other drugs.

The Chapter president said the beer and wine therapy had been so successful in some Bay State facilities that many Nursing Homes were adopting fancy and exotic names for the rooms in which they are conducting their parties.

"They have tried fruit juices and non-alcoholic punch in some places but studies have shown that the atmosphere alone is not sufficient. The world's oldest medicine seems to still work wonders," Finn said.

Congratulations

Congratulations are certainly in order for the Quincy and North Quincy High School Bands on their invitations to appear in Dallas and Dublin.

And the kudos are due especially from those of us who have accused the youth of today of a lack of musical taste and talent in their choice of music.

Many a member of the older generation has been trapped in the generalization that every teenager is concerned solely with piercing guitars and pounding drums.

As if to prove them wrong, some 130 Quincy High School students will be performing march and popular music on the nationally-televised Cotton Bowl pregame show on New Year's Day.

And another 110 teenagers from North will be in the line of march for the grandest St. Paddy's day parade of them all in Dublin, Ireland, on March 17.

Both bands have several members chosen as soloists in regional and state high school bands. Both have graduating seniors preparing for professional music careers and classical studies.

Each unit has won distinction in marching and concert competitions around Greater Boston.

These are more than 200 youths playing all types of reed, brass, stringed and percussion instruments.

They play popular modern songs and songs which have been popular for generations. And they play them well.

It is with a personal pride that The Quincy Sun extends its congratulations to these fine young musicians because we have sponsored either the Quincy or North band in the past two Christmas Festival parades.

Now that the invitations have been received and school committee approval has been granted, it remains for the students and their supporters to raise $55,000 for the trips.

Parent committees from both schools will begin fund-raising campaigns shortly to provide the $25,000 needed for North and $30,000 needed for the Quincy band.

We support both campaigns and urge all citizens of Quincy to contribute to provide these outstanding young people the rewards they deserve.

Commends Four For Spearheading 'Walk' Program

Editor, Quincy Sun:

With the enormous amount of criticism levelled at youth today I feel that one cannot be insensitive to the splendid efforts and generosity rendered by the following four Quincy Junior Adults, all products of Quincy schools, two of whom were graduated last week from Quincy High School: Steve Lallo, Joyce Randall, Jeff Isaacson and Claire Powers.

These four young people spearheaded the Committee for the "Walk" program sponsored by the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation last Spring obtaining blisters on their heels from their twenty-mile junket around the city. They negotiated with the Quincy Council on Aging agreeing to allot one-third of the proceeds raised [$4,000.] for the purchase of a van to aid the Meals-on-Wheels program in conveying hot food from the Victor Sawyer Towers, the satellite location to Pagnano Towers and Oceanview and eventually to the elderly shut-ins.

As Council secretary I prepared and wrote the requested Project Proposal to the Foundation in Washington which was subsequently approved and a check sent to the Quincy Council on Aging which was deposited in a local bank. It must of necessity be returned to the Foundation inasmuch as it was earmarked only for the purchase specified - a Van for use for meals-on-wheels.

I feel that the citizens of Quincy wish to commend the excellent motivation which sparked this worthwhile project and it so well exemplified the significant embodiment of Youth desirous of helping the Elderly, and therefore deeply appreciate their code of conduct in such an extraordinary contribution to the Quincy Older Americans. Their efforts established a meaningful rapport with the Senior Citizens of Quincy and deserves recognition.

All four young people are enrolled in the following colleges and universities this Fall - Rutgers, Cornell, Boston University and Northeastern University, and plan to major in Government, History, Urban Affairs, Sociology and Anthropology.

It is fervently hoped that these colleges and universities will be the beneficiaries of these four future useful and productive citizens who blazed a trail in their native city.

Ann Morgan Gaffey, Quincy

Friends Of Animals In Appeal

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Spring has sprung and now everyone will be letting their pets outdoors to become pregnant and add to the already tremendous amount of surplus animals in the U.S. There are 10,000 puppies and kittens born every hour for which there are no homes. Please don't let this happen. Have your pet spayed.

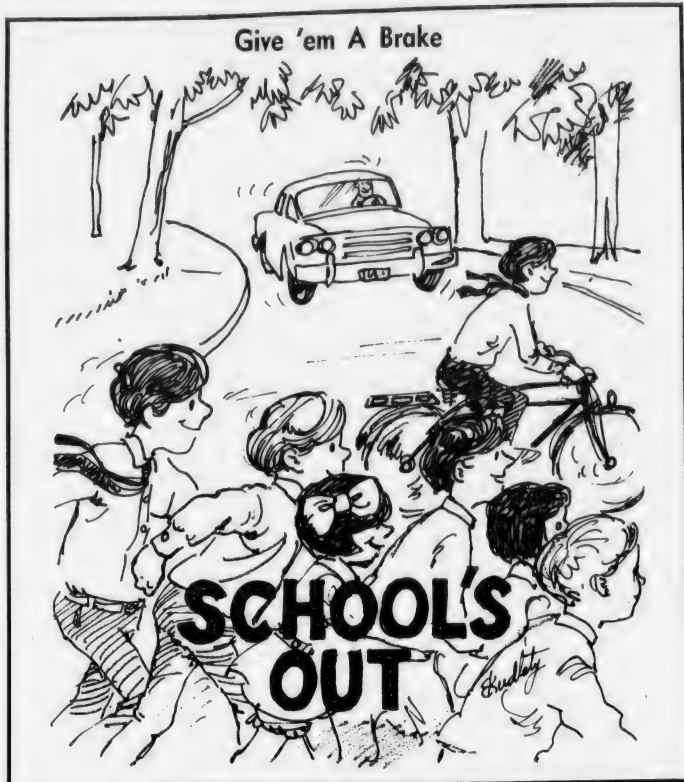

If the cost of spaying your pet is a financial hardship Friends of Animals can help, via their subsidized spaying certificate. This service is available for mixed breeds only, the exceptions being a purebred that was adopted from a Humane Society, or was a gift.

The following volunteers will be happy to supply information about our spaying certificate to interested people.

New Law Regulates "Private Business Schools"

By ATTY. GEN.
ROBERT H. QUINN

[Attorney General Robert H. Quinn prepares this weekly column to inform Massachusetts residents about the state consumer laws.]

This year's June graduates who plan to enter "private business schools" will be protected by a new law requiring all of these schools to be licensed by the state Department of Education.

Because the Consumer Protection Division of my office received numerous complaints about certain practices of some of these schools, it sponsored a bill to regulate the operational procedures of the "private business school", which includes charm, secretarial, data processing and computer schools.

Enacted last year by the

Junior Library Announces Summer Programs

The Thomas Crane Junior Library, Main Hall, Washington St., Quincy Center announces the following summer programs beginning June 27, and continuing through the summer until Aug. 17.

Story Hour: Tuesday afternoons, 2:30 - 3:30 p.m., for pre-schoolers, kindergarten and first grade.

Read-Aloud Club: Tuesday and Thursday mornings, 10 - 11

Legislature, this law will be effective July 1.

In many cases the division found that schools had misled students about job opportunities after graduation. In addition schools had misrepresented the skills of faculty members or had refused to make refunds. In certain instances schools went out of business and the owners left town with the students' tuitions.

Under the new law, before a school can open, it must obtain a license from the Commissioner of Education. To receive this license, a school must post a $25,000 bond to ensure that students will be reimbursed if the school closes. A school also must submit resumes on instructors and a description of the course curriculum. All school salesmen must be licensed by the Department of Education. The school must also submit a financial statement to the state auditor.

In addition the new law provides that the Commissioner of Education may revoke the license if a school violates any regulations adopted by the commissioner. The license may be revoked if the school lacks adequate funds, equipment or qualified instructors.

Under the new law an enrolled student may recover treble damages, court costs and attorney's fees if he finds that the school has misrepresented its educational claims.

Potential private business school students who have any questions about the new law should contact the Department of Education.

Reading for credit begins on Thursday June 29.

All of the above programs take place in the Junior Library on Washington St. Information about branch programs, may be obtained by contacting individual branch libraries.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

It's more fun than TV ... to walk down the dressing room aisle of a department store and eavesdrop on the conversations behind the curtains. I'm not peeping Thomasina, but I can't resist listening. It's not illegal, just enlightening.

"This dress does nothing for me!" [Lady, what do YOU do for the dress?]

"What do you mean the zipper won't zip?" [She means that if the zipper does zip, the seam will rip!]

"This style must run small." [Maybe you are running large!]

"It's not my day for shopping." [Or your week, your month, your year.]

Overhearing someone else say these things is not dangerous. But when you hear them coming from your own mouth while you are trying on clothes, then you should do two things:

1. Resolve to keep your mouth shut—especially around fattening foods.

2. Resolve to settle down to a sensible program of nutritious food.

Start off today for lunch with a:

LASAGNA SANDWICH

1/3 Cup skim milk Ricotta
1 Cup Tomato juice
1/2 Cup green pepper, diced
1 Slice Arnold Melba Thin
Diet-slice bread
1 Egg
1/2 Cup Mushrooms
Pinch salt, Oregano, Parsley and pepper

Mix ricotta and egg with mushrooms, peppers and spices. Toast the bread and slice open.

Place one slice in bottom of teflon pan with half of the ricotta mix on top. Add half the tomato juice. Add the rest of the bread, cheese mixture, and tomato juice. Bake until brown [about 10 minutes] in 350 oven.

The name is misleading, isn't it? Sounds as though one such sandwich would immediately provide ten extra pounds and ten extra inches. What it does provide is the extra protein of egg and ricotta, the vitamins and minerals in the green peppers, the carbohydrates from the bread, and the tantalizing taste of the spices. The sound is deceiving.

Deception, you see, is not always bad. Only when you use it to fool yourself about what is really wrong with the clothes you are trying on. Take a look in that fitting room mirror. Take a full length look. Is it you, or is it the dress?

If it's you, remember that I am here to help. Send me a card to The Quincy Sun, or The Diet Workshop, 594 Merrick Ave., East Meadow, N.Y. 11554.

New Twist On House Calls

The road to success is to find a need and fill it. A most common need today is for family doctors to make house calls. In Los Angeles, physicians have found a way to fill this need.

They subscribe to a service that will do it for them - at night and round-the-clock on weekends. In these off hours, when their patients telephone, the call is automatically switched to the service. This consists of a central office - with a medical clerk manning the phone, and a doctor on duty - plus a van that cruises the streets with a driver, a two-way radio and a doctor ready to make house calls.

Seventy five percent of the patients calling can be handled over the phone by the doctor at the headquarters. The doctor aboard the van responds to those who must see a physician. The patient pays him $20 for the visit, and the patient's regular physician pays $100 a month to "Physicians on Call", the service that provides the happy solution.

Money is meaningless without good health. So, even if you're a sick millionaire, have your chauffeur drive you to NABORHOOD REXALL PHARMACY, 406 Hancock St., North Quincy or call PR 3-6426 for fast, prescription service. You can also pay your electric or telephone bills or use our notary public service. - Hospital equipment and supplies for rent or sale. Prescription tax and insurance records kept just 24 hour emergency service in North Quincy. Open 7 days a week from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Here Are the Kids You Don't Read About

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holfbrook
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursdays

When we read each day about the wild conduct of youth and fearful images pile up we find it necessary to relate ourselves to youngsters we have known.

We think of the pretty blonde girl working as a waitress while she studies to become a teacher.

The petite black-eyed youngster with the clear china-doll complexion who works as a dentist's receptionist and volunteers her services to an off-the-street club in a poor neighborhood while she prepares in college for a career as a social worker.

The young man who started at ten years of age as a corner newsboy and has been a gas station attendant, a restaurant busboy, an after-hours switchboard operator, a mail-room clerk, and a library custodian on the road through high school and college, where he is majoring in psychology and hoping to realize a master's degree in personnel administration.

The six-foot-four youth who works as a railroad-yard switchman while he studies for a degree in chemistry. (Before this he was a night clerk in a hotel and an office boy in a publishing firm.)

We think of the thousands of "first-generation" college students many of whom are fighting uphill battles against old-world parental objections. "This is a common situation that prompts nothing but admiration," a college placement counselor told us. "Some of these kids work to bring money home even as they pay their own way through school."

A national magazine reported a few years ago that "even for the gold coast types with sports cars to burn, loafing is Out and working is In." An Ivy League school reported that three-fourths of its junior class had summer jobs the preceding year. Others were purposefully engaged in study, the armed forces, and other pursuits. Only 1.9 per cent did nothing at all.

We found this industry borne out in our chats with college and high school students. "I'd feel guilty if I didn't work summers," one high school lad told us. "It costs a great deal for everything these days and with both my parents working, I'd be awfully ungrateful if I didn't pitch in, too."

There is a sense of being in the same boat. "Practically all the kids have part-time jobs," said a college liberal arts senior. "The way everyone is doing it inspires you to go and do likewise."

Often the doing these days isn't easy. As a result you'll find them as laundrette attendants, supermarket meat-cutters, bank messengers, county jailers, cookie bakers, dish washers, hospital orderlies, seamstresses, toll collectors, Santa Clauses, Easter Bunnies, market researchers, models, grave diggers.

We think they're a fine lot; they have our confidence.

BIKE

Mike is riding his bike,
Mike is riding by the dike,
Mike is on a hike.
At the same time, Sam is walking by the dam,
Sam peeks through the leak,
There is a clam on the dam.
A LEAK!
He peeked through a leak!
BAM! Goes the dam.
It seems to go down the stream.

The dam and Sam are going toward Mike and the dike,
BASH! goes an ash!
CRUNCH! goes the bunch,
Sam, the dam, Mike and the dike, and an ash all go CRASH! BASH! SMASH!
That is the end of Sam and the dam, Mike and the dike
And an ash!

COLORFUL FEELINGS

Gray is a kind of expression We use when someone's in depression.

White is the color of a dove, An angel's dress—the feeling of love.

Black is also a color of gloom, It reminds me of a funeral room.

Red is very, very hot— A war that has just been fought.

Blue is freezing cold every place, The dress of a ballerina, full of grace.

Yellow is the color of the moon, The radiant sun in the month of June.

Green is the color of summer and spring, The color of an emerald ring.

Without colors, our world would not be so fair, So be glad that colors are everywhere.

Beauty is heard in lots of things, Birds singing, the wind in my ear, They all seem so beautiful, They all seem to cheer.

Beauty is felt in wonderful things, Soft petals of flowers, soft blades of grass. The lake ever so clear, It looks almost like glass.

THE NEW WING

Moving to the new wing Was certainly a fling. Books and boxes everywhere! Where do we start, here or there?

It really was a hectic place! It looked like kind of outer space!

Put it here! Put it there! What a terrible night mare! First there was trouble and talk. We must have had at least a mile to walk

Our patience wore very thin, This is a race we had to win. It was like a witch's curse. But just think, it could have been worse!

When we look back at the misfits and fun, Aren't you glad that it is done?

Happy Anniversary to all of us, We certainly caused quite a fuss!

Morrisette Nips Weymouth

Mele (Steve) May Be Life Saver For Quincy

Steve Mele just might be a life saver for the Quincy Legion baseball team.

When Quincy Coach Connie Carozzi lost his number one pitcher, Bob Brill, to the Milwaukee Brewers of the American League, things looked bad for the Post 95 team, which hopes to give defending champion Morrisette a run for its money in Zone 6.

Brill, who had pitched fine ball in a losing cause in Quincy's opener, signed a contract with the Brewers and last week reported to their Newark farm team.

But last Sunday Brill's loss was eased considerably when Mele, son of Red Sox Scout Sam Mele and a starting outfielder for Quincy, made his first pitching start and pitched a masterpiece to give his team an 8-1 win at Randolph, the second win in a row for Quincy following its opening night loss.

Last night Quincy sought its third straight win at Milton, Friday hosts Morrisette at Adams Field, Monday entertains Braintree and next Wednesday plays at Weymouth.

Meanwhile, Morrisette, which last week had two games postponed, nipped Weymouth Sunday, 2-1, to make its record 2-0.

Last night Morrisette was home to Randolph, plays Quincy Friday and next Wednesday hosts Hingham.

Mele was superb for Quincy Sunday as he gave up only five hits, struck out 13 and didn't issue a base on balls.

"Steve pitched a few innings for me in high school [Abp. Williams] this spring," Carozzi said. "I planned to use him once in a while in relief if I needed him but was forced to start him when we lost Brill."

He looked great and you can be sure he will do a lot more pitching for us this year."

Steve was given plenty of support at the plate, especially by Mike Crosson, with three singles; Tim Flynn, who drove in two runs with a double; Dave Murphy, Bob Drew and Bobby Morton.

Flynn played an outstanding game at second base and Morton threw out five runners trying to steal.

Last week Quincy had edged Hingham, 4-2, for its first win of the year.

Murphy held Hingham to four hits in going the route and Billy Shea collected three of Quincy's six hits for a perfect day at bat.

Murphy, a former North Quincy High star, pitched for the U. of Mass. freshmen this spring.

Morrisette had a game with Braintree postponed because most of the players were playing for Braintree's state schoolboy champions in the state tourney, then had a Friday game with Milton rained out.

Sunday Walker pitched his second straight win for the defending Zone 6 champions, holding Weymouth to six hits.

Jim Driscoll and Bobby Maivesti led the hitting for Morrisette, which scored both its runs in the fourth inning.

Third Spot For Sox?

Mele (Sam) Called Shot On Ben Oglivie

By TOM SULLIVAN
Quincy Sun Writer

Two years ago at a Quincy Rotary Club meeting at which Red Sox executives and players were guests, Quincy's Sam Mele, a special Sox Scout, said:

"Of all the Red Sox rookies I've seen, I'm most impressed with Ben Oglivie, a fine looking outfielder. He has great speed, a fine arm and swings a good bat. I feel he will make the Sox within a couple of years."

Oglivie has made Mele's prediction come true by making the Boston club this year.

Ben, a 23-year older who bats and throws left-handed, was one of several rookies called up and who impressed the Boston fans tremendously during the last few weeks of 1971.

In 14 games with the Sox, he batted .263 with 10 hits in 38 times at bat and looked great in the outfield. He made several strong throws from the outfield.

This Spring he and another rookie, Rick Miller, were kept by Manager Eddie Kasko and, although slowed down recently by an injury, Oglivie, a native of Colon, Panama, has done his job.

Recently he came through with a pinch single in the ninth inning to drive in the tying run against Oakland and enabled the Sox to win in the 12th inning. He later hit a homer in the series.

Oglivie last year with Louisville had 26 assists, indicating his range in the outfield. He batted .304 with the Colonels, had 17 home runs and 86 runs batted in.

Oglivie and Miller appear to be fixtures with the Sox for some time to come and give Kasko two exceptional reserve outfielders. Miller has sparked filling in for the injured Carl Yastrzemski.

The Sox were doing pretty well after Yastrzemski was sidelined with a knee injury as Oglivie, Miller and Phil Gagliano filled his shoes well.

Yaz, whose lack of hustle had everyone talking in spring training, should have been benched for his lack of hitting and his injury appeared to be a blessing in disguise.

It seems everyone else "needs a rest", according to Kasko when they don't hit. He benched Rico Petrocelli, Danny Cater and Doug Griffin for this reason but never Yaz.

Yaz returned to left field last weekend but did nothing sensational, although he did have a couple of good plays in the field. Even if he continues to bat under .200, I don't suppose he will be benched and Miller and Oglivie will probably spend most of their time on the bench except when someone is ill or injured.

When the season started the Sox still had many questions and, in my opinion, some still have not been answered.

I, along with many other writers, scoffed last year when Kasko at a news conference announced he expected 130 games this year from Luis Aparicio. "How can he expect that with Luis slowing down and nearing 40?" was the popular question.

However, the little wonder has surprised everyone with a fast start. He did have a few bad days in the field early in the season but, despite his age [38] and the fact he has slowed down noticeably, he has done a great job and Kasko may just get those 130 games out of him. He is hitting well and fielding his position very adequately.

Apparently the trade which sent Sparky Lyle to the Yankees for Cater didn't solve the first base problem as Cater has failed to hit and it is possible Kasko will relent and shift Yaz to first. The way Lyle has been sparkling for the Yankees makes the trade look bad.

The Red Sox, as usual, had another big problem behind the plate with Kasko using Duane Josephson, New Hampshire's Carlton Fisk and Bob Montgomery. Fisk had been doing well until injured and since his return he appears to have nailed down the position.

He has a bullet arm, is a fine defensive catcher and if he just has an adequate batting average he can't be replaced. Soon after his return he hit a home run and two-run double in a win over Milwaukee. He has continued to hit the long ball and Sunday hit his fifth homer.

Right now he is giving the Sox the best catching they have had in years and just as long as he keeps hitting, there is no longer a catching problem.

I've been covering the Sox for more than 15 years and, much as I would have liked to predict a division title, at the start of the season I couldn't see them finishing better than third behind Detroit and Baltimore.

However, the way the top clubs have been stumbling, the Sox could give them a run for their money. They also have the surprising Cleveland Indians to worry about but it seems no one wants to win and the Sox, with a bit of luck, could be in the running.

Dave Hourin Coaching More Than Quarter Century

Dave Hourin has been coaching at North Quincy High for more than 25 years and for the past 24 has coached freshman and junior high track.

Dave received one of the big thrills of his long career recently when the North-Atlantic trackmen defeated Central, 84-66, in their opening meet of the year.

Hourin coached junior high track until Atlantic Jr. High opened 12 years ago. Since that time he has been North's ninth grade coach while Phil Garufi has coached the Atlantic seventh and eighth graders.

"We work together and the coaches officiate at the meets," Dave said. "During the Central meet I was handling the eighth grade high jump and called out the name of Paul McGuiggan."

"I got a big kick out of this because I coached his father, Paul, some 23 years ago on this same field [Cavagh Stadium] and next year young Paul will be on my ninth grade team."

Dave pointed out that the younger McGuiggan, who placed second in the high jump, is an excellent prospect.

The elder McGuiggan was a standout in all sports for North Quincy High and excelled for the Raider football teams for three years.

His son is also an all-around athlete and played for the Atlantic eighth grade football and basketball squads.

Hourin has had an enviable record at North and the junior high track teams went 21 years without losing a dual meet before losing one two years ago. The young Raiders dominated the all-city pentagonal meet for many years and from all appearances, despite a rather weak seventh grade team, they are on their way back.

In the opening win over Central the ninth graders won, 36½-13½; the eighth graders won, 34-16, but the seventh graders were walloped, 36½-13½.

The ninth grade swept the 100 dash with Paul O'Donnell, Paul Doherty and Pat Watkins placing 1-2-3.

Central's Steve Player won the mile, a new event this year. O'Donnell, who had a great day, also won the shot put with a fine toss of 42 feet, 4½ inches, and sparked for the winning relay team. "He should become a standout for the high school team," Hourin said.

North also swept the long jump with Steve Lathrop winning with a leap of 16 feet, 3 inches, Bryan Millner second and Bruce Riggins third.

North's Mark Canavan and Central's Art DiLoreto tied for first in the high jump.

North's relay team of Doherty, Watkins, Millner and O'Donnell won and according to Hourin, "these boys won't be beaten this season. They are just too fast."

On The Screen By Vincent Puleo

Marlene Dietrich Writing Memoirs

HAROLD ROBBINS hot selling novel "THE BETSY" will soon be made into a major motion picture. ROBBINS will be producing the film version under the Warner Bros. banner... Add the name MARLENE DIETRICH to the growing show business list of "memoir" writers. Her forthcoming autobiography is her first creative endeavor since she abdicated from the screen in 1961 with "JUDGMENT AT NUREMBERG"... The "PORTNOY'S COMPLAINT" masturbato release squeaked by with an R-rating from the Motion Picture Assn...

According to FCC Commissioner NICHOLAS JOHNSON the prevalent anti-drug radio and TV spots are "encouraging drug abuse by calling attention of young people to a glamorized illegal alternative to the alcohol consumed by the adult community"... And this column couldn't agree more. The anti-drug spots are a bad example of "overexposure" at its worst... ANTHONY FRANCIOSA is combacking the motion picture trail. He just wrapped up "ACROSS 110TH STREET", his first film outing in four years...

Hard Times in Tinseltown: In bygone days, during the heyday flourish of make believe, Hollywood was churning out between 600 to 700 films per year. Today, this same town is a poverty pocket with an industry output of 100 to 150 produced a year... And ROBERT KAUFMAN is one busy screenwriter. He's just been pacted by Warner Bros. to scenario originate the screen comedy, "PATTI, I'M INNOCENT"... KAUFMAN has credentials an arm long with such hits as "DIVORCE AMERICAN STYLE", "I LOVE MY WIFE", and "GETTING STRAIGHT" to his credit.

Those two rugged RODS, STEIGER and TAYLOR, are action teamed together in the on locale-filmed-in-Egypt, "THE HEROES"... Add the name GERALDINE CHAPLIN to the swelling list of actresses bitten by the politico bug... The late HARRY BRANDT was one of the first American film producers to introduce stateside viewers to what was to become known as "art" films... BRANDT, with a perceptive eye to quality, was instrumental in bringing FEDERICO FELLINI's "LA STRADA" to our shores. More than any one man, BRANDT was the producer directly responsible for the "discovery" of FELLINI and a host of other international film luminaries...

Another Rockumentary is in the works, and this one titled "STOP THE WAR". Which is about you know what... The Museum of Modern Art [N.Y.C.] recently paid special homage to filmmaker extraordinaire ERICH VON STROHEIM with a showing of his classic, "GREED"... Talk about setting a record for a long run. "BILLY JACK" [1971] did just that with a year long engagement at the Cinema South Theatre in Dayton, Ohio... The picture didn't go over so big in other parts of the country, but in Dayton it is still packing enough box office clout to have patrons re-see the film as much as 12 times.

ALFRED HITCHCOCK is walking away with honors on many fronts... He recently received an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree from Columbia University. And on the motion picture side, HITCHCOCK's latest chiller-diller, "FRENZY", is causing a fever on both sides of the globe with rave reviews and massive lines queuing up to the box office... For HITCHCOCK fans, "FRENZY" is "must see viewing"... Sure to be a classic in his horror melodrama genre...

Took 'em all of 14 years, but they finally got around to filming the sequel to "THE BLOB" [1958]. The just released "BEWARE THE BLOB" stars ROBERT WALKER in the STEVE MCQUEEN originated role... This year's Atlanta International Film Festival [Aug. 11-20] is being Cornucopian deluged with 1,500 films from 32 countries. How the producers of this Festival hope to "screen" this record number of pictures is anyone's guess... Just thinking about it gives me eye strain...

And wouldn't you just know "LUFTBUREN" was given birth in anything goes Stockholm [Sweden]. The skin-flic is your usual X-rated, hard core fare, with a theme centering on a sister in love with her brother, but with said brother in love with another woman... Older, and married yet... American newcomer GWEN WELLES, who recently starred in the French picture "HELLE", couldn't resist an offer from Playboy magazine. She is set to nude display her exteriors with none other than ROGER VADIM doing the photography...

To date 66 name stars are signed up to appear in the July 8-9 Democratic Telethon scooped in this column weeks back... EDDIE ALBERT is up to his ears in orange juice. ALBERT signed a two-year deal with the Tropicana Orange Juice Co. to be its TV softsell man... SALLY KELLERMAN was never more perfectly cast as you'll probably agree when you catch "Hot Lips" in "LAST OF THE RED HOT LOVERS"... Black activist comedian DICK GREGORY says he won't run for President this year because, "It's too dangerous"...

ABC-TV owns exclusive rights to the televised showing of "PATTON" and "GOLDFINGER". Since this network paid a hefty sum for these two features, they are passing the $$$ load onto the sponsors... ABC is selling "GOLDFINGER" at a clip of $150,000 per minute; and "PATTON" for $140,000 per minute. Between the two of them, ABC will cart to the bank better than $5 million for the first TV broadcast...

For the curious. National General Theatres is the fourth largest U.S. Chain now in existence. LEO JAFFE, president of Columbia Pictures Industries, was named "Pioneer of the Year" by the Motion Picture Pioneers Foundation...

Quincy Red Cross Seeking Funds To Aid S. Dakota Flood Victims

A nationwide campaign for $5 million dollars has been launched by the American National Red Cross for the flood victims of Rapid City, South Dakota, announces Stephen T. Keefe Jr., Chapter Chairman of the Greater Quincy Red Cross Chapter.

Red Cross is providing full recovery resources to help the more than 6,000 families affected by the disaster. It is estimated that some 4,000 homes are destroyed or seriously damaged and 600 - 900 mobile homes have suffered a similar fate.

A Red Cross disaster specialist in Rapid City reported 208 persons are confirmed dead and no one knows how many are missing. Daily the missing list continues to multiply. Red Cross has set up five large shelters and continues to feed thousands daily.

Keefe is appealing to the community to help the flood victims in Rapid City by mailing a check, payable to the Greater Quincy Red Cross, 57 Revere Rd, Quincy, Mass. 02169.

Joseph McAllister Keeps Cool While Winning $1 Million

Joseph M. McAllister's boss at Draper Brothers in Canton jokingly offered a few weeks ago to sell him the business if he won the million-dollar drawing of the Massachusetts State Lottery.

"I told him I didn't want the headaches," McAllister said.

McAllister, a 50-year-old bachelor from Harris St., West Quincy, did indeed win the state's third million-dollar drawing, but hasn't changed his mind about owning a business.

In fact, McAllister doesn't seem to have changed at all.

He won the prize Monday night and reported for work the next morning as he has done for the past 26 years.

"We are a little short of help with a worker out sick, so I really had to go," he said.

New Dialing Procedure For Long Distance Calls

New England Telephone's Quincy customers will be using a slightly different dialing procedure when placing long distance calls, beginning Sunday.

Local telephone manager William J. Knox said that customers in Quincy's 471, 472, 479 and 773 exchanges should place station-to-station long distance calls outside the 617 area by dialing, "1" plus the area code, plus the seven digits.

"Customers placing long distance station-to-station calls within the 617 area should dial '1' plus the seven digits," said Knox.

"Previously the '1' on such calls was optional - Now it will be necessary for the call to be completed," he said.

Knox said that the procedure for dialing local calls will remain the same - seven digits.

Knox said the change is due to the installation of new electronic switching system equipment (ESS) in the central office.

"ESS is not only the most modern but the most flexible call-handling equipment in the Bell System", Knox said.

Council Approves Land Sale For Youth Hockey Assn. Rink

The City Council has unanimously approved the sale for $1 of a three-acre plot of land off Sea St. to the Quincy Youth Hockey Association.

The land, near the Naval Reserve Training Center on Sea St., will be the site of a $600,000 ice skating rink to be built and maintained by the association.

An 11-point order, submitted by Mayor Hannon and amended by the council, provides for use of the land only as a skating rink by a corporation with nine directors.

The corporation would be a subsidiary of the Youth Hockey Association with four members appointed by the council and five by the association.

Quincy groups would enjoy scheduling preference over out-of-town organizations and all Quincy users would pay the same hourly rental, according to the order.

Field Days, Concerts Galore

Bonfires, Fireworks Banned For Fourth Of July

By DICK MATTOLINA

Ecology and economy will prevent the red glare of bonfires and rockets this year but it won't dampen the spirits of Quincy residents celebrating the Fourth of July.

Fire Chief Edward F. Barry said he would not grant permits for Independence Day bonfires and has received no requests for fireworks permits.

Deputy Chief Herbert Rourke said the state law against open burning would make it illegal to hold a bonfire, regardless of permits.

"And they present a serious exposure hazard to nearby dwellings and other buildings unless they are closely watched," he said.

Rourke said both bonfires and fireworks are also dangerous, especially to small children.

"We haven't had a supervised fireworks display in Quincy for a few years now because the cost has become prohibitive," he said.

But with or without fireworks, thousands of Quincy residents will celebrate America's birthday on more than a dozen parades and field days Monday and Tuesday.

Fourth of July Eve festivities will include the Miss Merrymount pageant and band concert at Merrymount Beach, a concert for the Ward 2 Civic Association at Fore River Field and dedication ceremonies for Welcome Young Playground in North Quincy.

The Merrymount Association and Squantum Fourth of July Committee will sponsor parades in their neighborhoods and field days at Merrymount Beach and Wendell Moses Playground.

Other groups holding field days include the Ward 2 Civic Association, Houghs Neck Community Council, Baker Improvement Association, Adams Heights Men's Club, Morrisette Post and Germantown Improvement Association.

The North and South Bayfield Rd residents have again received permission for a block party on their street and will hold a softball game at Cavanaugh Stadium.

'City Needs Full-Time Mayor'

Hannon To Step Down From Representative Post

Mayor Walter J. Hannon will step down from his seat in the House of Representatives to devote full time to his duties as Quincy's Chief executive.

The mayor's announcement, confirming an earlier report in The Quincy Sun, was made after the deadline for filing nomination papers for the office.

"The six years I spent in the House have been very enjoyable and have given me a good insight into state government," Hannon said.

"My relationship with people in the House, including a majority of the members of the Quincy delegation, has been a good one," he said.

He said he feels, however, that now is the time to step down.

"Over the past 19 years, the City of Quincy has been represented by a Mayor-Legislator and it has been to our benefit," he said.

"But the city is growing and its problems are becoming more complex and require all of a mayor's time."

Hannon said he was sure he could "get along quite well with whoever succeeds me."

The mayor has held one of the two House seats from Quincy's Wards 4, 5 and 6 for the past six years. Contenders for the posts include incumbent Rep. Joseph E. Brett, Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt and Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth.

Reps. Thomas F. Brownell and Clifford H. Marshall appear to be unopposed in their bids for re-election as no one else had filed papers on the eve of the Wednesday deadline.

In the race for the Quincy-Braintree-Holbrook Senatorial seat, incumbent Arthur H. Tobin will be opposed by Miss Adeline Pompey of 15 Watson Rd, Quincy Point.

Through Tuesday four persons had filed papers to

Proposed MBTA Fare Hike Draws Angry Response From Tobin, Hannon

An MBTA director's proposal for a fare increase on the South Shore Line has evoked anger, dismay and epithets from Sen. Arthur H. Tobin and Mayor Walter J. Hannon.

Tobin, in one of his most volatile public statements, heaped adjectives such as "arrogant, asinine, parochial, snobbish and self-serving" on John J. McCarthy of Wakefield.

And the mayor hinted at administrative shortcomings on the MBTA board as a cause for its spiraling deficit.

The response was prompted by McCarthy's proposal that Red Line fares be increased as high as $1 to make South Shore commuter rates comparable to North Shore railroad fees.

The suggestion met with a lack of enthusiasm from the other four board members and opposition from Gov. Sargent.

But it prompted an irate Tobin to suggest that MBTA administrators be replaced by "competent people."

"If ever a statement was made to kill any chance of extending the South Shore line further, if ever a statement was made to turn legislators against voting for MBTA programs, this asinine suggestion is it," Tobin said.

The Quincy senator fell just short taking an oath to destroy the transit system.

"They want to sit around a board room and flip a coin to see who gets what service at what price," he said. "I think we should flip them out of there and let the bankers have car pools on the expressway."

"I say if they have the temerity to use this kind of blackmail, the legislature ought to have the nerve to shut them off, throw them out and devise a way to bring clean, convenient, efficient rapid transit service to our citizens," he said.

Mayor Hannon said McCarthy's "irresponsible statements" would "discourage the purpose of mass transportation."

"With statements such as this coming out of a supposedly responsible board member, you can sometimes understand why the MBTA's deficit is spiraling and its administrative procedures

June 30 Filing Deadline For Excise Tax Abatements

Persons who feel they might be entitled to abatements on their 1971 excise tax must file with the assessors office by June 30.

Anyone who has sold or transferred a motor vehicle, has a subsequent registrations or feels evaluation is excessive should inquire at the assessors office at city hall.

No Fare Hike

John McCarthy's suggestion to raise the fare on the South Shore line probably seemed sensible to some people.

After all, the MBTA is operating at a deficit that seems to be rivaling the national debt. And something has to be done sometime to increase revenue or cut costs.

And the line is the newest one in the system with the cleanest stations and the most modern cars.

It probably seemed reasonable to a lot of people. But you can bet none of those people lived in the South Shore.

To those of us who live south of Boston, especially in Quincy which bears the brunt of the local MBTA assessment, the idea is nothing short of preposterous.

The Red Line extension to Quincy has been a remarkable success since it opened despite the fact that South Shore commuters have to pay twice as much as anyone else serviced by the MBTA.

Believe it or not, it has even helped a little to relieve congestion on the inadequate Southeast Expressway.

A person riding the MBTA from stations in Quincy can sit back and enjoy a panoramic view of bumper-to-bumper traffic on the expressway in Dorchester.

He and his friends can laugh at the hapless motorists as they zip along the tracks and actually arrive on time for work.

That experience is probably worth the 50 cents fare.

But no one can tell us that the average working man will be willing or able to pay one dollar each way to ride a train which stops at only three stations of its own.

That's $10 a week, John McCarthy. It's $500 a year.

A person in Dorchester or Cambridge can board the Red Line, pay a quarter and get off at any station on the way except North Quincy, Wollaston or Quincy Center.

The same person in Dorchester can ride to any place in Boston or as far as Revere or Everett for that same 25 cents.

So why should a person in Quincy be forced to pay four times as much?

The answer is that he shouldn't.

A fare increase on the South Shore line, which by the way is really just a Quincy line right now, would be unfair, discriminatory and ridiculous.

The line has been one of the most successful in the system, but stations would be empty and taxpayers in the entire MBTA district would suffer if the cost went up.

McCarthy's proposal would price the MBTA right out of the market.

Back in 1939, a 17-year-old youth was looking for a job at City Hall.

Then Mayor Thomas S. Burgin found part-time work for him in the chief executive's office. And, on occasions, the youth-Joseph McAllister-served as chauffeur for His Honor on short trips around the city.

Last week, Burgin saw a photo of Joseph McAllister, of Harris St., West Quincy, in a newspaper, after the latter had won the million-dollar drawing of the Massachusetts State Lottery.

And, recognized him as the youth who chauffeured him some 33 years ago.

The former Mayor called the now 50-year-old bachelor to congratulate him on his good fortune.

They reminisced about the "good old days" and Burgin asked McAllister if he remembered serving as his chauffeur.

The new millionaire did.

"Well," said Burgin, "now that I'm semi-retired how about hiring me to chauffeur you in your car?"

The two had a good chuckle over that.

SPEAKING of former mayors, James McIntyre and wife, Sheila, reportedly have been house-hunting in the Adams St. area. McIntyre now lives on Kemper St. in Wollaston, from where his campaign victories for city councillor, mayor, state representative and senator were launched.

McIntyre reportedly is telling friends that he wants to remain in Quincy "a city which has been so good to me." and definitely will not move out of Quincy as did former Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa now a resident of Pembroke.

INSIDERS say that Wollaston's Frank Hackett, who recently retired from the South Shore National Bank, can have the city historian's job-if he wants it.

The word also is that Mayor Walter Hannon plans to expand the job so that the new historian will also work with John Cheney in Quincy development plans.

While the late William C. Edwards held the historian post, the job mainly concerned Quincy's history.

SUDDEN THOUGHT: Since the time when Harry Truman defeated Thomas Dewey, there have been few political candidates with mustaches. But there are two now from Quincy seeking Norfolk County seats: former School Committee Vice-Chairman James McCormick, running for treasurer, and Harold Davis, candidate for Register of Probate.

SAD STATISTIC DEPT: American Mutual Insurance Co. reports that each day in the U.S.: 32 persons die from fires and 1,520 families lose their homes. Fire also destroys 14 schools, eight churches, five hospitals and nursing homes, 120 stores and 135 industrial plants. Most common cause: carelessness in smoking and improper use of matches.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT: From the Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter: The five most important words are, "I am proud of you." The four most important, "What is your opinion?" The three most important, "If you please." The two most important, "Thank you". The least important, "I".

REMEMBER "a chicken in every pot and a car in every garage?" If you had one of each you really had something. Nowadays few families can function without at least two cars. And at least one community is doing something to regulate a resulting problem. To help stop on-street clutter of parked cars, Green Township, a suburb of Cincinnati, has an ordinance requiring all new houses to be built with two-car garages. [Quincy take note]

Urges Support For Special Education Budget

Editor, Quincy Sun:

I would like to have some news coverage on the fact that the Division of Special Education has asked for a deficiency budget for $3.4 million to cover costs for this year and a commitment for next year. This deficiency budget request is in the Office of Administration and Finance.

The Legislature is willing to pass on it if the Office of Administration and Finance will report it out, which at the present time they refuse to do.

If this budget is not passed, many of the children who are now being serviced in programs for handicapped children will not be serviced next year, and many children who are looking for placement will have to remain at home. These children desperately need these programs in order to be properly educated to survive in an adult world.

Anything that you can do to bring the plight of our children to the attention of concerned individuals will be gratefully appreciated.

Girl Friends Deliver Sun While Mary Ann's In Hospital

Being in the hospital is no fun, especially if you're 14 years old and school vacation has just started.

But Mary Ann McLaughlin of 14 Aberdeen Rd., Squantum, is in remarkably good spirits under the circumstances.

Mary Ann, a Quincy Sun newsgirl, has been in Ward S-2 at Quincy City Hospital since May 25 when she was struck by a car while on her way to classes at Atlantic Junior High School.

It's been a tough month for her with her right leg in traction because of a broken thigh and torn ligaments in her left knee and she faces another two weeks of hospitalization.

This 14-year-old girl has friends, though, and a family who keep her company just about every minute the hospital staff allows.

Mary Ann's mother, Mrs. William McLaughlin, visits her every afternoon from the time visiting hours start until she has to leave to cook supper for the rest of her family.

Her sister Kathleen is there every day and her father and brothers Francis and William pay regular visits.

While school was still in session Mary Ann's geography teacher Edmund Grogan made regular visits with several of her school chums.

"The kids don't go up as often now that vacation has started because there's so much to do," Kathleen said.

But Mary Ann will be out of the hospital soon and will probably spend a good deal of the summer soaking up sun in her back yard with her leg in a cast.

And soon, we hope, she'll be back on her feet and delivering The Quincy Sun.

Mary Ann's friends Susan Buckley and Christine Mackiewicz have been filling in for her with her paper deliveries.

Kerrigan is co-chairman with Vincent Banco of Child-Teen of the committee planning children's events for the celebration.

Every animal will be taken from its cage for its turn in the presentation and the public will have the opportunity to touch or pat many of them.

Other activities of the bazaar include evening concerts by the Morrisette American Legion Band of Quincy and the Satuit Band of Scituate.

The race to succeed retiring Register of Probate Bennett McLaughlin has the largest field with six announced candidates.

They are John J. Sullivan Sr., Joseph P. McDonough, Harold R. Davis, Paul C. Gay, Paul F. Hayes Jr. of Braintree and Robert M. Murphy of Westwood.

leave something to be desired," he said.

Hannon said the city and its legislators "have done a reasonably good job of selling the MBTA and its benefits to the area which it serves.

"Certainly Mr. McCarthy's proposal... does not help us in our dealings with these problems of extending the MBTA into other communities," he said.
